The South Ontario Election.

Toronto, May 10.—Before Master Wickham yesterday, from noon to 5 p.m., with an hour and a half recess, Hon. John Dryden was examined for discovery in the South Ontario election protest. The affair of the $100 bills in the hands of Paxton was gone into. The explanation given was that Liberal Organizer Alex. Smith had given the bills in mistake for $1 bills. Particulars both in the petition and cross-petition will be issued to-day.

Waste $2,000 Damages.

Kingston, Ont., May 10.—Yesterday morning Miss Meroughan, Jones' Falls, had issued a writ against a young man named York, recently married, claiming $2,000 for breach of promise of marriage. The case will be tried here at the June Assizes, if not settled prior to that date.

Body Horribly Smashed.

North Sydney, C.B., May 10.—A miner named Gillis was instantly killed yesterday at Dominion No. 1 Colliery, and several others narrowly escaped with their lives. Gillis fell from the cage to the bottom, a distance of 100 feet. The body was horribly smashed.

UNCLE SAMUEL GIVES IT UP

The High Joint Commission Will Not Do as He Wants It To.

He Has Now Lost All Hope That It Ever Will, Because There Is So Much Time Wasted in Handying Back and Forth Between London and Ottawa the Different Propositions—Clear Case of Disgust.

Washington, D.C., May 10.—All hope of reconvening the joint American-Canadian commission in August has been abandoned. The conference adjourned after having made good headway, as it was thought at the time, towards the drafting of an agreement. Owing to an unexpected and insurmountable obstacle in the shape of the lumber and boundary questions, the joint conference adjourned to meet in August, with the understanding that meantime the Governments of the two countries would test public sentiment. It was also hoped that some of the difficulties that had presented themselves in the way of a conclusion of the work of the conference might in the interim be removed by diplomatic negotiations. It has now been demonstrated, however, that the temper of neither side has yielded sufficiently to warrant the expectation of any successful result attending the reconvening of the commission.

It is said that the United States commissioners are thoroughly discouraged at the time-consuming manner in which various propositions that have been put forward are handled back and forth between London and Ottawa.

WILL STAND TOGETHER.

Great Britain and the United States Will Advocate Arbitration at the Peace Conference.

Washington, May 10.—The United States and Great Britain will stand together in the advocacy of the adoption of a scheme for the settlement of international disputes by arbitration, which will be presented to the disarmament conference at its meeting in The Hague on the 16th of the present month. The American delegates, headed by Ambassador White, are equipped with a fairly well-digested plan for the execution of this long-cherished project, while the British delegates are prepared with a plan which is almost identical with the American project.

THE BUFFALO STRIKE.

Contractor Connors Says He Is Elevating Lots of Grain, But There Is a Glut Still.

Buffalo, May 10.—The strike situation along the docks remains practically unchanged. Contractor Connors stated yesterday that he was working 13 elevators with a full force of men and was elevating 1,000,000 bushels of grain a day. Notwithstanding the statement the fact remains that there are 56 large steamers now in the harbor, waiting to be unloaded, and 35 more are due within the next 48 hours.

De Barry on the Alert.

Buffalo, May 10.—Inspector De Barry's attention was called yesterday to an advertisement inserted in a Toronto paper the day before for 100 laborers. These laborers, it is said, are wanted in Buffalo to take the places of the striking shovellers on the docks.

"All I have to say," said De Barry, "is that if Mr. Connors brings into this country those 100 men it will cost him $100,000 in addition to costs. It is a violation of the United States Alien Labor Law."

MOULDERS' STRIKE STILL ON.

But the Merchants' Cotton Company's Employes Return to Work.

Montreal, May 10.—There is nothing of importance new in connection with the moulders' strike. None of the 13 large concerns which decided to refuse the demands of the strikers have as yet shown any sign of giving in, nor have any of the workers reported back for duty.

Returned to Work.

The girls and boys employed at the Merchants' Cotton Company's mills at St. Henri, who have been on strike, returned to work yesterday morning, and everything is running smoothly once more. The strikers have accepted the company's offer of 6½ per cent. advance on piece-work. This includes not only those who struck, but the entire staff. The demand was for an increase of 10 per cent., but in offering the 6½ per cent. it was pointed out that it was an advance of 1½ per cent. better than the rates prevailing before the reduction in 1896.

Strike at Hamilton.

Hamilton, May 10.—The coalheavers and unloaders on the bayside went out on strike yesterday morning. They want 15 cents an hour. They have been paid 12½ cents.

Col. Panton's Barns Burned.

Belleville, Ont., May 10.—Col. Panton's barns on the front of Sidney were accidentally fired yesterday afternoon by the burning of tent caterpillars in trees adjoining, and were totally destroyed, with implements and vehicles. Loss, $3,000; partly insured, but amount cannot yet be learned.

MR. BLAIR'S PECULIAR GAME

Asks House to Endorse a Contract Members Have Not Seen.

The Government Scheme Is to Make the Drummond Railway a Part of the Intercolonial System—Road Is Said to Cost Too Much—On This the Opposition Will Base Their Objection to Its Purchase.

Ottawa, May 10.—In the House yesterday Mr. Britton introduced a bill to amend the Joint Stock Companies' Act, and in so doing explained that the amendment was to section 46, and would give power to dock and transportation companies to invest in the stock of elevator companies, provided a majority in number of the shareholders and two-thirds in value of stock approved.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved that when the House adjourn to-day it stand adjourned until Friday. The motion was carried.

Monstrous Conduct.

Mr. Blair moved that the House go into committee on the resolution for the purchase of the Drummond County Railway.

Hon. Mr. Foster asked if the Minister of Railways had laid on the table a copy of the agreement with the company.

Hon. Mr. Blair said he would have the contract laid on the table before the debate was over.

Sir Charles Tupper characterized such conduct as monstrous, and declared that no such proposal had ever been made to Parliament as that the House should be asked to approve of a contract before it was laid before them.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the Minister of Railways only wanted to make his statement, and the contract could be laid on the table before the resolution reached another stage.

Mr. Clarke Wallace insisted upon the contract being brought down before the debate was continued.

The debate was continued. After some further discussion, Mr. Speaker called attention to the fact that the proceedings were irregular.

Mr. George Taylor then moved that the House adjourn.

Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. Mr. Blair, Mr. Foster, Mr. McMullen, Mr. Sproule, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Clarke Wallace and Mr. McNeill continued the discussion on this question of information, Mr. Blair in his speech saying that as soon as he could receive a copy of the agreement he would hand it to the leader of the Opposition, and this was subsequently done.

The motion to adjourn was then declared lost, and the House divided on the motion to go into committee, which was carried, 80 for, 38 against.

The division was a straight party one, with the exception that Mr. Costigan voted with the Government.

House in Committee.

The House then went into committee on the following resolution by Mr. Blair:

1st. That it is expedient to authorise the Governor-in-Council to purchase from the Drummond Counties Railway Company, and to authorise the said company to sell and convey to Her Majesty the whole of the railway and undertaking of the said company, including its main and branch lines of railway, and all buildings, fixtures and appurtenances appertaining thereto, and upon such purchase being effected the said railway and its branch lines shall become and form part of the Intercolonial Railway and may be operated as such.

2nd. That the purchase is to include all running powers and other rights, privileges and concessions acquired by the said company from any other railway company or companies, and all its franchises and property, of whatsoever kind, excepting only the rolling stock and station furniture of the company, and the tools of the section men.

3. That the said railway and undertaking is to be conveyed to Her Majesty free and clear from all charges, liens or encumbrances affecting the same, under or by virtue or in respect of any mortgage, bonds, debentures or preference stocks, or other securities, or otherwise howsoever, and the said company shall release Her Majesty of and from all claims and demands under a certain lease and agreement bearing date the twenty-fifth day of February, 1896, and made between the said company of the first part and Her Majesty of the second part.

4. That there may be paid for the said railway and undertaking, and other property, as aforesaid, out of any unappropriated moneys forming part of the consolidated revenue fund, the sum of one million six hundred thousand dollars, less any sum paid the company as authorised by the act, chapter 4, statute of 1897, to be granted to the said company as a subsidy, for 42½ miles, from Meese Park to Chaudiere River.

THE NEGRO LYNCHINGS.

Many comments were heard at the time the news was read of the torturing and burning of the negro, Sam Hose, in Georgia several days ago, and the press teemed with condemnation of the brutal lynching. The Review commented on the case and the question was asked what kind of people and what kind of law have they in the South. Since then we have read a letter from a former Peterborough young man who is now resident in Atlanta, Georgia, and he would explain matters by saying that the residents in the north have no fair or proper idea of what the southern negro is or what drastic measures have to be taken in order to keep him in check. The process of law is described as too slow and uncertain. The cases require immediate and severe retribution, and from all that is read this kind of retribution is not wanting.

In order to give our readers the benefit—if such can be derived—of measuring the feeling that arouses the whites in the south to these deeds of violence the Review publishes the following editorial from the Atlanta Journal of April 26th, referring to the Hose lynching:—

As was to be expected the leading newspapers of the north and west denounce the lynching of the negro, Sam Hose, and express their horror at the manner in which he was put to death.

Let us be fair enough to put ourselves in their places and we will understand that their comments on this event are but natural.

These newspapers are published in sections where assaults upon white women by negroes very rarely occur, and yet there have been lynchings in the north on less provocation than that which infuriated the crowd which put Hose to death last Sunday.

The Journal has protested as persistently as any newspaper in the south [illegible] any other part of the country against [illegible] law, but in a case like that under consideration the crime is so hideous and revolting that we believe it would stir men to madness and impel them to over-ride all forms of legal authority, whether it were committed in Georgia or in Maine, in Texas or New York. It is true that Hose was burned to the stake for infamous murder and the still more damnable crime that he committed.

But were not negroes hanged and burned at lamp-posts in New York city at the beginning of the civil war because the mobs who put them to death held the negro responsible for the war? The negroes who were murdered and tortured in the streets of New York had committed no crime; they were slaughtered simply because they were negroes. We do not contend that this record may be pleaded in defence of the acts of an outraged community in the south, but it does indicate what, under great provocation, would be the action of men in a section of the country who resorted to lynching on what cannot justly be called any provocation whatever.

The people of the north cannot form a fair opinion concerning lynchings in the south for the worst of crimes against women unless they consider the situation in all its bearings and reflect upon the frequency of the horror of the crimes for which the mob takes vengeance.

When men feel that the safety of their homes and the protection of their wives and daughters from a fate worse than death are involved they do not stop to reason; they cannot be held in restraint until the law may take its course; they seize the villain who has committed the most revolting of all crimes and put him to death.

This is a fact, and no theory or argument will prevail against it.

The barbarities which attended the execution of Sam Hose are to be denounced for every reason. They made his punishment appear more as the expression of fury than as the visitation of a just doom. They must have had a degrading and brutalizing effect upon those who perpetrated them.

Another assertion of the mob spirit which is without extenuation was the hanging of another negro on the mere assertion of Sam Hose just before his own execution that this negro instigated him to the murder which, of his own volition, he followed with his mere fiendish crime. The hanging of Lige Strickland is condemned almost unanimously and in severe terms by the people of this, and, we believe, by the people of every other community in Georgia.

One other thing we would say to the people of the north. It is that the masses of the negroes in the south show no disposition to aid in the enforcement of the law upon even the most infamous criminals of their race.

No negro guilty of the crime for which lynching is more frequently resorted to than for any other has ever been given up to the officers of the law by negroes. On the contrary such brutes immediately after perpetrating their outrages seek concealment and assistance to escape among the people of their own race. This conduct on the part of negroes generally has had much to do with arousing among white men the feelings which officers of the law find themselves powerless to resist.

If it were known that the great majority of negroes would assist in the detection and arrest of the wretches of their race who commit the crimes that provoke nearly all the lynchings in the south, such crimes would become very rare.

The negroes of the south have in this matter a duty to themselves and to the people among whom they live, which they have failed to perform. It is in their power to decrease lynching in the south by making it certain that those who commit the crime for which lynching is most certain shall find no hiding place in negro settlements or in negro cabins.

The important point dwelt on in the above—that the negroes sympathize with their guilty fellows and are inclined to prevent rather than aid justice in taking its course—is an indication of the serious feeling of animosity or unfriendliness that exists between the whites and the blacks of the south. No doubt a better feeling between the two races would make matters smoother and render lynchings less numerous. But, do not the brutal lynchings that have occurred, the causes which have led to them, and the state of things indicated in the above editorial show that the negro problem is going to be as serious and as difficult of settlement as has all along been feared. This question is one that our American cousins will have to face soon and when they do the best wish of their friends in the north will be that it may be settled without bloodshed.

The Hamilton Times refers to Mr Tarte as "the best Minister of Public Works Canada has had since Hon Alexander Mackenzie held that office." Well, well! "Best" for who? For the country? Rather early yet to jump to conclusions, don't you think, Mr. Times.

That redistribution of seats promises to be a crowning effort on the part of the Liberals to "fix" things for themselves. Mr Hardy will require two or three redistributions to save him in Ontario next time.

What It All Means.

In support of his resolution, he said that, although his resolution was slightly different from the first proposition made, the essential principle was the same, and that was the extension of the Intercolonial Railway into Montreal. As to the necessity for this, he thought there could be no doubt. The Intercolonial must be extended to Montreal some time, and he thought the present was the best time. The Government had made a good business bargain in the Drummond Railway, which was neither "outrageous" nor extravagant—characteristics which had been attributed to it by the leader of the Opposition. Discriminating between leasing, renting or purchasing the railway out and out, the Government felt they would be able out of the earnings of the railway to have a sufficient income to justify them in purchasing the line. The chief engineer estimated the line would cost $1,600,000; but, as a matter of evidence, the road had cost the owners $2,000,000. Mr. McLeod estimated the road to be worth $17,000 per mile, while the cost to the Government was $12,000 per mile.

Subsidized for Half a Million.

The road had been subsidized to the tune of half a million, and it was argued by some that that sum should be deducted from the purchase price. But they could not deduct the bonus paid by the Province of Quebec, which was about half the total subsidy, but the difference between the two millions odd it cost and the $1,600,000 to be paid for the road, was $400,000; and, even if the $387,000 of Federal subsidies were deducted, it would still represent a profit of $127,000 by purchasing as compared with building the road. The only difference between the first proposition and the present was the difference between a 99 years' lease and an outright purchase, nothing more.

Increase of Local Rates.

Mr. Powell inquired whether there had not been an increase in local rates on the Intercolonial. He had been so informed by merchants in St. John, Moncton and other places, and he knew of his own knowledge that in Westmoreland County the rates on hay had been increased.

Mr. Blair said that there had been no increase in local rates. There had been a re-arrangement of tariffs and a re-classification, but the officers assured him that the general effect had been a reduction of freight rates.

That Deficit Again.

Mr. Blair continuing, said the deficit of $909,000 on the Intercolonial last year was largely due to increased expenditures for repairs and maintenance. In the last two years he had expended $509,000 on repairs, where his predecessors had only expended $857,000 in the two years preceding.

Mr. Blair said that the through traffic arrangement entered into by the late Government with the C.P.R. discriminated against the I.C.R., and that the agents of the latter road were debarred from soliciting traffic for their own road, under threat of dismissal by the Government, an assertion which was flatly contradicted by Mr. Haggart, who challenged him to bring down a copy of the agreement and of any correspondence on the subject.

At ten minutes past 1 o'clock Mr. Blair resumed his seat, when Mr. Haggart moved the adjournment of the debate, and the committee rose and reported progress.

The House adjourned at 1.10.

MR. TARTE MUST QUIT WORK.

If He Does Not Dr. Prevost Will Not Be Responsible for His Recovery.

Montreal, May 10.—The friends of the Hon. J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, have been pained to learn that he is not recovering as rapidly as he expected from his illness. Mr. Eugene Tarte came down from Ottawa yesterday morning, and he confirmed the statement that his father suffers from an attack of kidney disease, and that it may become necessary to remove the obstacle by a surgical operation of no importance, and offering no danger, but meaning a rest of some days.

Dr. Prevost states that if Mr. Tarte does not consent to take a complete rest of three months at least he will not guarantee recovery. Several of his colleagues called upon him.

The latest is that as soon as the operation shall have been performed Mr. Tarte, as soon as he is in a position to stand the journey, will be taken down to Atlantic City, and may remain there some months, so that his department will have to be assumed by another Minister for perhaps the greater part of the session.

WILL SIFTON BE FORCED OUT?

A Movement at Ottawa to Get Him Out of the Cabinet.

Ottawa, May 10.—There is a good deal of talk about a movement being on foot among the Liberals to force Clifford Sifton's retirement from the Cabinet. There is a very substantial kick against the way he is trying to work the whole Liberal party into the service of the C.P.R. and Messrs. Mann & McKenzie, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier will find out before long, if he forces his followers to support Mr. Sifton in his schemes, that he will not be able to control several of them at least. Every day the Rainy River project is being modified in the public interest, but this is being done only because of the fight that is being put up by Messrs. Richardson and Oliver and other progressive members of the House.

A HARBOR OF REFUGE

To Be Built at Ellis' Bay, Anticosti, by Coffee King Menier.

Quebec, May 10.—Mr. Constant, Governor of Anticosti, returned to town yesterday from Ottawa, where, notwithstanding Mr. Tarte's serious illness, he had an interview with him on the subject of the settlers that he is endeavoring to evict from Fox Bay.

He gives no details of the nature or result of the interview, but says it was quite satisfactory.

Before sailing for Anticosti last night he was notified that the Local Government had issued letters patent in M. Menier's favor for 500 square miles of shore lands at Ellis' Bay. The price of sale is merely nominal, on condition that M. Menier makes an extensive harbor of refuge at that place. The improvements, with wharves, etc., will cost $150,000.

Telegraph Line for Kootenay.

Ottawa, May 10.—An act to incorporate the Northern Telegraph Company passed the railway committee yesterday. Those who asked incorporation were: D. C. Corbin, Spokane; Duncan Ross, Greenwood, B.C., and others. The capital stock of the company is placed at $50,000, and the head office is to be at Greenwood. The company may construct and operate lines between such points in Yale, West Kootenay and East Kootenay as it may desire. Mr. Bostock was in charge of the bill.

May Have Been Drowned.

Belleville, Ont., May 10. — William Holgate of the 7th concession of Thurlow, and his hired man went fishing about sundown yesterday in the Moira, where the water is very deep. Two hours later their boat was found bottom up a mile away. As these men have not reached home, they have, no doubt, been drowned, and the river is being dragged for their bodies. The hired man was David Maddock of Marchmont.

New Murder Will Out.

Toronto, May 10.—Austin Bowen, who is now serving seven years in Kingston Penitentiary, will be held to stand his trial on the charge of murdering Watchman Gray at Almonte last July. Gray was watchman at a mill, and was found dead, having been shot by burglars, who escaped. Joseph Thompson, who was arrested and taken to Guelph in connection with the recent burglary at Hillsburg, has given the clue away.

Morocco Has Settled.

Tangier, Morocco, May 10.—The claims of the United States against the Government of Morocco have been settled. The United States cruiser Chicago sailed from this port yesterday.

Bole Goes Up for Trial.

St. Thomas, May 10.—Duncan Bole, who was arrested at Sault Ste. Marie on a charge of tampering with the ballot boxes at Shedden, was taken to Bismarck to stand his preliminary trial. Bole was arraigned before Squire Schellhauf at West Lorne yesterday. No evidence was offered, the prisoner being committed for trial. Bail was accepted in two sureties of $1,000 each, D. Webster and A. McPherson becoming bondsmen, and the prisoner for $500. The trial was set for hearing at Shedden on Tuesday next, May 16. The arrest has caused consternation in Liberal circles.

There is no argument so good as an absolute, plain, truthful statement of fact. There is nothing so interesting as fact. In the true happenings in the everyday life of every-day people are materials for most thrilling novels. There are every day stories of heroism, suffering and the final triumph of good over evil—of happiness finally crowning endeavor. Here is a case in point:

In the county of Escambia in Alabama is the little town of Flomaton and there lives Mrs. Mollie Grimes. She was a good wife and mother but several years ago she found her health slipping away from her. She realized that this meant the inevitable nervousness and irritability that would surely lose for her the affection of her children and husband, and that as her health declined discord and misery would appear in her home. She was filled with the loving motherly instinct, but two miscarriages in succession almost broke her heart. She had almost lost hope when the clouds rolled away and the light of health and happiness returned.

She tells her story in these words:

"I was almost heart-broken to think I could not raise any more children and had to suffer as I did. I had lost two children by miscarriages and I fully expected to lose another when, in August 1897, I learned of and began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and took it until after baby was born in November. With my other children I had suffered everything that flesh could suffer but this time I was in perfect health and had a very easy time. I was in labor only a short time. I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's medicines enough for I believe they certainly saved my baby's life and maybe my own life as well. I took the 'Favorite Prescription' and also the 'Pleasant Pellets.' The 'Pleasant Pellets' act like a charm."

WEDNESDAY, MAY 10, 1899.

DISCUSSED BY BOARD OF HEALTH

ly examination would be advisable. At this time of year the water is in unusual condition.

Dr. Bingham stated that Provincial Board of Health had given its opinion that any water with a bad taste was not fit for use.

Mr. Shortly and others stated that the bad taste of the water was not due to any defect at the pump house. The water above tasted the same and the water in the back lakes had exactly the same flavor.

Supt. Henderson stated that the screens were changed as frequently as was found necessary. How often this might be depended on circumstances.

On motion it was ordered that a sample of the water be sent to Toronto for analysis and that the Board await the result.

The subject was changed and in answer to a question Chief Roasel stated that the Inspectors are making their rounds and find more than half of the places have been cleaned. No complaints have come in.

In answer to a question regarding the flushing of the sewers Alderman Deane pointed out that they had been flushed periodically.

Before the meeting adjourned Mr. Adam Hall took the occasion to refer to the paragraph published in the Review of Monday regarding the water. He gave vent to some peculiar views regarding the course taken by this paper in making known what was found out by the proper authorities. He was surprised to see such statements in the paper as were published. He considered it wrongful to do what this paper had done. The matter should have come before the Board first. What was the good of publishing such matter? If people did not know of such things their lack of knowledge would not hurt them. And, moreover, if Mr. Hall were a member of the Water Company (Oh! blessed "if"), he would have satisfaction for such an article as was published.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN

Says the Imperial Government Will Consider Colonial Representations.

London, May 10.—In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. James Francis Hogan, Home Ruler, asked if, in view of British Columbia's offer to bear one-ninth of the cost of the Pacific cable, the Government would reconsider its own proposals, and endeavor to bring them in harmony with the wishes of the Canadian and Australian Governments.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, said that he had not yet received the replies of the Colonial Governments, but if representations were made on their behalf with reference to Great Britain's offer, they would be considered.

HOW HE GOT WEALTH.

Turkey's Richest Man an Armenian, Who Is Also a Naturalized American Citizen.

The richest man in Turkey is an Armenian, who is a naturalized American citizen and lived in this country for several years, says The Chicago Record. If the stories told in the diplomatic circle of Constantinople are true, he came by his money in a peculiar manner. It will be remembered that the Sultan Aziz was assassinated in 1876. For several years prior to his death he accumulated all the money and bonds he could obtain, which he stored away in his palace as a reserve fund in case of a war with Russia, which had been impending for some time. The amount of his accumulations has been variously estimated from $10,000,000 to $40,000,000, and was undoubtedly considerably in excess of the latter sum. Most of it was in English, French and German securities that drew interest and were easily convertible at any bank in any city in Europe.

Although the assassination was a mystery, it is believed to have been inspired if it was not actually accomplished by Midad Pacha, the Minister of Finance, from avaricious motives. He alone was aware of the magnitude of the Sultan's hoard and the place of its concealment, and after his sovereign's death, by virtue of his position, he took charge of the fund and pretended to deposit it in the public treasury. But it is believed by those most familiar with Turkish affairs that he retained for his own benefit a large part—perhaps one-half of it—which, for motives of self-protection, he intrusted to the Armenian banker I have named, and directed him to take the bonds to London and Paris and there deposit them in such a manner that their ownership could not be traced to Midad Pacha. It is also believed to have been the latter's intention to withdraw a portion of this property from concealment as soon as he felt safe in doing so.

But not long afterward Midad Pacha was himself assassinated in the boldest and most astounding manner. He was attending a meeting of the Ministry, when he was informed that a messenger was awaiting him in the ante-room with a confidential communication that must be delivered immediately and to himself alone. Midad left his colleagues and entered the ante-room, where an unknown man immediately plunged a dagger into his heart. The palace guard, hearing his death cry and the fall of his body, immediately rushed to the room and shot the assassin before he could escape. Although the police continued their investigations for months, they were never able to identify the assassin or associate anyone else with the crime, but the knowing ones believe he was a ruffian imported from the mountains by the Armenian banker referred to, and was handsomely paid to commit the deed.

On the evening of Midad's assassination the Armenian merchant went to Midad's palace and informed his widow that there were concealed in a certain strong box papers that would connect her husband with a conspiracy against the Crown and would undoubtedly cause the arrest and imprisonment of the entire family and the confiscation of the property if they were discovered. The frightened widow, already beside herself with excitement because of the assassination, begged him to search her husband's papers and destroy all questionable or suspicious documents. He spent the night at his work, and among the papers burned that night are believed to have been the evidence of Midad's ownership in the bonds that have made the Armenian the richest man in Turkey.

An Electric Tree.

A German authority has recently announced the discovery of a tree in the forests of Central India which has most curious characteristics. The leaves of the tree are of a highly sensitive nature, and so full of electricity that whoever touches one of them receives an electric shock. It has a very singular effect upon a magnetic needle and will influence it at a distance of 70 feet. The electrical strength of the tree varies according to the time of day, it being strongest at midday, and weakest at midnight. In wet weather its powers disappear altogether. Birds never approach the tree, nor have insects ever been seen upon it.

A BIG AUDIENCE

A Pleasing Entertainment at the Charlotte-st School Room.

A successful entertainment was held at the Charlotte-st. school room last evening. There was a large audience and an excellent programme was rendered, choruses, solos, recitations and tableaux being pleasingly intermingled. A chorus of about forty girls of the school trained by Rev. Mr. Crossley took part and gave their selections in splendid style. All contributing were warmly applauded. An opening chorus, "Count your blessings," was followed by a recitation by Miss Aggie Collins. Then came a specialty "Chick-a-dee," and recitations by Misses Daisy Shaw and Edith Williams. A short cantata, the most elaborate thing of the evening, closed the first part of the programme. A violin solo was given by Miss Maude, and Miss Lola Ostrom delighted the audience with a recitation. A duet, "Birds of the Wildwood," was the next number. Miss Florence Pearce followed with a recitation and Mr. G. W. Mulligan contributed a song. Miss Carrie Austin gave an excellent recitation. The next number was a tableau, The Three Graces. Another recitation followed, then a song by Miss Lola Ostrom and the evening was brought to a close with a selection by the chorus of girls.

Miss Ethel Crossley was the accompanist of the evening.

How Do You Laugh?

A German professor has been investigating the vowels used by boys when they laugh and is sure that they correspond very closely with the different kinds of character. Boys that are open and frank in their natures laugh a great deal with the "a." Boys that are moody and gloomy use the letter "o." Those that are irresolute and undecided laugh in "i." The generous and strong use the "o." The worst laugh of all is the "u," and a boy that laughs with the use of that vowel is a boy to be avoided. Watch your laugh, and see whether it is a "Ha, ha, ha!" a "He, he, he!" a "Hi, hi, hi!" a "Ho, ho, ho!" or a "Hu, hu, hu!"

The report of the Council was adopted.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mr. Macfarlane Wilson pointed out that at a former meeting he had suggested the desirability of running a series of trade excursions to Peterborough from towns and villages in the district. For example, an excursion might be run from points on the G.T.R. one week and from points on the C.P.R. at other times. He thought it would result in bringing in a good deal of trade to town.

It was pointed out by other members that a number of difficulties were in the way. Such excursions would require a great deal of organization. Other towns might oppose the idea.

On motion of Mr. Fair, seconded by Mr. Hay, the matter was referred to the Mercantile committee.

Mr. Fair thought it would be a good advertisement for the town if the reports of market prices in Peterborough were printed and distributed at all the agricultural centres in the district. This might be an inducement to patronize the market.

On motion of Mr. Macfarlane Wilson, seconded by Mr. Robt. Fair, an honorarium was voted to the reporters for their year's work.

It was moved by Mr. Fair, seconded by Mr. Garvin, that a cordial vote of thanks be tendered to Mr. Arthur Stevenson for his kindness in giving the secretary of the Board of Trade the use of a desk in the Stevenson Coal Co's office, 366 Water-st., and the use of telephone No. 29.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

We Have Found.

That no remedy in the market affords such prompt relief in toothache, neuralgia and rheumatism as Nerviline, and its action in cases of cramps, colic, etc., is simply marvellous. Remarking this to a physician of experience he stated that from his knowledge of the composition of Nerviline no remedy could surpass it as a family remedy, and that in every household a bottle of Nerviline should be available for emergent demands. Readers of this paper should try Nerviline.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

The member of the Board of Health who had some fault to find with the Review for publishing the Medical Health Officer's report of the condition of things he found at the waterworks pumping station on the occasion of his recent inspection must have a peculiar idea of the public duty a newspaper has to perform in a community, and, what is of more moment in this particular instance, a most befogged idea of the duties of a member of the Board of Health and the functions that body is supposed to perform in guarding the health of the townspeople.

The Review has no quarrel with the Water Company, and several members of the Board of Health evidently do not propose to have any quarrel with them either, but still the newspaper has no apology to offer for publishing the paragraph it did. The facts justify the publication. For weeks the unpleasant taste which has been on the city water has been the subject of much comment, and many were afraid to use the water on account of this bad taste, while it is safe to say nearly all of the users of the water from the company's service were in a state of doubt and apprehension as to whether the water was safe drinking or not and as to what caused the taint that was noticeable. The explanation given that the taint was caused by the unusual climatic conditions of the past winter and the heavy spring freshets may have been right or may have been wrong, but people were not sure. The Medical Health Officer on Saturday published over his own signature a letter warning the people not to drink the city water without first boiling and filtering it, although he said the bad taste might not be anything alarming.

Then on Monday the Medical Health Officer and the Sanitary Inspector made an inspection of the waterworks pumping station and, the Review hearing of it, a reporter interviewed the Health Officer that the people might know as soon as possible the result of the inspection. The officer did not find things in the best of condition, according to his idea of things, and said so, and the people were entitled to know that. There is nothing more vital to the health of a community than the water supply, and when a doubt as to its purity exists in the minds of those using that water, and the Medical Health Officer finds conditions none too favorable the sooner some action is taken to dispel that doubt and ascertain the facts the better, for the Water Company and the people. The Medical Health Officer has taken the action which will have a proper analysis of the water made. When the report of the analyist is received then the people will be satisfied. The fright or alarm which the member of the Board of Health lamented as a result of publishing the Inspector's report in the Review could not possibly do harm. Some people might stop using the water for drinking purposes unless they boiled or filtered it, but they had already been warned to do this by the Medical Health Officer, who was acting within his rights if he could not satisfy himself as to the true character of the taint on the water. He has no right to take chances on a matter which might involve the health of the community, and when he had serious doubts of the purity of the water the public was entitled to know it, and the newspaper should be ready to give the information. Things have reached a sad state if the press is afraid to perform such a duty. In giving the Medical Health Officer's views publicly the Review performed what it deemed a duty to the public, and one which was appreciated, judging from opinions since expressed, for the comment on the city water was general and all were relieved when they knew that some action was to be taken to solve the trouble and set fear and doubts at rest.

But, enough about the water. The question regarding it will be settled by a bacteriological analysis, and the Review would not have referred to the matter in this way if that member of the Board of Health had not expressed views so peculiar for a member of such a body. If the Board of Health and its members will not stand by a Medical Health Officer when he undertakes to fathom a question of tainted water, even though it is the Water Company that is interested, then the Board or those members who are so fearful of alarming the people and yet so ready to let people take chances on the purity or impurity of the water supply have ceased to have a proper conception of their duties to the public. The member who made reference to the Review said "if he had been a member of the Water Company," etc. If he had been a member of the Water Company his heated and ill-timed remarks might have been more easily explained, although even the members of the Water Company should not feel so seriously ruffled at what has taken place, as the result has been the ordering of a proper analysis, which will set at rest all questions of the purity of the water supply.

THE LAST TRIBUTES

Hearty Sympathy Shown by the Large Funeral of the Late Thos. Connal.

The funeral of the late Thos. F. Connal took place this afternoon and before the remains were laid away many tributes of respect were paid to the departed. The funeral cortege was an exceedingly long one. The members of Otonabee and Peterborough lodges, I.O.O.F., to the number of about seventy-five, followed the remains of their departed brother and there was a long procession of carriages. As the funeral passed down George-st. the blinds of all the stores were lowered both in respect to the deceased and to his father, Mr. Peter Connal, one of the oldest and most highly respected merchants of the city. Many people watched it as it passed.

At the family residence, 270 Brock-st., there was a large gathering of sympathising friends. The floral tributes were very numerous and beautiful, the profusion of roses, lilies and carnations being magnificent. Among the wreaths were one from the officers of the 57th battalion with the inscription "Our Tom," one from the Peterborough Hardware Co., and one from Otonabee lodge, I.O.O.F.

The bearers were W. H. Meredith, F. D. McKay and W. Higgins, representing the Oddfellows, and F. Dixon, J. Brown and T. Ferguson. Rev. Mr. Potter conducted the funeral services.

COMMITTEES OF BOARD OF TRADE

COUNCIL AND COMMITTEES OF THE BOARD APPOINTED FOR THE YEAR.

A Fairly Attended Meeting Held—The Matter of Periodical Trade Excursions to Town Discussed—General Business.

A meeting of the Board of Trade was held last evening in the Council chamber. In the absence of the president Mr. T. E. Bradburn took the chair.

Among those present were Messrs. Macfarlane Wilson, R. Fair, B. Shortly, T. W. Martin, M. A. Morrison, J. W. Garvin, H. P. Kennedy, F. D. Kerr, A. Talbot, Dickson Hall, D. Davidson, Dr. Ross, T. A. S. Hay, J. W. Bennet and T. Quartermaine, secretary.

A number of communications were received and dealt with. A couple of these dealt with manufacturing firms which are intending to establish factories in Canada.

A report was received from the special committee appointed to draft the Council. It recommended the appointment of the following Council of the Board for 1899 as follows:

Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, Robt. Fair, T. A. S. Hay, D. W. Dumble, J. H. Burnham, W. H. Hill, H. S. Macdonald, Peter Hamilton, Jas. Kendry, M. P., J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., H. LeBrun, P. Campbell, Richard Hall, R. C. McHarris, Adam Hall, J. C. Turnbull, W. D. Parker, V. Eastwood, T. F. Matthews, A. Rose, Macfarlane Wilson, J. W. Garvin, J. H. McClellan, H. P. Kennedy and B. Shortly.

The report was adopted.

The Board then adjourned for a few minutes and the newly appointed Council assembled to prepare their report on the standing committees. The report was as follows:

DISCUSSED BY BOARD OF HEALTH

SAMPLES OF THE TOWN WATER TO BE EXAMINED AT TORONTO.

A Communication Received Regarding Cattle Yards—A Resolution of Condolence on the Death of the Late Dr. Clarke—General Business.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held last evening at the Town Clerk's office. The chief business of the meeting was to receive the report of the Medical Health Officer regarding the examination at the pumping house of the Water Company.

There were present Messrs. B. Shortly (chairman), Dr. Burnham, Adam Hall, Dr. McGrath, Henry Deane, Mayor Davis, Robt. Innis, Dr. Bingham (Medical Health Officer) and Chief Rozzel (Health Inspector).

A circular was read from the secretary of the Provincial Board of Health drawing attention to the legislation making vaccination compulsory. —The communication was referred to the Town Council.

The Medical Health Officer stated that he had written to the Provincial authorities re the stock yards and had received a reply stating that a license should not be given by the Council for the yards without stringent precautions regarding health. Yards should be a long distance from residences, otherwise they will be a nuisance. The letter stated that there was no nuisance which gave more trouble than such institutions as this might become and the Council, having power to grant or refuse a license, should use this power. The letter was received and a copy was ordered to be sent to the Council as a guide.

Dr. Bingham gave a description of the condition of things at the pumping house of the Water Company, as found by him at his visit. The outside of the wire screens guarding the pipe was covered with living things. They appeared to be trying to get into the pipe. The larger ones could not but the small ones might. Everything in a state of solution might pass through.

Supt. Henderson—Could a cat get through?

Dr. Bingham—No; I do not think a cat could get through.

Dr. Bingham went on to state that he had examined the water chemically and had found mineral and vegetable impurities in it. He could not make a bacteriological examination, not having the proper facilities.

Mr. R. E. Wood stated that it was the desire of the company to have a bacteriological examination made at Toronto.

Supt. Henderson stated that a month-

POLICE COURT.

An Old Soldier Makes His Second Appearance Before The Magistrate.

At this morning's police court Burke, the old one-legged soldier who has been begging around town of late, was again before the Magistrate. Yesterday he got next to enough money to procure some stimulant, and with a courage inspired by this, his comfort and plague, became very abusive and was run in. He was very humble this morning, but scornfully resented being called a vagrant. He was a traveller, following the line of selling lead pencils. He was given half an hour to leave town.

A couple of young men named Shambo and Moore were to have appeared to answer a charge of having raised a disturbance a la Corbett and Fitzsimmons. One of them was missing and the case was let go over until to-morrow.

CONDOLENCE EXPRESSED

The Board of Health Pays a Tribute to the Late Dr. Clarke.

At the meeting of the Board of Health last evening the following resolution of condolence was adopted and copies were ordered to be forwarded to the family:

That this Board of Health desires to express its deep regret on account of the death of John Clarke, M. D.,

THE LATE JOHN CLARKE, M.D.

Medical Health Officer, who passed away at a comparatively early age, and its appreciation of the zealous, intelligent and able service he rendered the Board and the town during the many years he held the office. His zealous labors to raise the sanitary standard of the town had an excellent effect in bringing the town to the very good sanitary condition it is now in, and his suggestions and counsel were very effective in aiding the Board in its work. As a genial gentleman his death is also deeply regretted, and this Board desires to tender its sincere sympathy to his mother, brothers and sisters in their sad affliction.

NEWS BRIEFS OF LOCAL INTEREST

EVENTS OF TOWN AND VICINITY NOTED IN A FEW LINES.

Sale of County Lands for Taxes—Dr. Scott Appointed Physician for Court Little-John C. O. F.—Mr. J. Carew Injured in a Runaway—The Board of Works—Choir Rehearsals

—Cobourg is to have a new town clock.

—The hotel license at Bewdley has been cut off.

—The Rathbun Co. is erecting a new mill at Tweed.

—Hiawatha Encampment, No. 66, I. O. O. F. meets to-night.

—Charlotte-st. choir will practice on Friday evening this week instead of Thursday.

—Rice lake is quite free of ice and boating parties are plentiful in the evenings.

—The annual meeting of the Veterans of 1866 Association will be held in the drill shed next Monday evening.

—The Peterborough Underwear Co. received its first order yesterday. It was a corker—for 6,000 shirts in one batch. Good.

—Owing to the concert at St. Paul's to-morrow evening George-st. choir will rehearse on Friday, instead of on Thursday, as usual.

—There are now six photo studios in town and it is not easy to see how so many photographers can find sufficient material in Peterborough to keep them busy.

—East Nicholls park has been opened for the season. There was a big gathering there last night. The bicycle track is in rather bad shape and will need repairs.

—The Board of Works in their inspection yesterday found things in very fair shape. The sidewalks need considerable repairs but the Aldermen hope to have this remedied before long.

—To-morrow being Ascension Day Holy Communion will be administered at St. John's at 10 a.m. At 8 p.m. there will be an evening service with a short address, at which the choir will be present.

—The C. P. R. train to-day had a special refrigerator car to carry dairy products between Toronto and St. John, N.B. The car will be run twice weekly, Tuesdays and Fridays, during the season.

—At the regular meeting of Court Little John, No. 92, Canadian Order of Foresters, held Monday evening, Dr. Scott was appointed court physician, which office was made vacant by the death of Dr. Clarke.

—A sale of county lands for taxes was held at the court house yesterday. Most of the lots sold were in Galway or Burleigh. Bidding was not brisk but most of the parcels brought enough to cover the tax bills.

—Ed. Foster, of Verulam, signed his name for $50 to a church subscription list. He refused to pay it, was sued and a verdict given against him. The judge declared a name on a subscription list was as binding as a promissory note.

—While driving to Enniskmore yesterday morning Mr. J. Carew was thrown from his buggy in a runaway, and though he was knocked unconscious at the time he sustained no greater injuries than a few bruises and scratches.

—The residents of Lindsay and the surrounding district are going to advertise that part of the country this summer and are preparing a neat folder. It will contain pictures of the most prominent places in that district and will give all the necessary information to intending settlers. The printing is in charge of E. A. Stewart, of the Bobcaygeon Independent, who has been in Toronto making all arrangements for the work.

If you have had the grip take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It will brace you up, purify your blood, and overcome all bad effects of the disease.

ALL QUIET AT SAMOA.

Operations Suspended Pending the Arrival of the Commissioners—A British Prisoner.

Apia, Samoa, May 4 (via Auckland, N.Z., May 10).—Everything is quiet on the island. Operations have been suspended pending the arrival of the joint commissioners from San Francisco.

After the cessation of hostilities a detachment of British soldiers visited the battlefield of Vailima, where they recovered an American machine gun that had been captured by the rebels. The country is being scoured by British and American soldiers in search for lead from which the natives might make bullets. A British planter, who had been a prisoner in the hands of the rebels for six weeks, has arrived at Apia. His experiences during his captivity were frightful, and many times he was threatened with beheading.

KENSIT BOBBED UP AGAIN.

The Anti-Ritualist Made a Disturbance at Lambeth Palace.

London, May 10.—There was a scene during yesterday's sitting of the Archiepiscopal Court which convened the day before for a hearing of the charges of ritualistic practices against the Rev. Henry Westall, vicar of St. Cuthbert's, Philbeach Gardens, and the Rev. John Ram, vicar of the Church of St. John, Timberhill, Norwich. During the proceedings John Kensit, the noted anti-ritualist, arose from his seat at the back of the guard room of Lambeth Palace, where the court is sitting, and shouted: "I wish to protest against the holding of this court."

Mr. Kensit then began to read a written protest against the "so-called spiritual court," and especially against an inquiry "by your graces, who for years have deliberately set at naught your solemn ordination vows and allowed and often promoted well-known law breakers in the church."

A storm of hisses greeted the protest, and the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Frederick Temple, cut Mr. Kensit short by adjourning the court for luncheon amid cheers and derisive laughter.

Cranks Arriving at The Hague.

The Hague, May 10.—An army of cranks are already beginning to arrive here with patent schemes to submit to the consideration of the peace conference. The first fight at the conference will be over admitting representatives of the press. England and the United States are in favor of the admission, but the proposal will surely be voted down by the others, under Russia's lead.

Soudan Open to Everybody.

London, May 10.—The Cairo correspondent of The Times says: "Gen. Lord Kitchener intends to open the Soudan to all traders on the completion of the railroad to Khartoum, and foreign goods will be admitted free of duty."

LOST MAN'S LANE.

A SECOND EPISODE IN THE LIFE OF AMELIA BUTTERWORTH

BY ANNA KATHARINE GREEN

"What is this?" she asked. "What does Mr. Gryce want, Lucetta?"

Mr. Gryce himself spoke.

"I want her," said he, "to give me just a little clew from her inmost thoughts. When I was in your house," he explained, with a careful consideration for me and my relations to these girls, which was one of the good points with which he offset some which were of an exasperating nature to me, "I saw something in her attitude, being, as you may surmise, something of a keen observer, which convinced me that as a dweller in this lane Miss Knollys was not without her suspicions as to the secret cause of the dread mysteries which I have been sent here to clear up. Today I have frankly asked her, and she—she will not tell me, Miss Loreen. Yet her face shows even at this moment that my old eyes were not at fault in my reading of her. She does suspect somebody, and it is not Mother Jane."

"How can you say that?" began Lucetta, but the eyes which Loreen that moment turned upon her seemed to trouble her, for she did not attempt to say any more—only looked equally obstinate and distressed.

"If Lucetta suspects any one," Loreen now remarked steadily, "then I think she ought to tell you just who and why."

"You do. Then perhaps you"—commenced Mr. Gryce—"can persuade her as to her duty," he finished as he saw her head rise in protest of what he evidently had intended to demand.

"Lucetta will not yield to persuasion," was her quiet reply. "Nothing short of conviction will move the sweetest natured but the most determined of all my mother's children. What she thinks is right, she will do. I will not attempt to influence her."

Mr. Gryce, with one comprehensive survey of the two, hesitated no longer. I saw the rising of the blood into his forehead, which always precedes the beginning of one of his great moves, and filled with a sudden excitement, I awaited his next words as a tyro awaits the first unfolding of the plan he has seen working in the brain of some famous strategist.

"Miss Knollys"—his very tone was changed, changed in a way to make us all start notwithstanding the preparation his momentary silence had given us—"I have been thus pressing and perhaps rude in my appeal because of something which has come to my knowledge which cannot but make you of all persons extremely anxious as to the meaning of this terrible mystery. I am an old man and you will not mind my bluntness. I have been told—and your agitation tells me it is true—that you have a lover, a Mr. Ostrander"—

"Ah!" She had sunk as if crushed by one terrific blow to the earth. The eyes, the lips, the whole pitiful face that was upturned to us remain in my memory today as the most terrible and yet the most moving spectacle that has come into my by no means uneventful life. "What has come to him? Quick, quick, tell me."

For answer Mr. Gryce drew out a telegram.

"From the master of the ship on which he was to sail," said he. "It asks if Mr. Ostrander left this town on Tuesday last, as no news has come from him."

"Loreen! Loreen! He passed down that way!" shrieked the girl, rising like a spirit and pointing down the road toward Deacon Spear's. "He is gone! He is lost, but his fate shall not remain a mystery. I will dare its solution. I—I— Tonight you will hear from me again."

And without another glance at any of us she turned and fled toward the house.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

AT THE GATE.

But in another moment she was back, her eyes dilated and her whole person breathing out a terrible purpose.

"Do not look at me, do not notice me," she cried, but in a voice so hoarse no one but Mr. Gryce could fully understand her. "I am for no one's eyes but God's. Pray that he may have mercy upon me." Then as she saw us all instinctively fall back she controlled herself, and, pointing toward Mother Jane's cottage, said more distinctly: "As for those men, let them dig. Let them dig the whole day long. Secrecy is for us, a secrecy so absolute that not even the birds of the air must see that our thoughts range beyond the 40 rods surrounding Mother Jane's cottage."

She turned and would have fled away for the second time, but Mr. Gryce stopped her. "You have set yourself a task beyond your strength. Can you perform it?"

"I can perform it," she said, "if Loreen does not talk, and I am allowed to weep my tears alone."

"But"— I had never seen Mr. Gryce so agitated—no, not when he left Olive Randolph's bedside after an hour of vain pleading. "But to wait all day! Is it necessary for you to wait all day?"

"It is necessary." She spoke like an automaton. "Tonight at twilight, when the sun is setting, at the great tree just before the road turns. Not a minute sooner, not an hour later. I will be calmer then." And waiting now for nothing, not for a word from Loreen or a detaining touch from Mr. Gryce, she flew away for the second time. This time Loreen followed her.

"Well, that is the hardest thing I ever had to do," said Mr. Gryce, wiping his forehead and speaking in a tone of real grief and anxiety. "Do you think her delicate frame can stand it? Will she survive this day and carry through whatever it is she has set herself to accomplish?"

"She has no organic disease," said I, "but she loved that young man very much, and the day will be a terrible one to her."

Mr. Gryce sighed.

"I wish I had not been obliged to resort to such means," said he, "but women like that only work under excitement, and she does know the secret of this affair."

"Do you mean," I demanded, almost aghast, "that you have deceived her with a false telegram; that that slip of paper you hold"—

"Read it," he cried, holding it out toward me.

I did read it. Alas, there was no deception in it. It was bona fide and read very much as he had said it did.

"However"— I began.

But he had pocketed the telegram and was several steps away before I had got any further.

"I am going to start these men up," said he. "You will breathe no word to Miss Knollys of my sympathy nor let your own interest slack in the investigations which are going on under our noses."

And with a quick, sharp bow he made his way to the gate, whither I followed him in time to see him set his foot upon a patch of rosemary.

"You will begin at this place," he cried, "and work east, and, gentlemen, something tells me that we will be successful."

With almost a simultaneous sound a dozen spades and picks struck the ground. The digging up of Mother Jane's garden had begun in earnest.

I staid about that gate most of the day. If I moved away, I imagined that Mr. Gryce was uneasy and wanted me back under his eye. So as Lucetta was invisible and Loreen in a strained and anxious mood, I followed the example of many of the other villagers who had ventured into the lane for the first time in months, and now stood watching every shovelful of earth that was thrown out, disappointing as the task had become as hour after hour passed without any discovery.

Along toward noon I had a diversion if the rest had not. Mr. Trohm came riding up in his buggy, and somewhat later in the day Deacon Spear came boldly upon the field, though none too near our gate, at which Saracen sat growling. The talk I had with Mr. Trohm was of a delicate nature, not bearing repetition, but the few curt words I exchanged with Deacon Spear may amuse the reader or at least satisfy some of my good friends that I am not so given over to vanity as to be misled by every passing compliment a man may pay me.

He was, as I was saying, drawn up on the opposite side of the road, but when he saw me he made a very low bow and sidled a step forward. This made me draw myself up a bit, though I had no idea what was coming. He seemed to take that for an invitation, for, pointing toward Saracen, he asked if the dog was quiet, and when I in a superior way answered that he was as quiet as a lamb he edged up to where I was standing and sheepishly held out his hand.

"I have been thinking," he drawled, "that it was only neighborly for me to call upon you, Miss Butterworth. But this business which has occupied the lane these last few days has put us all into such a mood of unpleasantness that there was no use of trying sociability on any one."

His hair was so sleek, his eyes so small and so twinkling, that I began to have respect for William's opinion of him, but I said nothing, possibly because I only half heard what he had just said himself.

"I'm no lady's man"—these were the next words I heard—"but, then, I judge, you're not in for flattery and all that kind of thing yourself. So now I've got the chance, I'll just say the thing I've got on my tongue to say.

THE PIANO

On a coal basis. You buy a ton of soft coal for $2.75, a ton of hard coal for $6.00, where's the difference? They're both coal, one's as black as the other, both weigh 2,000 pounds, and yet one costs nearly three times as much as the other though both are used for the same purpose. The explanation is in the QUALITY. You can buy pianos at low prices, but do you want that kind?

QUALITY is what you buy in a Piano more than in anything else. You get just as much wood and nearly as much metal in a cheap Piano, but the QUALITY is lacking. We can guarantee the Arrival of 1,400 Galician Immigrants for Canadian Ports at Halifax—Opinions of Their Value.

New York, May 10.—A special despatch from Halifax last evening says:

The Hamburg-American steamship Brasilia, which arrived yesterday morning from Hamburg, from which port she sailed on April 29, had on board 1,400 Galicia immigrants who are bound for Canadian points. The health officers in inspecting the steamship at quarantine found 18 cases of measles on board.

Not Enthusiastic Over It.

A special cable from Hamburg says: The steerage quarters of the German-American liners are crowded with Galicians who are emigrating to the United States and Canada in consequence of oppression and famine at home. Fully 50,000 are on their way or preparing to leave. The Patricia, the last steamship leaving from New York, took 2,500, and the Graf Waldersee, the next vessel sailing, will carry 2,500 more. The bookings for future sailings are filled, and the North German Lloyd Liners are similarly crowded.

Commissioner of Immigration Fitchie at the Barge Office, when shown a copy of the cablegram, shook his head dubiously:

"There must be some mistake about the figures," he said, "they cannot all be Galicians, for the Austro-Hungary Government would not permit that immense number to emigrate at one time."

An Undesirable Lot.

Chief Clerk Lederhilger of the Immigration Bureau, who is an expert on the question of immigration, said: "It is enough to make one faint. I have my doubt, however, about the accuracy of this despatch. The emigration from Galicia of 50,000 of its people would be a serious beginning of the depopulation of the place. It would mean about one-tenth of the population, and the Government would never permit that number to leave at one time. I believe, however, the statement that 5,000 are on the sea or about to embark on steamers for this country. No matter what the number is, it is to be regretted that they are coming, for they are a most undesirable class of immigrants."

Carnegie Has Good Intentions.

New York, May 10.—The London correspondent of a morning paper quotes Mr. Andrew Carnegie in an interview as saying, in answer to a question regarding the disposition of his fortune of $200,000,000: "I intend to complete the distribution of my wealth, reserving only a provision against any anxiety for the future of my daughter. She will not be a great heiress.

"My time will be spent in searching out good objects, both in America and Great Britain, and in writing."

MUCH FALL WHEAT KILLED.

Considerable of the Area Sown Has Been Plowed Up.

Some Winter-Killed Clover—The Condition of Canadian Fruit Trees Reported to Very Very Much—Live Stock Wintered Well, and Sheep Have Been Remarkably Prolific—The Hay Surplus and the Scarcity of Oats.

Toronto, May 10.—The following statement has been issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture regarding the condition of crops and live stock, based upon reports received from over 500 special correspondents during the first week of May, 1899:

The weather in the winter and early spring has been unfavorable to fall wheat. It is practically a failure in some localities. A considerable portion of the area sown has been ploughed up. The reports from Algoma are more favorable than those in older settled counties.

A large part of the clover crop in the province has been winter-killed, because of scarcity of snow. The damage has been greatest in Lake Erie and Lake Ontario sections. Where the crop has survived the winter it is healthy and flourishing.

Winter rye has wintered well.

In many localities the first of May saw vegetation well advanced. Fruit trees and shrubs in the west were in leaf at an earlier date than usual.

The spring seeding has been late. The prospects are that a full area of spring grain will be sown. Oats will predominate.

Condition of Fruit Trees.

Reports as to the condition of fruit trees vary in different sections, and sometimes in the same locality. In the peach-growing region, known as the Essex district, many peaches have died during the winter, while in the Niagara district the loss reported is small, particularly near the lake shore. In the Lake Erie group some plums and pears have also sustained injury during the winter, but, generally speaking, there has not been serious injury to fruit trees other than peaches. A majority of correspondents speak of an abundant bloom on orchard trees, and some fear that the blossoms are out so early that the late spring frosts may attack them. There are some references to black-knot on the plum, but the chief trouble complained of is the appearance in large numbers of the tent caterpillar. Several correspondents express their confidence in spraying as a means of checking this and other insect and fungous pests. In the western part of the province a number of correspondents state that small fruits, particularly raspberries, have suffered from the trying winter.

Live Stock.

As a rule live stock have wintered well, and are in good condition, fodder being abundant, though some correspondents note a scarcity, especially in the east and on the Lake Erie frontier. Many of the cattle are reported rather thin in flesh, though healthy. The market for both horses and horned cattle is brisk and prices good. Horses have suffered in some places from influenza and distemper. Sheep have been remarkably prolific, and the young lambs are mostly strong and healthy, though in a few localities considerable losses have taken place. The most serious disease affecting live stock has been an ailment described as crippling or rheumatism, which has destroyed very large numbers of pigs, especially the younger animals, in almost every part of the province. The cause of this disorder is supposed by some to be overfeeding with grain during the long confinement of the winter months.

Surplus Hay.

A considerable quantity of hay, beyond that necessary for home requirements, remains in the hands of farmers in most localities, the low prices prevailing having been insufficient to bring it to the market. In many places, however, the extra demands of the late spring have left them with little, if any, available surplus. Oats are much scarcer, and the remaining supply will mainly be required for stock feeding. A large proportion of the wheat harvest is yet retained by those who can afford to do so, in the hope of an increase in price. The great demand for cattle at good figures has resulted in the sale and shipment of an unusually large number of fat and store animals, so that there is almost a universal scarcity, especially of the former, some places being left with an insufficient supply for local slaughtering demands. Several correspondents note that farmers are beginning to realize that it is more profitable—at least when feed is selling at a low price—to fatten their own stock for market instead of selling them as store cattle. This tendency, of course, somewhat reduces the supply both of coarse grain and of stockers for export. Its permanency will naturally depend upon the relative prices of feed, and of fat as compared with lean cattle.

WILL STAY PONTON'S TRIAL.

So Says the Deputy Attorney-General—Ponton Sues for $5,000.

Toronto, May 10.—E. Gus Porter was in town yesterday.

Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright wrote to him: "I am directed to say that it will be impossible to proceed with the case of Queen v. Ponton at the coming Assizes."

Mr. Porter applied to Mr. Justice Robertson to have Ponton appear before the court within the next few days. No trace of the case appears on the dockets for the May Assizes.

Yesterday morning a writ for $5,000 for alleged slander against W. H. Madden was issued by W. H. Ponton. It is claimed that in a barber shop in Napanee, after the escape of Pare and Holden, Mr. Madden used the words, "Ask yourself where Billy Ponton was last night. Part of the $8,000 which he stole from the bank aided in the escape of those two men."

Seven citizens, including Reginald Beamish, Daily, signed a statement declaring the words were used.

His Insurance Ran Out.

Chatham, Ont., May 10.—What might have been a most costly fire occurred last night at Wallaceburg. As it is the home of Adam Templeton is totally destroyed, though he fortunately saved all his household effects. The fire originated from a defective flue. Mr. Templeton's insurance ran out a few days ago, and he loses the dwelling, which he only recently purchased.

The cardinal's hat is oval, with a double purple frieze having 30 tassels falling over its back. This costly hat is never used without discomfort until the day when it lies upon its owner's coffin.

Nerves...

Wasted and Shattered by Worry or Overwork are Revitalized by Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food

"Nerves"—what a world of meaning this word has to scores of thousands of women who, through the strains of social life and the worry of home cares, are fast approaching the grave.

Nervous headaches, dyspepsia, irritability by day, restlessness and sleeplessness by night. Pains and aches in the body, derangements of the organs peculiarly feminine, loss of energy and ambition, despondency and despair.

These are some of the symptoms known to the woman of exhausted nerves. These are symptoms which entirely disappear when Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is used.

By creating new, rich blood and nerve tissue this great food cure of Dr. A. W. Chase restores and revitalizes the wasted nerve cells, puts new vigor and vitality into the system and frees woman of many ills which are due to exhausted nerves.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food cures by the building-up process, which makes the body round and plump, and restores the glow of health to the pale, sallow cheek.

Insurance Protection.

Commenting on the recent deaths of Gleeson White, a famous art critic, and of Harold Fredric, a celebrated novelist and correspondent, who, it was found, had made no provision for their families, and, indeed subscriptions had to be made for their relief, the Insurance Press says:—

"One would not suppose that it is necessary nowadays to urge on business men the benefits to be derived from life insurance, but the unfortunate conditions referred to are very suggestive."

The guaranteed income policy introduced by the Sun Life of Canada, is the most modern development in life insurance, and in the opinion of many comes nearer to perfection than any form of contract which has preceded it.

This policy provides for the payment of the sum assured in twenty equal annual instalments and as much longer as the beneficiary may live. In this way a much larger fixed income is guaranteed than would be obtainable from the investment of a similar sum paid on an ordinary policy. The wife has also the advantage of the absolute security which a strong and prosperous institution like the Sun Life of Canada affords. This policy makes absolute provision for the beneficiary.

THE FIELD OF GENERAL SPORT

BANK OF COMMERCE WINS FROM BANK OF TORONTO AT THE GOLF LINKS.

The First Cricket Match of the Season to be Played Next Saturday—The Baseball Match of the Bankers To-morrow Afternoon.

Baseball.

The West End Baseball club will reorganize this evening. Everybody is requested to turn out and be present.

Golf.

The much talked of match between the Banks of Toronto and Commerce took place on the Auburn links yesterday afternoon. It was a battle royal. Both sides were confident, but as in all competitions one had to take a back seat; that one was the Bank of Toronto.

The day was charming, and the links with their grassy slopes and breezy hilltops never looked better. From beginning to end every inch of ground was stubbornly contested; the bankers, for the two hours they played, forgetting the cares and worries of the counting house. The play on the whole was of a good class, the driving at times being of wonderful distance and accurate in judgment. The game was a victory for the Bank of Commerce, the score being as follows:—

Mr Francis and Mr Campbell, a tie, 56—57.

R C McHarris by 3 holes from A St A Smith, 75—77.

A S Houston by 6 holes from E W Lamprey, 72 83.

J H Carter by 1 hole from C Poussette. 60—61.

The game was rather one sided the Commerce men playing without any noticeable effort. It is understood that the winners of this competition will play the lawyers, 4 of their star players to be drawn from the town bar. The play in yesterday's match was up in every way to North Berwick form.—Com.

The match between the Ontario Bank team and a combination team picked from the Banks of Montreal, Commerce and Toronto is exerting considerable interest. The Ontario easily defeated the combination at hockey and basketball but will have its work cut out to win to-morrow as the combination includes some good ball tossers. The game will take place on the P A A A grounds to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Y M C A Athletics.

Captain Fred Mosier of the cycling club set the pace for the club on the run to Nassau last evening. Bugler Goldey awakened the natives along the river. The roads were very dusty but all enjoyed the run.

The club's next spin will be on Saturday afternoon.

Football practice at the Nicholls park to-night at 7 o'clock.

Cricket

The opening cricket match of the season will be played on the east Nicholls park oval on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. It will be Bankers vs Town. The Banks team will be as follows:—

Hamilton, Napier, Milburn, (Mont.); Poussette, Smith, (Toro.); Houston, (Com.) Parker, Crane, Hollingshead, Ferguson and G Bell, (Ont).

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it, he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. 50 cents and $1.00. For sale by James Lynch, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough; every bottle guaranteed.

DEATH OF MR. A. V. R. YOUNG.

Died Suddenly at Yonkers, N. Y.—Will be Buried There.

Late yesterday afternoon a telegram received by Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q. C., conveyed the intelligence of the death at Yonkers, N. Y., of Mr. A. V. R. Young, formerly a well-known resident of town and a native of this county. Particulars were not given, but it is understood that the death was sudden.

The late A. V. R. Young was a widely-known young man in Peterborough. Born near Warsaw, he came to town and entered the grocery store of Mr. H. Rush, where he was employed for some time. Later he became an accountant and for several years occupied a desk in the office of Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q. C. In 1891 or 1892 he was appointed United States Consul agent here, and also secured the district agency for the Standard Life Assurance Co. During the year 1891 he was a member of the Town Council, being elected to represent No. Two Ward under the ward system. About six years ago he left Peterborough and has since been travelling or living in Montreal. Mrs. Chas. Ranney, of town, is a sister of the deceased and a brother resides near Warsaw. His mother also survives. She is resident at Picton.

The interment will take place at Yonkers. Mr. W. F. Johnston left for there to-day to arrange and be present at the obsequies.

The Town's Talk.

So many cures have been effected by the use of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure that it's the town's talk. If you are a sufferer from that horrible malady, go to your drug store and get a bottle. Mr. Wm. Tait, farmer, Collins' Bay, Ont., was afflicted with Sciatic Rheumatism for twelve months. One bottle of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure cured him completely. This preparation is taken internally. 50 cents a bottle, containing ten days' treatment. For sale at all drug stores.

BATTALION NOTES.

Orders Issued at the Parade—The Attendance at Summer Camps.

The regular Tuesday night parade of the 57th battalion was held last evening. There was a fair turnout. The orders issued were as follows:

Headquarters,
Peterborough, May 9, 1899.

Orders by Lt.-Col. R. W. Bell, Commanding 57th Battalion of Infantry, P. R.:

No. 1.—Detail of duty for week ending 20th of May: Subaltern for the week, Lieut. Bennett; next for duty, Lieut. Ritchie. Bugler for the week, Bugler Galley.

No. 2.—The following extract from general orders, dated 14th April, 1899, is promulgated for general information:

Confirmation of Rank.—The undermentioned provisionally appointed officers having qualified themselves for their appointments, are [illegible] their rank from the dates set opposite their respective names: 2nd Lieut. J. Mills, 57th Batt., from 4th March, 1899; 2nd Lieut. V. Eastwood, 57th Batt., from 4th March, 1899; 2nd Lieut. G. S. Ames, 57th Batt., from 4th March, 1899; 2nd Lieut. Cluxton, 57th Batt., from 4th March, 1899; 2nd Lieut. R. T. Hounsell, 57th Batt., from 4th March, 1899; 2nd Lieut. Walker, 57th Batt., from 4th March, 1899.

No. 3.—Capt. Morrow is granted leave of absence from parade.

By order,
H. A. Morrow,
Capt. and Adjt.

Col. Bell announced that there is a probability of the battalion being ordered to spend two days in camp at Kingston next September. However, he is using his influence to have this changed so that the battalion may go to Niagara for the camp to be held about the end of June.

MAY USE AUTOMOBILES

Electric Carriages May be Put on the Road From Peterborough to Chemong.

Since the change in the management of the Chemong hotel there has been considerable talk about town of better transportation being provided to the pleasant summer resort. A number of local gentlemen of prominence are taking the matter up and it is probable that a company will be formed which will make an investment and put at least one automobile carriage on the road early in the summer with the intention of increasing the number if the experiment is found a success.

The scheme appears to be a feasible one and has much to commend it. Cottage owners as well as guests at the hotel and casual visitors to the park would greatly appreciate the convenience.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

Mark-st. E. L. of C. E. Holds Its Annual Meeting and Elects Officers.

The annual meeting of Mark-st. E. L. of C.E. was held on Tuesday evening, May 8, for the election of officers for the ensuing year. Under the new discipline the League year ends on May 15, hence the change.

The following officers were elected:

Hon. Pres.—Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph.B.
Pres.—Mr. S. Taylor.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. M. W. Matchett.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Miss M. Hamilton.
3rd Vice-Pres.—Mr. M. W. Matchett.
4th Vice-Pres.—Miss Lottie Kindred.
Rec. Sec.—Miss Nellie Wood.
Cor. Sec.—Miss Annie M. Smith.
Treas.—Mr. Charles Crowe.
Organist—Miss Effie Agnew.

The various committees and their conveners are not yet appointed.

Mark-st. League meets at 8 o'clock every Monday evening, when everybody is made welcome.

Next Sunday, May 14, will be the League anniversary. Dr. Couch, of Warsaw, will address the members of the League and the congregation at the morning service, and Rev. Mr. Moore in the evening.

There is a Happy Combination of Simplicity and Effectiveness in our Electric and Imperial Detachable Tires

NO other tire approaches anywhere near them, and that is the reason for the great demand for them.

Blow-offs, split rims, creeping tires and punctured tubes are unknown to our tires. Covers can easily be repaired by vulcanizing, and made as good as new.

Decorated Austrian and German.

Madrid, May 11.—The Queen Regent has conferred upon the Austrian Minister of War and the German Minister of the Navy the Grand Cross of Military Merit. It is generally supposed that the decorations have been bestowed in recognition of the friendly attitude of Austria and Germany towards Spain during the recent war with the United States.

The Czarina Helps the Sufferers.

St. Petersburg, May 11.—At the instance of the Czarina two commissioners have been sent to the famine-stricken district of Russia to inquire into the distress there and to take prompt means for its alleviation. The Czarina has given 50,000 roubles for the relief of the suffering people.

JOHN BULL'S PREPAREDNESS

Made the Arbitration of the Venezuela Dispute a Possibility.

The Expenditures of Great Britain for Army and Navy Had Been Heavy, But Anything Less Would Have Lessened Chances of Amicable Foreign Relations—Great Britain Recognized and Met Her Great Responsibilities.

London, May 11.—The Duke of Devonshire, Lord President of the Council of Ministers, speaking yesterday afternoon at the annual banquet of the Central Association of Bankers, said that while Great Britain's expenditures had been enormous, any less financial preparedness would have lessened her chances of amicable agreement with the United States, France and Russia.

England's armaments, he declared, had made arbitration over the Venezuela controversy possible, and had preserved the amicable relations with the great republic. It would be asking too much to expect that all these treaties would lead to less universal, permanent peace, but what had been done showed that Great Britain recognized the responsibilities resting upon her, and was willing to use her power and wealth right fully.

BRITAIN'S COAL SUPPLY

Will Have a Great Effect on Her Future in the Next 50 Years.

London, May 11.—Mr. Forster Brown, president of the Mining Association of Great Britain, has just delivered a lecture on the available sources of the coal supply of Great Britain, and its bearing upon the future prosperity of the country. He said the best of the coal resources, at a moderate depth of 2,000 feet, and of the best quality, cheaply worked, would last about 50 years; but there would still remain unexhausted the best seams at great depth and seams at shallow depths sufficient to maintain a supply of coal of 250,000,000 tons a year for 250 years.

The statesmanlike course to meet the increased cost of coal due to natural causes such as depth, temperature and so forth, would be for the Government to acquire the internal means of communication, such as railways and canals, and pay off all the municipal loans for water, lighting, sanitation and other public purposes, thus providing for a continuation of the prosperity of the country till the coal was absolutely exhausted. If some such action was not adopted we should begin to feel the pressure of circumstances and gradually disappear as a wealthy nation soon after 50 years.

YOUNG CHINESE EMPEROR

Is in a Sad State—He Is Now Kept in Close Confinement.

Shanghai, May 11.—The former Secretary of the Tsung Li Yamen (Chinese Foreign Office), who has just arrived here from Pekin, reports that affairs in the capital are in a deplorable state. The Empress Dowager, who, no one doubts, is but awaiting her opportunity to proclaim a new Emperor, treats her nephew and foster son, Kuang H'su, with great cruelty. The Emperor is kept in close confinement, with insufficient clothing and not food enough properly to sustain life.

The ex-Secretary pleads for foreign support of the reform movement, devotion to which has caused the Emperor's practical dethronement.

Laws of Church and Realm.

London, May 11.—The House of Commons yesterday, by a vote of 310 to 156, defeated the second reading of the church discipline bill. Subsequently the House adopted, without division, a Government amendment to the bill to the effect that unless the efforts which the archbishops and bishops are now making to secure due obedience by the clergy are not speedily effectual, further legislation will be required in order to maintain observance of the existing laws of the church and realm.

Princess Christian Presided.

London, May 11.—Princess Christian, on behalf of Queen Victoria, held the third drawing room of the season yesterday. The Princess Victoria of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of Connaught were the only members of the royal family, besides Princess Christian, who were present at the drawing room. United States Ambassador Choate and his entire ambassadorial staff were present. Mr. Choate presented several Americans.

Irving Drops the Matinees.

BROCKVILLE MADE A RACKET

Dead-Head Sightseers From Mr. Comstock's Town Were Noisy.

Their Second Attack of Applause When He Took His Seat Was a Little Too Much for Mr. Speaker Edgar, Who Promptly Called Them Down—John Charlton at Last Gets His Bill Read a Third Time.

Ottawa, May 11.—The House was treated yesterday afternoon to the greatest influx of "youth and beauty" which has invaded its precincts for many a long day, the reason being the introduction of Mr. W. H. Comstock, the newly-elected Liberal member for Brockville. Mr. Comstock, who is a small and not very imposing-looking little gentleman, slightly beyond middle age, seems to be of a generous disposition, as he is credited with having chartered a special train to bring "the boys and girls" from Brockville to see him take his seat, and quite a large number availed themselves of the accommodation.

The Corridors Crowded.

Long before the doors to the Commons galleries were opened the corridors were crowded, and the moment prayers were over there was quite a rush into the Speaker's, Senators' and other galleries, and in a few moments about 200 ladies and nearly as many gentlemen were seated in anxious expectation of the introduction of their member. At exactly 20 minutes past 3 Mr. Comstock was conducted into the House by Hon. Mr. Mulock and Mr. D. Fraser. Mr. Mulock introduced him and made the usual announcement that he claimed his seat, in response to which Mr. Speaker made the pro forma reply: "Let the hon. gentleman take his seat."

The Gallery Applauded.

As Mr. Comstock advanced to shake hands with the Speaker and retired to his seat the Liberal members applauded vociferously, and the galleries literally "rose at him," the ladies all standing, waving their handkerchiefs and applauding. The applause lasted for nearly a minute and when it had subsided Mr. Foster caused some amusement by calling out very loudly, "Encore," whereupon the members applauded again and the galleries joined in for the second time. After this second round of applause had subsided, Mr. Speaker Edgar rose and with great solemnity said, "strangers are admitted to the galleries only on sufferance and no demonstrations of any kind whatever can be permitted in the gallery." At this the House laughed and ordinary business was proceeded with.

No Yukon Representation.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in answer to Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper said it was not the intention of the Government to make any proposition this session for the representation of the Yukon territory in the House of Commons.

Canadians Coast.

Hon. Mr. Sifton, in answer to Mr. Rosamond, said it was the intention of the Government to give to sons of farmers or others in Ontario, who may wish to take up farms in the Northwest Territory, the same privileges and advantages as have been given to the Doukhobors, Galicians and other aliens.

No Claim Yet Made.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said, in reply to Mr. Morrison, that no claim had been made upon the Government by or on behalf of the British Yukon Mining, Trading & Transportation Company for some $400,000, or any amount of damages.

A number of motions for papers were carried.

The Alien Labor Law.

Before the orders of the day were called Mr. Clarke called attention to an item in Tuesday night's Toronto Star about 75 Italian laborers being engaged in Buffalo to go to Toronto, and asked if the Government intended to enforce the so-called Canadian alien labor law.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he was not aware of the Government agent at Toronto having made any report on the matter, and the Government would have to receive his report before taking action.

Sir Wilfrid in the Dark Now.

Sir Charles Tupper called attention to the newspaper reports that the international commissioners would not meet again.

THE ODORLESS

CREMATORY CLOSETS.

I have been appointed Sole Agent for the Odorless Crematory Closet manufactured by the Crematry Closet and General Heating Co., of Hamilton.

This Closet has found a place in many of the best homes in the province, and all who have used it cannot speak too highly of its merits. Medical men speak of it from a sanitary point of view, claiming that, if health is any consideration, no home should be without one. Here are some of the

TESTIMONIALS

Alliston, March 1st, 1898.

I have had one of your "Crematory Closets" in use now for several weeks and am glad to be able to say that I have found it entirely satisfactory in every respect. I have not been able to detect the slightest odor from it at any time and would not be without it. I am sure it must prove a great convenience to people in the country and in towns where water is not obtainable.

Yours respectfully, JAMES CONWAY.

Shedden, February 28th, 1898.

I have used it for some time and find it perfectly odorless. It is a long felt want and I believe it will become very popular especially in rural districts, towns and villages where wells are so frequently contaminated by the ordinary closets. I am, yours, etc.,

"Example is Better Than Precept."

It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. Thousands of testimonials are examples of what Hood's has done for others, and what it will do for you.

Dyspepsia — "I was weak and had fainting spells. Dyspepsia and indigestion in severe form troubled me. Five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla made me well and strong." MRS. WILLIAM VANVALKENBURGH, Whitby, Ont.

A Good Medicine — "We have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family as a spring medicine and used Hood's Pills for biliousness and found both medicines very effective. For impure blood we know Hood's Sarsaparilla is a good medicine." R. S. PELTON, publisher Bee, Atwood, Ont.

The Daily Review.

THURSDAY, MAY 11, 1899.

EVEN the Hamilton Times seems to accept the Tory tariff maintained by Mr Fielding with an obedient silence. The best the Times could do was to quote Sir Richard Cartwright's reference to the general tariff and the absence of any changes—steps towards free trade. Like Sir Richard, the Times was a fierce opponent of protection, but now that its party leaders when they reached office had to admit that the Conservatives had been fighting for the right trade principles and had to practically accept the Foster tariff so bitterly condemned before, the Times is docile and keeps a discreet silence. But is it really converted to protection, or is it simply silent because it has to be?—Peterborough Review.

We did not observe any admission by the Liberal party leaders that the Conservatives had been fighting for the right trade principles, and the Times has certainly made no such admission. The policy of the Liberals, as we understand it, is still "reduced taxation, and no taxation except for revenue." The Government moves more slowly in wiping out the bad features of the Tory tariff than the Times would move, if it were firing the engine; but having plainly stated our opinion, we have not seen any necessity to rush and roar like a bull in a china shop. Before the budget speech was made, we advised reductions in the duties on cottons, tobacco and other commodities; after the budget speech, we expressed regret that there had not been an increase in the discrimination on British goods. Was that discreet silence? Was it a sign that the Times had been converted to protection? Or had our Peterborough friend mislaid his spectacles?—Hamilton Times.

The Times answered the Review's question and acknowledges that it is not a convert to protection. The Times is representative of a very large section of the Liberal party—old-time anti-protectionists—and is evidently still cajoling itself with an idea that the Liberal Government will some day inaugurate Liberal old-time principles. We hope not. However as the Times is living in hopes of protection being wiped out so also, probably, are the other old-time Liberals, and hence an uncertainty attaches to the trade policy of the Liberals. The talk of this gradual process is laughable, and is no doubt only a method adopted by these free trade Liberals to deceive themselves. In any event it is evidence that Liberals of the old school are still dissatisfied with the Tory tariff maintained by the Liberal Government, for Tory tariff it is in all its main features that have allowed Canada to enjoy to such a full extent the wave of prosperity now passing.

THE Mail and Empire is right when it remarks that Mr Jas Noxon, the Ontario Prison Inspector, is in luck; he has been paid by the province, and at the same time as a penitentiary investigator by the Ottawa Government. From September, 1896, to February, 1898, he was paid thus from Ottawa for investigating, according to the Auditor's report:

October 27, 1896, to June 30, 1897, at $10 per day	$1,770 00
Hotel expenses	154 26
Travel, stationery, etc.	290 56
July 1, 1897, to Feb 16, 1898, at $10	1,960 00
Hotel expenses, 162½ days	371 45
Transport	174 22
Total	$4,720 49

At the same time the province paid him for inspecting:

November and December, 1896		$ 400 00
Ten months of 1897		2,000 00
Jan and Feb 1898		400 00
Proportion of travel,	1896	50 00
" " "	1897	153 00
" " "	1898	33 00
Total		$3,036 00

Omitting the expenses account, Mr Noxon drew $3,730 from Ottawa and $2,800 from Toronto, or $6,530 in all, in sixteen months.

Hiawatha.

Down this way crops are looking fine. There is a prospect of a big harvest.

Mr Craig has again started his stage, between his stage and his work around the village he is kept very busy.

On Sunday evening a large congregation turned out to listen to a very edifying sermon preached by Rev Mr McAuley, of Kiwa.

The lake is free from ice and many of our residents spend a cool evening on its surface.

There is quite a lot of discontent among the Indians here. They claim they have to send their children to Muncey's school while they contribute to the support of the school in Hiawatha. The chief is going to investigate. He thinks its time for a change.

REVIEWS.

It is really astonishing how The Canadian Magazine keeps up the value of its contents and the excellence of its appearance. One of the brightest pieces in the issue is Robert Barr's encounter with three bicyclists who were exceedingly clever tellers of tales. Barr is a genuine humorist of the gentler type. His jokes never hit like sledge-hammers and are never rough. The illustrated article on the Prince of Wales will be read with interest, especially as his famous Canadian trip is fully described.

Letter of Thanks.

The following letter, which explains itself, has been forwarded to Mr. Percy Owens, organist of St. John's:

To Mr. P. Owens, Organist and Choirmaster St. John's church, Peterborough:

Dear Sir,—We, the undersigned members of the boys' choir, St. John's church, desire to express to you, our esteemed organist and choir-master, our sincere thanks for the beautiful medals which you presented to us as a recognition of our regularity in attendance, and general satisfactory conduct during the special Lenten services for 1899.

We shall ever cherish them among our most valued treasures.

Peterborough, May 10th, 1899.

Sir Wilfrid said he had heard nothing of the report and so far as his information went there was no foundation for it.

The Winnipeg Bye-Election.

Mr. Clarke Wallace called attention to a statement in The Montreal Witness of last night that the bye-election in Winnipeg would be held on the old lists.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said The Witness was not as well informed as it usually was. New lists for Winnipeg were now in course of preparation.

Liquor in the Yukon.

Col. Prior called attention to the position of a man who had been granted a permit by Mr. Ogilvie to take liquor into the Yukon and was threatened with serious loss on account of the disallowance by the Dominion Government of the ordinances authorizing the permits. He wanted to know what the Government proposed to do about it.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he would state on Friday what the Government proposed to do.

The Lobster Commission.

Mr. McInerney inquired what course the Government intended to pursue with reference to the report of the lobster commission.

Sir Louis Davies said that it was intended to adopt some of the recommendations as soon as possible. He might say there would be no curtailment of rights this year, but there would probably be an extension of the fishing season.

Charlton's Bill Passes.

The orders of the day being reached, Mr. Charlton moved the third reading of his bill to amend the Criminal Code so as to make more effectual provision for the punishment of seduction by raising the age of consent from 16 to 18 years.

Sir Hibbert Tupper and others pointed out that the present act was the same as the English act, which had been passed after very careful consideration, and urged that the law should not be altered. After some discussion the House divided on the third reading, which was carried, 68 for to 39 against.

Casey's Bill.

The House then resumed the debate on the proposed motion of Mr. Casey, that the order for the House for committee of the whole on bill No. 24, an act concerning drainage on and over the properties of railway companies, be discharged and the bill be referred to a special committee.

Hon. Mr. Blair moved that the committee consist of Messrs. Tisdale, Haggart, Russell, Bourassa and Casey.

Dr. Sproule pointed out that according to the rules of the House, the two first named were ineligible to serve on the committee, having expressed themselves against the principle of the bill.

Mr. Speaker ruled that the objection was well taken, but at this point the House rose for recess.

Columbia & Western Railway.

When the order for the third reading of the Columbia & Western Railway bill was reached, Mr. Oliver sought to have it amended by striking out the clause increasing the company's bonding powers. On division the amendment was defeated by 61 to 14, and the bill then read a third time and passed.

Mr. Casey's bill was again taken up and debated for an hour without any decision being reached.

The House adjourned at 10 o'clock.

Provincial Prohibition.

Mr. Flint has given notice of the Dominion Alliance provincial prohibition resolution which he will move in the House. It asserts the desirability of uniform prohibition legislation in the provinces and territories and declares that the sale of intoxicating liquors should be prohibited in such provinces as by a majority vote declare in favor of it, and remain in force therein for four years, and thereafter until repealed by vote by majority of the electors. The vote is to take place at a general election. It further provides that in provinces wherein the law is in force liquor shall only be sold for medicinal purposes and no brewer or distiller shall produce, except for export out of the province.

DELEGATION OF LEATHER MEN

Asked Sir Henri Joly for Compulsory Inspection of Hides.

Ottawa, May 11.—S. R. Wickett, Edgar A. Wills, G. B. Beale and A. R. Clarke of Toronto and a dozen or more other representatives of the tanning industry waited on Sir Henri Joly yesterday with the object of securing compulsory inspection of hides, in at least ten cities of Canada. The deputation said that owing to lack of inspection the tanners claim hides are imported into Canada from Britain, whereas a big export trade might be secured; only thorough inspection would enable Canada to compete in the European market.

Sir Henri Joly produced hundreds of petitions from butchers and farmers against compulsory inspection. He gave very little hope to the delegation. A meeting has been arranged for this morning, when both sides will be heard.

FROM WINNIPEG TO DULUTH.

Radcliffe, the Official Hangman, Will Officiate at the Double Hanging.

Winnipeg, May 11.—The Northern Pacific Railway Company contemplates building a line of railway from Portage la Prairie to Morris and thence southeast to international boundary and then on to Duluth, utilizing the Mesaba road, which is now constructed about 100 miles north of Duluth.

The Double Hanging.

Sheriff Inkster conferred with Attorney-General Cameron yesterday afternoon concerning arrangements for the execution of Guszak and Czuby, the condemned Galicians. Radcliffe, official hangman, will come here from Toronto, and will carry out the execution.

Over $50 Worth of Faith Cure.

New York, May 11.—In Police Court in Brooklyn yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Schneider of Williamsburgh testified concerning the treatment by Mrs. Marie Miller of New York City upon their 12-year-old daughter, whose subsequent sufferings from gangrene could only be alleviated by the amputation of her leg. Mr. Schneider testified that the "faith cure" woman came to them unasked and stipulated that no doctors should be permitted to attend their daughter. She put salve on the afflicted limb and mixed a certain kind of tea for the child to drink. Mrs. Schneider testified that she paid $51 for this faith cure treatment.

Blaze on the Empress of China.

Vancouver, B.C., May 11.—As the steamship Empress of China was leaving the wharf for the Orient last night fire was discovered among the oiled cotton rags near the boiler rooms. The fire had gained considerable headway, but the officers and crew kept the facts from the passengers and put out the flames with the ship's hose.

Thrown From His Bike.

St. Thomas, Ont., May 11.—Harry Riddalls, son of Charles Riddalls, while riding a bicycle last evening ran into a passing vehicle and was thrown on the brick pavement, alighting on his head and the wheels of the vehicle passing over him. He is still unconscious and it cannot be told whether he is injured internally or not.

Glengarry Woman's Suicide.

Cornwall, Ont., May 11.—Miss Tassie Heenan, aged 45, belonging to one of the most respected and well-known Glengarry County families, committed suicide by hanging in her brother's carriage shed at Williamstown. She had been in ill-health for the past year.

Kipling Gains Flesh.

Lakewood, May 11.—Rudyard Kipling and his party left here yesterday for Morristown. Kipling walks briskly, and has gained 15 pounds during his three weeks' stay among the pines.

Tug's Boiler Blew Up.

Albany, N.Y., May 11.—Shortly before 10 o'clock last night the tug William Sheffield exploded its boilers, killing one man and badly injuring four others. The accident happened just below the city.

Lived 114 Years.

Prescott, Mich., May 11.—The noted centenarian Indian, Peter Wademan, died yesterday morning, aged 114 years. He was married three months ago to a Polish woman.

Chatham Had a Blaze.

Chatham, Ont., May 11.—The Campbell & Waugh block here was damaged yesterday morning to the extent of about $1,000.

Grand Trunk Earnings.

Montreal, May 11.—Grand Trunk Railway system earnings May 1 to 7, 1899, $425,361; decrease, $4,418.

The Mystified Father.

"Your son," said the school teacher, "is very backward in his studies."

"That's funny," mused the father. "At home, in conversation with me, he seems to know it all."—Philadelphia North American.

Defaulting Teller Hit Hard.

Wilmington, Del., May 11.—William N. Boggs, the defaulting teller of the Dover National Bank, was yesterday sentenced in the United States District Court to five years in the Trenton, N.J., Penitentiary, beginning yesterday, and a fine of $6,500.

Van Horne Party at Vancouver.

Vancouver, May 11.—Sir William Van Horne and party arrived last night from Seattle. The president of the C.P.R. has been enjoying a short holiday in California.

Among all the mocking horrors of chronic indigestion and liver complaint, none is more unbearable than that dreadful sensation of giddiness in which the whole world, indoors or out, seems to swim around before the sight in the most sickening and nauseating manner until one's entire being becomes faint and wretched with indescribable misery.

"I was suffering with what the doctors called chronic indigestion, torpid liver, and vertigo," writes Mrs. Martha B. Barham, of Newville, Prince George Co., Va. "The doctor did me no good. My symptoms were giddiness in the head, pains in the chest and an uneasy feeling all over. I also suffered with female weakness.

"I was all run-down and could not do any work at all without suffering from nervous attacks. I wrote to Dr. R. V Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., for advice. He advised to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Favorite Prescription.' I did so, and used five bottles of each, and I cannot express the benefit I have received from these medicines. I gained in health and strength. When I commenced to use the medicines I weighed only 118 pounds, now I weigh 140 pounds. I thank God and Dr. Pierce for my recovery. My husband and friends all thought I would die but to-day I am a well woman."

The wonderful effects of this great "Discovery" are genuine and permanent; they are not due to any false or alcoholic stimulus for it contains no alcohol. Real substantial healthy muscular strength is built up; the stomach and liver are toned; the blood is purified and vitalized; the nerves are steadied; the entire constitution is rejuvenated and renewed.

In case of constipation, there is nothing quite so effective as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They act comfortably though surely; they do not gripe; you do not become a slave to their use. Their effect is lasting. There are countless substitutes; but nothing else is like them.

A JEWELLER'S CASE.

Mr. R. F. Colwell, of Windsor, Tells How Dodd's Kidney Pills

Cured Him of Bright's Disease, After Many Other Remedies had Utterly Failed—Dodd's Kidney Pills Helped Him From the Start.

Windsor, May 10.—In no city in Canada has that celebrated medicine, Dodd's Kidney Pills, won a brighter record than in Windsor. The number of persons cured of deadly Kidney Diseases by Dodd's Kidney Pills in this city is surprisingly large, and increases daily.

One of the latest to testify to the magic power of Dodd's Kidney Pills is Jeweller R. F. Colwell, No. 9 Ouellette-st. He says: "I have endured, for two years, the greatest torture, from back-ache and pains in the loins. A puffiness appeared under my eyes, my limbs bloated, and my urine was of a dark, unnatural color, and bad odor.

"I tried many remedies, but all failed to help me. When I ascertained that I had Bright's Disease, I became thoroughly alarmed. I was told of the efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills, in all Kidney diseases, and I began to use them.

"After the first few doses, I began to improve. The pains left me, my sleep became sound, puffiness and bloating vanished, my urine resumed its normal condition, and my health gradually became all I could wish it to be. I used only a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, but they cleaned my system thoroughly of that dread curse—Bright's Disease."

There is no case of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Gout, Gravel, Stone in the Bladder, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Diseases of Women, or any other Kidney disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or will be sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodds Medicine Company, Limited, Toronto.

The Weather.

"The weather," said the oldest inhabitant, "is not what it used to be when I was a boy."

"For that matter," commented the smart young man, "the weather is not what it was seven months ago." And the oldest inhabitant could not be persuaded to talk for more than an hour.—Indianapolis Journal.

A Sure Scheme.

Young Wife—I am determined to learn at what hour my husband comes home at nights. Yet do what I will, I cannot keep awake, and he is always careful not to make a particle of noise. Is there any drug which produces wakefulness?

Old Wife—No need to buy drugs. Sprinkle the floor with tacks.

OF LOCAL INTEREST.

To all who have felt the evil effects of deranged kidneys is the assurance that Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are meeting with enormous sale and unparalleled success in this district. Backaches and aching kidneys are fast becoming a thing of the past where Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are known. One cent a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers.

—It is stated on good authority that the brewers are taking legal advice as to the constitutionality of the Distillers' and Brewers' License Act, passed last session. From time to time whispers have been heard that this Act, like so many other measures passed by the Hardy Government, would not hold water. Should the lawyers take that view the brewers will, it is understood, at once bring the question before the courts for an authoritative statement.

THINGS SEEM TO BE MIXED UP

Washington Folk Are Beginning to Think the Jig is Up.

The Anglo-American-Canadian Negotiations May Fail—Action of Ontario Authorities Regarding the Exportation of Sawlogs to the States Being Backed Up at Ottawa Stirs Up the Officials of the United States.

Washington, D.C., May 11.—(Montreal Herald Special).—The gravest apprehension is felt for the continuance of the negotiations of the Anglo-American joint high commission, appointed to frame a treaty between the United States and Canada. This feeling is so strong that a report was circulated on Tuesday that the deliberations of the commission would not be continued. There is no authority, however, for saying that the commission will not re-assemble at Ottawa in August according to the plan arranged at the time of the adjournment in Washington last February. It is apparent that the State Department expects no successful result from this meeting. A good deal of irritation is felt on account of the failure of the Dominion Government to agree to the establishment of a modus vivendi on the Alaskan boundary question, and the feeling is that if Canada is unwilling to consent to a modus vivendi, the fact does not augur well for the success of continued negotiations for a permanent settlement of the Alaskan dispute. The State and Treasury Departments have been a good deal stirred up, too, on account of the recent action of the Ontario Provincial Legislature in prohibiting the exportation of logs to the United States and especially as the legislation was made retroactive. The Dominion Government having the power to disapprove this legislation within a certain limit of time, did not do it, and as the lumber dispute was, next to the boundary question, the greatest obstacle to the success of the joint commission negotiations, the Washington officials are not encouraged by the unfriendly act of Ontario, which they regard as having received the virtual approval of the Ottawa Administration.

United States and Canada.

London, May 11.—The Daily News publishes an interview with "a distinguished diplomat" this morning regarding the peace conference and the joint high commission for the settlement of questions in dispute between the United States and Canada. He is reported as saying: "Contrary to what has been published, I am very hopeful of a settlement as to outstanding questions, which indeed are already very nearly settled, except the Alaskan controversy; and while the United States and England lack identical instructions for the deliberations at The Hague, it is highly probable that they will take the same line there."

OLD MAN SHOT HIMSELF.

Body Was Found Near Wiarton on Mr. McNeill's Farm.

Wiarton, Ont., May 11.—While Thomas Lee was repairing the fences of Mr. McNeill, M.P., yesterday afternoon, he found the body of an old man of about 70 years, close to a clump of cedar bushes, a mile north of this place. A revolver was lying at his side, and there was a bullet wound close to his eye. Coroner Fisher viewed the body, and said there was no doubt deceased had caused his own death. Deceased had lived in Keppel for a number of years of late with his son, William. In the morning he was on his way to visit his son, Thomas McGarkey, at Mar. Deceased was in apparent good health, and the cause of the act is not known.

Power to Change Names.

Ottawa, May 11.—In the private bills committee yesterday morning the bill giving the Canadian Power Company power to change its name to the Ontario Niagara Power Company, was passed, as was also the bill empowering the Welland Power & Supply Company to change its name to the Welland Niagara Power Company, to reduce the directorate, and to fix the bonding power at 75 per cent. of the paid-up stock.

Twelve Houses Destroyed.

Wichita, Kas., May 11.—A cyclone struck Coldwater, Kansas, last night, completely destroying 12 houses, and killing Joseph Bowers, a prominent cattle man. Aldrich's general store was wrecked and a brick block in Main street blown down. The Presbyterian Church was blown away and the Court House unroofed.

A Notary in Trouble.

Montreal, May 11.—Mr. Henry Lemaire, LL.B., notary, was arrested on a warrant yesterday morning by the high constable, charged with theft. The complainant is Delphine Riendeau, wife of Edward Panneton, of the parish of L'Annunciation, Ottawa District, who claims that the notary robbed her of $800. Mr. Lemaire denied the theft.

The Lord's Day Act.

Toronto, May 11.—The Presbyterian Synod last night adopted the report of the committee on the Lord's Day Act. The judicial decisions which render the act inoperative were stated, and the opinion expressed that the Ontario Government will submit a special case to the Court of Appeal to determine the points raised.

New Field Guns.

Kingston, Ont., May 11.—Yesterday morning the 12 12-pound breech-loading field guns, the same as those with which "A" Field Battery is equipped, arrived here from England. Six are for the use of the 5th Kington Field Battery, and six for the 5th Gananoque Field Battery.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents. For sale by James Lynch, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough.

"EMPIRE DAY"

Falls on Tuesday, May 23—Minister's Suggestion as to the Proceedings.

Toronto, May 11.—"Empire Day" this year falls on Tuesday, May 23. The Minister of Education has just issued a circular to public school inspectors, giving suggestions as to how the day should be observed in the public schools of the province. Part of the forenoon, the Minister suggests, might be occupied with a familiar talk by the teacher on the British Empire, its extent and resources; the relation of Canada to the Empire; the unity of the Empire and its advantages the privileges which, as British subjects, we enjoy; the extent of Canada and its resources; readings from Canadian and British authors by the teacher; interesting historical incidents in connection with our own country. The aim of the teacher in all his references to Canada and the Empire should be, to make Canadian patriotism intelligent, comprehansive and strong.

The afternoon, commencing at 2.30 p.m., might be occupied with patriotic recitations, songs, readings by the pupils, speeches by trustees, clergymen and such other persons as may be available.

The trustees and public generally should be invited to be present at these exercises.

During the day the British flag or Canadian ensign should be hoisted over the school building.

That no remedy in the market affords such prompt relief in toothache, neuralgia and rheumatism as Nerviline, and its action in cases of cramps, colic, etc., is simply marvellous. Remarking this to a physician of experience he stated that from his knowledge of the composition of Nerviline no remedy could surpass it as a family remedy, and that in every household a bottle of Nerviline should be available for emergent demands. Readers of this paper should try Nerviline.

Bringing the Time of Day.

In Ulster you can find the "bull" flourishing. Here is a pretty example of the acted bull: A certain squire had just set up with great pains and elaborate mathematical calculations a sun dial in his garden and was naturally a little proud of it. One day, as it so happened, being close to the garden, he was in doubt as to the right time and told a boy who was with him to run down and get him the time from the dial. After a few minutes the boy appeared dragging with him something heavy.

"Here she is, yer honor, an hard set Ah was to get her up." He had torn up the dial from its setting and dragged it up the hill.—Spectator.

MONEY BACK

.....If You Want It

What could make your buying safer? Seems out of reason, you say, that we will take back goods once sold without making faces over it. Why should we make faces? Why should we hesitate? If we were in business for a week or a month there might be a sort of worldly-wise policy in selling you everything possible, regardless of truth or of your needs, and their insisting that they stay sold.

We expect to be in business here for years. We expect to see our business grow and grow. We expeect to make friends and keep them—by treating them broadly and fairly.

We do not want one of you to keep a thing your'e not satisfied with. Come back with it your money is waiting—of course toilet articles, bedding, and a few things you wouldn't care to buy if some user had purchased them before, we do not take back.

CLIMBING UPWARD.

Mr. Geo. H. Locke, an Old Peterborough Boy, Takes a Position.

George H Locke, B.A., son of Rev Jos H Locke, Eglington, formerly pastor of the George-st church, has been appointed professor in the department of history and philosophy of education in Chicago University. The well-known psychologist, Dr Dewey, is in charge of this department, and it was through his recommendation that Mr Locke was appointed. Prof Locke is a graduate of Victoria University and a post-graduate student of Chicago University, where he left a fellowship to assume an instructorship in the department of history and philosophy in Harvard. He received his early education in town and taught in the Collegiate here for a short time. Strong efforts were made to induce Mr Locke to remain at Harvard, but he had accepted the Chicago position. He will remain at his present post until the close of the summer session, when he leaves for Chicago.

ASCENSION DAY.

Confirmation Administered to a Large Number of Children at St. Peter's.

An interesting ceremony was performed at St. Peter's cathedral this morning, when His Lordship Bishop O'Connor administered the sacrament of confirmation to a large number of children after the nine o'clock Mass. About one hundred and sixty in all were confirmed. Of these about half made their first communion this morning. Masses were also celebrated at eight and eleven o'clock.

ENTERTAINED THE GUILD.

Senior Girls' Guild of All Saints' Church Entertained.

The senior Girls' Guild of All Saints' church were entertained last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gilbert, Park-st. There was quite a large gathering and a most enjoyable time was spent. The evening was of a social nature and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert exercised their hospitality in a pleasing manner. Refreshments were served at a seasonable hour and games, music, etc., added to the pleasure of the evening.

FOR A HALF HOLIDAY.

Clerks of the Merchants Are Looking for a Weekly Half Holiday.

There is an agitation on foot among the clerks of the town in almost all the lines of business for a half holiday once a week during the summer months. A number of the clerks gathered at the National hotel last evening, at which the idea was discussed and it is likely that some concerted action will be taken to bring the matter before the notice of the merchants. The custom of having a weekly trade half holiday has been followed here during some seasons in the past and is quite common in the surrounding towns. While many of the merchants are not opposed to the idea of the holiday for a short time in midsummer, there are others who feel that the demands of business prevent them joining in the movement. As yet it is not known what or whether any arrangement will be made.

Appreciation of Rev. Mr. Fusee.

The Quarterly Board of the Warsaw circuit at its last meeting unanimously adopted the following resolution:

We, the members of the Quarterly Board, now assembled at this the last meeting of the conference year, desire to place on record our hearty appreciation of the services of our pastor, Rev. C. H. Fusee. The year has been a memorable one in the history of the circuit, both as to the growth of the church in respect of members and increase of spiritual life in all its membership. His pulpit ministration has been characterized by body of thought, vitalized knowledge and intellectual power, and all have been strengthened and comforted thereby. The attendance upon all the services of the church and its various departments has steadily increased under his pastorate and all are in a thriving condition, spiritually as well as numerically and financially. Our hope and expectation is that he may come back to us from Conference and continue to minister to us in the good work for which he is so eminently fitted.

POLICE COURT.

Only the Echo Answered When a Name was Called This Morning.

Geo. Shambo and Jas. Moore were wanted at the police court this morning for alleged disorderly conduct, the complaint being that they had indugled in a scrap on the street on Tuesday evening. Moore was on deck, but though Shambo's name was called in a loud voice several times his vacant place remained unfilled. The Magistrate heard the evidence of a couple of witnesses, then dismissed Moore and ordered a warrant to be issued for the arrest of the absentee.

MEETINGS FOR MOTHERS

Special Gatherings to be Held on Sunday Afternoons—The Saturday Club.

Meetings designed to be particularly helpful for mothers are to be held in the Y.W.C.A. rooms on Sunday afternoons. They will take the form of Bible readings or short talks on themes of highest interest, and are to be known as "Mothers' meetings." The first of these meetings will be held on Sunday afternoon, May 14, at 4:15. All mothers will be cordially welcomed.

The club met as usual on Saturday evening last with a large attendance. Five new names were added to the list of members, making in all over sixty.

WATCHING THE RIVERS.

Ontario Government Guarding Against the Export of Logs by Michigan Lumbermen.

The Ontario Government has stationed forest rangers at the mouth of the principal streams flowing into Lake Huron, the Georgian Bay and Parry Sound, in order to see that no logs are exported to the United States except those cut previously to the prohibition coming into force. The rivers so watched are the Mississauga, Thessalon, White Fish, French, Magnetawan and Sequin. The Crown Lands Department does not believe that any of the Michigan lumberman will attempt to export in defiance of the law, but deems it best to be on the safe side by guarding against such a contingency.

Spraying Fruit Trees.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—As I am frequently asked for the particulars of the mixture for spraying fruit trees, will you kindly publish the formula, so that your readers may have it before them: Copper sulphate, 4 pounds; lime (fresh), 4 pounds; Paris Green, 4 ounces; water, 40 gallons. The bulletin recently issued by the Department of Agriculture, Toronto, may be had by asking the Department for it, and it gives full particulars as to spraying.

Every owner of an orchard should carefully fight the caterpillars this year. In addition to the tent caterpillars, which are easily detected, and may be removed by picking off or crushing the nests, there are others which last year were so bad on the maple and basswood trees, and which are not so easily seen or removed. Thorough and frequent spraying is the easiest way to deal with all of these enemies. Those who have not yet sprayed should do so at once, before the blossoms open, and again as soon as the blossoms have fallen, and then two weeks later. New leaves are constantly growing and they furnish fresh food for the caterpillars until they also are sprayed.

Last year when the caterpillars were so bad I had not a single apple tree injured. The spraying was very effectual.

Yours truly,
E. B. EDWARDS.

A TRAGEDY.

She passed me in the crowded square,
And on her little face forlorn
I caught a glimmer of despair
Her childish brow had never worn.
Yet as she lightly smiled at me
I saw the old half wistful air
Still lurking in her sea blue eyes;
For I had known her as a child,
And ere she grew so worldly wise,
When she was like a flower and fair,
We two had wandered, free and wild,
Down hills that faced the sea.

Oh, she who seemed a flower of old
And knew each hill and highland place
From April green to autumn gold
I saw go through the drifting rain
With rouge upon her childish face
To hide a shadow of the pain
And all the aging sorrow there!
Yet with the same old queenly tread
She faded down the darkening square
Amid the night she knew too well,
And like the stateliest flower that grows
She held her queenly little head,
And still, it seemed, from that poor rose
An old sweet perfume fell.
—Arthur J. Stringer in Harper's Magazine.

FROZEN IN FORMS OF ICE.

Posters, Fishes and Flowers Put Up For Purposes of Display.

Artificial ice is commonly frozen in blocks 11 by 22 by 40 inches, weighing 320 pounds. Into such or even larger blocks theater posters are sometimes frozen for the purpose of novelty in display, the blocks being placed lying flat or standing on end upon the sidewalk. Even when thus exposed a block of such size will last for a considerable time. Now and then a florist has a bunch of flowers frozen in a cake of ice for the same purpose. A butcher may have a leg of lamb frozen in an ice block, and sometimes a fish dealer has a fish frozen in a block of ice, which is set on edge, the fish showing in its natural position in the center of the block.

Occasionally flowers are frozen in ice to make a decorative piece for a dinner table, the molds used for such purposes being more or less ornamental in design or decorative in effect. One mold that is used for this purpose produces an ice form having a square base, slightly tapering, surmounted by a dome. This piece is about 12 inches square at the base and about 30 inches in height. Another form used for this purpose is a pyramid, another is an obelisk, and still another is a column supported on a base.

It takes care and labor to freeze the flowers in the ice in attractive and suitable shape. Separate buds may have to be held in position in the water until the gradually freezing ice comes up to support them where they have been held. Roses and various other flowers are frozen in ice forms in this manner. At an ice manufacturing establishment in the city at Christmas time, there was frozen into a block of ice for a sunflower a bunch of holly. Decorative pieces for the table are of course set upon a suitable holder. Such pieces will last without great deterioration for hours.

While ice in these various forms for display and decorative purposes is called for occasionally, the demand is not great.—

LOST MAN'S LANE.

A SECOND EPISODE IN THE LIFE OF AMELIA BUTTERWORTH

BY ANNA KATHARINE GREEN

AUTHOR OF "THE LEAVENWORTH CASE," "BEHIND CLOSED DOORS," "THAT AFFAIR NEXT DOOR," ETC. ETC.

COPYRIGHT, 1897, BY ANNA K. ROHLFS.

Miss Butterworth, I'm 68 and I have been a widower two years. I'm not fitted for a solitary life, and I am fitted for a comfortable life with an affectionate wife to keep my hearth swept clean and my own affections in good working order. Will you be that wife? I have a neat cottage"—

"Yes," said I, "in Lost Man's lane."

"Oh," he exclaimed, "you do not like this place? Well, we could go elsewhere. I am not set against the city myself"—

"Nor against the comfortable little income somebody has told you I possessed," cried I. "I see your disinterestedness, but I should be sorry to profit by it. Why, man, I never spoke to you before in my life, and do you think"—

"Oh," said he, "I see you are not above flattery and those things. Well, madam, I know a tremendous fine woman when I see her without talking away a dozen evenings on politics, religion and what not. I don't need to know any more about you than I can take in with my two eyes, but if you would like a little more acquaintance with me, why, I can wait a couple of weeks till we've rubbed the edges a little off of our strangeness, when"—

"When you think I will be so charmed with Deacon Spear that I will be ready to settle down with him in Lost Man's lane, or if that will not do carry him off to Gramercy park, where he will be the admiration of all New York and Brooklyn to boot. Why, man, if I was so easily satisfied as that I would not be in a position today for you to honor me with this proposal. I am not easy to suit, so I advise you to turn your attention to some one much more anxious to be married than I am, but not before this mystery is settled in Lost Man's lane. If you were an honest man, you would ask no one to share your fortunes while any cloud rests upon your honor."

"My honor! Madam, be careful. I admire you, but"—

"No offense," said I. "For a stranger I have perhaps indulged in a little freedom. I only mean that any one who lives in this lane must feel that the shadow which envelops it rests also a little upon him. When that is lifted, each one will feel himself a man again. From indications yonder that day may not be far away. Mother Jane is a likely source for such a mystery. She knows just little enough to have no proper idea of the value of a human life."

"Madam," said Deacon Spear, "I have not that much interest in what is going on over there." Here he snapped his fingers. "If men have been killed in this lane—which I do not believe—she never had no hand in it. What I think is that it's all a coincidence. Each and every person who has disappeared has disappeared naturally. No one has been killed. That is my theory, madam, and you will find it correct. On this point I have expended much thought."

I was irate; I was also dumfounded at his audacity. Did he think I was the woman to swallow that? But I shut my lips tight lest I should say something, and he, not finding that agreeable, being no conversationalist himself, drew off after awhile with some pompous expression of hoping to see me again after his honor was cleared up in my very particular eyes.

It was the second proposal I had received that day, but the first—well, I did not accept that either, though my declination was a little kinder than the one I thought best to inflict upon Deacon Spear.

A day of unparalleled anxiety broken by such episodes as these!

CHAPTER XXXIV.

UNDER A CRIMSON SKY.

At 5 o'clock the diggers began to go home. Nothing had been found, and the excitement of search which had animated them early in the day had given place to a dull resentment mainly directed toward the Knollys, if one could judge of these men's feelings by the heavy scowls and significant gestures with which they passed its broken down gateway.

By 6 the last man had filed by, leaving Mr. Gryce free for the work which lay before him.

I had retired long before this to my room, where I awaited the hour set by Lucetta with a feverish impatience quite new to me. As none of us could eat, the supper table had not been laid, and though I had no means of knowing what was in store for us the somber silence and oppression under which the whole house lay seemed a portent that was by no means encouraging.

Suddenly I heard a knock at my door. Rising hastily, I opened it. Loreen stood before me, with parted lips and terror in all her looks.

"Come!" she cried. "Come and see what I have found in Lucetta's room."

As she was already half way down the hall I hastened to follow her, and in a few moments found myself on the threshold of the room I know to be Lucetta's.

"She made me promise," cried Loreen, halting to look back at me, "that I would let her go alone and that I would not enter the highway till an hour after she had left. But after this how can we stay in this house?" And dragging me to a table, she showed me lying on its top a folded paper and two letters. The folded paper was Lucetta's will and the letters were directed severally to Loreen and to myself with the injunction on them that they were not to be read till she had been gone six hours.

"Serious!" I murmured. "But Mr. Gryce is with her."

"No one is with her. Mr. Gryce may be near, but she has undertaken her task alone. Miss Butterworth, I have never broken a promise before in all my life, but I am going to break this. Come, let us fly to her. She has her lover's memory, but I have nothing in all the world but her."

I immediately turned, and we hastened down the stairs, but at the foot Loreen gave me a look and said:

"My promise was not to enter the highway. Would you be afraid to follow me by another road—secret road—all overgrown with thistles and blackberry bushes which have not been trimmed up for years?"

I thought of my thin shoes, my neat silk dress, but only to forget them the next moment.

"I will go anywhere," said I. "But where, where has Lucetta gone? Is it to Deacon Spear's? If so"—

But Loreen was already too far in advance of me to answer. She was young, she was lithe and was down as far as the kitchen before I had passed the flower parlor. But when we had sped clear of the house I found that my progress bade fair to be as rapid as hers, for her agitation was a hindrance to her, while excitement always brings out my powers and heightens both my wits and my judgment.

Our way lay past the stables, from which I expected every minute to see two or three dogs jump. But William, who had been discreetly sent out of the way early in the afternoon, by the two sisters, had taken Saracen with him, and possibly the rest, so our passing by disturbed nothing, not even ourselves. The next moment we were in a field of prickers, through which we both struggled till we came into a sort of swamp. This was bad going, but we floundered through it, edging continually as I could not but see toward a distant fence beyond which rose the symmetrical lines of an orchard.

"Loreen," I cried, "Loreen, those are Mr. Trohm's grounds! Must we pass through them?"

"It's the shortest way," she shouted back, for among the hummocks of the swamp she had got the start of me again.

And, unpleasant as I felt this intrusion to be, I hastened on, overtaking her once more just as we reached a tiny gateway so covered with vines that there was no need for Loreen to say:

"I do not believe this has been opened for years, but it must be opened now." And, throwing her young strength against it, she burst it through with all its vines, and bidding me pass she stepped herself over the trailing branches and made without a word for the winding path we now saw clearly defined on the edge of the orchard before us.

"Oh," exclaimed Loreen, stopping one moment to catch her breath, "I do not know what I fear or to what our steps will bring us. I only know that I must hunt for Lucetta till I find her. If there is danger where she is, I must share it. You can rest here or come further on. But what is this?"

It was a man. He had started suddenly from some one of the shadows near the hedgerow.

"Silence!" he whispered, putting his finger on his lips. "If you are looking for Miss Knollys," he added, seeing us both pause aghast, "she is on the lawn beyond, talking to Mr. Trohm. If you come here, you can see her. She is in no kind of danger, but if she were Mr Gryce is in the first row of trees to the back there, and a call from me"—

That made me remember my whistle. It was still round my neck, but my hand, which had instinctively gone to it, fell again in extraordinary emotion as I took in the situation he had hinted at and realized that it was on Mr. Trohm's grounds we stood and that it was toward Mr. Trohm himself Loreen's looks of unmistakable fear and dread were turned.

THE PIANO

On a coal basis. You buy a ton of soft coal for $2.75, a ton of hard coal for $6.00, where's the difference? They're both coal, one's as black as the other, both weigh 2,000 pounds, and yet one costs nearly three times as much as the other though both are used for the same purpose. The explanation is in the QUALITY. You can buy pianos at low prices, but do you want that kind?

QUALITY is what you buy in a Piano more than in anything else. You get just as much wood and nearly as much metal in a cheap Piano, but the QUALITY is lacking. We can guarantee the

MRS. WEBSTER IS FREE.

The Woman Was a Tool in the Hands of Wicked Politicians.

Brockville, Ont., May 11.—Mrs. W. K. Webster appeared for trial before Judge McDonald yesterday on a charge of blackmail. She elected to be tried by his honor and pleaded not guilty to a charge of threatening Antoine Wendling that he would be charged by Alex. McIntosh with offering him marked ballots, unless he paid her $500, for which sum she would guarantee to keep McIntosh from appearing against him. The plaintiff testified that Mrs. Webster had demanded $500 from him; that he asked her for half an hour to consult with friends. He utilized the half hour to send for the chief of police and two friends, whom he placed in an adjoining room, where they could overhear what passed. No defence was offered. The judge held that the woman had been a tool in the hands of others more culpable, and that while her conduct deserved censure, she was not actually guilty of blackmail. She was, therefore, discharged.

Looted Chambers' House.

New York, May 11.—Dr. P. F. Chambers of this city yesterday received a letter from his brother, Chief Justice Chambers, of Samoa, dated at Apia, April 20, which states that rebels, under Chief Matuafa, looted Justice Chambers' house on April 6, during the height of the present troubles. The Chief Justice lost about $1,000 worth of property.

Seat Sold for $40,000.

New York, May 11.—A seat on the Stock Exchange was sold yesterday for $40,000, the highest sum ever paid. That sum is now bid for a seat.

Butter and Cheese.

Ottawa, May 11.—At the meeting of the agricultural committee yesterday morning Prof. Robertson gave a talk on butter and cheese. He said that butter required a preservative for the English market. In regard to cheese, he said that the method of storing ought to be improved for the export trade. Cheese ought to be cured for the English market in a cold temperature, which would give it a flavor more palatable to the English taste.

It was decided to set apart a day for a discussion of the fruit trade, as the present cold storage arrangements are said to be not altogether satisfactory for fruit.

Distrust of Russia.

Berlin, May 11.—The Kreuz Zeitung, evidently expressing the opinion of official circles regarding the peace conference, says: "Every impulse toward increased armaments during the present century has come from Russia and France, and there can be no sincere talk of disarmament by Russia, who would be the last power to call a congress in the interest of humanity and to cast the false mask away."

MAY BE SERIOUS FOR CAHILL.

St. Catharines Man Arrested in Connection With West Elgin Election.

St. Catharines, May 11. — Detective Flynn has been here for several days working on the West Elgin bye-election case. He enlisted the services of local constables, and also had a St. Thomas officer in touch. Yesterday morning a sensation was caused here by the arrest of Martin Cahill, who was working at Thorold. Cahill was taken to St. Thomas last evening to stand trial on the following charges:

"That on the 12th day of January, 1899, he did commit the crime of forgery, for the said Martin Cahill did there and then make a false document, to wit, a certain written statement of the poll after counting the ballot papers at polling subdivision No. 11 in St. Thomas, relating to the provincial election held in West Elgin, Jan. 19, 1899, purporting to be signed by A. E. Montgomery, deputy returning officer of the said polling division, knowing said document to be false, with the intention it should be used and acted upon as genuine, to the prejudice of the electors of West Elgin, etc."

The other charge is, that he did unlawfully and wilfully, without legal justification or excuse, injure and cause to be injured, and make and cause to be made erasure and addition of names in a certain poll book, prepared and drawn out according to the Ontario Election Act, etc.

The Star says: "There have been rumors current for some days that a gang of impersonators was likely to be rounded up. The defeated Conservative candidate in West Elgin, Mr. McDiarmid, employed Detective Flynn to get evidence against the parties suspected of frauds. Witnesses were brought here to identify Cahill, and the arrest followed. It is quite probable that more arrests will follow in a few days."

Triumphs over the Worst Forms of

KIDNEY... DISEASE

The wonderful success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills adds to the fame of the great doctor whose name is familiar in almost every home as the author of the world famous Recipe Book.

Scores and thousands of grateful men and women have been rescued from the miseries and dangers of kidney disease by this greatest of all kidney cures.

Mr. D. C. Simmons, Mabee, Ont., writes: "My kidneys and back were so bad I was unable to work or sleep. My urine had sediment like brick dust, I was compelled to get up four or five times during the night. I saw Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills advertised and concluded to give them a trial. I have only used one box and am completely cured. I was a great sufferer for 18 years, but my kidneys do not bother me now. I enjoy good rest and sleep and consider Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills a boon to suffering humanity."

Iron Horses Chained Up.

Guthrie, O.T., May 11.—Two freight trains and a passenger train on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Road were stopped by Sheriff Nowblock and an armed force of deputites at Norman yesterday, and chained to the track. The engines were locked and chained and traffic stopped. All this property was levied on to collect $7,000 taxes owed by the railroad company for 1898.

He Is Mayor of London.

Toronto, May 11.—The appeal in the case of Citizen Sims against City Clerk Kingston to restrain him from declaring Dr. Wilson elected mayor of London, was dismissed by the Divisional Court yesterday. Chief Justice Meredith and Mr. Justice Rose agreed that the action has no foundation.

An Open Verdict.

Huntsville, May 11.—The verdict in adjourned coroner's inquest on the body of John Hopkins, found dead near here some time ago, was given by the jury last night as follows: "Found dead, but no evidence to show cause of death."

Buffalo Strike Still On.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 11.—There is practically no change in the grain shovellers' strike situation. Conferences are still being held, but there is no sign of giving way on either side.

MOTHER COUNTRY OWNS IT.

Another Phase to the Never-Ending Deadman's Island Question.

Vancouver, B.C., May 11.—There is still another phase to the never-ending Deadman's Island question. A special from Ottawa says: "The question of title to Deadman's Island and Stanley Park, raised by the claim of the Provincial Government, is likely to lead to further complications. The matter has been closely examined since the province stepped into the arena, and it now appears that neither the Dominion nor the province is owner, but the Imperial Government. British Columbia was a Crown colony up to 1863, and when given responsible government, so far as the authorities at Ottawa can find, there was no transfer of naval reserves to the province nor to the Dominion in 1871, when British Columbia entered confederation. Thus it is fixed that Stanley Park and Deadman's Island are precisely in the same position as Esquimalt Reserve today, absolute property of Imperial Government.

Insurance Protection.

Commenting on the recent deaths of Gleeson White, a famous art critic, and of Harold Fredric, a celebrated novelist and correspondent, who, it was found, had made no provision for their families, and, indeed subscriptions had to be made for their relief, the Insurance Press says:—

"One would not suppose that it is necessary nowadays to urge on business men the benefits to be derived from life insurance, but the unfortunate conditions referred to are very suggestive."

The guaranteed income policy introduced by the Sun Life of Canada, is the most modern development in life insurance, and in the opinion of many comes nearer to perfection than any form of contract which has preceeded it.

This policy provides for the payment of the sum assured in twenty equal annual installments and as much longer as the beneficiary may live. In this way a much larger fixed income is guaranteed than would be obtainable from the investment of a similar sum paid on an ordinary policy. The wife has also the advantage of the absolute security which a strong and prosperous institution like the Sun Life of Canada affords. This policy makes absolute provision for the beneficiary.

Dr. Chase's Remedies are Guaranteed to do all they are advertised to do--CURE.

Respectfully A. W. Chase, M.D.

The relief of human suffering and misery caused by disease is the most blest work in which the lover of his kind can engage. No man ever, with higher purpose or more enthusiasm, entered upon this his life work, than the late Dr. A. W. Chase. He never stopped to think of or ask for pay. The suffering poor came to him as to a father for advice and he gave them treatment whenever needed without charge. He compiled a book containing many hundreds of his receipts and cures, which he caused to be sold at a figure barely covering cost, so that sufferers everywhere might avail themselves of his life-long experience. Such of his medicines not easily prepared, he caused to be manufactured on a large scale, the expense thus reduced enabling him to have them sold at a comparatively reduced price. Notably among these were his Ointment, his Kidney-Liver Pills, his celebrated Catarrh Cure and his Linseed and Turpentine. By such a system it will surprise no one to know that the present moment more of Dr. Chase's remedies are sold in Canada, the United States and Europe, than all other patent medicines combined. A Brief Synopsis of some of the Cures Effected through the use of Dr. Chase's Remedies

Bright's Disease

Mr. Andrew Duffin, Aultsville, Ont., says: "I am 85 years old and am blind. I have been troubled with kidney disease for five years. I tried numbers of doctors and preparations, but got no relief. My son advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I got a box, and to my surprise I got relief at once. I will always keep them in the house."

Bad Kidneys

Mr. Peter Taylor, Matchedash Township, Ont., says: "For thirty years I suffered from disease of the kidneys. At times it was absolutely impossible for me to straighten my body and when I urinated I passed blood and what looked like brick dust. On recommendation of a friend I took a course of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and now I am able to work as well as ever in my life."

Itching Piles—Five Years

White Lake, Ont.
Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto:
Gentlemen,—I was troubled with itching piles for five years. I have tried everything I heard of, but all failed to cure. Knowing Mr. Scott, of Wabs (whose testimonial you have), was cured of piles by Dr. Chase's Ointment, I made up my mind that there was some hope in my case. I purchased a box. The first application gave me relief, and to-day I am completely cured and know of other cases in which it has effected a cure. I consider it worth its weight in gold.
T. J. McMANUS.

Eczema on Baby

Kirkwall, Ont.
Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto:
Gentlemen,—I feel it my duty to let you know what Dr. Chase's Ointment has done in a very bad case of eczema on our baby. We had tried any number of cures without any permanent relief, but from the hour we commenced using Dr. Chase's Ointment there was great relief and the improvement continued until there was complete cure. We think it the greatest of family ointments.
MRS. A. McKNIGHT.

Catarrh

Mrs. R. Gillis, wife of the head master of the Public School, Havelock, Ont., says: "Our little boy has had catarrh in the head so badly as to make breathing difficult. We have tried a number of remedies, but found nothing satisfactory until we tried Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, one box of which gave immediate relief, and we intend using another to make a permanent cure."

THE CROP REPORT FOR THE PROVINCE

THE CONDITION OF CROPS AND LIVE STOCK THROUGHOUT ONTARIO.

The Weather Unfavorable for the Fall Wheat Crop—Fruit and Fruit Trees—Live Stock Have Wintered Well.

The following statement has been issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture regarding the condition of crops and live stock, based upon reports received from over five hundred special correspondents during the first week of May, 1899:

The weather.—The records of the weather for the six winter months, November to April, show that while the severity of the weather was slightly more intense than the average, the conditions which prevailed during February were especially unfavorable to agriculture. The mean temperature for that month was 16.9 degrees, as compared with an average of 18.4 for the period 1862-98; while the snow-fall averaged only 8 inches against 51.7 inches, the general average of the month. The absence of the protection generally afforded by a thick covering of snow during mid-winter explains the serious injury sustained by fall crops and other vegetation.

Fall Wheat.—The weather during the winter and the early spring has been exceedingly unfavorable for fall wheat, and as a consequence the crop, which promised well before the snow-fall, has been greatly injured by the inclemency of the season, and is practically a failure in many localities. The want of snow in most places left the ground exposed to unusually severe and protracted frosts, and the heavy rains formed pools of water, which froze and killed the young plants in the hollows and flooded lands. The dry weather which has prevailed in some neighborhoods since the opening of the growing season has also wrought some injury. A considerable percentage of the area sown to fall wheat is being plowed up. As a rule this crop appears to have wintered better on clay or heavy land than on light soils, although the experience of correspondents is by no means unanimous on this point. The situation of the land, and the degree of shelter afforded from wind and frost by its location appear to have been a considerably more influential factor in deciding its suitability for fall wheat growing than the character of the soil. In many cases it has been observed that the partial protection afforded by accumulations of snow near the fences, the rest of the field being bare, has saved the wheat plants thus protected. It is worthy also of note that the reports from Algoma, where there was a good covering of snow during the winter, are more favorable than those from the older settled counties. There are slight losses from insect pests, reported, wire-worms and the Hessian fly having appeared last fall in a few localities in the western part of the province. At the time correspondents wrote rain was urgently needed at several points to ensure the remaining crop.

Clover.—A large proportion of the clover crop in every section of the province has been winter-killed, owing to the scarcity of snow, the plants being either heaved or frozen in the ground by exposure to the severity of the weather. The thinness of the old growth by reason of the drouth of last season, and the poor catch on newly seeded areas, contributed to this result. The damage appears to have been greatest in the Lake Erie and Lake Ontario groups, while the most favorable showing is made by northerly localities, where the snow remained on the ground to a later date. Where the crop survived the winter the fields are generally in a healthy and flourishing condition and promise well, although in some quarters clover is beginning to suffer for lack of moisture.

Winter Rye.—This crop is not extensively raised in any part of the province, but where grown it has generally come through the winter in good condition and promises well. The early sown is looking better than that of a later growth. Correspondents in several neighborhoods note that more of this grain is being cultivated than usual, a fact which is doubtless due to its value for feeding green to stock during periods when grass is not available owing to drouth.

Vegetation.—The late opening of spring, which rendered vegetation generally behindhand in the earlier part of the season, has been compensated for by recent warm and favorable weather, which has resulted in so rapid a growth that in many localities the first of May found vegetation well advanced, affording good pasturage for live stock. Reports are, however, very variable in this respect. The Lake Erie counties and the eastern portion of the province appear to be the most backward sections. Fruit trees and shrubs in the west are in leaf at an earlier date than usual. Continued dry weather has somewhat retarded the grass in many quarters.

Spring seeding.—Considerable variation occurs in the reports regarding seeding. While some of the reports state that the seed-bed has been favorable, a number describe the soil as too wet, or inclined to be "mud" and "run together," to quote several correspondents. In the west and north clay soils were said to be heavy from the weight of snow, while in more eastern localities the fact was pointed out that there was an unusual depth of frost in the ground. The season was generally regarded as being late, but the remarkably fine weather prevailing as correspondents wrote made the outlook for the getting in of spring crops an encouraging one. The prospects are that a full area of spring grains will be sown, particularly of oats.

Fruit and Fruit Trees.—Reports as to the condition of fruit trees vary in different sections, and sometimes in the same locality. In the peach growing region known as the Essex district, many peaches have died during the winter, while in the Niagara district the loss reported is small, particularly near the lake shore. In the Lake Erie group some plums and pears have also sustained injury during the winter, but, generally speaking, there has not been serious injury to fruit trees other than peaches. A majority of correspondents speak of an abundant bloom on orchard trees, and some fear that the blossoms are out so early that the late spring frosts may attack them. There are some references to black-knot on the plum, but the chief trouble complained of is the appearance in large numbers of the tent caterpillar. Several correspondents express their confidence in spraying as a means of checking this and other insect and fungous pests. In the western part of the province a number of correspondents state that small fruits, particularly raspberries, have suffered from the trying winter.

Live Stock.—As a rule live stock have wintered well, and are in good conditions, fodder being abundant, though some correspondents note a scarcity, especially in the east and on the Lake Erie frontier. Many of the cattle are reported rather thin in flesh, though healthy. The market for both horses and horned cattle is brisk and prices good. Horses have suffered in some places from influenza and distemper. Sheep have been remarkably prolific, and the young lambs are mostly strong and healthy, though in a few localities considerable losses have taken place. The most serious disease affecting live stock has been an ailment described as crippling or rheumatism, which has destroyed very large numbers of pigs, especially the younger animals in almost every part of the province. The cause of this disorder is supposed by some to be overfeeding with grain during the long confinement of the winter months.

Farm Supplies.—A considerable quantity of hay beyond that necessary for home requirements remains in the hands of farmers in most localities, the low prices prevailing having been insufficient to bring it to the market. In many places, however, the extra demands of the late spring have left them with little, if any, available surplus. Oats are much scarcer, and the remaining supply will mainly be required for stock feeding. A large proportion of the wheat harvest is yet retained by those who can afford to do so in the hope of an increase in price. The great demand for cattle at good figures has resulted in the sale and shipment of an unusually large number of fat and store animals, so that there is almost a universal scarcity, especially of the former, some places being left with an insufficient supply for local slaughtering demands. Several correspondents note that farmers are beginning to realize that it is more profitable—at least when feed is selling at a low price—to fatten their own stock for market instead of selling them as store cattle. This tendency, of course, somewhat reduces the supply, both of coarse grain and of stockers for export. Its permanancy will naturally depend upon the relative prices of feed, and of fat, as compared with lean cattle.

CAMPBELLFORD CHEESE.

First Meeting of the Cheesemen of the District This Season.

On Tuesday night last the dairymen of Campbellford held their first meeting of the season at the St. Lawrence Hall hotel for the weekly sale of cheese and the attendance of salesmen and makers was perhaps the largest that has been seen since the Board was organised.

The question of weighing the cheese at Campbellford was again introduced, but it was shown there were difficulties in the way of such a move, and it was dropped.

There were five buyers present, viz., Whitton, Thompson, Bird, Naylor and Kerr.

Bidding was not lively, Bird opening with 9 1-16c. for selections, followed by Bailey with 9c. for the Board and Whitton 9 1-8c. for selections.

Placed on the Board were 214 boxes of April make, and 541 of May, and of that number only 275 were sold—37 to Thompson at 9 cents, 199 to Whitton 9 1-8c., and 38 to Bird at 9 1-16c.

A discussion arose as to the employment of an inspector at $5 for each factory, which finally received the popular vote.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it, he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. 50 cents and $1.00. For sale by James Lynch, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough; every bottle guaranteed.

WILL MEET AND DO NOTHING

That Is About What Will Happen With the High Commission.

Senator Fairbanks, President of the American Commission, Has Gone to Alaska in the Endeavor to Find a Settlement for the Disputed Boundary—Uncle Sam in the Role of Peacemaker—How London Sees It.

Washington, May 12.—(Montreal Herald Special.)—If one is to judge by the feeling manifested among officials of the State Department and leading officers of the Administration, it is only a technical violation of the truth to say that the negotiations of the Anglo-American joint high commission will never be resumed. No one seriously doubts that the members of the commission will re-assemble at Ottawa in August, according to the arrangement agreed on last February, but the belief here is that the new meeting will be a mere formality, and that no good result will be accomplished.

Fairbanks Gone to Alaska.

Senator Fairbanks, president of the American commission, has gone to Alaska, with the sincere purpose of learning as much as possible about the disputed boundary matter and of devising some remedy for the disagreement between the Canadian and American members of the joint commission. He is not altogether hopeless of a successful result at the re-assembling this fall, or he would not have made the trip to Alaskan territory.

Peacemaker Uncle Sam.

Washington, May 12.—The correspondent of the Associated Press says: The statements of the press of London and Canada respecting the reasons for the recent failure of negotiations with Canada have occasioned much surprise in the official world of Washington. These statements assume that the Canadians made all the offers of concessions, the United States commissioners standing by existing conditions. The facts as understood here are directly contrary to that view. Take the question of trade with Canada, for example. It is positively known that the Americans offered absolute free trade in mineral products, an enlargement of the free list of forest products, an important concession of duty on lumber and on most agricultural products. It is also known that they offered liberal terms for the adjustment of the Behring Sea sealing question, and offered an amicable method for the adjustment of the boundary question, yielded to Canada's views in respect to alien labor and to the lake fisheries, and offered reciprocal mining privileges. Indeed, if the opinion in well-informed circles here is well founded, nearly every offer of concession proceeded from the side of the United States, the Canadians, as a rule, declining to commit themselves to any distinct proposition on the foregoing topics, the Alaska boundary excepted. In fact, it is believed here that the distinct offer of concessions for a settlement came almost wholly from the United States commissioners.

Some British Commoners Talk.

London, May 12.—Notwithstanding the official pronouncement of the Government to the effect that the negotiations for the amicable settlement of differences between the United States and Canada have not been broken off, the opinion of some prominent British statesmen is that the negotiations will not result in any important concessions.

The views of several influential Commoners have been obtained.

James Bryce said: "I should regret, but should not be surprised at, the termination of the negotiations without definite result. An agreement would have been good all around. It certainly would have cemented a desirable friendship between contiguous countries."

Sir Charles Dilke remarked that "America seems anxious to come to terms and Canada is equally anxious to conciliate," so he could see no reason why the two, being thus minded, could not agree.

How Canada Will Benefit.

Sir Howard Vincent, Sir William Houldsworth and the Right Hon. James Lowther held the opinion that Canada would benefit by self-reliance, and contend that if the United States has decided to bring the negotiations to an end the action should throw Canadian trade into British hands exclusively, and, therefore, England should support the Dominion, in order to keep for Europe what the United States will soon be eager to obtain at any price.

Mr. Lowther said in conclusion: "Yankee indifference is a mere bluff, designed to make Canada a Lazarus at the gates of Dives."

A Government officer is authority for the assertion that Lord Herschell said, on accepting the appointment on the commission: "I go for a holiday, not because I am sanguine that the negotiations will accomplish anything."

St. Thomas, May 12.—M. J Cahill, who was arrested in St. Catharines in connection with the recent bye-election in West Elgin held on Jan. 19 last, was brought to the city last night by Special Wesley Graham. The accused appeared before Magistrate Davidson last evening and was released on $2,000 bail on each charge, himself in $1,000 and Tyrell Duncombe, Edward Moyland and William McVey for $1,000. Cahill will have a hearing before the magistrate on Tuesday next at 10 a.m.

THE STANDARD OIL OCTOPUS

How the Big Trust Bought Up and Shut Up Rival Concerns.

Hon. James W. Lee Before the Industrial Commission Tells the Story—The Price Was Sent Away Down to Kill Rival Companies—Where Competition Was Maintained the People Benefited—A Case in Point.

Washington, May 12.—The industrial commission yesterday heard the first witness to be called in connection with its inquiry into the operations of trusts. The witness was Hon. James W. Lee of Pittsburg, attorney for several pipe line and oil companies, and formerly a State Senator of Pennsylvania. Mr. Lee's testimony was directed especially against the Standard Oil Company. Speaking of the effect of trusts upon the consumer, Mr. Lee said the tendency was to increase prices until they became extortionate. Trusts were organized to secure a monopoly, and when this was secured by closing up rival establishments, they were in position to fix prices, which were, according to his observation, generally increased in order to permit dividends on watered stock. This had been eminently true of the Standard Oil Company.

A Case in Point.

As an illustration, he said that when the Pure Oil Company, in which the witness was interested, went into the field in New York in 1896, they found the Standard selling oil at 9½ cents a gallon. The price was almost immediately reduced to 5½ cents, and has remained there since, the object being to drive out the rival. The first price was inordinately high, but the latter was ruinously low, and while the independent company had met the reduction, it had done so at a loss. He thought the competition had resulted in a saving of fully $3,000,000 to the people of Greater New York. The same condition of affairs existed at other competitive points.

Mr. Lee expressed the opinion that the Standard Company was still getting rebates from the railroad companies, despite the law, and he thought this was accomplished by paying exorbitant prices for lubricating oil.

Absorbed 100 Companies.

He stated that the Standard Company had within the past 20 years absorbed about 100 companies, but five companies with which he was connected had refused to sell at an advance of 19 per cent. in cost when they were about to be closed out by the sheriff. This refusal had been dictated largely by sentiment. Now, however, independent companies were doing a profitable business. He knew of several refineries which had been purchased at high prices by the Standard Company, and then had been shut down. He had also heard that man had received a bonus to remain idle, but he had no personal information on this subject.

Mr. Lee said the Standard Oil Company had made an effort to prevent the extension of the business of the independent companies to foreign markets by buying up the tankage at given points and by selling at lower prices than prevail even in the United States. Still the independent companies were able to compete abroad largely because in Great Britain and Germany, and in some other countries, competition was preserved to a greater extent than in the United States. In Germany no one was allowed to do business at a loss. The profits made abroad were what enabled the independent companies to continue in existence, as the business in this country alone was unprofitable.

Effect on the Oil Business.

Mr. Lee's testimony at the afternoon session was devoted to the effect on the oil business. He said the aim of the trust was to get a complete monopoly of business, fixing the price as it may please and leaving little or no profit to the producer. In illustration, he said the Standard Oil Company had maintained the price paid for crude oil at 65 cents per barrel for a year; that for ten years previous to 1896 the price paid had averaged only 80 cents per barrel, whereas the average cost of production was not less than $1.

General Effect Bad for Labor.

Mr. Lee was quite confident that the general effect of trusts was injurious to labor. The effect was to deprive laborers of competition, of chances for employment when thrown out of work, and to

FREIGHT HANDLERS JOIN IN.

Buffalo Grain Shovellers Have Secured New Allies.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 12.—The strike among the members of the Freight Handlers' Union at this port is gradually assuming a serious aspect.

There are about 3,000 of the men pledged not to work for any contractor, and many of these are now on strike. Originally a few of the men went out in sympathy with the grain shovellers, and now it is believed that in case the scoopers gain their point they will still remain out until their own difficulties have been settled. General managers of transportation lines said yesterday that if the contractors did not quickly demonstrate their ability to do the work of loading and unloading freight boats they would be compelled to devise other means of relieving the congestion of traffic at this port. At the Lehigh Valley docks the company called in a lot of yardmen and their employes to take the places of the strikers.

At the Central, Erie and other big docks the work was practically at a standstill, the few freight handlers who were at work being non-union men. The freight handlers demand an increase of wages from 25 cents an hour, the present rate, to 30 cents an hour for work outside of the freight houses, and 30 cents an hour for inside work. They also ask for the abolition of the contract system.

Toledo, O., May 12.—Since the S. C. Reynolds returned from Buffalo without unloading, not a bushel of grain has left this port. The loss to grain shippers is beginning to be felt severely. The canal boatmen are also feeling the delay in shipments.

May 24 at Tampa.

New York, May 12.—Information has been received here that the British warship Pearl will arrive at Port Tampa, Fla., on May 20 and remain until May 25. She has accepted an invitation extended by the citizens of Tampa, who will hold a celebration on May 24 in honor of the Queen's birthday. It is possible that the Pearl will be accompanied by another ship.

THE DRUMMOND DEAL AGAIN.

The Drummond County railway has again come before Parliament, for Mr Blair seems to be determined to have the Dominion take over this road. However, the Government does not evince any ardent desire to place the whole matter before the House and the people in all its detail.

Commenting on the deal the Montreal Gazette remarks that the refusal of the Government to lay before Parliament a statement of the receipts and expenditure of the Drummond County extension of the Intercolonial is in keeping with its whole conduct in the remarkable transaction that seems destined to turn out so favorable for Mr J. N. Greenshields and his associates, and so unfavorably for the country. It is alleged for the Government that the arrangement under which the Drummond County line is being operated as part of the Intercolonial, by increasing the traffic, has justified the purchase of the property. There are no figures to establish this before Parliament or the country. There are some that contradict the claim. The report of the Minister of Railways and Canals shows that in the year 1897-98, during four months of which the Drummond County was operated as part of the Intercolonial, the deficit on the working of the whole road was $138,976, an increase over the figure of the preceding year, and this without taking into consideration the rent paid to the Grand Trunk for entry into Montreal, which is part of the extension scheme. And the annual report of the Minister of Railways and Canals is not the only testimony borne in this respect. There has been laid before Parliament a statement of the earnings and expenses of the Intercolonial for the nine months of the fiscal year, which shows:

Gross earnings.....	$2,725,500
Working expenses	2,710,700
Net earnings.....	$14,800

This is, apparently, also, without taking into consideration the rental paid to the Grand Trunk, which would turn the seeming surplus into a deficit. Aside from that, however, and allowing that the returns for the last three months would be as satisfactory as those of the first nine, the net earnings, in an exceedingly good traffic year, says the Gazette, would amount to about $20,000, not quite half the sum required to pay interest on the $1,000,000 it is proposed to give for the road from Chaudiere to Ste Rosalie. The purchase cannot be justified on business grounds. If it could the Government, to strengthen its case, would gladly give all the information possible bearing on the business of the section. Both what is known of the operation of the Intercolonial, since the Drummond County road was attached to it, and what the Government refuses to disclose, will operate to convince the unprejudiced onlooker that the scheme to which it is sought to commit Parliament is not in the interests of the country, and will only tend to make the Intercolonial a permanently heavier burden on the taxpayers.

Mr. Blair is bound to purchase that Greenshield's railway. There is one comfort it is getting cheaper with each deal.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie is said to be determined not to die rich. Some few addresses can be forwarded to him if he desires a convenient place wherein to dispose of some of his surplus wealth.

John Charlton, M. P., has not yet been called upon to account for his articles in the magazines regarding the International commission. Mr Charlton's conduct should not go unchallenged.

Andrew Carnegie has announced that he intends to spend his time now distributing his accumulated millions where the money will do the most good. Can't some enterprising charitable citizen draw Mr Carnegie's attention to the needs of this district for charitable institutions. We imagine that some of the Carnegie millions could be put to good use in Peterborough neighborhood. But then money spent here might not make noise enough to suit the occasion.

make them subservient; and poorer citizens. As a means of prevention of trusts, Mr. Lee suggested a law making destructive competition a criminal offence. He thought the fear of imprisonment would intimidate some of them. Nothing had done so much as destructive competition to prevent progress and fairness. He would also suggest that the capital of all corporations, except those of a public or quasi-public nature, should be limited to $1,000,000. He thought that something of this kind was necessary, and that if a remedy was not found the country would be ruined by combinations of capital detrimental to the public interests. Under the conditions personal ambition was stifled, and many men were being kept out of business because of the existence of the combinations.

Mr. Higgins and Assistants Had to Get Out of the Filipinos' Lines—Rebels Looting Natives' Property.

Manila, May 12.—Mr. Higgins, manager of the Manila-Dagupan Railway, and two of his assistants, who had remained inside the insurgent lines to protect the property of the railway company, arrived at San Fernando yesterday. They had been informed by the insurgents that they would be no longer responsible for their safety if they remained within their lines. Mr. Higgins corroborates the stories that have been told of the demoralization of the Filipinos, and says that the rebels are looting all the natives' property. Mr. Higgins adds that now is the time for the Americans to strike hard.

Filipinos Killed a Frenchman.

New York, May 12.—A despatch from Manila says the insurgents have assassinated M. Dumarais, a Frenchman, who had crossed their lines under a flag of truce.

They Have Machine Guns.

A despatch to The Herald from Manila says the insurgents have succeeded in landing ten machine guns at Capis, on the Island of Panay.

Taking the End Is Near.

Washington, May 12.—General Otis has cabled the War Department concerning the situation in the Philippines. He says that it is very encouraging. The tone of the despatch leads the officials here to believe that the end of the Filipino insurrection is near at hand.

A Protest to Rome.

London, May 12.—The heads of the religious orders in the Philippines, according to a despatch from Rome to The Daily Mail, have presented a petition to the Pope, in which they protest against the "American atrocities."

Smith, L. Burnett, M.P., W. T. R. Preston and the members of the Ontario Government.

MAY BE MURDER.

Nelson Stein Badly Beaten by Tramps and Cast From a Train.

Woodstock, May 12.—A man giving his name as Nelson Stein, a Russian Jew, was brought to the hospital here yesterday morning suffering from serious injuries, which may prove fatal. He and a companion crept into a box car of a passing freight train. A short way out from London Stein was joined by several tramps, who wanted a free ride. Everything went well until near Governor's Crossing, below Eastwood, when the tramps demanded his money. On refusing they jumped on him and robbed him of all he had. In fighting with the strangers he was stabbed in the hip and thrown out of the car onto the side of the track. His hip bone is broken and his arm fractured. Several trainmen found him lying in an unconscious condition. He was put on a freight train and taken to Woodstock Hospital. Late last evening Stein was very low and the chances of his recovery are very slim.

The Tanners and Butchers.

Ottawa, Ont., May 12.—The tanners waited on the Premier yesterday afternoon in reference to the inspection of hides, which they wanted to be made absolute in certain districts. A delegation from the Montreal butchers opposed this, and Sir Wilfrid proposed to take the matter into consideration.

Whitby Murder Trial.

Whitby, May 12.—Young Elliott, the 14-year-old youth who is charged with the murder of old man Murray, at Beaverton a year ago, will stand his trial here on May 22. He will be defended by Barrister Godson of Beaverton.

When a mother thinks she is going to die and rather wishes she could, what happens to the child? Where else shall the child get the love, kindness and care that is to ripen it into useful, happy maturity?

Where is the husband to turn for the comfort of home—the sympathy of wifely affection—the support that only a strong, cheerful, healthy help-mate can give?

Who is to be pitied most? Mother—father—child?

Whose fault is it?

Nobody's maybe—certainly not the child's. Either the mother or father can write to Dr. Pierce and receive medical advice free. Thousands have done it. Thousands of homes have been made happy by it. Thousands of weak women suffering with the pains and debilitating drains of a diseased condition of the distinctly feminine organism have followed Dr. Pierce's advice and become again blooming, vigorous, loving, cheerful and loved.

Dr. R. V. Pierce is chief consulting physician at the world-famous Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., and during his thirty years' practice here developed his great family medicines—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Mrs. Cleon Nelson, of Pine Heights, Los Angeles, Cal., Box 31, writes: "I send you my picture taken with my little boy. I do not look so sad now as I do in the picture; I was sick then and I thought my days would not be long, but your kindness and medicine would not let me die. You have my heart-felt thanks for your kindly advice to me in my sickness; also for your book which I received two years ago, and which I could not do without. If it all the Doctor I have had done I got it. I had female trouble, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, together with the advice given in his book, cured me of five years' sickness."

The book Mrs. Nelson mentions is Dr. Pierce's 1,008 page "Medical Adviser." A copy in stiff paper-covers sent on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only; in handsome cloth-binding 50 stamps. Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

CANADIAN BOATS HIT.

Must Produce Consular Bills of Health on Entering U. S. Ports.

Detroit, Mich., May 12.—The Treasury Department intends to compel all Canadian vessels arriving at American lake ports to produce consular bills of health as prescribed by the Quarantine Act of Feb. 15, 1893. The order contained in a circular of April 2 is the result of the prevalence of smallpox in many localities this year. Some think, however, that the order has been inspired by the action of the Canadian authorities in demanding the same papers from vessels leaving Cleveland. The order will make untold trouble for Canadian boats.

AN INTERESTING CASE.

Mr. W. G. Physll, proprietor Bodega Hotel, 36 Wellington Street East, Toronto, says: "While living in Chicago I was in a terrible shape with itching and bleeding piles, I tried several of the best physicians and was burnt and tortured in various ways by their treatments to no purpose, besides spending a mint of money to no purpose. Since coming to Toronto I learned of Dr. Chase's Ointment, I used but one box and have not been troubled with piles in any shape or form since."

SUMMER NOVELTIES.

What Fashion Provides For Summer Wardrobes.

There are many attractive novelties in wash fabrics for chemisettes, bodices, the fronts of shirt waists and trimming purposes. These goods, which are sold by the yard, are of the finest nainsook or lawn, combined with valenciennes lace in various ways. In one case there are bands of finely tucked nainsook separated by bands of valenciennes insertion, beading or embroidery; in another the tucked bands are replaced by puffings; in another little frills of lace are sewed on the goods between the tucks. Colored batiste is sometimes used instead of white goods, and narrow strips of trimming of the same character are also shown. Embroidered swiss muslin trimmings are revived from the days of our grandmothers, and are as attractive as they are fragile.

After a season of retirement in favor of dark tan leather and kid, light tan shoes are again coming to the front and are to be worn with stockings of the same tint.

Besides the usual laced low shoe, with a moderately heavy extension sole and a round toe, there are very attractive slippers with high heels, thin soles, a flap which comes over the top of the foot and a big, dull gold buckle. These are cool for summer wear and highly becoming to a pretty foot, although it is an open question whether tan or black stockings look better with them. There is a momentary fancy for tan openwork hosiery of fine thile thread or silk.

The foulard gown illustrated has a skirt draped at the left side under three crystal buttons. The edge is bordered with russet guipure. The bodice has a yoke of russet guipure over violet taffeta, and is tight behind, while in front it is draped at the left side with a crystal buckle. The coquilles of the drapery are lined with violet taffeta and bordered with guipure. The collar is lined with puffings of white mousseline de soie. The tight sleeves have wrist frills of guipure, and the pointed belt is of violet taffeta. The hat of mauve straw is trimmed with a chou of tulle and a curling plume, the brim being lined with tulle ruches.

JUDIC CROLLET.

FASHION HINTS.

Ruches, Bows and Other Attractive Novelties.

Neck ruches of flowers alone or of flowers mingled with gauze and ribbons are worn, and it is considered desirable to have the flowers match those in the hat, or be at least of the same color. Parma violets or the very dark ones, whole roses or petals of roses, camellias and large pinks, are the favorite flowers, and the ends of the bow are of plaited silk or mousseline de soie and bows of ribbon. Feather boas of mingled light and dark plumage are also much liked—some of the combinations being rose and brown, dark blue and light blue, red and white and gray and white.

A spring novelty for the neck consists of a valois collar lined with shirred silk or mousseline de soie and bordered with a fine garland or cord of flowers.

The employment of mousseline de soie is excessive. The mossy little ruches made of it which have been so much seen during the winter as a trimming for silk,

MURDEROUS MANIAC.

Joseph Harvey Killed His Wife, Uncle and Grandmother, and Wounded His Baby and Father-in-Law.

Howard City, Mich., May 12.—Joseph Harvey last night killed his wife, his uncle, Robert Pierson, and his grandmother. He also fatally wounded his 9-months-old baby and his father-in-law, John Logenslayer, and finally shot himself, inflicting a wound which is expected to prove fatal.

Harvey's uncle and grandmother live a mile north of town. The murderer went there last evening. He asserts that Pierson, his uncle, was quarrelling with his grandmother, and that he interfered; that thereupon Pierson stabbed and killed the old lady, aged 70, and that he (Harvey) retaliated by shooting his uncle dead. After shooting Pierson, Harvey stabbed him three times.

Shot and Killed His Wife.

Harvey then returned to his home, two miles southwest of the town. Arriving there, he shot his wife twice, killing her. He then fired at his 8-months-old baby, the ball going into its arm. Next Harvey entered his father-in-law's room and shot him twice, however, no fatal injury. He then turned the revolver on himself, shooting himself in the neck. Harvey's wife, when attacked, was sitting up with the body of her mother, who died the day before.

A Horrible Spectacle.

The Pierson home presents a horrible appearance. Pierson's body was found in a chair and that of the old lady on the floor, clad in a night dress. There were signs of a desperate struggle between Harvey and his grandmother, but no sign of a fight between the two men. Harvey himself informed the sheriff of the murders at Pierson's house. He was then arrested for murdering his wife. He has nothing to say about the tragedy at his own home. There are strong threats of lynching.

Insanely Cunning.

It transpires that Harvey, on reaching the home of his late mother-in-law, said nothing about his horrible acts at Pierson's house. He offered to sit up by the corpse of his wife's mother. Accordingly, the others retired. It was 4 o'clock in the morning when Harvey went to his wife's room and killed her, and attempted to slay his baby and his father-in-law. He also fired at John Logan, a neighbor, who had come to the house, but without effect. Harvey's wound is serious, but he is certain to recover. The cause of his terrible work has not been determined.

Madness Killed His Children.

Odessa, May 12.—An insane official murdered his five sleeping children here last night and then attacked his wife, who is dying of her wounds.

HALFBREEDS' CLAIMS.

Government Has Appointed a Commission to Deal With Them.

Ottawa, May 12.—Major James Walker of Calgary and J. A. Code, Mr. Smart's private secretary, have been appointed a commission to deal with the halfbreeds of the Northwest Territories born between July 15, 1870, and 1885 who may present their claims. The commissioners are to leave Edmonton for the north with the Indian treaty commission.

When the halfbreeds' commission issued in 1885, it only empowered the commissioners to issue scrip to those born prior to July 15, 1870, the date of the transfer to the Hudson Bay Company. The halfbreeds demurred to this, and have again and again pressed the claim that halfbreeds born between July 15, 1870, and 1885 should receive the same treatment as those born prior to 1870, and the Territorial Legislature has on more than one occasion adopted and forwarded to the Government at Ottawa resolutions in support of this claim.

The Government has now decided that the Indian and halfbreed rights should be extinguished at the same time.

That no remedy in the market affords such prompt relief in toothache, neuralgia and rheumatism as Nerviline, and its action in cases of cramps, colic, etc., is simply marvellous. Remarking this to a physician of experience he stated that from his knowledge of the composition of Nerviline no remedy could surpass it as a family remedy, and that in every household a bottle of Nerviline should be available for emergent demands. Readers of this paper should try Nerviline.

THE PIANO

On a coal basis. You buy a ton of soft coal for $2.75, a ton of hard coal for $6.00, where's the difference? They're both coal, one's as black as the other, both weigh 2,000 pounds, and yet one costs nearly three times as much as the other though both are used for the same purpose. The explanation is in the QUALITY. You can buy pianos at low prices, but do you want that kind?

QUALITY is what you buy in a Piano more than in anything else. You get just as much wood and nearly as much metal in a cheap Piano, but the QUALITY is lacking. We can guarantee the

ST. PAUL'S ANNUAL SACRED CONCERT

A VARIED AND ENJOYABLE PROGRAMME OF SACRED MUSIC

Furnished by the Choir, Miss Dora McMurtry and Mr. Alex. M. Gorrie—A Fair Mixed Audience Present, Who Felt an Appreciation They Did Not Show.

The thanks of the music lovers of Peterborough are due to St. Paul's choir and its capable leader, Mr. John Crane, for the enjoyable concert held under their auspices at St. Paul's church last evening in connection with the anniversary services of the church. Considered solely with regard to the music furnished the concert was a most pronounced success, one of the most delightful in the series of refined and high-class entertainments which have been held under the same patronage, and for which, in view of the labor involved in preparation, a debt of public gratitude is due. The attendance was not as large as might have been expected, the seating capacity of the church not being at all taxed.

The audience was keenly and sincerely appreciative of the efforts of the vocalists, expressions of pleasure being heard on all sides. While all were sacred in character and of high quality the selections were pleasingly varied and the programme had the double effect of at once satisfying and making desirous for more. While the chief interest attached to the appearance of the two foreign artists, Miss Dora McMurtry, soprano, and Mr. Alex. M. Gorrie, tenor, both of Toronto, the contributions of the chorus, composed chiefly of members of St. Paul's choir, were heard with much pleasure, the chorus taking a more prominent part last evening than in the concerts that have been held in the opera house. Both Miss McMurtry and Mr. Gorrie won the highest meed of praise and Mr. Crane was fortunate in the selection of two such talented artists. Miss McMurtry's soprano is rich, pure and powerful and possesses the charm that comes from the highest cultivation. It is of full timbre and is sweet and true at all times. The higher notes were taken with a power and brilliance that were delightful. Miss McMurtry carried off the honors of the evening. Mr. Gorrie's selections were also favorably received and he created an excellent impression. His voice is sweet and he puts a full measure of expression and feeling in all his work. His solo, "Wandering Child Come Home," drew forth the first applause of the evening. The chorus was excellent and the anthems were among the best things of the evening.

The first number on the programme was a chorus, "Send out Thy Light" (Gounod). It was rendered with organ accompaniment and the effect was excellent. Mr. Gorrie followed with a solo, "Hosanna" (Granier). He sang with power and good expression. His enunciation was perfect. Miss McMurtry then gave Torrente's "Show me Thy ways, O Lord." This was her first and perhaps her best number. She sang purely and sweetly and her runs and flights were fascinating. The next number was one of special interest, a solo, "A Dream of Paradise," by Mr. Jas. Dawson. He sang in good voice and created an excellent impression, although he did perhaps better in his solo in an anthem later on. The anthem "Yea, tho' I Walk" (Sullivan) was sung unaccompanied. The chorus here had an opportunity, the selection calling for considerable part singing. Each of the parts sang well, the voices in the different groups blending most harmoniously. Mr. Gorrie next gave a delightful solo, "Wandering Child Come Home" (Blight) in which he brought a wealth of feeling into play. It was beautifully tender and sweet and was rendered with the greatest charm. The next number, the anthem "Spirit Immortal" from "Attila," was the most elaborate thing of the evening. The obligato solo was taken by Mr. Jas. Dawson and parts were also taken by Mrs. Mein and Mr. Gorrie. A duet part by the last two was excellent. The chorus sang with strength and vigor and the triumphal spirit was well brought out. Miss McMurtry's second solo, "Oh, Divine Redeemer," followed. Again she demonstrated the rich and pure quality of her voice and brought out strongly the deep feeling in the selection. By special request Mr. Gorrie gave the delightful Scotch ballad, "The Land o' the Leal." It was rendered sweetly and tenderly and with intense feeling. The deep emotion was exquisitely brought out. An unaccompanied anthem, "Trisagion and Sanctus" (Hawley) was rendered by the chorus in faultless style, and Miss McMurtry and Mr. Gorrie appeared for the last number, a duet, "I Will Magnify Thee." It was in every way up to the standard, the voices blending beautifully in the closing passages. "God Save the Queen" by the chorus brought the concert to an end.

Miss Grant was the accompanist of the evening. She acquitted herself most creditably, the accompaniments to some of the solos being very sweet and pretty. Mr. K. G. Lech played a cello accompaniment to Mr. Dawson's solo, "A Dream of Paradise."

The chorus was composed as follows: Soprano—Mrs. Mein, Miss Edith Hall, Miss M. Paterson, Miss P. Paterson, Miss [illegible], Miss Jennie Gillespie, Miss Fiske, Miss E. Cameron, Miss L. Lee, Miss E. White, Miss A. Cameron, Miss A. Hall, Miss F. Davidson, Miss M. Watt, Miss Gerrans, Miss Carrie Knox, Miss Jessie Knox.

Alto—Miss Wightman, Miss Montgomery, Miss Dawson, Miss Lee, Miss Wrighton, Miss A. Gillespie.

Tenor—Messrs. Dawson, Mein, Morphet, Gerard, McKeown and McLean.

Bass—Messrs. Jones, Skitch, Moore, Shelton, Nelson and Jas. Dawson.

Miss Grant deserves great credit for the manner in which she took the accompaniments. She was asked to play only a couple of days ago, and it is greatly to her credit that she was able to perform the duties so satisfactorily on such short notice.

MEAT STOLEN.

Butcher Shop of Mr. Jos. Goselin, George st. Broken Into.

Some time last night the butcher shop of Mr. Jos. Goselin, 243 George-st., was broken into and robbed. The spoils consisted of a quarter of lamb and a round of beef.

The shop as the thieves found it was not a very hard one to gain entrance to. Mr. Goselin had gone away after the day leaving the window up and only a wire screen remained for protection. Entrance was had by cutting this screen. The meat was in the refrigerator inside but it was not a matter of much difficulty to open this.

No clue was left as to the identity of the thieves.

Brevities.

—The Water-st. sewer was flushed this afternoon.

—The Town Trust Commissioners are meeting this afternoon.

—A scarlet fever card was posted on a house on Park-st. this afternoon.

—A number of people left this morning for the special trip via Sunbeam to Stony lake.

—The Confirmation class of St. John's church will meet to-night in the school house at 8 o'clock.

—The directors of the Little Lake Cemetery Co. made their annual inspection of the cemetery yesterday afternoon.

—The repairs to the steam dredge Otonabee and the steamer Empire are completed, and they will soon be at work again.

—More potatoes are being brought into town by railroad, a carload having been ordered from Lindsay by a local dealer to-day.

—The steamer Eclipse brought up a scow load of wood to-day and returned to make her regular passenger trip to town to-morrow.

—Mr. F. R. Hogg, of Parry Sound, has been in the vicinity during the past week, in the interests of the Standard Oil Co., of Oswego, N.Y., in looking after lumber.

—The Y.W.C.A. club is to be favored with an address from Rev. Mr. Potter at their meeting to-morrow evening. The programme committee have also arranged for special music. Comfortable rooms are to be had at the Y.W.C.A.

—Capt. Reynolds' new steamer is fast getting into shape at Lakefield, and when finished will present a fine appearance. The lines of the new boat are especially fine and she will have a speed of nearly seventeen miles an hour. Mr. A. McKendrick, of the Bertram Engine Works, Toronto, superintends the putting together of the iron work and is making a good job of it.

FOUND THE BODY OF THOMAS PUE

DISCOVERED IN THE INDIAN RIVER AT THE NORWOOD ROAD.

Was Found Quite Close to the Surface About Half Past Three O'clock on Thursday Afternoon.

A telegram received in town last evening conveyed the news of the finding of the body of Thomas Pue, who was drowned in the Indian on Thursday, April 27th. It had been in the water two weeks.

Although no details were given it was learned from a gentleman who was in the vicinity that the body was discovered about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon just about the east side of the bridge spanning the river on the Norwood road about nine miles from town. This is the same place as the man's boat was found a couple of days after the accident. The body was quite near the surface, one hand being stretched out among some driftwood which lay on the water. The discovery was made by two close neighbors of the Pue family.

Rev. Mr. Moore, of Mark-st. church, left this morning for Indian river to attend to the burial. The remains will be interred to-day in the Keene cemetery.

Mrs. Pue states that her husband went out in his boat to get a post to repair a fence on the day of the drowning and though no one saw the accident it is believed that as soon as he got into his boat and before he could grasp the oars the current had carried the boat down. The water was very high, leaving little space between it and the bridge, and it is thought the man struck the bridge and was thrown out by the shock and drowned.

A FINE DISPLAY.

Magnificent Collection of Flowering Tulips at Victoria Park.

The central bed at Victoria park and the two beds bordering on the main centre walk are a vision of delight at present with the big collection of flowering tulips in full bloom. The park is made resplendent with the bright mixture of red, yellow and white. Three thousand of the bulbs were put in last fall by the Horticultural society for early spring blooming and the beauty which the park shows at present, an unusual thing for this time of year, is a good return for the trouble and expense. The flowers are short lived and will not bloom much longer but they make the park pretty at a time of year when nothing else will grow. The action of the society in having them planted is to be commended. The bulbs stood the hard winter without any other protection than the earth affords.

A Narrow Escape.

On Friday evening last while Messrs Jas Jackson and W Fischer were paddling to Stony Lake they met with an unpleasant experience. They were just reaching Young's Point and going around a pier the current was so swift that before they could face the boat to it they were caught in an eddy and upset. Both managed to cling to the canoe until a young man named Walsh came to their rescue with a boat, when they were taken to the shore, none the worse for their ducking. Only a few things were lost out of the canoe.—Lakefield News.

BANKERS PLAY AT BASEBALL

AND THE ONTARIO TEAM WINS BY 29 RUNS TO 12

A Turnout of the Town Team for To-morrow Afternoon Requested as a Practice Match Will be Held—Cricket General Sport.

There were great doings on the P A A A grounds yesterday, such as astonished the natives and provided great amusement for the crowd of sightseers that went over the river to see the battle. The attraction was a curiosity in the shape of a game of baseball, amateur baseball, between two teams of Bankers. One team was that whose headquarters is at the Ontario Bank, whence they emerge periodically to whip any team that will face them at any game. The other team was a collection of athletic young gentlemen with a delusion that they could play baseball from the other Banks. Some enemy must have inspired them with this idea to win and sent them out to die.

The crowd had all gathered about 4.30 o'clock and Mr "Bob" Hay was chosen referee. The captain of the combination team made him a big bid but he was not up for barter. Then the fun commenced and lasted four innings. The chief results were seven broken bats and a few shattered balls.

Mr Parker of the Ontario Bank went to bat. He made a run. The other men kept it going and in that innings the Ontario men repeated runs beyond the dream of the most avaricious. They realized that if it were to be done at all it were well to do it quickly. So they made 15 runs. Having thus really secured the victory they got a small boy to sit on it until the game was over and they were ready to carry it off. However three men were put out after a while and the combination went to bat. Pousette just got 1 run in when three men were put out. This was pretty blue but in the second innings the Ontario men made only 3 runs and the combination also succeeded in making 3. The third innings was a whitewash for both sides. They took another whack at it and in the fourth the Ontarios rolled up 11 while the others battled for 3. At 6.15 o'clock a truce was called. Results were counted up as follows:—Ontario Bank 29; combination 12. "Not so rotten" said a man from the Bank of Montreal. All agreed.

The strong men for the Ontario Bank were Hollingshead, the Bell brothers and Collins. Hollingshead and G Bell were a battery "as was a battery." The combination team were not so familiar with the game but will do with practice. Francis pitched fairly well.

The teams were:—Ontario—Mr Parker, 1b; A Collins, 2b; V Ferguson, 3b; N Bell, ss; H Rush, l f; C Bell, c f; D Gladman, r f; G Bell, c; Hollingshead, p. Combination—R M Hamilton, (Mont.), 1b; F D Francis, (Com.), p; A St A Smith, (Toro.), 3b; E Skill, (Mont.), s s; D Huston, (Com.), l f; N Campbell, (Com.), c f; E W Lamprey, r f; G Milburn, (Mont.), c; C Pousette, (Toro.) 2b.

Johnston	1b	Parman
Donovan	2b	DeRassie

Thompson	3b	Sheridan
Grady	l f	W O'Brien
J O'Brien	c f	J Doris
Hodge	r f	F McClennan
Connors	p	D McCabe
Graham	c	Joe Melrose

The above members of the baseball team are requested to turn out for a practice match to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 at the P A A A grounds. The team will have to practice hard for the game on the 24th.

Lacrosse.

The Excelsior lacrosse team of Brampton, are going to take a trip to New York on June 1st. They play the Aetnas, of Georgetown, May 24th, and the proceeds will go toward defraying the expenses of the trip. Mr. Duggan, their president, will have charge of the affair.

Brampton is, and always has been, a good lacrosse town, and as a rule make things interesting for outside teams. They expect to win the pennant with a purely amateur local twelve. This is a hard thing to do, but Brampton is bound to see it through. "Titty" Hollis arrived in town Wednesday and will turn out at once. A junior in Brampton, who knows the game as well as most seniors is Pat Henry. Sam McClure and Fred Lowes have not turned out yet, and they are needed badly. "Fatty" Clarridge has not been breaking his heart on the field, but only indulging in light practice. Bill Cook has developed into a shooter of Gatling gun ability.

Manager McGaw, of the Markham juniors, says they are to have the fastest twelve in the league.

Cricket

The bankers team for to-morrow will be Hamilton (capt.), Milburn (Mon.), Pousette (Toronto), Houston and Francis, (Commerce), Parker, Crane, Hollingshead, G. Bell, Ferguson and N. Bell (Ontario). Game commences at 2.30 sharp at Nicholls' park.

Wheeling.

The C.G.E. Bicycle club will hold a run to-morrow afternoon. They will leave the Central park at 2 o'clock for Springville, where a game of baseball will be played between the first and second floors.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

Wood ashes are good for strawberries.

Fresh horse manure is best for the hotbed.

Spring is the best time to plant out grapevines.

Currants will thrive best if grown in partial shade.

The soil cannot be made too rich for the vegetable garden.

Nearly all stone fruits, such as plums, cherries and peaches, do best when planted in the spring.

Old quince trees may be benefited if the branches are carefully trimmed and plenty of manure applied.

One decided advantage with small fruits is that you can plant this year and have a good supply of fruit next year.

A good way to prune currants is to shorten the last season's growth of wood and trim to form a good, open head.

If any part of the tree lacks a free growth, by pruning now the shoots will push with increased vigor next season.

If horses or cattle are allowed in the young orchard, there is danger of their damaging the trees by pruning the tops.

In pruning vines on the spur system be particular to alternate the spurs as much as possible to allow space for the development of foliage.

If plants get frozen, take them to the cellar or some other place where they can be thawed out gradually, and very little harm will result.

LOST MAN'S LANE.

A SECOND EPISODE IN THE LIFE OF AMELIA BUTTERWORTH

BY ANNA KATHARINE GREEN

AUTHOR OF "THE LEAVENWORTH CASE," "BEHIND CLOSED DOORS," "THAT AFFAIR NEXT DOOR" ETC. ETC.

COPYRIGHT, 1897, BY ANNA K. ROHLFS.

"Loreen," I whispered, "it is not here you look for a solution of that awful mystery?"

"Miss Butterworth," she answered, "it is here you should look for it."

"Here? I?" Never have I felt such emotion and never have I so nearly succumbed to it. "What do you mean!" I prayed. "Tell me, tell me quickly what you mean!"

"I mean," she gasped, "that that is the man who has pursued us with his hatred, driving my father and my mother into their graves. Obadiah Trohm is the rich man of whom we spoke to you; not Deacon Spear or any one else in this unhappy lane." And breaking from me she slid away nearer the ill assorted couple, in one of whom from that moment I saw no longer the courteous, kindly country gentleman, but a monster of vengeful propensities, if not something worse and still more diabolical.

"Come!" she beckoned, happily too absorbed in her own emotions to notice mine. "Let us get nearer. If Mr. Trohm is the wicked man we fear, there is no telling what the means are which he uses to get rid of his victims. There was nothing to be found in his house, but who knows but that the danger may be around her now. It was evidently to dare it she came, to offer herself as a martyr that we might know"—

"Hush!" I whispered, controlling my own fears roused against my will by this display of terror in this usually calmest of natures. "No danger can menace her there, not where they two stand, unless he is a common assassin and carries a pistol"—

"No pistol," murmured the man who had crept again near us. "Pistols make a noise. He will not use a pistol."

"Good God!" I whispered. "You are not anticipating also that it is in the heart of this man to kill Lucetta?"

"Six strong men have disappeared hereabout," said the fellow, never moving his eye from the couple before us. "Why not one weak girl?"

With a cry Loreen started forward. "Run!" she whispered. "Run!"

But as this word left her lips a slight movement took place in the belt of trees where we had been told Mr. Gryce lay in hiding, and we could see him issue for a moment into sight with his finger like that of his man laid warningly on his lips. Loreen trembled and drew back, seeing which the man beside us pointed to the hedge and whispered softly:

"There is just room between that and the fence for a person to pass sideways. If you and this lady want to get nearer to Miss Knollys, you might take that road. But Mr. Gryce will expect you to be very quiet. The young lady expressly said before she came into this place that she could do nothing if for any reason Mr. Trohm should suspect that they were not alone."

"We will be quiet," I assured him, anxious to hide my face, which I felt twitch at every mention of Mr. Trohm's name behind the screen he thus offered for our use. Loreen was already behind the hedge.

The evening was one of those which are made for peace. The sun, which had set in crimson, had left a glow on the branches of the forest which had not yet faded into the gray of twilight. The lawn, around which we were skirting, had not lost the mellow brilliancy which made it sparkle, nor had the cluster of varied hued hollyhocks, which set their gorgeousness against the neat yellow of the peaceful doorposts, shown any dimness in their glory, which was on a par with the setting sun. But though I saw all this it no longer appeared to me desirable. Lucetta and Lucetta's fate, the mystery and the impossibility of its being explained out here in the midst of turf and blossoms, filled all my thoughts and made me forget even my own cause for shame and humiliation, if not sorrow.

Loreen, who had wormed her way along till she crouched nearly opposite to them, plucked me by the gown as I approached to where she was, and, pointing to the hedge which pressed up so close it nearly touched our faces, seemed to bid me to look through. Searching for a spot where there was a small opening, I put my eye to this and immediately drew back.

"They are moving nearer the gate," I signaled to Loreen, at which she crept along a few paces, but with a stealth so great that, listening as I was, I could not hear a twig snap. I endeavored to imitate her, but not with as much success as I could wish. The sense of horror which had all at once settled upon me, the supernatural dread of something which I could not see, but which I felt, had seized me for the first time and made that ruddy sky and the broad stretch of velvet turf with the shadows playing over it, of swaying tree tops and clustered oleanders, more thrilling and awesome to me than the dim halls of the haunted house of the Knollys in that midnight hour when I saw a body carried out for burial amid trouble and hush and a mystery so great it would have daunted most spirits for all their lives.

The very sweetness of the scene made its horror. Never have I had such sensations, never have I felt so the power of the unseen, yet that anything would happen here, anything which would explain the total disappearance of several persons at different times without a trace of their fate being left to the eye on this spot or in the house beyond, seemed so impossible that I could but liken my state to that of nightmare, where visions take the place of realities and often overwhelm them.

I had pressed too close against the hedge as I struggled with these feelings, and the sound I made struck me as distinct, if not alarming, but the tree tops were rustling, too, and, while Lucetta might have heard, her companion gave no evidence of doing so. We could hear what they were saying now, and realizing this we stopped moving and gave our whole attention up to listening. Mr. Trohm was speaking. I could hardly believe it was his voice, it had so changed in tone, nor could I see in his features, distorted as they now were by every evil passion, the once quiet and dignified countenance which had so lately imposed upon me.

"Lucetta, my little Lucetta," he was saying, "so she has come to see me; come to taunt me with the loss of her lover, whom she says I have robbed her of almost before her eyes! I rob her! How can I rob her or any one of a man with a voice and arm of his own stronger than mine? Am I a wizard to dissipate his body in vapor? Yet is it here in my house or on my lawn? You are a fool, Lucetta; so are all these men about here fools! It is in your house"—

"Hush!" she cried, her slight figure rising till we forgot it was the feeble Lucetta we were gazing at. "No more accusations directed against us. It is you who must meet them now. Mr. Trohm, your evil practices are discovered. Tomorrow you will have the police here in earnest. They did but play with you when they were here before."

"You child!" he gasped, striving, however, to restrain all evidences of shock and terror. "Why, who was it called in the police and set them working in Lost Man's lane? Was it not I"—

"Yes, that they might not suspect you and perhaps that they might suspect us. But it was useless, Obadiah Trohm. All the Knollys' children have been long suffering, but the limit has been reached at last. When you laid your hand upon my lover, you roused a spirit in me that nothing but your own destruction can satisfy. Where is he, Mr. Trohm? Where is silly Rufus and all the rest who have vanished between Deacon Spear's house and the little home of the cripples on the high-road? They have asked me, but if any one in Lost Man's lane can answer that question it is you, perpetrator of my mother, of ourselves, which I here denounce in face of these skies where God reigns and this earth where man lives to harry and oppress."

And then I saw that the instinct of this girl had accomplished what more human soothes had failed in. For the old man—indeed he seemed an old man now—cringed and the wrinkles came out in his face till he was demoniacally ugly.

"You viper!" he shrieked. "How dare you accuse me of crime—you whose mother would have died in jail but for my forbearance? Have you ever seen me set my foot upon a worm? Look at my fruit and flowers, look at my home, without a spot or blemish to mar its neatness and propriety. Can a man who loves these things stomach the destruction of a man, much less of a silly, yawping boy? Lucetta, you are mad!"

"Mad or sane, my accusation will have its results, Mr. Trohm. I believe too deeply in your guilt not to make others do so."

"Ah," said he, "then you have not done so yet? You believe this and that, but you have not said so."

"No," she calmly returned, though her face blanched to the colorlessness of wax, "I have not said so yet."

Oh, the cunning that crept into his face!

"She has not said it. Oh, the little Lucetta, the wise, the careful little Lucetta!"

"But I will," she cried, meeting his eye with the courage and constancy of a martyr, "though I bring death upon myself. I will denounce you and do it before the night has settled down upon us. I have a lover to avenge, a brother to defend. Besides, the earth should be rid of such a monster as you."

An Old Playbill.

An old playbill of the Kilkenny Theater Royal for May 14, 1798, has been found. This playbill is reprinted in the Western (England) Mail, and the following is an extract from it:

"The Tragedy of 'Hamlet,' originally written and composed by the celebrated Dan Hayes of Limerick, and inserted in Shakespeare's Works.'

The playbill concludes with the interesting notice that "no person whatsoever will be admitted into the boxes without shoes or stockings." It is probable that this Irish claimant to the honor of the authorship of "Hamlet" is not so well known as his astounding claim might warrant.

THE BOUNDARY LINE.

When a young girl steps from girlhood into womanhood, she enters a new and strange country; a land of promise and hope, yet full of hidden danger. Whether she will find happiness or misery depends largely upon the health and condition of the delicate, special organism which is the source and center of her womanhood.

The lives of young women are often wrecked because of a mistaken sense of modesty, which leads them to neglect the earlier symptoms of feminine weakness.

These troubles unless corrected, develop into serious chronic difficulties which become a dragging burden, ruining life's best opportunities and blighting all possibility of happy wifehood and motherhood.

Any woman suffering from these delicate complaints needs the health-giving power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It heals and strengthens the womanly organs; stops weakening drain; gives vitality to the nerve-centers, and restores perfect organic soundness and constitutional energy. It is the only medicine devised for this purpose by a skilled and experienced specialist in diseases of the feminine organism.

Every woman may be healthy if she chooses. She need not submit to the humiliating examinations and local treatment of physicians. She need have no trouble and slight expense. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure any disease or disorder peculiar to women. It has been sold for over 30 years.

Mrs. W. B. Duncan, of Arlington, Me., writes: "I have used your 'Favorite Prescription' and am never tired of sounding its praise. When my lady friends complain, I say 'Why don't you take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription?' I told an anxious mother, whose daughter (18 years old) had not been right for five months, about the medicine, and after the young lady had taken two-thirds of a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' she was all right. She had been treated by two of our best doctors."

"I took twelve bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and about the same quantity of his 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. J. C. Henry, of Strong Avenue, Elkhart, Indiana. "At the time I commenced taking your medicine I had been sick for over a year. Had doctored with five different doctors but they did not agree as to what my disease was. Then, I did not take any medicine for a long time until a friend wrote me about your medicine, and told me what it had done for her. I determined to try it. When I commenced to take it, I only weighed 98 pounds. Had a hard cough and was very nervous. Had some pain around my heart. Had wasting drain from internal organs very bad; dizzy head; very despondent; would have a chill when my stomach would bother me, and it would palpitate like a pulse beating. I could not sleep well nights; thought all the time that I would die. Have some of those spells now, but when I feel a little sick I just take my old stand-by. Have a nice baby boy, fifteen months old. I took the 'Favorite Prescription' at that time and was only sick a little over an hour and was not very bad then. The child was a nice, big baby. My weight now is 105. I am entirely cured of the female trouble."

"After reading your book I got three bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' for my wife to try," writes George S. Richardson, of Little Creek, Kent Co., Delaware. "It is praised so highly for women with child, and she took two bottles and half of the third before the child was born, and the medicine did its work to perfection. She gave birth to a 9¼ pound baby girl. Our other babies were always weak and delicate, and this one is plump and fat. It is three months old and it has never had a day's sickness, and it is all due to your 'Favorite Prescription.'"

As a medical author, Dr. Pierce holds an eminent place in his profession. His great thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" is one of the standard medical works of the English language. Nearly 700,000 copies were sold at $1.50 each. A paper-bound copy will be sent absolutely free for the cost of customs and mailing only, 21 one-cent stamps; or, cloth-bound for 50 stamps. World's Dispensary Medical Ass'n, Buffalo, N. Y.

Two Easy Berths.

Two bluejackets were once overheard arguing as to who had the least work to do on board a man-of-war.

"It's the parson," said one.

"'Ow d'ye make that out?" queried the other.

"'Cos 'e's got no work to do and all day to do it in."

"You ain't quite got it, Bill," retorted his friend, while an inspired grin illumined his features. "It ain't the parson. It's the cap'n o' marines."

"'Ow's that?"

"Well, as you say, the parson's got no work to do and all day to do it in, but the cap'n o' marines 'as nothin' to do and all day to do it in and 'as a lieutenit o' marines to 'elp 'im to do it!"—Cornhill Magazine.

TEN ARE NOW FOR REVISION

Rapid Conversion of Judges of the Court of Cassation.

The Court Will Sit on May 29 in the Dreyfus Matter—Resolutions Passed Calling for the Immediate Liberation of Col. Picquart—A Street Row in Which M. de Pressense Was Attacked by a Gang of Ruffians.

London, May 12.—The Paris correspondent of The Daily News says that the conversion of judges of the Court of Cassation to revision of the Dreyfus case has been rapid, and that a majority of ten is now in favor of revision.

M. Ballot-Beaupre, president of the Civil Chamber of the Court of Cassation, has announced that his report on Mme. Dreyfus' demand for a revision of her husband's case will be ready even earlier than June 1, namely on May 25 or 26. Accordingly, the public sitting of the united court has been fixed to begin May 29. It is a coincidence that the same day has been fixed for the trial of MM. Deroulede and Habert, who will thus probably be deprived of whatever chance remained for them to pose sensationally as the heroes of the attempted coup d'etat on the day of President Faure's funeral. The proceedings of the Court of Cassation are likely to swamp their little show.

For Picquart's Liberation.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held last night in Grand Orient Hall to demand the release of Col. Picquart from the Cherche Midi military prison. So great was the crowd that the hall was filled to its utmost capacity, and an overflow meeting, attended by thousands, was held in the courtyard. Among the speakers were Prof. Brisson of the Sorbonne and M. de Pressense, editor of The Temps.

Resolutions were unanimously adopted calling on the Government to immediately liberate Picquart, who was declared to be the victim of his love of truth and of a conspiracy among the high army officials. The streets in the neighborhood of the meeting place were guarded by a strong force of police, the authorities anticipating trouble.

Upon departing from the meeting M. de Pressense sought to pass through quiet streets to avoid the anti-Dreyfusites, who, of course, object to any movement looking to the release of Col. Picquart. The police, however, compelled M. de Pressense to walk along a crowded thoroughfare, where, as soon as he was recognized, he was attacked by a gang of ruffians. He took refuge in a cab, which was pursued by the yelling mob who struck the sides and back of the cab with sticks. The cab driver struck right and left among the gang with his whip, and finally outdistanced the pursuers, saving M. de Pressense from serious injury.

Going to Bring Dreyfus.

Paris, May 12.—The Petit Bleu says to-day that ten members of the Republic Guard and four gendarmes left St. Nazaire at the mouth of the Loire, France, on board the steamer Lafayette last Tuesday to form an escort to bring Dreyfus to France, and that his return may be expected by the end of June.

THE FAMINE IS AWFUL.

The Inhabitants of the Samara District in Russia Eating Grass.

St. Petersburg, May 12.—The condition of the famine sufferers in the eastern provinces is appalling. Typhus and scurvy are now rampant among the starved inhabitants, who are dying by scores. The inhabitants of the Samara district are reported to be eating grass.

Disastrous Floods in Germany.

Berlin, May 12.—Incessant rains have prevailed since April 30, producing disastrous floods, especially in the Eastern Oder District. At Oderou, in Austrian Silesia, an immense district has been inundated. At Dresden the River Elbe is higher than it has been at any previous period for 30 years. The tributaries of the Elbe and Oder have overflowed, inundating the Rosen District. At Bisterfeld 11 persons were drowned in attempting to cross the River Mulne. Trains still continue to run.

Turks Forced to Retreat.

Aden, May 12.—The insurrection in Yemen is gaining ground. The Turkish commander, Abdullah Pasha, has been forced to retreat on Sana, the capital of the Province of Yemen, after having sustained great losses of men from Arab night attacks, desertion and famine. His force has been utterly demoralized.

Duty on Wines Modified.

London, May 12.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in the House of Commons yesterday agreed to reduce the proposed tax on colonial light wines to an additional threepence per gallon, and this concession was accepted. The original proposition was sixpence per gallon.

Corner on Kipling's Works.

London, May 12.—The Daily Mail declares that a group of American and English literary agents has formed a syndicate for the purpose of controlling the future productions of Mr. Rudyard Kipling.

NIAGARA FALLS POWER.

The New Agreement Between the Government and the Canadian Niagara Power Company.

Toronto, May 12.—It is understood an agreement between the Niagara Falls park commissioners and the Canadian Niagara Power Company has been prepared, whereby the company agrees to forego its monopoly, and that it has been practically sanctioned by the Government.

The agreement provides that the company shall pay a minimum rental of $15,000 a year, which shall entitle them to develop 10,000 horse-power, every horse-power above that quantity and under 20,000 horse-power to be charged $1 per horse-power, between 20,000 and 30,000, 75c; above 30,000, 50c. A clause of the agreement prevents the commissioners from granting an agreement to any other concern on more favorable terms.

Under the old agreement they were obliged to pay $25,000 rental, and increasing up to $30,000 a year, according to the amount of power used.

The Canadian Power Company is also negotiating for an agreement, and it is said the details are all settled except as to rates the Government desires to charge. It is understood this company claims that the Government's charges are excessive and that capital cannot be induced to go into the business unless more favorable terms are obtained.

THE MARKETS.

Wheat Declined Two Cents—Bad Slump at Chicago—Liverpool Also Lower—The Latest Prices.

Liverpool, May 12.—Wheat futures yesterday were quiet to steady, closing ¼d to ½d per cental lower than Wednesday.

Chicago, May 12.—Wheat broke badly yesterday under professional pounding, based on the Government's crop report. Futures opened a cent under Wednesday's close, rallied for a time and then slumped again, closing at the bottom figures for the day, with fully two cents of a net decline for the session.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Montreal, May 12.—The Gazette this morning says: There was some demand for cheese to-day and sales of eastern goods were made at 9c. and western at 9 1-2c. for both white and colored. On the whole the market is still quiet. Receipts to-day were 1,283 boxes.

The butter market was weak, owing to continued heavy receipts, for which there is only a limited demand from shippers. Creamery to-day, in boxes and tubs, was offered at 15 3-4c. to 16c. in round lots, and in a jobbing way at 16 1-2c. Receipts to-day were 1784 packages.

New York, May 8.—The cheese market opens with more active buying by the home trade in small new at 9 1-2c. to 9 3-4c. There is still a fair business in old to the out-of-town trade at 12c. for large and 12 1-2c. for small sizes. In export there is a good demand for large size new at 9 1-8c. to 9 3-8c., and orders left unfilled last week are now being completed. Receipts to-day are about equally divided on white and colored.

Belleville, May 9.—Seven factories offered 275 white and 45 colored; 9c. bid; no sales.

Ingersoll, May 9.—The Ingersoll cheese market opened to-day with a good attendance of both salesmen and buyers. After the election of officers and other routine business, 880 boxes of first week of May cheese were boarded. No sales; 8 3-4c. offered for colored and 9c. for white. Salesmen holding for 9 1-8c. to 9 1-4c.

Triumphs over the Worst Forms of

KIDNEY... DISEASE

The wonderful success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills adds to the fame of the great doctor whose name is familiar in almost every home as the author of the world famous Recipe Book.

Scores and thousands of grateful men and women have been rescued from the miseries and dangers of kidney disease by this greatest of all kidney cures.

Mr. D. C. Simmons, Mabee, Ont., writes: "My kidneys and back were so bad I was unable to work or sleep. My urine had sediment like brick dust. I was compelled to get up four or five times during the night. I saw Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills advertised and concluded to give them a trial. I have only used one box and am completely cured. I was a great sufferer for 26 years, but my kidneys do not bother me now. I enjoy good rest and sleep and consider Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills a boon to suffering humanity."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

There are three conditions:
When the blood is poor;
When more flesh is needed;
When there is weakness of the throat or lungs.

There is one cure: that is Scott's Emulsion.

It contains the best cod-liver oil emulsified, or digested, and combined with the hypophosphites and glycerine. It promises more prompt relief and more lasting benefit in these cases than can be obtained from the use of any other remedy.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW

Insurance Protection.

Commenting on the recent deaths of Glenon White, a famous art critic, and of Harold Fredric, a celebrated novelist and correspondent, who, it was found, had made no provision for their families, and, indeed subscriptions had to be made for their relief, the Insurance Press says:—

"One would not suppose that it is necessary nowadays to urge on business men the benefits to be derived from life insurance, but the unfortunate conditions referred to are very suggestive."

The guaranteed income policy introduced by the Sun Life of Canada, is the most modern development in life insurance, and in the opinion of many comes nearer to perfection than any form of contract which has preceded it.

This policy provides for the payment of the sum assured in twenty equal annual instalments and as much longer as the beneficiary may live. In this way a much larger fixed income is guaranteed than would be obtainable from the investment of a similiar sum paid on an ordinary policy. The wife has also the advantage of the absolute security which a strong and prosperous institution like the Sun Life of Canada affords. This policy makes absolute provision for the beneficiary.

AN ACTOR'S DEATH.

Alex. Furnise, Member of the Marks Co., Playing at Barrie.

Barrie, Ont., May 11.—Early yesterday morning the death occurred at the Queen hotel, Barrie, of Alexander Furnise, a member of the Marks Brothers' Dramatic Company, filling a two weeks' engagement at Barrie Grand opera house. The deceased, who was only 24 years of age, took cold while angling a week ago, and it settled on his lungs, superinducing pneumonia, which, attacking a system by continuous nervous strain, quickly carried him off. For two days prior to his death his mother was with him, and it had been arranged to remove the patient to his home in London to-day, the serious illness of his father, Manager Furnise, of the Great North-Western Telegraph Company, necessitating the return of Mrs Furnise.

Mr Furnise played here with the Marks Bros.' Co. a short time ago and was quite well known in town.

ELECTRIC SPARKS.

Orders That Are Keeping the Canadian General Works Busy.

(Electrical News.)

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company have just placed an order with the Canadian General Electric Company for one 75 h.p. induction motor, and one 75 h. p. synchronous motor which are to be used at their smelter at Trail, B. C.

The Canadian General Electric Co. have received another additional order from the Montreal Cotton Co., of Valleyfield, Que., for one 200 h. p. and one 100 h. p. induction motors, also for one 20 h. p. motor of the inverted type.

The British America Corporation, who control the Le Roi and other valuable mining properties at Rossland, B. C., have decided to equip these electrically for power and hoisting purposes, and have ordered four 150 h. p. special three-phase induction motors and controllers from the Canadian General Electric Co.

The Canadian General Electric Co. have received an order from the Strathroy Electric Company for a 25 kilowatt 500 volt generator of their latest type.

The Montreal Street Railway Co. have placed an order with the Canadian General Electric Co. for twenty C.G.E. 1,000 railway motors.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company have decided to extend their electric system in order to furnish light and power to their new freight sheds, as well as their present repair shops. For this purpose they have placed an order with the Canadian General Electric Co. for two 200 light direct current multipolar dynamos, complete with marble panel switchboards.

The Canadian General Electric Company have just received an order from the Rubber Tire Wheel Co., of Springfield, Ohio, for a complete tire welding plant.

The Winnipeg Street Railway Co. have placed another order with the Canadian General Electric Co. for 12 of their standard C.G.E. 1,000 railway motors.

The Montreal Island Belt Line Railway Company, of Montreal, have purchased four additional C.G.E. 1,000 railway motors from the Canadian General Electric Company.

The West Kootenay Power & Light Co., of Rossland, B.C., have, in order to meet the demands for power, found it necessary to increase their generating plant at Bonnington Falls to double its present capacity. This company commenced furnishing power to its customers a little over one year ago, and to-day have their two 1,000 h. p. generators loaded to their fullest capacity. The power is transmitted over a distance of nearly 40 miles. They installed originally two 1,000 h. p. three-phase revolving field generators of the Canadian General Electric Company's type, and have recently placed an order with the same company for one 2,000 h.p. machine of the same type, together with marble panels, switchboard etc. They have also ordered from the Canadian General Electric Co. 3,000 kilowatt capacity in high potential step-up and step-down transformers.

THE TOWN WATER.

A Correspondent who Argues for Municipal Ownership.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—With your permission and at the risk of being considered tiresome I would add a few words to the discussion of the Board of Health and the water supply question.

The writer having no prejudices either against the Water Company or in favor of artificial purification of the town water supply (since he finds it impractical to take either whiskey straight or water clear), his personal desire in the matter shall be evinced in endeavoring to secure as clean water as possible—while the pure aseptic article cannot be had. For this reason he votes for a filter, hoping Supt. Henderson may thereby be prevented from even dreaming of cats going through the screens, either whole or in solution.

The most forcible impression left upon the mind of the writer thus far, by this discussion, is the difference of interests of the two parties to the controversy.

The Company, as has been remarked, having their money invested, desire, no doubt, besides good water for the consumer, a very pleasant flavoring for themselves in the shape of good dividends on capital invested.

The citizens, having their property and also their physical existence staked in the town, desire as hygenic an article as possible in the shape of their water supply, with less regard to the dividends collected from them through the Company's good services.

From a consideration of these facts the writer is led to ask the ratepayers and consumers of our town water, would it not be quite a purifying influence to these varied interests if the waterworks were made the property of the town?

Would there then be any section of our citizens objecting to a filter, or even be found excusing its absence by by protesting that we have "the purest water in the country," although it can be made purer still by use of a filter?

Then, again, after the results of what the Toronto News is good enough to dub "the monthly deputations to Ottawa" in the interests of the Trent Valley canal have materialized in the forms of twenty or thirty tugs and barges passing up and down the river daily within a mile of the intake pipe, will it not be more pleasant to contemplate, while absorbing any limited quantity of our town water, that it has passed through a filter, since lending its buoyancy to assist in the solution of the great transportation problem of our new nation, and receiving in return for this service the usual sewerage from the population of the shipping as it will also have received that of the increased population of our Stony lake summer resort, at a time when it is least able to dispose of it. The late discussion over the disposal of our town sewerage should satisfy every interested citizen of the necessity of some regard for these matters at least.

The writer would remind the public of the statistics then furnished them, and doubtless now in the possession of the Town Solicitor, showing the percentage of sewerage considered dangerous to public health. And he would also remind the Board of Health that it is not an occasional draught from an infested water supply, but its constant use for a time, which produces disease therefrom.

And now, Mr. Editor, even at the risk of needing protection of another "blessed if" I shall say in conclusion that this water supply question seems to have rendered the Board of Health, (so active last fall about the time when they could not work effectively) wholly oblivious to the still "disgraceful" condition of "Tom-all-alone's-alley," again perfuming the atmosphere in rear of the post office block.

Thanking you for space,

I remain yours,

SANITAS.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. B. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it, he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. 50 cents and $1.00. For sale by James Lynch, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough; every bottle guaranteed.

FIRE PROTECTION.

A New Material for Use in Windows—Simply a Network of Wire in the Glass.

The danger of a fire spreading from one building to another through the windows is a familiar one; such an incident is of daily occurrence. Although some windows and doors may be protected from iron shutters, there are far more to which these shields against the spread of fire cannot be attached. Dwelling houses and offices are more especially exposed in this respect. The work of a fire brigade is often obstructed by flames rushing through windows, the glass and frames of which quickly disappear when exposed to flame and heat. A mode of treating glass has been devised which, it is claimed, prevents its collapse under fire. It is even said to be more effective in stopping the spread of fire than iron shutters, which it is well known, often are so warped by heat as to lost their usefulness. The new method is to insert within glass a network of wire, which is embedded in the body of the glass. This is done either by, as it were, sandwiching wirework between two sheets of glass, or by placing the wirework in it when in a molten state, by which it is so thoroughly incorporated into the sheets as to be inseparable. It is claimed that glass so treated will resist the action of fire, and of water thrown upon it when the glass is so intensely hot that ordinarily it would break to pieces. Tests have been made at Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Brooklyn before the local underwriters, which they regarded as demonstrative of the power of this kind of glass to stand firm under the most intense heat. Mr. Edward Atkinson, the well-known writer, who is president of a Boston fire insurance company, has so far satisfied himself of the protective power of this material that he recommends its use, "wherever it is desirable to put in a fire-retardent material." The obstruction of light is stated to be only slight. His judgment is strongly endorsed by other presidents and underwriters. The danger in this city arising from some of our narrow lanes and streets, which flames and heat have been known to cross and set opposite buildings afire, an example of which we had last winter, suggests the desirability of our property-owners and insurance companies investigating this new material and adopting it, if found to be as represented—Canadian Journal of Commerce.

Hastings Liquor Cases.

An interesting case under the Liquor License Act was tried in Campbellford last Friday before Police Magistrate Lynch. Mr. Philip Elmhirst, proprietor of the Coughlan house, Hastings, was charged with selling liquor during prohibited hours and selling liquor to minors; the latter, who were boys, were also charged with obtaining liquor during prohibited hours. There were four charges against Mr. Elmhirst, two of selling on Sunday, 9th of April, and two of selling on Sunday, the 16th of April. The charges on the 9th were first taken up, but the evidence to substantiate these consisted of admission made to the inspector by defendant. The inspector forgot to bring this letter to court and an adjournment of one week was made, to allow the production of the letter. The charges on the 16th were then proceeded with, and after all the witnesses were heard Mr. Elmhirst pleaded guilty in both charges and the Magistrate will enter judgment accordingly. The case against the boys was dropped, but they all got a severe lecture from both the Inspector and the Magistrate. We understand the charges against Mr. Elmhirst on the 9th will not be pressed. Mr. L. Fred Clarry appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Geo. J. Sherry for defendant.—Star.

FIGHTING JOE.

General Wheeler was hardly an optimistic as to expect to get through the excitement without encountering a matrimonial rumor.—Washington Post.

That redoubtable fighter, General Wheeler, denies that he has been captured during the last 12 months either by Spaniards or by Cupid.—Chicago Record.

The New Way.

They've broken down the barrier
That custom used to raise.
The girl, if you would marry her,
Must do it all these days.
Papa and dearest mamma seem
Not "in it" as of yore.
When most they favor love's young dream,
The more you may deplore.

It used to be the proper thing
To cultivate mamma,
And give her potted plants, and bring
Cigars for "dear papa,"
But fashion now has made it wise
To court the girl alone,
To read her hieroglyphic eyes
And tremble on her tone.

Then in some lonesome, dark retreat,
Far from the haunts of men
Or maids, she'll bring you to her feet,
Then bring you up again.
She'll educate you to the ways
That suit her inclination
And marry you in ninety days
By average calculation.

Good Blood!

Your heart beats over one hundred thousand times each day. One hundred thousand supplies of good or bad blood to your brain.

Which is it?

If bad, impure blood, then your brain aches. You are troubled with drowsiness yet cannot sleep. You are as tired in the morning as at night. You have no nerve power. Your food does you but little good.

Stimulants, tonics, headache powders, cannot cure you; but will. It makes the liver, kidneys, skin and bowels perform their proper work. It removes all impurities from the blood. And it makes the blood rich in its life-giving properties.

To Hasten Recovery.

You will be more rapidly cured if you will take a laxative dose of Ayer's pills each night. They arouse the sluggish liver and thus cure biliousness.

Jamaica and Reciprocity.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 13.—Representatives yesterday interpellated the Government as to whether it intended to take steps to urge upon the Imperial Government the necessity for securing American reciprocity before it should be too late. The reply was that the Governor would do so. After the Council adjourned the representatives in a body interviewed the Governor, representing the gravity of the situation and the popular demand for prompt and effective action to avert American retaliation.

Profits $1,350,582.65 in One Year.

Montreal, May 13.—The annual statement of the Bank of Montreal was out yesterday, showing profits for the year after deducting all charges at $1,350,582.65, against $1,265,800 a year ago, and a balance of profit and loss carried forward of $1,102,792.72, against $952,210.07. The statement is a highly favorable one in every way.

DEWEY ABOUT TO COME HOME

Hero of Manila Will Spend the 4th in the United States.

That Is If Present Indications Are Correct—He Got Permission From Secretary Long, and Does Not Need to Wait the Cessation of Hostilities—Nebraska Volunteers Are Decimated and Petition for Relief From Duty.

Washington, May 13.—"Send Olympia's mail to B. F. Stevens, No. 4 Trafalgar square, London, England," was the notice given out at the Navy Department yesterday. This is the first formal indication that Admiral Dewey and the flagship Olympia are coming home immediately.

He Got Permission.

Upon inquiry, it was ascertained that Secretary Long had the evening before cabled Admiral Dewey permission to return at once to the United States. He has been relieved of the obligation of remaining at Manila until the Philippine commission completes its work. He is not even required to await the cessation of hostilities. It is estimated at the Navy Department that Dewey will reach the United States in time for a national demonstration on the 4th of July next.

NEBRASKANS ARE TIRED.

They Petition Gen. MacArthur to Be Relieved From Duty.

Manila, May 8, via Hongkong, May 13.—The First Regiment Nebraska Volunteer Infantry is taking the unusual step of respectfully petitioning the division commander, Major-General MacArthur, to temporarily relieve them from duty at the front. The regiment is badly exhausted by the campaign, in which it has taken an active part, and not many more than 300 men of the organization are at present fit for duty. Sunday last 160 men of this regiment responded to sick call. It is added that many of the men have been unable to have their clothing washed for months past, having been compelled during all that time to sleep in their uniforms, to be in readiness for fighting. Since Feb. 2 the regiment has lost 225 men in killed and wounded, and 59 since the battle of Malolos. Officers of the regiment said to the correspondent of the Associated Press here yesterday that they thought that the men had been worked beyond endurance and should be given a rest, and some of the regular regiments, which are now guarding the city, sent to the front.

Utah Soldiers in Hospital.

Five volunteer regiments and the Utah Battery of Artillery are at San Fernando. They muster in all about 2,500 men. Many of the soldiers are in hospitals suffering from heat or other cause. The wounded were all suffering acutely and showed the effects of exposure to the sun when they arrived. Three days' rest has already worked wonders.

Filipino Congress Sitting.

London, May 13.—A special despatch received here yesterday from Manila says that the Filipino Congress, now sitting at San Isidro, is composed of 56 members, of whom 20 favor peace and an equal number are irreconcilables. The others, holding the balance of power, are ready to admit that absolute independence is hopeless of attainment, but demand better terms at the hands of the United States.

SUCH CRUELTY SHOULD STOP.

Two Boy Deserters From British Navy Flogged Till the Blood Ran.

Halifax, N.S., May 13.—Two naval deserters from H.M. cruiser Comus were detected by military police boarding a steamer yesterday bound for New York, where they had intended joining the United States navy, being attracted by the larger salaries paid on United States ships. The deserters, who were 18 and 19 years old respectively, were handed over to the naval authorities.

The younger lad was sentenced to 12 lashes with a birch and the other to 24 lashes. The birch had been steeped for 24 hours and was in excellent order the when the boys were ordered on deck. The second stroke of the lash brought blood from the youngest, and notwithstanding that the boy suffered great pain he received the full sentence. The older boy also got his full complement, his back being covered with blood before the last stroke of the birch had been administered.

Those who witnessed the lashing say it was the most brutal affair that has ever been witnessed on a war vessel in Halifax.

THE ESCAPE OF PARE.

Ontario Government Will Give $500 if He Is Recaptured.

Toronto, May 13.—Inspector Chamberlain's report on the escape of the cracksmen, Pare and Holden, from Napanee Jail, was discussed by the Ontario Cabinet in council yesterday afternoon, and it was decided that $800 reward would be offered by the Government for the capture of both criminals, or $500 for the capture of either one.

Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright says the trial of Ponton cannot possibly go on, as had been arranged, and that the defence have been finally notified to that effect.

COMMISSION IS NOT OFF.

Reports Say It Will Reassemble According to Program.

Both London and Washington Talk That Way Now, but Fairbanks Is Doubtful Whether Negotiations Will Amount to Anything—He Blames the Canadians for the Hitch—London Says a Satisfactory Treaty May Be Expected.

Montreal, May 13.—The Herald's special correspondent at the American capital sends the following: "Washington, D.C., May 13.—An authoritative declaration from the State Department respecting the Government's attitude regarding the work of the Anglo-American joint high commission was obtained to-day by the correspondent of The Herald. It was said officially for the first time since the recent gossip in regard to the alleged breaking-off of negotiations began that it has not been decided to abandon the efforts to settle the existing differences between this country and Canada and that the joint high commission will meet in August as arranged. No contrary decision has been reached, and while it is admitted that the differences which the commission endeavored to adjust are very great, there will be no lack of effort to bring the disputants into harmony.

Mr. Fairbanks Speaks.

"This statement was corroborated by Senator Fairbanks of Indiana, the president of the American commission, who gave to The Herald correspondent the following interview:

"'It is true that there is a feeling among those interested that the British, Canadian and American commissioners will not succeed in getting together sufficiently to arrange a treaty for the settlement of the embarrassing questions at issue, but it is not fair to accuse the United States of being responsible for the conditions which have given rise to that opinion. Canada has wanted her own way in nearly every proposition advanced, and has been unwilling to make concessions. In the question of the boundary dispute between Alaska and the British possessions the Canadian Government showed a disposition which surprised the United States. Canada admitted that the principle of our proposal was correct, but has since pursued a temporizing policy, which is evidently designed to lead up to a refusal to agree to the modus vivendi. She has submitted conditions which the United States cannot accept, and is showing any but a conciliatory spirit.'"

Negotiations Not Broken Off.

London, May 13.—With reference to the progress of negotiations by and the status of the Washington joint commission, the correspondent here of the Associated Press has obtained from the highest quarters the following authoritative statement: Negotiations have never been broken off nor endangered at any time since the adjournment of the commission. If matters proceed as smoothly as they are at present doing here, Sir Julian Pauncefote's return to Washington will be signalized by the conclusion of a treaty embracing every question in dispute in a manner honorable and pleasing to the two countries.

Will Canada Be Snubbed?

Washington, D.C., May 13.—Due notice has been taken by the officials here of the semi-official declaration from London respecting the chances for the conclusion of a treaty that will settle all of the questions at issue between the United States and Canada. All that can be said is that the Administration will be extremely gratified if Sir Julian Pauncefote returns to the United States with new instructions that will meet the difficulties which baffled the first Commission, for it, as matters stand, is realized that nothing can be expected to result from a further meeting of the Commission.

The statement that the negotiations are to be deferred until the return of Sir Julian Pauncefote to Washington is regarded as significant. It confirms fully the original statement that the Commission cannot meet August 2 next, for the Ambassador's return to this country was set for next autumn. The despatch also appears to convey an intimation that the British Government has about reached the conclusion that the only method by which these vexatious issues can be adjusted by directing negotiations between the representatives of Great Britain and the United States. The parties to the negotiations up to this point have before expressed perfect confidence in their ability to reach a satisfactory agreement between themselves in a very short period of time if allowed to do as they believed to be right, so they would be glad to be relieved of the intervening forces.

TESTIMONIALS

Alliston, March 1st, 1898.

I have had one of your "Crematory Closets" in use now for several weeks and am glad to be able to say that I have found it entirely satisfactory in every respect. I have not been able to detect the slightest odor from it at any time and would not be without it. I am sure it must prove a great convenience to people in the country and in towns where water is not obtainable.

Yours respectfully, JAMES CONWAY.

Sheddon, February 28th, 1898.

I have used it for some time and find it perfectly odorless. It is a long felt want and I believe it will become very popular especially in rural districts, towns and villages where wells are so frequently contaminated by the ordinary closets. I am, yours, etc.,

The Daily Review.

SATURDAY, MAY 13, 1899.

MR. Costigan is determined that he will not remain in Opposition for a very long time, no matter what the Conservative party might do.

WITH the present day conditions of life, with people living a pace that seems to be suicidal, with the hustle and bustle of business, with habits general now that were unknown in years gone by, the opinion is common that the present generation is shorter lived than those of other centuries. Yet research seems to discountenance this opinion. The unusual number of centenarians among those recently deceased, prompted a scientific contemporary to consider the question whether we live longer than men used to. In the seventeenth century the average duration of life was only thirteen years. In the following century it had risen to twenty, and in this century the average is thirty-six years, or getting on for three times as long as it was two hundred years ago. But the mortality of these early days was largely increased by epidemics, to which we are not now so subject.

HERE is one of the latest Liberal protests against the present rulers at Ottawa. It is from the Montreal Witness, a Liberal journal:—"At Toronto a few days ago Mr Tarte declared the necessity of spending twenty-five million dollars during the next few years on public works. Here, one would think, is a fit subject for the old jibes of Sir Richard Cartwright against Ministers who went about imploring promoters, contractors and jobbers to join them in a high old time. Is Mr Tarte so much out of his office because he is haunted by the ghost of Mackenzie, who in his position lay on his arms night and day, not trusting even a deputy, that the country might not be robbed by either his opponents or his own supporters? Had a Conservative Minister made the boast that the goverment had made lots of money, and was therefore justified in spending lots of money how would Sir Richard Cartwright have torn to tatters the idea that a government can make money or get money in any other than out of the pockets of the people or at the cost of the capital resources of the country.

THE demonstration arranged at Brockville and carried out in the House of Commons to celebrate the entrance of Mr Comstock, the newly-elected successor to Hon Mr Wood, was as novel as uncalled for. A special train was run to Ottawa from Brockville so that Mr Comstock's friends might demonstrate when the new Liberal M.P. took his seat. What caused this unusual enthusiasm is not stated, unless it was to throw as far in the background as possible the means adopted to secure the seat for the Laurier-Tarte supporter. The Montreal Gazette refers to the incident in this way:—"The Comstock incident on Wednesday is another evidence of how the morals of the House of Commons is being lowered under the present regime. Next to introducing into the chamber a body of excursionists to applaud from the galleries some members whom the political majority takes delight in, will be the bringing in of outsiders to hoot some member whom the majority may have a dislike to. What makes the matter worse is that the affair was pre-arranged, and publicly advertised. It is impossible to think of such a proceeding with a man like John A Macdonald or John Thompson leading the House, or with a man like Peter White in the Speaker's chair."

Bismark's Iron Nerve

LANGLEY'S AERODROME.

The Professor Soared Aloft 500 Feet, But Descended Without Accomplishing Much.

Washington, May 12.—Professor S. P. Langley, secretary of the Smithsonian Institute, the inventor of the aerodrome, who was given $25,000 by the Board of Ordnance to experiment with his flying machine for war purposes, made his first test at Quantico, Va., yesterday. Prof. Langley, with the amount of money placed at his disposal, built a new and larger machine than that with which he experimented two years ago. The machine was launched from the top of a houseboat anchored in a broad sweep of the Potomac about three-fourths of a mile from the island owned by the Quantico Rod and Gun Club. The result was not so successful as were Prof. Langley's former experiments with the smaller machine. The machine soared aloft to a height of 500 feet, and descended after a horizontal flight of 800 feet. His former machine, which was propelled by a small steam engine, flew three-quarters of a mile, and only descended when the steam was exhausted. It was understood that Prof. Langley was to overcome the limited power capacity of the former machine by the use of a condensing engine, which could repeatedly utilize the condensed steam from the boiler.

RAILWAY WRECK.

Twenty-Five Killed and Fifty Injured by a Smash Last Evening in Pennsylvania.

Reading, May 13.—The Pottsville Express was run into at Exeter last evening. The passengers could give no connected story of the wreck and the number of dead and injured was not known to any of them. The number of dead is fully 25 and the injured 50. The first train ploughed through three cars of the forward train, completely wrecking them. Eight dead were brought here at 1 a.m. A score are under the debris. A train load of wounded were brought to the hospital here. Great excitement prevails throughout the city. The railroad officials offer no explanation of the accident. The coroner will institute an investigation at once. Returning passengers at 1.30 a.m. say the scenes around the wreck are of the most fearful description.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

John Inglis of Toronto, who died on Feb. 4, left an estate worth $45,451.

M. Henri Becque, the French dramatic author, is dead at Paris, aged 62 years.

The death of General Viscount Kawakami, chief of the headquarters staff of the Imperial army of Japan, is announced.

Edward Smith, colored, was hanged at Washington on Friday. Smith murdered a colored woman named Edmonia Jackson in this city on Nov. 15, 1897.

The Canadian Pacific Railway officials are considering the advisability of constructing a double track from Montreal to Vaudreuil, Que. The distance is 68 miles.

On Friday morning fire badly gutted the house occupied by Mr. Clancy, an insurance agent, at Owen Sound. A lamp left burning exploded. The contents were all burned.

A despatch has been received at the French Colonial Office from the Governor of Jibutil, saying that there is no foundation for the alarmist rumors concerning Major Marchand.

Friday saw an end of the bricklayers' strike in Toronto. The agreement arrived at is practically a victory for the strikers, who stayed out for nearly two weeks. They will now get 37½ cents per hour.

John F. Gerrard, Toronto, husband of Rose Gerrard, who attempted to take her life two weeks ago, and who had compelled her to lead an immoral life, was on Friday given six months in the Central Prison.

The local police have furnished Chicago with a description of three men suspected in connection with the robbery at Dresden of the Canadian Bank of Commerce of $7,000. Their arrest may take place any moment.

Four men were instantly killed Friday by a slide of a portion of a large culm bank at Centralia, Pa. Several were badly injured. The four bodies recovered were so badly disfigured that it was difficult to identify them.

Charles Stewart, a wealthy broker and yachtsman, with offices in New York and a residence at Passaic, N.J., is dead as the result of a stroke of apoplexy induced by the wearing of corsets in a female part in an amateur play.

Mr. Justice Street reserved judgment at Osgoode Hall on Friday on a motion to commit Col. Prior, M.P., for contempt of court, in not appearing for examination in a pending suit. Privilege of Parliament was the defence.

The Salvation Army has been incorporated under the laws of the State of New York and has filed a certificate thereof with the Secretary of State. The property controlled by the Army, real and personal, is estimated at $745,250.

Isaac Price, a young man who went to Rochester a short time ago from Toronto, and who is charged with robbing the Rochester Gas and Electric Company of $162, representing collections made by Price for the company, is being searched for by detectives.

At Bowmanville on Friday evening, Mr. W. H. Greenwood, city editor of The Toronto World, led to Hymen's altar the eldest daughter of Mr. W. W. Tamblyn, M.A., English master of Bowmanville high school, in the presence of a large company of invited guests.

On Friday night George De Corrie was arrested at Hamilton. The charge that the prisoner will have to answer when he is brought back is one of bigamy. The complainant is Miss Danby of 1,300 West Queen street, Toronto, says her husband's wife No. 1 is an inmate of the House of Providence.

The Crescent Athletic Club on Friday completed the matches for the boxing show in the Mutual street rink Queen's Plate day, May 20—Jim Smith v. Pete Mulcahy, 6 rounds; Denny Gallagher, Texas, v. Emil Sanches, the Cuban wonder, 12 rounds; Harry Lemons, Niagara Falls, v. Howard Wilson, Philadelphia, 20 rounds.

Without any apparent reason John Rossor, a milk driver of Toronto, deliberately took his life on Friday afternoon by hanging himself in the loft of a barn.

its hope of a successful termination of the labors of the Joint High Commission for the settlement of questions in dispute between Canada and the United States, says:

Both the United States and Canada must understand that they cannot expect to have things entirely their own way. Our Imperial part is rather advisory as regards both. Every narrowing of the area of controversy is to be welcomed as promoting good feeling, which we are glad to note is displayed on both sides.

Before the Commission re-assembles public opinion in both countries will have to be ascertained, and so far as we can gauge it promises to be favorable to many, if not all, of the questions in dispute.

FEELING AGAINST GOMEZ.

Cuban Soldiers Accuse the General of Deserting Them.

Havana, May 13.—The decision of General Gomez to abandon Quinta de Los Molinas, the old summer residence of the Captain-General, where he has been living, and to take a house in the city, was announced to the members of his staff yesterday, who were simultaneously instructed to repair to their homes. The order aroused considerable resentment among them, all accusing Gomez of deserting them and declaring that they have neither homes, work nor money. The disagreement is serious, especially as the anti-Gomez papers continue to attack the settlement of the amount the Cuban soldiers are to receive. La Discussion and El Reconcentrado seem determined to cause trouble.

Gomez Has Many Enemies.

New York, May 13.—Among the passengers who came in on the Havana on her record-breaking trip from Cuba was General H. O. Ernest, who has been in Cuba since January. He has been stationed in Havana as inspector on General Brooke's staff.

General Ernest said that, in his opinion, there was no man in Cuba qualified to be elected President. He said that he did not think Gomez would ever fill that position. "Gomez is a good man, but he has many enemies. Then again, I do not believe he is qualified to hold that office. Should the sentiment for annexation increase, I believe Gomez would cause the United States trouble. He keeps quiet as long as they dangle Cuba libre before him."

ROSWELL P. FLOWER DEAD.

One of the Magnates of Wall Street and an Ex-Governor Taken Off Suddenly.

New York, May 12.—Former Gov. Roswell P. Flower died to-night at 10.30 at the Eastport Country Club, at Eastport, L.I. Mr. Flower was taken ill early in the day with a severe attack of acute indigestion. In the afternoon symptoms of heart failure supervened and he grew steadily worse until the time of his death. The attack of heart failure was accompanied by a fainting spell and Mr. Flower's family in New York City were quickly notified. Mrs. Flower and the former Governor's nephew, Frederick S. Flower, accompanied by Dr. Thomas H. Allan, Mr. Flower's physician, left at once on a special train for Eastport. When they arrived there Mr. Flower had somewhat recovered, but to-night the attack of heart failure was marked and Mr. Flower became unconscious an hour or more before his death.

THE BUFFALO STRIKE.

Grain Shovelers Appear to Have Gained Their Point—Everybody Will Go to Work.

Buffalo, May 13.—It looks to-night as if the strike of the grain shovelers was about over. Bishop Quigley has brought about an agreement on all but minor points, and it is expected that the men will be back at work next week. The strikers have gained a big victory, securing practically all that they had fought for. Several hundred coal shovelers and a like number of freight handlers are out on strike in sympathy with the grain shovelers, but it is thought that they will return to work now that the main strike is settled.

THE TRICKY CHINESE.

Acknowledgment of the Anglo-Russian Agreement Does Not Imply Acquiescence.

Pekin, May 12.—The Chinese Government, in acknowledging the receipt of a communication regarding the Anglo-Russian agreement as to spheres of influence in China, expressly declares that the acknowledgment in no wise implies acquiescence. Immediately after communicating the agreement, the Russian Minister, M. De Giers, demanded the right to build a railway connecting the Manchurian system with Pekin. This is regarded as of the utmost importance.

SYRIANS WANT INDEPENDENCE.

25,000 of Them in the United States Willing to Fight Turkey.

New York, May 13.—"Syria was proclaimed a free and independent State yesterday by a revolutionary party, which, for three years, has been secretly at work throughout the world," says The Herald.

"Mimeograph copies of a call to arms were issued by the thousand from the headquarters of the secret council or junta not far from the Syria colony in Washington street, this city. This revolutionary party has on its rolls 25,000 men in this country alone, who are willing to fight to free Syria from the rule of the Sultan of Turkey.

"Young Syria, as the society is called, is the result of gradual growth. The success of the Cubans has inspired it to take a bold stand. The members say there will be a very 'sick man' in Europe before long, for they assert they will have the funds to equip armies and vessels of war."

NOW IT IS ACCEPTED LAW.

Niger-Nile Convention Between Britain and France Accepted.

Paris, May 13.—The Chamber of Deputies yesterday approved the Anglo-French Niger-Nile convention. This agreement between Great Britain and France disposes of hundreds of thousands of square miles of African territory and leaves only four recognized independent states throughout the continent—Morocco, Abyssinia, Liberia and the Orange Free State.

SWELL GAMING.

It Is Carried on With Great Luxury in New York.

The place where society gambles in New York is a few steps west of Madison square—a fine old mansion, entered after a short flight of brownstone.

The utmost caution prevails, and the warder at the gates of this anteroom of purgatorio scans every applicant with the practiced glance of the gambler's Cerberus, bowing obsequiously or thrusting the applicant back beyond the pale.

Within, the brilliancy of the place quite staggers after the density of the night. There is an odor of gentility, even solemnity, prevailing, and in the silence through the rift in the hum of voices comes the whir of the marble bounding against the ceaseless roulette wheel, the patter of chips and the low drone of the dealers.

Over various games young men and old, almost all in evening dress, are bent in deep interest, like doctors at a clinic. They one and all bear the aspect of men to whom the loss or gain of a few hundred dollars is an episode entailing no economies in defeat, calling for no extravagances in the smile of fortune. Many smoke, their perfectos lifting a fragrant incense before this shrine of the red fiend, while a few, wearied of play perhaps, withdraw to a cozy nook to discuss the latest London fad or avenue scandal, retail a bon mot or con the proxy stocks.

At one end of a thickly carpeted chamber there stands a broad table with shimmering plate and sparkling glass offering bounties that would tempt an epicure even in a sated moment. The lighter wines and liquors are on free draft, and occasionally, when there enters a little company of young revelers given to more than liberal excess, a quiet mannered man seen wandering among his guests gives a signal, and champagne flows generously.—Criterion.

Beavers' Rolling Ways.

Beavers, the only warm blooded animals which habitually do heavy transport by land, provide for all contingencies by cutting "rolling ways," biting off all stumps and obstacles and do their log rolling along these toward the water. There is very little doubt that were it at all necessary to their comfort other animals would have hit on the same expedients. Thus beavers have three kinds of roads—their ordinary tracks near the water, their canals and the log rolling roads. This is quite in accordance with the very high degree of their social development as compared with other animals.

Variety of roads is a mark of progress among the beasts as among men. Even in Europe there are many degrees of this exhibition of civilization. The Dutch are the representatives of the beavers among men. On the route from The Hague to Scheveningen, for instance, there lie parallel to each other a carriage road, a canal, a bicycle track, a light railway, side paths regularly constructed and in places little tracks, or "kats-passen," made by trespassers.—Spectator.

A Big State.

Says The Manufacturers' Record: "How big is Texas, did you ask? Well, I won't try to tell, but when you are in the northern end of the state you are closer to St. Paul, Minn., than to the southern end of the state. They tell a story of a man down there who had a reasonably large ranch—not one of the big ones, just a moderate sized one—on which the front gate was 20 miles from the house, a very convenient evening walk for lovers who want to swing on the gate before saying good night."

Medical Wit.

"Where is the pain?" asked the physician.

"Oh, I don't know, doctor!" groaned the patient. "It hurts so I can't tell where it is!"

"Just so," said the doctor, proceeding to fill a small vial from a larger one. "It's a wiseacre who knows where he aches."—Chicago Tribune.

RETURNING YOUTH.

"I am seventy years young," said Oliver Wendel Holmes when they asked his age. True enough. He was young because his heart was young; his step was firm; his eye was bright; his laugh was clear and merry; his appetite was good, and above all — so was his digestion.

No man should be old before his time because of a weak stomach, sluggish liver, shaky nerves and flabby muscles. There is no need of it. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures these things. It brings back youth to the feeble because it brings back keen appetite and good digestion. It tones up the liver, puts oxygen and life into the blood, and solid strength into the flesh and muscles. It contains no alcohol to inebriate or create a morbid appetite or craving for stimulants.

"I have never felt better in my life than I do now," says Charles Hunwick, of Lenox, Macomb Co., Mich., in a remarkable letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "I have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery right along. I can now walk quite well with a cane and hope to throw even that away before long, and as I have had to use crutches for nearly two years. I think I am doing fine. I do not cough now and I can eat and sleep like a school boy. I think I will have to change my mind about 'Patent Medicines,' as I never had much faith in them; but you must know that I have been treated in two hospitals and by three doctors besides, and received no benefit; so I think your medicine is the only medicine for me."

There is nothing in the world for constipation like Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They should be taken in conjunction with the "Discovery," whenever any disease is complicated with that dangerous condition. Nothing else that may be offered in their place will accomplish what they will. And their relief is permanent. Write to Dr. Pierce for free advice.

A LARGE PURCHASE OF Mediterranean Fruits.

A TRIP TO THE ETERNAL CITY

and lightness, grandeur and strength. But though the greater part of the present building only dates from Henry III., the history of the Abbey begins many centuries previously. The reputed founder is Sebert, King of Essex, who died A.D. 616, and whose tomb is still shown in the sanctuary. Edward the Confessor, however, is looked upon as the real founder of the Abbey. When in exile in Normandy, he made a vow to go to Rome as a pilgrim, if restored to his kingdom; but when the time of fulfilment arrived, the vow was found inopportune, and Pope Leo absolved him from it, on condition that he erected or restored a monastery to St. Peter. The Bayeux tapestry enables us to form a fair idea of the Confessor's Abbey, only a few fragments of which are now visible. The Confessor's work was consecrated in 1065, and a short time afterwards the new church beheld the funeral rites of its founder. William the Conqueror chose the side of the newly made grave in preference to St. Paul's for his coronation on Christmas day, 1066. The last coronation, that of our own Queen, was on June 28th, 1838, and every sovereign of England, except Edward V., in that interval of nearly eight centuries has been crowned here.

The second founder of the Abbey was Henry III., who had conceived a deep veneration for his canonized predecessor, and resolved to honor him by razing to the ground the great church which he had built and erecting another in a more magnificent style. The work of Henry was continued by Edward I. The chapel of Henry VII. was erected at the beginning of the sixteenth century and the towers were added by Wren in 1740, and the facade of the North Transept was restored in 1890.

Grand and gloomy and blackened by time without it is all glorious within. With its royal burial-vaults and long series of monuments to celebrated men, Westminster Abbey is not unreasonably regarded by the English as their national Valhalla or Temple of Fame; and interment within its walls is considered the last and greatest honor which the nation can bestow on the most deserving of its offspring. "Victory, or Westminster Abbey," the words of Nelson at the battle of the Nile, mark emphatically what an influence the old Abbey exercises on the history of the country.

A consideration of the architecture, sculpture and decorations—in a word the material beauty of the Abbey—would require a knowledge of the arts of building, sculpture and decoration during the last six centuries, which we do not profess to have. We will, therefore, confine our attention almost exclusively to a higher and spiritual attribute which it possesses. Not for its architectural splendor, not as exhibiting the best practical history of national art, not for its unrivalled picturesqueness, not even as the place where their sovereigns are crowned, but as the one resting-place of the greatest men in the annals of their country, is the Abbey dear to Englishmen. It is the holy sepulchre of their kings, poets, warriors, orators, statesmen and divines; famous Englishmen, in fact, from every rank and creed and of every form of genius. "It is not only Rheims cathedral and St. Deny's both in one," as Dean Stanley says, "but it is what the Pantheon was intended to be to France, what the Valhalla is to Germany, what Santa Croce is to Italy."

No one can understand Westminster Abbey and few can realize its beauties in a single visit. Three at least are necessary. On the first, unwearied by detail, enjoy the architectural beauties of the place and get a general view of the interior, the chapter house, the cloisters and their monastic surroundings. On the second, study the glorious chapels which surround the choir, and which contain nearly all the tombs of antiquarian or artistic interest. On the third, labor as far as you can through the mass of monuments which crowd the transepts and nave, which are often mere cenotaphs. By these three visits you may see the Abbey, but it will require many more to know it—visits at all hours of the day to drink in the glories of the light and shadow—visits employed in learning the way the Minster has grown, arch upon arch, and monument upon monument; and other visits given to studying the epitaphs upon the tombs and considering the reminiscences they awaken.

"Oft let me range the gloomy aisles alone—
Sad luxury! to vulgar minds unknown,
Along the walls where speaking marbles show
What worthies form the hallow'd mould below;
Proud names, who once the reins of Empires held;
In arms who triumphed, or in arts excell'd;
Chiefs graced with scars, and prodigal of blood;
Stern patriots, who for sacred freedom stood;
Just men, by whom impartial laws were given;
And saints who taught and led the way to heaven."

—Tickell.

Many have left very charming reflections on visiting the Abbey, a few of which we will quote:

"The spaciousness and gloom of this vast edifice produce a profound and mysterious awe. We step cautiously and softly about, as if fearful of disturbing the hallowed silence of the tomb; while every footfall whispers along the walls, and chatters among the sepulchres, making us more sensible of the quiet we have interrupted. It seems as if the awful nature of the place presses down upon the soul and hushes the beholder into noiseless reverence. We feel that we are surrounded by the congregated bones of the great men of past times, who have filled history with their deeds and the earth with their renown."—Washington Irving.

"When I look upon the tombs of the great, every emotion of envy dies within me; when I read the epitaphs of the beautiful, every inordinate desire goes out; when I meet with the grief of parents upon a tombstone, my heart melts with compassion; when I see the tombs of the parents themselves. I consider the vanity of grieving for those whom we must quickly follow; when I see rival wits placed side by side, or the holy men who divided the world with their contests and disputes, I reflect with sorrow and astonishment on the little competitions, factions and debates of mankind."—Addison.

"The moment I entered Westminster Abbey, I felt a kind of awe pervade my mind which I cannot describe; the very silence seemed sacred."—Burke.

"They dreamed not of a perishable home
Who thus could build. Be mine in hours of fear
Or grovelling thought, to seek a refuge here;
Or through the aisles of Westminster to roam;
Where bubbles burst, and folly's dancing foam
Melts, if it cross the threshold."

—Wordsworth.

"This is the consecrated temple of reconciled ecclesiastical enmities. Here the silence of death breathes the lesson which the tumult of life hardly suffered to be heard."—Dean Stanley.

"The great temple of silence and reconciliation, where the enmities of twenty generations lie buried."—Macaulay.

Let us enter at the North Transept, the front of which, with its niches, rose-window, and its great triple entrance, called "Solomon's Porch," is the richest part of the building externally. The interments which have been effected in and around the Abbey, since the remote age of Edward the Confessor, must number thousands; but only about six hundred are named in the guide-books. Space will permit us to mention only a few. The North Transept, since the Duke of Newcastle was buried here in 1676 and the Earl of Chatham in 1778, has become the favorite burial place of statesmen and admirals. The character of the monuments here, as well as in the nave, is in marked contrast to that of those in the other parts of the Abbey. While the earlier tombs are intended to recall death to the mind, the memorials of the last two centuries are entirely devoted to the exaltation of the life of the person commemorated. Here, especially, the entire space between the grey arches is filled by huge monuments groaning under sculptures of offensive enormity. Interesting from their associations, they are remarkable for their want of originality and variety. Justice, Temperance, Prudence and Mercy, are forever busy propping up the tremendous masses of masonry upon which Britannia, Fame and Victory are perpetually seen crowning a bust, an urn or a rostral column with their wreath. Beneath these piles sit figures indicative of the naval or military professions of the deceased plunged in idiotic despair.

In the North Transept we may notice among the monuments which do not necessarily imply interment in the Abbey: Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield (1881), twice Prime Minister. Whilst looking at this statue, which so forcibly recalls our great statesman, Sir John A. Macdonald, I chanced to look down at the pavement and found myself standing directly over the tomb of his great political adversary, W. E. Gladstone, buried but two months before my visit. William Pitt, Earl of Chatham (1778), has a colossal monument to his memory. Chatham is represented in his Parliamentary robes in an attitude of declamation. Of this monument Cowper wrote:

"Bacon there
Gives more than female beauty to a stone
And Chatham's eloquence to marble lips."

Macaulay says: "In no other cemetery do so many great citizens lie within so narrow a space. High over those venerable graves towers the stately monument of Chatham, and from above, his effigy, graven by a cunning hand, seems still with eagle-face and outstretched arm to bid England be of good cheer, and to hurl defiance at her foes."

Henry Grattan (1820), the eloquent advocate of the rights of Ireland, lies buried in front of Chatham's monument, near the graves of Pitt, Fox, Castlereagh, Wilberforce, the two Cannings and Palmerston. Pitt and Fox died the same year and are buried close together, which fact Scott alludes to in Marmion:

"Drop upon Fox's grave the tear,
'Twill trickle to his rival's bier,
O'er Pitt's the mournful requiem sound
And Fox's shall the notes rebound."

Passing to the South Transept we come at the end to Poet's Corner. The attention to the spot as the burial-place of the poets arose from its containing the grave of Chaucer. Here, as Addison says, "there are many poets who have no monuments, and many monuments which have no poets." Shakespeare and Addison have statues erected to their memories, but the greater part have busts, medallions and sometimes mere inscriptions. Washington Irving says: "I have always observed that the visitors to the Abbey remain largest about the memorials in Poet's Corner. A kinder and fonder feeling takes the place of that cold curiosity or vague admiration with which they gaze on the splendid monuments of the great and heroic. They linger about these as about the tombs of friends and companions." We find among others the tomb of Chaucer. Near his tomb Browning was buried in 1889 and Tennyson in 1892. A bust of Longfellow was set up in 1884; John Dryden (1700); Ben Jonson (1637). The latter is buried, however, in the nave, in an upright position, in accordance with the favor—"eighteen inches of square ground in W. A."—which he had asked from Charles I., having died in great poverty. A small square stone in the wall bears the words, "O, rare Ben Johnson," the name being spelled incorrectly. Spenser (1599), with the epitaph, "Here lyes, expecting the second cumminge of our Saviour Christ Jesus, the body of Edmond Spencer, the Prince of Poets in his tyme," whose divine spirit needs noe othir witnesse then the works which he left behinde him." "His hearse was attended by poets, and mournful elegies and poems, with the pens that wrote them, were thrown into the tomb. What a funeral was that at which Beaumont, Fletcher, Jonson, and, in all probability Shakespeare attended! What a grave is which the pen of Shakespeare may be mouldering away."—Dean Stanley.

Gray, author of the immortal "Elegy." Beneath are the lines of Mason:

No more the Grecian muse unrivall'd reigns;
To Britain let the nations homage pay;
She felt a Homer's fire in Milton's strains,
A Pindar's rapture in the lyre of Gray.

John Milton (1674). Thomas Campbell (1844). Coleridge (1834). Southey (1843). Shakespeare (1616). The lines from the Tempest inscribed on the scroll which the figure holds in his hand seem to have a peculiar application in the noble building, where they are placed:

The cloud-capped towers, the gorgeous palaces,
The solemn temples, the great globe itself,
Yea, all which it inherit, shall dissolve;
And, like this unsubstantial pageant faded,
Leave not a rack behind.

Robert Burns (1796)—a bust subscribed for in Scotland in 1883. John Gray (1732). Under a medallion portrait of the poet are his own strange lines:

Life is a jest, and all things show it;
I thought so once and now I know it.

Oliver Goldsmith. Handel (1759) "He who composed the music of the Messiah must have been a poet, no less than a musician, of no ordinary degree. Therefore, he was not unfitly buried in Poet's Corner apart from his tuneful brethren."—Dean Stanley. Thackery (1863). Addison (1719) Macaulay (1859). On his gravestone is inscribed: "His body is buried in peace, but his name liveth forevermore." Garrick (1779), the actor. Burke remarked during his funeral that the statue of Shakespeare seemed to point to the grave where the great actor of his works was laid.

We now leave Poet's Corner with its monuments of England's uncrowned kings who "still rule our spirits from their sceptred urns," and visit the beautiful royal monuments in the chapels which contain all that is most precious in the Abbey. The most beautiful one is that of Henry VII., a superb structure. It consists of nave, aisles, with five small chapels containing about one hundred statues and figures. It is the burial place of almost all the sovereigns from Henry VII. to George II., and is the finest perpindicular building in England, called by Leland "the miracle of the world." Washington Irving says of it: "The very walls are wrought into universal ornament, encrusted with tracery and scooped into niches, crowded with statues of saints and martyrs. Stone seems, by the cunning labor of the chisel, to have been robbed of its weight and density, suspended aloft, as if by magic, and the fretted roof achieved with the wonderful minuteness and airy security of a cobweb."

The centre of the chapel is occupied by a splendid closure of gilt copper, containing the glorious tomb of Henry VH. and Elizabeth of York, which, according to Lord Bacon, is "one of the stateliest and daintiest monuments of Europe." In the south aisle beneath the exquisite fan roof is the tomb of Mary Queen of Scots. After her execution at Fotheringay she was buried in Peterborough cathedral, but was brought thence to Westminster in 1613 by her son James I. The tomb is a noble work of the period. The Queen is represented as in her pictures, with small and delicate features. At her feet the crowned lion of Scotland sits keeping guard.

"She shall be a world's wonder to all time,
A deadly glory watched of marvelling men,
Not without praise, not without noble tears."

—Swinburne.

I found fresh flowers on her tomb every time I visited the Abbey. Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary I. lie buried in the same tomb.

Let us now enter the chapel of St. Edward the Confessor. Henry III. made this a Holy of Holies to contain the shrine of his sainted predecessor. For this he raised behind the high altar a mound of earth, said to be formed by several shiploads of earth brought from the Holy Land, "the last funeral tumulus in England." In this chapel Henry V. has a grand tomb. Above it is hung his shield, saddle and helmet, which twice saved his life at Agincourt, still showing the dints. Upon his tomb lay his effigy stretched out, cut from the solid heart of an English oak, plated with silver gilt, with a head of solid silver. It has suffered more than any other monument in the Abbey. Two teeth of gold were plundered in Edward IV's reign, and the whole of the silver has been carried off by robbers.

In front of the screen facing the foot of St. Edward's shrine stand the coronation chairs. The one on the left, scratched and battered by irreverent visitors, was made for Edward I. In it was enclosed by Edward III. the famous Prophetic Stone of Scone, on which the Scottish kings were crowned. The legend of the stone relates that it was the pillow on which Jacob slept at Bethel when he saw the Vision of the Ladder reaching to heaven. All the sovereigns of England since Edward I. have been crowned in this chair. The second chair was made for the coronation of Mary II. and has been used even since for the queen's consort.

"That antique pile behold
Where royal heads receive the sacred gold;
It gives them crowns and does their ashes keep:
There made like gods, like mortals there they sleep,
Making the circle of their reign complete,
Those suns of Empire, where they rise and set."

—Waller.

In the chapel of St. John's is the monument of Lady Nightingale, which attracts a good deal of attention. The tomb is more theatrical than sepulchral. The skeleton figure of Death has burst open the iron doors of the grave, and is aiming his dart at the lady, who shrinks back into the arms of her horror-stricken husband, who is eagerly but vainly trying to defend her. Of this tomb Wesley said that it was the finest in the Abbey, as showing "common sense among heaps of unmeaning stone and marble." A tradition of the Abbey records that a robber coming into the Abbey by moonlight was so startled by this figure of Death as to have fled in dismay and left his crowbar on the pavement.

There is a monument in the nave of great historical interest, that of Major Andre, hanged by Washington, during the American War, in spite of the pathetic petition that he could "adapt the mode of his death to his feelings as a man of honor." He was buried under the gallows on the Hudson river, but in 1821 his remains were honorably restored to the English. The monument erected by George III. bears a relief representing Washington receiving the petition of Andre as to the manner of his death. The head has been twice knocked off and stolen; on one occasion by an American who confessed in his last illness and sent it back to be replaced.

The Chapter House belonging to the Abbey is interesting from its being the cradle of all free parliaments. Here the House of Commons met from 1282-1547. In the latter year Edward VI. appointed St. Stephen's chapel in Westminster Palace as their place of meeting.

The Cloisters are exceedingly interesting. Of them Washington Irving says: "The approach to the Abbey through these gloomy monastic remains prepare the mind for its solemn contemplation. The cloisters still retain something of the quiet and seclusion of former days. The grey walls are discolored by damp and crumbling with age; a coat of hoary moss has gathered over the inscriptions, and obscured the death's heads and other funeral emblems. The roses which adorned the Keystones have lost their leafy beauty; everything bears marks of the gradual delapidation of time, which yet has something touching and pleasing in its very decay."

In the East Cloister there is a simple inscription which attracts greater sympathy than more pretentious epitaphs. It is "Jane Lister, dear childe, 1668." It recalls by its simplicity the inscriptions in the Catacombs at Rome.

In the West Cloister there is a tomb to John Broughton (1789), long an Abbey verger. A blank has been left where he wished the words "Champion prize-fighter of England" to appear in his epitaph but the Dean and Chapter objected.

Through the little court of the Deanery is the approach to the Jerusalem Chamber. Here Henry IV. died of apoplexy thus fulfilling the prophecy that he should die at Jerusalem, mention of which is made in Shakespeare's Henry IV., Act IV., Scene IV. Here the Westminster Assembly met in 1643. Out of these walls came the longer and shorter Catechism and the Confession of Faith. The revisers of the Bible held nearly eight hundred sittings here and produced the Revised New Testament in 1881 and the Old Testament in 1884.

Here we must end our pilgrimage. The Abbey clock has chimed a quarter to three, and the afternoon service is about to begin. Let the visitor who would leave the venerable old Abbey with a blessing stay to hear the the choir chanting "Nunc Dimittis."

DISCHARGED TO DIE.

But Mrs. Fitzpatrick Didn't Lose Hope—Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Accomplished What the Physicians Couldn't.

If the thousands of people who rush to so worthy a remedy as a last resort would go to it as a first resort how much misery and suffering would be spared. Mrs. John Fitzpatrick, of Gananoque, after being treated by eminent physicians for heart disease of five years' standing was discharged from the hospital as a hopeless incurable. The lady procured Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, she declared as a last resort. One dose relieved a very acute spasm in less than half an hour, and three bottles cured her. Sold by H. S. Macdonald and Ormond & Walsh.

ABOUT CHEQUES.

Some Facts Regarding Cheques That Are Not Generally Known.

At a meeting of the Ontario Educational Association, Mr. G. W. Johnson, chartered accountant, commercial master at Upper Canada College, read a paper on "Bills of Exchange, Cheques, and Promissory Notes," dealing more particularly with cheques. Some facts not generally known were brought out. Jones sending cheques to the bank for deposit should endorse all of them, whether "or order" or "or bearer," and, to make it impossible for the clerk to cash them and decamp, or deposit the cheque to his own account, Jones should write on the back of each, "For deposit to the account of Jones." A person purchasing an article and giving in payment a cheque on the bank in which he has no funds may be indicted for fraud. But if the cheque was given in settlement of a previously contracted book debt, a charge of fraud cannot be laid. The cheque, however, is not valueless to the holder, inasmuch as it is an acknowledgment of the debt, and the holder can sue upon the cheque without the trouble of proving the debt from his books. About the only changes the holder of a cheque can safely make are these two: If the cheque is undated, he may write in the true date; if it be made payable to himself, "or bearer," he may cross out "bearer" and write in "order," but he must not do the reverse of this, namely, cross out "order" and write in "bearer." A cheque may be all straight and regular, and yet the bank refuse to pay it. The bank's duty and authority are terminated by the drawer's countermand or by his death. A person receiving a "crossed" cheque must not present it for payment at the bank on which it is drawn. He can only get it paid through the medium of another bank.

A New Novel.

"Swallow: A Tale of the Great Trek." By H. Rider Haggard. Longman's Colonial Library, London: Longman's Green and Co.; Toronto: The Copp Clark Co. Cloth, pp. 348.

Mr. Haggard has done well to return to a field of fiction in which he has previously achieved so much success, namely, that which he occupies in his tales of South African life. The Boers, according to the cable, may soon be embroiled in a bitter conflict with England, and this possibility will perhaps increase the interest which has already been aroused by such books as "She" and "King Solomon's Mines." Few writers have studied the Boer more thoroughly than Rider Haggard, or described in more vivid language life on the velt before the day of Rhodes, gold and Krugerism. "Swallow" is a healthy, vigorous story, which holds the reader's interest from first to last. In it are described a series of wonderful adventures. It is a story of strange people in a strange land and possesses a veritable fascination for the English reader. The variety of characters is great and they are all interesting studies. But the real charm of the book lies in the exciting incidents that follow one another in breathless succession. The interest is sustained in a manner known only to the most skilful novelists. The book should find many readers.

Norwood to Apsley.

Says the Norwood Register: "Mr. H. W. D. Armstrong, of Toronto, a civil engineer employed by the C.P.R., was in town last week and went over the route of the proposed railway from Norwood to Apsley. In conversation with the Register Mr. Armstrong said that though the line would be somewhat difficult to construct it was nevertheless practicable and would open up a section of country rich in minerals, besides giving the farmers of the back country access to the towns of the front and the advantages of better markets for their produce, timber, etc. The road would also be a great convenience to summer tourists, sportsmen and hunters and would, he had no doubt, be largely patronized. This he thought, however, would not be sufficient to make it a paying enterprise without a substantial subsidy from the Government. This, it is generally conceded the people of the back country have a right to demand, as the Government has already received thousands of dollars from that part of the country for timber dues. Mr. Armstrong thinks that if the people will take the matter up and push it the road will be built. Now, all together, push!"

A BOON FOR ALL BUSINESS MEN.

Freedom from Dyspepsia and Nervous Headache Ensured

By the Use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, the only Positive, Rational Cure for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, and similar Stomach Diseases.

Why should the merchant go to his store in the morning, suffering the torments of a severe Nervous Headache?

There is no more need for him to do so than there is for him to walk through the drifted snow, instead of on the bare sidewalk.

No man need suffer from Nervous Headache now-a-days, unless he prefers to do so. For there is a means of cure, absolute, positive, and permanent, within the easy reach of every man, woman and child on the North American Continent.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will positively cure the worst case of Nervous Headache that can torture poor humanity.

Nervous headache is in nine hundred and ninety-nine of every thousand cases the result of starving the nerves.

The nerves starve because the supply of rich blood is not sufficient to nourish them.

The supply of rich blood is insufficient because all the food eaten is not digested and converted into blood.

The food is not all digested because the stomach is weak, and unable to supply the juices needed to carry out the process of digestion.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest all the food eaten. This is converted into rich and nourishing blood, which strengthens and gives vitality to the nerves. When the nerves are healthy and strong, you can never have Nervous Headache.

This then is why no person need suffer from this agonizing complaint. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure it and keep it cured.

BROKE INTO A STORE AT KEENE

A SAFE DRILLED AND A BOLD ATTEMPT MADE AT ROBBERY.

Mr. James McNeil's Store Entered and an Attempt Made to Rifle the Safe—Tools Were Taken From a Blacksmith Shop.

The strange series of burglaries that have occurred in the province within the last fortnight have been the subject of much comment and speculation. Last evening a daring attempt was made at robbery in Keene and the affair naturally associates itself with the other occurrences of the kind.

This morning the village was thrown into a state of excitement when it was learned that Mr. James McNeil's store had been broken into and an attempt made on the safe. The burglars had evidently gained entrance to the store through a 10x12 window light and had then opened the door from the inside. The safe was the point of attack. It was drilled and the handle broken off the door. This morning it could not be opened in any way and it could not be ascertained whether the burglars had got at the inside or not. The place was in some confusion, but there was nothing missing except some canned goods and some tea.

The tools by which entrance was gained were taken from Cruikshanks' blacksmith shop, which had been forced open during the night.

A telephone message was received this morning asking Mr. James English to go down to the village to make an effort to open the safe, which still baffled all attempts, although it was stated that the combination dial appeared to be all right.

Four suspicious looking characters were noticed around the village yesterday. One was a man of apparently about sixty years of age. He was slightly lame. He carried a valise. He pretended to be looking for old acquaintances, a number of whom he named, but it was afterwards found out that he did not make any move to see these people.

THE COMMISSIONERS

Consider the Communication of the Stanley Piano Co. re Stock Yards.

A meeting of the Town Trust Commissioners was held yesterday afternoon at the Town Clerk's office. There was a full attendance of the Board and Mr. H. P. Kennedy was also present. It was decided unanimously that the Commissioners are anxious to be in concord with the Council, especially in regard to the establishment of the works of the Stanley Piano Co., Limited, and wished to do nothing that could be construed as discouraging to that company. They informed Mr. Kennedy that there must be embodied in the lease a proviso to the effect that as soon as the works of the Stanley Piano Co. are ready to be operated on the lands adjoining those leased to him he shall remove from the premises, he being allowed a rebate of one quarter's rent ($25(if such should occur within a year of the date of lease.

The other clauses providing that the lease shall terminate forthwith in case any nuisance should be created on the premises and also that the Commissioners should have the power to put an end to the lease at any time on three months' notice were retained in the lease. The Commissioners retain the right to decide what is a nuisance.

Mr. Kennedy agreed to these conditions and it was expected that the instrument would be executed to-day. The lease is silent as to the purpose for which Mr. Kennedy may use the land. Nothing is expressed referring to it as a cattle yard and it is simply leased as to a citizen for ordinary purposes.

SUIT AGAINST HON. MR. COX.

Some of the Policy Holders of the Canadian Assurance Company Demanding Payment of Money.

A Hamilton despatch states that a writ is being issued to-day in an action against Senator Cox and the Canada Life Assurance Co., brought by Wm. Lees and other policy holders of the Canada Life, to compel Hon. Mr. Cox to repay to the said company sums of money they allege he improperly received while a director of the company.

That this action was to be taken was reported some time ago, immediately after the decision was reached to remove the head offices of the Canada Life from Hamilton to Toronto.

The allegation is that Hon. Mr. Cox continued to hold the position of agent after he was a director of the company, and the action is brought to secure the repayment of certain moneys received by him as agent after he became a director. This money the plaintiffs allege it was improper for him to receive. They estimate the amount so received at $50,000 a year. If the action comes to trial it will excite considerable interest, only only because of unusual point of law involved but by reason of the prominence of the parties concerned and the agitation which resulted from the decision of the company to remove from Hamilton to Toronto.

CAR CAUGHT FIRE.

C. P. R. Car Loaded With Cattle Caught Fire Near Smith Falls.

Smith's Falls, Ont., May 12.—There was a very unusual accident on the C. P. R. yesterday. Two train loads of cattle from Chicago of 19 cars each were sent out here during the forenoon, bound for Montreal. Conductor Jarvis was in charge of one train, and just below Merrickville he found that one of the cars was on fire. He quickly stopped the train, and all hands set to work to jump the cattle out of the burning car. It was a difficult job, but they succeeded in doing it, and then they ran the train on to the Burritt Rapids' siding, cut off the blazing car, and left it to burn up. The cattle, which were big steers from the Western ranches, were pretty wild and not very easy to manage, but they were all safely corralled in a farmer's yard close by, and Superintendent Brady notified of the occurrence. Four of the cattle died from their burns, and one other was killed out of mercy. All the others were more or less injured, and it is thought all of them will have to be killed at Montreal. Such a thing as a car of cattle on fire was never known on this part of the C.P.R. before, and there are some peculiar complications about this. The cattle were going through in bond, and the C. P. R. are bound to deliver the number of cattle they received. This will necessitate the sending forward of the dead bodies of the burned animals so that at the port of delivery the full number may be accounted for.

BANK ROBBERS AT BOWMANVILLE

DEMOLISH THE STANDARD BANK VAULT AND SECURE $11,110 IN CASH AND OTHER VALUABLES.

The Burglars First Went to the Police Station, Captured, Bound and Gagged the Nightwatchman and Took Him to the Bank With Them.

Special to the Review.

Bowmanville, May 13.—A daring bank robbery was perpetrated early this morning, when the Standard Bank was robbed of over $11,000. There were seven or eight men in the gang, who thoroughly understood the business of safe cracking.

The building is a brick structure, built in 1894, and is equipped with the latest and most improved burglar-proof appliances.

The burglars first went to the police office and seized the night watchman, Henry Metcalfe, whom they blindfolded, gagged and handcuffed. They then, after telling him what they purposed doing and threatening to shoot him if he did not keep quiet, escorted him over to the bank, which is only across a corner, and commenced operations.

Metcalfe was guarded by one man with a revolver, while the others entered the bank by removing a pane of glass from one of the windows on the west side of the building. The front door was then pried open.

Three explosions took place in quick succession, which apparently worked well, for in about half an hour the three doors leading to the place where the valuables were deposited were shattered as though they were of wood. About $11,000 belonging to the bank and $110 belonging to the Canada Life Assurance Co., and a lot of valuables belonging to private citizens were carried off.

As soon as the job was finished the burglars carried Nightwatchman Metcalfe into the bank and departed for parts unknown. Metcalfe was found about 5 a.m.

Annual Missionary Effort.

There will be a special collection at St. John's at both services to-morrow on behalf of "Domestic Missions," i.e., missions in Algoma and throughout the North-West. This collection is called for annually by the Bishop of Canada on the Sunday after Ascension day, when the great missionary command was given. A large part of the money obtained goes to the support of missions among the Indians, in which the Church of England has been largely engaged with much success. This is a matter of preaching Christ to the heathen. The balance is divided among the missionary dioceses to establish and keep up ministrations among the white settlers who are unable yet to maintain themselves. There is great need for all the money that can be given for this purpose, as the rapid development of the North-West imperatively demands increased religious work. Many of the settlers are still beyond the reach of any religious ministrations.

THE BAND CONCERT.

The Programme will be One of Unusual Excellence.

The concert with the 57th Battalion band will give in the market hall on Friday evening next, May 19th, will undoubtedly be superior to any similar concert heard here in years. Bandmaster Gliddon and his men have put in a great deal of hard work on the programme, which is an excellent one, and all who attend will enjoy a rich treat.

One of the best numbers will be the "Midnight Fire Alarm." This is a descriptive piece. It begins on a calm and peaceful night; ten o'clock strikes and lights out and all in bed; then is the alarm, "Fire," "fire,", Box 32; the horses rush out, hitch up and are off; then the gallop to the frie, engines at work, etc.; then the fire's out, the recall, the march home, and the closing chorus, "Home Again." The whole is a surprisingly fine descriptive musical number.

The band are in need of funds at present, and in order to replenish their depleted treasury to some extent it has been decided to take a silver collection at the door. Give what you like to help the band along, but don't stay away on account of the collection. Hear the band anyway and see the good work they are doing.

Nearly everyone needs a good spring medicine, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is by all odds the best that money can buy.

CHRISTIAN UNITY.

Circular Issued to the Members of the Union by Rev. H. Symonds.

The following circular has been sent to all the members of the Canadian Society of Christian Unity. It is hoped that clergymen not members of the society will also adopt its suggestion:

Peterborough, Ont., May, '99.

Dear Sir,—Some years ago the then Archbishop of Canterbury published a suggestion that on the Festival of Whitsunday sermons should be preached on the subject of Christian Unity. The suggestion was cheerfully adopted and acted upon by many ministers of various denominations in England.

A similar suggestion was made and adopted at a meeting of the members of the Canadian Society of Christian Unity last November.

The Festival of Whitsunday is kept by many Christians as a commemoration of the birthday of the Christian church, about fifty days after Easter, when The Holy Spirit descended upon the Apostles and Disciples and the work of the church was commenced (Acts II.). It is in short the anniversary of the Christian church.

May I, therefore, on behalf of the Council of the C. S. C. U., ask you to try and make it convenient to preach on some aspect of Christian Unity on the coming Whitsunday, May 21st. The lesson of the day of Pentecost seems to be the reversal of the story of the Tower of Babel. Just as sin divides and separates man from man, so holiness unites men. The unifying work of the church is symbolized in the gift of tongues. There can, therefore, be no day more suitable for sermons on Christian Unity than the day of Pentecost, or Whitsunday.

Believe me, your faithful brother in Christ,

HERBERT SYMONDS,
President of the C.S.C.U.

FOR THE CARE OF THE UNFORTUNATE

HOUSE OF PROVIDENCE TO BE ERECTED ON ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL GROUNDS.

The Church Authorities Have Taken Action Regarding the Need for a Refuge and Will Build a Fine New House of Providence.

For many years past there has been urgently felt both in town and county the need of an institution of some kind for the protection of the aged, the orphans and the destitute portion of our community. For many years the different Grand Juries that have reported to the judges upon the condition of the county have pointed out persistently the deplorable lack of such a necessary refuge. Yet no relief has been given.

The announcement will, therefore, be received with pleasure that a House of Providence is to be erected in the town, or rather in Ashburnham, and that this will be undertaken by Bishop O'Connor and the authorities of St. Peter's cathedral, who have identified themselves with so much charitable work in the past. It will be built on the St. Joseph's hospital grounds, on a site south-west of the hospital and near the main drive. It will be a three-storey brick building with stone basement and will be a handsome edifice, that standing with the hospital on the hill will present a splendid appearance. Mr. J. E. Belcher, C. E., is architect. In another column will be found an advertisement calling for tenders to be addressed to Ven. Archdeacon Casey and to be in by Monday, May 22nd. It is intended that the work of building shall go on at once in order that it may be ready for occupation before next winter.

The House of Providence, as its name indicates, will be a refuge for the aged, the orphans and the destitute. The building adjacent to St. Joseph's hospital, which has in a limited way been used for this purpose, was much too small and ill-adapted and was much overcrowded during the winter. The pressing need for such an institution as is intended has, indeed, been felt for some time. The present undertaking is a noble one, an enterprise of the purest charity, that should meet with general, sincere and substantial recognition. It is a forward movement in touch with the best spirit of the age and should and doubtless will be appreciated by all classes of the community.

Brevities.

—There was a small market this morning.

—The rain caused the C G E bicycle club's run to Springville to be postponed.

—The steamer Sunbeam, Captain Copperwaithe, was at the wharf to-day.

—The funeral of the late Mr Pue took place yesterday from Indian river to the Keene cemetery.

—The demand for skilled labor in all branches of industry is on the increase throughout Ontario.

—Rev W L Armitage will preach on "The Conquest of Temptation," to-morrow evening in All Saints' church.

—The Epworth League anniversary services in connection with the Mark-st. church will be held to-morrow, the pastor officiating.

—A hop was held in the Oddfellows' hall last evening. About twenty-five couples were present. Butcher's orchestra supplied music.

—Potatoes are very scarce. There were none offering at the market this morning except for seed and for these $1.10 a bag was asked.

—Mr Charles Caldwell and family, of Atherley, have gone to Omemee to reside. Mr Caldwell has been appointed G T R agent there.

—At St Paul's church to-morrow the choir will sing Hawley's beautiful "Sanctus" with double choir, and "Spirit Immortal," from "Attila."

—The Monetary Times is urging business men to be very careful in guarding against fire by seeing that no empty boxes, piles of paper, oily waste and other inflamable substances are allowed to lie around in the buildings.

—Mrs Mann, of Havelock, met with a serious and perhaps fatal accident on Tuesday afternoon, by falling down stairs. Mrs Mann received such severe injuries in the head and neck, which on account of her age and other infirmities, will probably prove fatal.

—On Tuesday forenoon about 11.30, Mr Alex McAuley's residence at Havelock caught fire from a burning chimney, and was only saved after a hard fight on the part of the willing citizens. The contents were almost entirely removed. The damage by fire and water amounted to $500. Covered by insurance.

—Mr and Mrs W J Byam and family, formerly of Peterborough, removed from Omemee to Stirling, where Mr Byam has been appointed agent for the G T R. He together with his family during their brief sojourn in Omemee, the Mirror says, have won for themselves the high esteem of the people of that vicinity, whose best wishes will go with them for their future success. Mr Byam's son, Howard, is a first-class telegraph operator and probably the youngest in Canada.

—Speaking about protecting railway crossings the following from the Kingston News is of interest:—"Mr Phillips, of Montreal patentee of the electric gong recently placed at the Collin's Bay railway crossing, expects to make a large sum from his invention. The gong is 21 inces in diameter, and set up on a post by the side of the line, with wires running a distance of 400 yards in both directions, on the outside of each track. At the end of each wire is a square steel bar, projecting just above the rail, on the outside, which, when struck by the wheel of the engine, coils the spring in connection and remains below the level of the rail until the train has passed over. The working of the alarm is giving complete satisfaction.

—Best cabinet photos $1.50 per doz. at Garnet Green's Charlotte-st. studio. Price no detriment to the finish. tf

LETTERS OF THANKS.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough: PETERBOROUGH, 10th March, 1898.

GENTLEMEN,—I thought I would drop you a note and let you know that the way Mr McInnes, Inspector of the London Mutual, settled my loss was very satisfactory, and if I can send you any one to insure I will do so. Yours truly, (Signed) PATRICK MURPHY.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough: PETERBOROUGH, 22nd Oct., 1898.

DEAR SIRS,—I am deeply indebted to you and your Company for the quick and good settlement of my loss on household furniture, &c., which happened night before last, and for the payment of the same by cheque this day. Yours truly, (Signed) MRS. ANNIE MARSHALL.

Mr. Richard Angley, of Smith, who had his barn and contents burned, says that Mr. McInnes, Inspector London Mutual, acted like a man that wanted to do the square thing between man and man, and settled his loss right.

UNCLE SAM ALL OVER.

He Will Now Take Steps to Crush the Fruit Trade of the Island of Jamaica.

Jamaica, May 12.—The tariff bill so obnoxious to the American Government, the enactment of which by the Legislative Council was already a foregone conclusion, was finally passed yesterday, and Jamaicans now are apprehensive of immediate retaliation upon their exports to the United States.

Spells Jamaica's Ruin.

An American citizen of Jamaica, who has been elected a member of the Legislative Council, the Hon. J. T. Valache, strongly urged the framing of a substitute measure on lines which should render easy the negotiating of reciprocal arrangements with the United States. He said that England had deserted the West Indies and that, the Home Government's promises to help the islands having been broken, Jamaica could look to the United States alone for its future prosperity. America, he said, was substance; Great Britain shadow. The loss of the American market would spell the ruin of the colony—ruin utter and complete.

Warned of Retaliation.

The Hon. S. C. Burke said that he had seen the letter from a leading personage of the Washington Government, transmitted through United States Consul Dent, and he declared that so soon as the bill should become law immediate retaliatory legislation would be invoked to crush Jamaica's great fruit trade with the United States—the island's staple industry, now that sugar production has gone by the board.

Despite these warnings, the council passed the bill without inserting provisions to facilitate the arranging of a reciprocal agreement.

You Can't Get Rested

Because that Tired Feeling is not the result of exertion. It is due to the unhealthy condition of your blood. This vital fluid should give nourishment to every organ, nerve and muscle. But it cannot do this unless it is rich and pure. That is what you want to cure That Tired Feeling—pure, rich blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla will help you "get rested." It will give you pure, rich blood, give you vigor and vitality, and brace you up so that you may feel well all through the coming summer. If you have never tried Hood's Sarsaparilla, do so now, and see how it energizes and vitalizes your whole system.

Big Loaves of Bread.

The largest loaves of bread baked in the world are those of France and Italy. The "pipe" bread of Italy is baked in loaves two or three feet long, while in France the loaves are made in the shape of very long rolls, four or five feet in length and in many cases even six feet.

A Burman mile is about equal in length to two English miles. The word for "mile" in Burmese means "to sit," and a mile is the distance that a man goes before he considers it necessary to sit down.

The highest value of an English postage stamp is $25. The stamp is of oblong shape and very seldom used.

YOU MUST DIE,

Said His Physician. South American Kidney Cure Gave the Doctor the Lie. It Cured Bright's Disease.

La Grippe will leave its brand on the weakened spot. A bright young man in a Western Ontario city, son of a well-known lumberman, found that the influenza epidemic had developed in him that most fatal of all kidney troubles—Bright's Disease. Local physicians treated, but to no purpose. He consulted specialists, only to be told that his life hung on a slender thread, and recovery was impossible. But he pinned his faith to the adage, while there's life there's hope. He began using South American Kidney Cure, and in three months from the day he commenced using it, the same physician who said he must die, pronounced him cured. Sold by H. S. Macdonald and Ormond & Walsh.

Petrified Water.

That beautiful transparent stone called Tabriz marble, much used in the burial places of Persia and in their grandest edifices, consists of the petrified water of ponds in certain parts of the country. This petrification may be traced from its commencement to its termination. In one part the water is clear, in a second it appears thicker and stagnant, in a third quite black, and in its last stage it is white like frost.

When the operation is complete, a stone thrown on its surface makes no impression, and one may walk over it without wetting one's shoes. The substance thus produced is brittle and transparent, and sometimes richly striped with red, green and copper color. So much is this marble, which may be cut into large slabs, looked upon as a luxury that none but the king, his sons and persons especially privileged are permitted to take it.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a twenty-five cent bottle of Dr. Wills' English Pills, if, after using three-fourths of contents of bottle, they do not relieve Constipation and Headache. MR. BARBER'S ESCAPE

A Montreal Citizen Baffles a Dangerous Enemy.

A Severe Suffer from Bladder Disease—Could Find no Relief till he Tried Dodd's Kidney Pills—They Cured Him.

Montreal, May 12.—There are few people in Montreal who have not known the agony of bladder trouble.

This complaint attacks four out of every five persons, and unless it is checked in time, it leads to more serious and dangerous conditions, such as inflammation of the bladder, stricture, etc.

Weak or defective kidneys are the cause of bladder troubles.

The one way to get rid of bladder troubles, to cure them for all time, therefore, is to strengthen and heal the kidneys.

This, like everything else, is easy to do, if you take the right way, for there is only one way to do it.

Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only known remedy that can restore the kidneys to complete health.

Thousands have proved this fact by experience.

All who have done so speak in the same terms as Mr. John H. Barber, of this city, who says: "I suffered for two years with bladder and kidney troubles, and could get nothing to give me relief.

"I suffered more than I can tell, till I began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. I used only a few boxes, but they made me a strong and healthy man.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are worth their weight in gold."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or will be sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodds Medicine Company, Limited, Toronto.

BEE BUZZES.

The eggs of worker bees will often hatch.

It is best to have honey well refined before storing it away.

A young queen that has defective wings should be destroyed.

Fruit bloom serves to build the bees up strong, but does not give much surplus.

Frames of empty combs can best be taken care of by keeping them in ordinary hives.

Allow no stock of any kind to run in the apiary during the winter unless it be poultry.

Pure granulated sugar is in every respect as good as the best quality of honey for feeding bees.

When a colony dies from any cause, cleanse the hive thoroughly and rinse with boiling water.

There is nothing more valuable in the apiary than empty combs. They should be well cared for.

Never move a comb hastily or hold a new comb horizontally, as it will probably break and fall.

Make a nice entrance to each hive by spreading sawdust in front up to the level of the bottom boards.

Mice often destroy colonies of bees, besides eating large quantities of honey, if once they get into a hive.

One of the chief merits of flat bottomed comb foundation for surplus is the fact that it usually contains less wax than the natural base built by the bees. The greatest objection is that bees will gnaw it more than thick foundation.—St. Louis Republic.

THE DOCTOR'S WIFE.

A Four Years' Cripple From Acute Rheumatism. South American Rheumatic Cure Was the True Physician.

Mrs. J. H. Harte, of 223 Church street, Toronto, wife of Dr. Harte, suffered severely from rheumatism for five years. For four years she could not walk without the use of a cane. At times the pains were intense, and she suffered tortures. No remedy or treatment gave any relief. She was induced to try South American Rheumatic Cure. She used four bottles and to-day is free from pain, and she closes her signed testimony by saying: "I am entirely cured and can move about as blithely as ever in my life." Sold by H. S. Macdonald and Ormond & Walsh.

In Sympathy.

"But did not the neighbors send you anything after the fire?" inquired the poor commissioner of the widow whose home and belongings had been totally destroyed three nights before by the relentless flames.

"Yes, sir," was the reply. "Mrs. Cleaver, across the street, sent me a beautiful drawn work doily with her card, and Miss Hushington, in the next block, a very pretty cut glass knife and fork rest."

Then George Subsided.

"I could never see anything great in your trip across the Rubicon," said Washington. "Now, when I crossed the Delaware I had to contend with a great mass of ice."

"Yes," replied Cæsar, "but look at the risk I ran of meeting a frost when I reached the other side."

And even one of the Roman senators smiled.—Philadelphia North American.

PARIS "MAREORAMA"

A WONDERFUL DEVICE FOR THE EXPOSITION OF 1900.

From Marseilles to Constantinople by Illusion, So Cleverly Contrived That Passengers Will Hardly Realize That Their Journey Has Been Only a Trick of the Imagination.

A remarkable novelty at the much-talked-about Paris exhibition of 1900 will be the Mareorama, the name of which fully explains its nature to the initiated. It will be, in effect, a large ocean steamer, in which passengers will make an imaginary voyage from Marseilles to Constantinople, with the illusion of sailing by a clever panoramic arrangement. The vessel, as our illustration indicates, will be mounted upon a spherical pivot, which will, however, not be visible, and the actual motions of the ocean-going steamer, in the way of pitching and rolling, will be secured by the action of four pistons. To still further support the illusion, the passengers will find their vessel floating in foaming sea water, the scents of briny ocean will be conveyed to their nostrils, and the genuine routine of a passenger steamer will be faithfully carried out. The masts, rigging, smoking funnels and everyday work of the crew, under the command of an experienced captain and officers, will be accurately reproduced, and it will not be a difficult matter for the passengers of the Mareorama to imagine that they are in reality sailing the ocean blue. When mal-de-mer assails them every lingering doubt will probably be dispelled. In the way of scenery, too, there will be no disillusion. Moving canvases, 50 feet in height and perfectly representing all the land and seascape that would be observed during the voyage from Marseilles to Constantinople, will unroll themselves in panoramic motion, and so give to the passengers on the stationery vessel the impression that they themselves are moving. The building in which this magnificent amusement will be located will be situated in the Champs de Mars, between the Eiffel tower and the Montineaux station, and will be 131 feet in length, 112 feet in width, and 75 feet in height. M. Hugo d'Alesi is the originator of the Mareorama and the painter of the scenery in which it will be set.

THE PARIS MAREORAMA.

Dickens and the Children.

Writing in The Century on Charles Dickens' interest in the cause of education, Mr. James L. Hughes, public school inspector at Toronto, concludes his article by saying:

He was the first great English student of Froebel. He deals with 19 different schools in his books. He gives more attention to the training of childhood than any other novelist, or any other educator except Froebel. He was one of the first Englishmen to demand national control of education, even in private schools, and the thorough training of all teachers. He exposed 14 types of coercion, and did more than anyone else to lead Christian men and women to treat children humanely. Every book he wrote except two is rich in educational thought. He took the most advanced position on every phase of modern educational thought, except manual training. When he is thoroughly understood he will be recognized as the Froebel of England.

Tramp's Wonderful Nerve.

A brakeman tells this story: He was on the rear of a long, mixed train, and the only one, as his partner had been injured that morning. The train was going up a steep grade and had almost reached the summit, when the caboose and two cars of slag broke off. The brakeman started for the brake, when his foot slipped and he fell. Before he could rise the cars got great headway, and he realized with a shudder that he was running down to meet the upcoming express. Presently he saw his train coming back, and it came closer and closer, until the cars nearly touched. Then a man made a flying leap on the car, and with his assistance the brakes were set and the danger averted. The courageous volunteer was a tramp, who had been riding on the train, and for his services on this occasion was given a position on the road, and to-day he is an official, honored and respected.

THE HORSE RECORD.

Connor, 2:11¼, by C. F. Clay, recently paced a quarter over the ice on the Erie canal in 31½ seconds.

Maggie Carroll, 2:20¼, by Jack Dawson, stands just 14 hands 2 inches tall. She has trialed in 2:16¼ and a half in 1:06.

The stallion Gold Rose (12596), by Sterling, out of Madam Baldwin (dam of Bay Rose, 2:20¼, etc.), has been taken to Hawaii.

Mr. Spier's Suburban farm stable of 25 horses is to be taken from Glens Falls, N. Y., to Kirkwood, Del., for its early work over the kite there.

Charles C. Guernsey, Paris, Tenn., has leased Pastime park, Gloversville, N. Y., and will train St. Cyr, 2:19¼, West Wilkes, 2:18½, and others there.

Jib Albert, 2:17¼, by Albert W, 2:20, out of the dam of Flying Jib, 2:04, recently trotted a quarter to road cart in 29 seconds at Pleasanton, Cal.

Direct (2), 2:18, the son of Direct, recently purchased by James Butler, conditionally on his racing without hobbles, is working quarters in 34 seconds without them.

Minnie Birchwood, 2:18¾, the fast daughter of Birchwood and Minnie A, by Hamdallah, is to cross the pond, having been recently sold to the foreigners by Jere Allis, Iconiours, Minn.

Swanook, who began racing as a 2-year-old in 1889, when he entered the 2:30 list and took a record of 2:14 last season, will be out again this year, with H. B. Nilson of Oskaloosa, Ia., again behind him.

Bravado's European "best on records" are gradually slipping away from him. The latest to go is his Russian two mile ice record of 4:49, which Nominee, 2:17¼, has reduced to 4:48½ at St. Petersburg.

There was a very spirited set to in a work out at the Pleasanton (Cal.) track the other day between Phœbe Childers, 2:16½, Sister Alice, 2:16¼, and Venus II, all in the Keating stable, the trio finishing close together in each of two heats after coming through the stretch at a terrific clip.—Horse Review.

We went to hear Melba as grand as could B.
Her singing, it suited us both to a T,
For the high note she reached was a beautiful D.

But we'd seats in the orchestra center—row E—
So I reached for two high notes and each was a V,
And I'm "busted" from now till next Saturday, O?

Heredity and Environment.

Her clothes did not fit her. Her conversation also betokened the thoughtful person.

"Do you believe criminal tendencies to be due more to heredity or to environment in youth?" she asked eagerly.

"Alas, it is hard to say!" replied the burglar in the end cell. "I was an only son, and I wore long curls until I was 10 years old! Which circumstance had the more to do with making me what I am I cannot decide."

Here his voice broke in a sob.—Detroit Journal.

THE GERRYMANDER BILL.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Says He Expects to Introduce It in the House Next Week—Friday's Proceedings.

Ottawa, May 13.—Yesterday was an exceedingly quiet and uneventful day in the House. Comparatively few of the members who went away on Wednesday night have returned yet, and will not be here until Monday or Tuesday. The debate on the Drummond County Railway resolution was not proceeded with on account of the alimness of the House, and the whole of both the afternoon and evening sessions have been practically spent in committee of supply with the exception of the first hour after recess, which was devoted to private bills.

Bills Introduced.

The following bills were introduced and read a first time:

To amend the criminal code in respect to animals; to prevent the docking of horses' tails, except by competent persons having proper appliances—Mr. Penny.

Respecting the Great Northern Railway Company—Mr. Savard.

Respecting the Red Deer Valley Railway and Canal Company—Mr. Frost.

To incorporate the Ottawa Suburban Railway Company—Mr. Morrison.

Mr. Casey suggested that the Pacific cable correspondence be printed at once, so that it may be forwarded by mail to Australia, which was agreed to.

The Redistribution Bill.

Sir Charles Tupper asked when the redistribution bill would be brought down.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier—I hope early next week.

In Committee of Supply.

The House then went into committee of supply, taking the customs items in civil government, which were passed after some criticism of items by Mr. Taylor, Dr. Sproule and others.

On the marine and fisheries vote, Sir Louis Davies explained that the new cruiser being built on the Clyde will cost $180,000 and will be called the "Minto." He said no tenders had been called for in Canada.

There was a good deal of discussion on the supplies purchased for the Government steamers without tender, the Auditor-General's report showing that as much as $5.50 a barrel was paid for apples, $2.50 for potatoes, $2.40 for beans, and other things in about the same proportion.

After Recess.

The following private bills passed through committee of the whole were reported, read a third time and passed:

To incorporate the St. Clair and Erie Ship Canal Company—Mr. Tisdale.

To incorporate the Yale-Kootenay Telegraph Company—Mr. Bostock.

To confer on the commission of patents certain powers for the relief of George L. Williams—Mr. McCarthy.

Respecting the Bronsons and Western Lumber Company and to change the name to the Bronson Company—Mr. Belcourt.

Respecting the Niagara-Welland Power Company—Mr. Gibson.

Respecting the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company—Mr. Prefontaine.

Second Readings.

The following bills were read a second time and referred to committee:

Respecting the Hudson's Bay and Yukon Railway and Navigation Company—Mr. Oliver.

Respecting the Montreal Island Belt Line Railway Company—Mr. Lemieux.

To incorporate the Canada Mining and Metallurgical Company (Limited)—Mr. Haley.

To incorporate the Sudbury and Wahnapitae Railway Company—Mr. Dyment.

In Supply Again.

The House then again went into committee of supply, resuming the discussion of the items for supplies for Government steamers.

Mr. Ellis defended the prices paid for supplies in St. John.

Mr. Taylor caused some amusement by calling attention to prices paid in Halifax for supplies for the Newfield—for instance, 90 cents a dozen was paid for pears and 25 cents per cake for soap.

Sir Louis Davies said the supplies were purchased by the agents of the department in Halifax, St. John and Quebec, who had been years in the employ of the Government.

Mr. Taylor moved that the vote of $145,000 for maintenance and of repairs to Government steamers be the same amount as last year, $119,000.

The debate was continued until a quarter to twelve, when Mr. Taylor's amendment was put and lost.

Sir Hibbert Tupper said he regretted that the Minister of Marine and Fisheries was not making any provision for continuing the tidal survey in the St. Lawrence, and referred to the action of the Underwriters' Association in connection with the loss of the Labrador and the Castilian.

St. Lawrence Navigation.

Sir Louis Davies said no practical navigator had ever told him that any better charts existed than those commenced by the Bayfield and continued by others. He assured the House that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the matter of insurance in the St. Lawrence, and declared that he could not understand the action of the underwriters. The Government was putting several new lights in the St. Lawrence, at the Traverse and other places, and trying by every means to improve the navigation of the St. Lawrence, and steps were being taken to impress on the English underwriters that they had been unjust in jumping at the conclusion that the St. Lawrence was not well lighted and buoyed.

The discussion was continued until 1 o'clock, when the vote for ocean and river service, which had been under consideration since 5 o'clock, was carried and the House adjourned.

Will Uncle Sam Compensate?

London, May 12.—In the House of Commons to-day the Right Hon. William St. John Brodrick, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, replying to a question by Captain John St. Clair, Radical member for Forfarshire, relative to destruction of British property by the bombardment of Iloilo, said that the Government had no information with regard to the intention of the United States to compensate traders. "The question of these claims," the speaker said, "is under consideration by the British Government and will not be lost sight of."

Hon. Mr. Harty Endorsed.

Kingston, May 13.—A meeting of Catholic Liberals in this city last night endorsed Hon. William Harty as Ontario Commissioner of Public Works and pronounced the coming Catholic Liberal convention in Toronto as uncalled for.

INVADING PROVINCIAL RIGHTS.

Finance Minister Fielding Gets Into Trouble With Mr. Hardy.

Toronto, May 13.—The Provincial Government is objecting to the fraternal society bill of Hon. Mr. Fielding, now before the Dominion House, on the ground that the Federal Government is improperly extending its powers in the case of loan companies, insurance companies and incorporated companies of all kinds. The legislative committee of the Canadian Fraternal Association has presented a protest to the Ontario Government, through Hon. J. M. Gibson, and has asked that pressure be brought to bear to prevent any further action being taken on the Fielding bill as Ottawa at present.

He Saved Red Tape.

The late Senator Morrill of Vermont, was as careful of the public property as if he bought and paid for it out of his private purse. He always carefully untied and saved the piece of red tape that came around his mail, in consequence of which his room was the only committee room that never made a requisition for tape.

KIDNEY CURE

There are three conditions:
When the blood is poor;
When more flesh is needed;
When there is weakness of the throat or lungs.
There is one cure: that is Scott's Emulsion.

It contains the best cod-liver oil emulsified, or digested, and combined with the hypophosphites and glycerine. It promises more prompt relief and more lasting benefit in these cases than can be obtained from the use of any other remedy.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.

Trousers this year will have more of the peg-top effect than in the past season. From 18 to 19½ inches is the correct measurement at the knee, and about 16 inches at the bottom. These measurements are not only for trousers for business suits, but for both evening and day dress suits as well.

In evening dress suits the swallow-tail and the Tuxedo will both be worn, although the swallow-tail is considered the proper garment by the fashion makers. The changes noted in the swallow-tail are a less length and a longer and lighter roll, with a somewhat more tapering skirt. For trimming cording and cord binding will be used. In a few, however,

IT'S TOO RISKY

To undergo an operation for itching Piles when Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is a surer, cheaper, easier way to cure.

Cruel, barbarous methods belong to the dark ages of the past. There was a time when a surgical operation was considered the only possible cure for piles. Not so now. Occasionally there is still found a physician who adheres to this dangerous and expensive method, but to every one who still believes in using the knife, ninety and nine recommend the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. C. M. Harlan, writing in The American Journal of Health, said:

"We know that 'Dr. Chase's Ointment' meets all the requisitions of the highest standard of worth, that it will be held in high esteem wherever it is used, and consequently we endorse it to every reader."

By force of merit alone Dr. Chase's Ointment has won its way into this wide, wide world, until it has made the name of Dr. Chase familiar in almost every home, and won for the venerable discoverer the title of "America's Greatest Physician."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has never been known to fail as a cure for piles. It matters not whether blind, itching, bleeding or protruding, Dr. Chase's Ointment is an absolute and perfect cure.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is the discovery of the author of Dr. Chase's Recipe Book, whose portrait and signature is on every box of the genuine. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW

Insurance Protection.

Commenting on the recent deaths of Gleeson White, a famous art critic, and of Harold Fredric, a celebrated novelist and correspondent, who, it was found, had made no provision for their families, and, indeed subscriptions had to be made for their relief, the Insurance Press says:—

"One would not suppose that it is necessary nowadays to urge on business men the benefits to be derived from life insurance, but the unfortunate conditions referred to are very suggestive."

The guaranteed income policy introduced by the Sun Life of Canada, is the most modern development in life insurance, and in the opinion of many comes nearer to perfection than any form of contract which has preceded it.

This policy provides for the payment of the sum assured in twenty equal annual installments and as much longer as the beneficiary may live. In this way a much larger fixed income is guaranteed than would be obtainable from the investment of a similar sum paid on an ordinary policy. The wife has also the advantage of the absolute security which a strong and prosperous institution like the Sun Life of Canada affords. This policy makes absolute provision for the beneficiary.

LETTER NO. FIVE.

LONDON—(Continued).

HOUSES OF PARLIAMENT, ST. MARGARET'S CHURCH, WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

The Houses of Parliament or New Palace of Westminster, which together with Westminster Hall, form a single pile of buildings have been erected since 1840. The previous edifice was burned down in 1834. This stately pile is probably the largest Gothic edifice in the world, and in its symmetry and composition no less than in its imposing proportions is a not unworthy home of the Mother-Parliament of the world.

It covers an area of over eight acres, presenting to the Thames a frontage of almost one thousand feet and contains eleven courts, one hundred staircases, one thousand and ten apartments and two miles of corridors. Three millions sterling have been expended upon it, and the most rigid economist will hardly allege that the sum, vast as it is, has been ill spent.

One of the finest features of the pile is the Victoria Tower, the loftiest and largest square tower in the world, with a magnificent archway sixty-five feet high. It is seventy-five feet square and to the top of the pinnacle is three hundred and thirty-six feet high. Small as it may look from below the flagstaff at the top is one hundred and ten feet high, and at the base three feet in diameter, and the flag is sixty by forty feet. Through this tower the Queen enters on the opening and prorogation of Parliament. The clock tower at the north end, next to Westminster bridge, is three hundred and eighteen feet high. The large clock has four dials each twenty-three feet in diameter, and it takes five hours to wind up the striking parts. A light in the clock tower by night and the Union Jack flying from the Victoria Tower by day indicate that the House is sitting. The great bell of the clock tower, popularly known as Big Ben, weighs no less than thirteen tons. It is heard in calm weather over the greater part of London. The imposing river front of the edifice is adorned with statues of the English monarchs from William the Conqueror to Queen Victoria, with armorial bearings and many other enrichments.

Although so costly a national structure, some serious defects are observable; the external stone is gradually crumbling away beneath the gnawing tooth of the great edax rerum, and the building stands on so low a level that the basement rooms are said to be lower than the thames at high tide.

The impression produced by the interior is in its way no less imposing than that of the exterior. The tasteful fitting-up of the different rooms, some of which are adorned down to the minutest details with lavish magnificence, is in admirable keeping with the office and dignity of the great monument of England's free constitution.

Let us enter and pass through the principal rooms. At the south we first pass through the Queen's Robing room, a handsome chamber adorned with beautiful fresco paintings, representing the virtues of chivalry, and enter the Royal or Victoria gallery, through which the Queen, issuing from her Robing room, proceeds in solemn procession to the House of Peers to open or prorogue Parliament. The sides of this room are adorned with large frescoes in water-glass; on the left, Death of Nelson, and on the right, Meeting of Blucher and Wellington after Waterloo.

The Prince's Chamber comes next, in which there is a group in marble by Gibson, representing Queen Victoria enthroned, with allegorical figures of Clemency and Justice.

Two doors lead from this room into the House of Lords, which is sumptuously decorated in the richest Gothic style. This oblong chamber is ninety feet in length and forty-five feet high and broad. The floor is almost entirely occupied by the red leather benches of the members. The twelve fine stained-glass windows contain portraits of all the kings and queens of England since the Conquest. Eighteen niches between the windows are occupied by statues of the barons who extorted the Magna Charta from King John. The very handsome wall and ceilings, decorated with heraldic and other emblems combine to make it one of the most gorgeous legislative halls in the world. At the south end of the hall, raised by a few steps, is the magnificent throne of the Queen. On the right of it is the lower throne of the Prince of Wales, while on the left is that intended for the Sovereign's consort. At the sides are two large gilt candelabra.

The celebrated woolsack of the Lord Chancellor, a kind of cushioned ottoman, stands in front of the throne, almost in the centre of the hall. I accidentally on purpose tripped and sat down on this, and the "Peeler" didn't do a thing but look cross. At the north end of the chamber, opposite to the throne, is the Bar, where official communications from the Commons to the Lords are delivered. Above the throne on either hand are seats for foreign ambassadors and other distinguished visitors.

Passing through the Peers' lobby and corridor we enter the spacious Central hall. Round the handsome mosaic pavement runs the inscription (in the Latin of the Vulgate), "Except the Lord keep the house, their labor is but lost that build it."

We next go through the Commons' corridor and lobby and reach the House of Commons. Those who enter here for the first time are struck with wonder at the limited size of the chamber, considering that the number of members is now six hundred and seventy. It accommodates four hundred and seventy-six. It is very substantially and handsomely fitted up with oak panelling in a simpler and more business-like style than the House of Lords. The ventilation of the House is effected on a peculiar system. The fresh air is introduced through the floor, which is of perforated iron, and drawn out through the roof. Beneath the floor is a wide chamber into which the air passes from the sheltered quadrangles, traversing muslin and sprays of water, and, in time of fog, cotton wool, so that it travels upward free from dust and other impurities. The seat of the Speaker is at the north end of the chamber, in a straight line with the woolsack in the House of Lords. When the Queen from the throne commands her faithful Commons to attend her in the House of Peers all the doors are thrown open, and Her Majesty can see the Speaker in his chair awaiting the expected summons. The mace lies in front of the Speaker's table on the Clerk's table. The Division lobbies are on each side of the Commons' chamber. The "ayes" retire to the right of the Speaker and the "noes" to the Speaker's left.

Returning to the Central hall, we turn to the right into St. Stephen's hall. It occupies the site of the Royal Chapel of St. Stephen, given at the Reformation to the House of Commons for their deliberations. This was the scene of the great events of English Parliamentary history from the reign of Edward VI. to the passing of the first Reform Bill. The white marble statues commemorate the most distinguished statesmen, whose eloquence echoed within walls which were to defy decay and fire till 1834. Among them are Burke, Fox, Lord Chatham, his son Pitt, and the Irish orator Grattan. A broad flight of steps leads hence through St. Stephen's porch to Westminster hall.

The new Palace of Westminster, though magnificent, is deficient as yet in the charm which resides in association. This belongs only to Westminster hall which has been incorporated into the Palace, and is its only ancient and, therefore, its most interesting part. The hall was begun by William Rufus in 1097. In 1398 Richard II. caused it to be remodelled and enlarged, supplying it with a new roof. It is one of the largest halls in the world with a wooden ceiling unsupported by columns. Its length is two hundred and ninety, breadth sixty-eight and height nine-two feet. The roof is considered a masterpiece, both in point of beauty and constructive skill.

It now forms a vestibule to the House of Commons, and the Lords and Commons pass every day through a thoroughfare glorious alike in structure and historic renown.

Here sat the Courts of Law from the time of Edward I. to 1736. In this hall the English monarch down to George IV. gave their coronation festivals; here Charles I. was condemned to death; and here a few years later Cromwell was saluted as Lord Protector. Within eight years afterwards the Protector's body was dragged from its resting place in Westminster Abbey and thrust into a pit at Tyburn, while his head was exposed on the pinnacle of this same Westminster Abbey, where it remained for twenty-five or thirty years, when a high wind carried it to the ground.

Many famous historical characters were condemned to death in this hall, including William Wallace, the brave champion of Scottish liberties; Sir John Oldcastle; Sir Thomas Moore; the Protector Somerset; Sir Thomas Wyatt; the Earl of Essex; Guy Fawkes; and the Earl of Strafford. Among other notable events transacted here was the acquittal of the Seven Bishops, who had been committed to the Tower for their opposition to the illegal dispensing power of James II.; and the acquittal of Warren Hastings, after a trial which lasted seven years.

The last public festival held in Westminster hall was at the coronation of George IV., when the King's champion in full armor rode into the hall and, according to ancient custom, threw his gauntlet on the floor, challenging to mortal combat anyone who might dispute the title of his Sovereign. Mr. Gladstone's coffin lay here in state for two days before his interment (May, 1898).

A tablet on the east wall marks the position of the archway which formed the chief access to the House of Commons 1547-1600. It was through this archway that Charles I. passed to arrest the Five Members in 1642. A tablet on the steps marks the spot where Charles I. stood during his trial, and a third tablet near the middle of the floor shows where Strafford stood during his trial.

Lastly, we descend into St. Stephen's crypt, an elaborate piece of architecture, richly decorated with painting and gilding. Its low site saved it from the fire of 1834. It was in the staircase leading to this crypt that the miscreant in 1885 hid the infernal machine which would have wrecked this lovely relique of old days, and brought down the south end of the great hall, had not a brave policeman carried it into the hall, where it exploded in the open space.

The Victoria Tower is approached by the open space known as Old Palace yard, where Chaucer lived and died. Ben. Jonson also died in a house here. Here the conspirators of the Gunpowder Plot suffered death. Here in 1618 Sir Walter Raleigh was led to execution on Lord Mayor's day, and said as he playfully touched the axe, "This is sharp medicine, but it will cure all diseases." In front of the Palace stands the equestrian statue of Richard Coeur de Lion.

On the west side of Westminster hall stands St. Margaret's church. This is the especial church of the House of Commons, which, down to 1858, they used to attend in state on four days in the year, as then prescribed in the Prayer Book. With the exception of the Abbey and St. Paul's it has the oldest foundation in London, having been founded by Edward the Confessor. Here both Houses of Parliament, with the assembly of divines and the Scots Commissioners met in 1643, and were prepared by prayer for taking the Covenant.

Sir Walter Raleigh is buried beneath the altar. A window at the west end in his memory was presented in 1882 by American citizens, for which Lowell wrote the inscription:

The New World's sons from England's breast we drew
Such milk as bids remember whence we came;
Proud of her past, wherefrom our future grew
This window we inscribe with Raleigh's fame.

At the same time the printers and publishers of London presented a window in memory of Caxton, who is buried in the churchyard, for which Tennyson wrote the inscription founded on Caxton's motto, "Fiat Lux."

In the now ruined churchyard one has some difficulty in recalling its association with the poet Cowper while he was a Westminster boy.

"Crossing St. Margaret's churchyard late one evening, a glimmering light in the midst of it excited his curiosity, and instead of quickening his speed and whistling to keep up his courage the while, he went to see whence it proceeded. A grave digger was at work there by lantern light, and just as Cowper came to the spot, he threw up a skull which struck him on the leg. This gave an alarm to his conscience, and he reckoned the incident as among the best religious impressions which he received at Westminster." — Southey's Life of Cowper.

Parliament square in front of St. Margaret's is decorated with statues of famous Prime Ministers—Canning, Peel, Palmerston, Derby and Beaconsfield.

At the north-east angle of the Houses of Parliament the river is spanned by the beautiful Westminster bridge. From it is obtained one of the grandest views in Europe—the noble river front of the new Houses of Parliament on one side, and St. Thomas' hospital and Lambeth Palace with its memories of Cranmer and the Lollards on the other. Along the river side on the left bank towards the east extends the Victoria Embankment as far as Blackfriars' bridge. The Embankment cost £2,000,000, and within its gardens contains Cleopatra's Needle. Above on the right bank is the Albert Embankment, extending from Westminster bridge to Vauxhall bridge. Few visit the bridge early enough to see the view towards the city as is described in Wordsworth's fine sonnet beginning:

Earth has not anything to show more fair;
Dull would he be of soul who could pass by
A sight so touching in its majesty;

WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

Six centuries and a half have passed since Henry III. piously raised the many-clustered shafts and pointed arches of the present Abbey of Westminster. Rude has been the treatment of them during the last half of this period, yet they still point high to heaven in undiminished grace

BURNS' MEMORIAL.

Proposed Monument to Robert Burns to be Erected in Toronto.

Subscription books are now opened and are being cheerfully and liberally signed by loyal and enthusiastic lovers of Burns—in Toronto and elsewhere—to raise funds for the erection of a handsome and artistic monument in Toronto in honor of Scotland's darling poet—Robert Burns. This will be the first monument (but not the last) to Scotia's Bard in Canada. It is confidently expected that the monument will be erected before the close of the present century—that is, next year, 1900:

"A monument to Burns we'll raise!"
Toronto Scots have said,—
Young Canada's first Cairn of praise,
To Scotland's honor'd dead!
Let grateful hearts, and willing hands,
Pay tribute to his name,
Till soon within Toronto stands
His monument of fame!

One hundred years since Burns died,
And hundreds more may roll,
Still shall he be Auld Scotia's pride,
High on her honor'd scroll;
His songs have won the human heart
Wherever shines the sun—
Great High-Priest of poetic art,
Thy work was nobly done!

They say that thou art dead—not so,
True poets never die!
But on and on their measures flow,
As boundless as the sky!
Glad songs of Hope, and Love, and Truth,
Shall never know decay—
Burns lives in an eternal youth,
While empires pass away.

His songs of Hope have cheer'd the slave
On many a dark domain,
Glad echoes roll from wave to wave,
And bids them break their chain!
"Man's inhumanity to man
Makes countless thousands mourn!"
Burns taught the Brotherhood of Man,
The tyrant laugh'd to scorn!

His songs of Love are sung to-day
On every foreign shore,
And shall with human hearts hold sway,
Till time shall be no more!
Their dove-notes mild can soothe a child,
Or play the lover's part
In court or cottage—love beguiled—
They woo and win the heart!

His songs of Truth all creeds uphold—
"A man's a man for a' that!"
An honest man's as good as gold,
An' nane can yet misca' that!
He had his faults, and so have we,
His virtues let us cherish;
His songs are sung from sea to sea—
Burns' name shall never perish!

—John Imprie.

Those Fenian Raid Medals.

The Veterans of the Fenian raid who were asked some time ago to forward their claims to the '66 medal soon to be issued by the Imperial authorities are beginning to think that the claims were among the mail matter lost in the Labrador. It was just about the time that the Labrador was lost that the claims were sent to the general commanding the Imperial forces at Halifax, who was charged with their transmission to the war office. Two months have elapsed and as nothing has been heard of the claims it is feared they went down in the ill-fated ship. If they did not the Imperial officers who are adjusting them are taking plenty of time to make their decision.

Golf.

In the absence of the regular golf editor, the following question from a beginner was referred to the turf editor for an answer: "In a game of golf is it better to fuzzle your put, or is it better to fetter on the tee?" The turf editor set his teeth firmly, stared hard at the wall in front of him a few moments, and wrote the following reply: "In case a player snaggles his iron it is permissible for him to fuzzle his put, but a better plan would be for him to drop his guppy into the pringle and snoddle it out with a niblick."—Chicago Tribune.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it, he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. 50 cents and $1.00. For sale by James Lynch, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough; every bottle guaranteed.

REVIEWS.

Among the good things crowding the pages of McClure's for May is the opening chapters of a novel of present-day American life, by a new writer, Mr. Booth Tarkington, of Indianapolis. The story is pronounced by those who have read it in manuscript as fresh and absorbing in plot and remarkably pleasing in its atmosphere and spirit. The magazine also claims another series of C. D. Gibson's Egyptian sketches and more of Hamlin Garland's gold-trail poems. It will also contain another of John A. Hill's striking railroad stories.

Readers of good fiction, and they are many, will be interested in "Princess Nadine," by Christian Reid, the complete novel in the May issue of Lippincott's Magazine, which appeals strongly to every lover of romance. The introduction of the Russo-American Princess at the Mi-Careme and Battle of Roses at Nice, where she is fittingly framed by a pink-tinted sea-shell of roses, and where she is seen for the first time by a wealthy Central American, who is to influence her after-life, surely compels attention. The story can be said truly to be among the best work of this popular writer.

Two Men Lost Their Lives.

Trenton, Ont., May 15.—Four men named Elias Weeks, Edward Chase, John Fitzgerald and Gilbert Bonter were crossing in a sailboat from Weller's Bay, near Consecon, to Sneake's Point, near Brighton, yesterday morning, when the boat capsized, throwing the four men into the water. Fitzgerald and Bonter were both drowned. Weeks and Chase were clinging to the boat when found, but Weeks is still unconscious, and there are very little hopes as to his recovery. Chase is alive, but in a very exhausted condition. The accident took place about seven miles from Trenton.

Site Chosen for Buffalo's Big Show.

Buffalo, May 15.—Final action was taken on Saturday regarding the selection of a site for the Pan-American exposition, when the directors unanimously selected what is called the Rumsey site. HARCOURT AFTER ROSEBERY.

English Liberal Leaders Have Got Into a Hot Wrangle.

Lord Rosebery's Speech on the 5th May Started It—Sir William Vernon Harcourt Followed It Up With a Virulent Reply, and Now It Looks as Though the War Will Be a Very Bitter One.

London, May 15.—Lord Rosebery's speech before the London Liberal Club on May 5, in the course of which he expressed a wish for the revival of the old Liberal spirit, has proved an oratorical apple of discord of the first order. It has elicited a virulent reply from Sir William Vernon Harcourt in a speech before the Devonshire Club, which has been the political sensation of the week. Sir William's speech bore witness to the bitterness of the duel for the leadership of the Liberal party between himself and Lord Rosebery and to the pent-up personal feeling of the speaker against Lord Rosebery, who was responsible for his temporary effacement. In the course of Sir William Vernon Harcourt's speech, he declared that Lord Rosebery's words were tantamount to the advice, "take a sponge and wipe out the glorious inheritance which Mr. Gladstone left the party before his ashes are cold." The Liberals have taken up the cudgels in behalf of Lord Rosebery and talk to Harcourt very straight. The Speaker calls his interpretation of Lord Rosebery's words "a most absurd and malicious falsification of his meaning, and the worst example in recent years of downright misrepresentation." The British Weekly says: "Harcourt's attack was grossly unjust and slanderous, and only to be accounted for by a rancor of hatred amounting almost to madness."

Other mouthpieces of the Liberal party insist that Lord Rosebery, in urging a return to the Liberalism of 1886, did not mean a change of program, but a return to the party discipline and cohesion that existed in the halcyon days of Liberalism.

Harcourt Will Speak.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt yesterday announced that he will speak to his constituents on May 24. His utterances are awaited with the keenest interest, and another speech in his best fighting style is expected. Meanwhile the Conservative press interprets Rosebery as Harcourt does, and in some quarters the opinion is expressed that Rosebery's utterances are nothing less than a direct bid for Mr. Joseph Chamberlain and a prelude to Rosebery identifying himself with the Liberal-Unionists.

The Sun says that Lord Rosebery's abandonment and his explicit acceptance of the Liberal-Unionist program might, in the event of a Conservative victory at the next elections, possibly be marked by the offer and his acceptance of Cabinet rank.

BE READY TO TAKE THE FIELD.

Transvaal Burghers Have Received Such Instructions From Commanders.

London, May 15.—The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Mail says:

"At a meeting of the commandants on the western border of the Transvaal yesterday (Saturday), instructions were issued to the Burghers to prepare to take the field at a moment's notice from Pretoria.

"The negotiations are still pending for the proposed meeting between President Kruger and Sir Alfred Milner (Governor of Cape Colony and British high commissioner for South Africa). Mr. Chamberlain, British Colonial Secretary, it is said, will not assent to the conference unless the Transvaal Executive pledges himself to initiate bona fide reforms."

RUSSIA'S DEMAND REFUSED.

Chinese Government Declines to Grant the New Railway Concession.

Shanghai, May 15.—The Tsung Li Yamen (Chinese Foreign Office) has replied to the Russian Minister at Pekin, M. de Giers, that the Government is unable to accede to the Russian demand, made last Wednesday, for a new railway concession, connecting Pekin with Russia's present system in Manchuria. Not since the taking of Port Arthur by Russia have the Chinese been so agitated as over this demand. The concession asked for would ruin the existing northern railways, in which British capital to the amount of £2,000,000 is involved; but there seems to be no alternative route without interfering with plans for railway extension which the Chinese have in mind.

Is This Britain's Scheme?

London, May 15.—Twelve million dollars is the sum paid annually in Great Britain for cablegrams to British colonies and America. There is a scheme to connect all existing land lines, by which it is thought this outlay could be reduced 75 per cent. By building a short line across Afghanistan a complete land line can be established between London and Bombay at 11c a word cost, as against $1 by cable. Only 850 miles of land line is necessary to connect London with Melbourne.

RUSSIA PERSECUTING JEWS.

Orders That They Shall Not Remain in St. Petersburg.

The Measure Was Promulgated on Saturday—Even French Jews Prohibited—Serious Outbreaks at Nicolaieff, in Which Hundreds of Jewish Homes Were Wrecked—400 of the Rioters Arrested After a Tussle With Cossacks.

London, May 15.—The Russian Government has decided upon exceptional measures against the Jews, doubtless owing to the intense feeling against them prevailing in many parts of Russia at the present time.

The first anti-Jewish measure was promulgated on Saturday, under which the stay of all—even foreign—Jews is prohibited in St. Petersburg. No exemption will be made, even in the case of French Jews. There have been serious outbreaks against the Jews at Nicolaieff in connection with the Easter festivities of the Greek Church. The Jews there number 30,000, out of a total population of 100,000. The rioters, who were mostly laborers, numbered 5,000. They wrecked hundreds of Jewish houses and shops, desecrated Jewish graves and killed and injured a large number. About 400 of the rioters were arrested after several furious conflicts with Cossacks, several of whom, it is reported, were stoned or beaten to death with heavily-weighted slings, with which the rioters attacked the police.

MARCHAND TO BE LIONIZED.

His Expedition Achieved a Great Feat in Cross-Country Travel.

Paris, May 15.—Patriotic Frenchmen are preparing to give Major Marchand a reception such as even Napoleon never received on returning from Egypt. He will arrive when France is at fever-heat over the Dreyfus case, and there are strong indications that the military party is anxious to use the commandant as a pawn in their political game.

The expedition is reported healthy. It is a remarkable performance, since the French flag was hauled down at Fashoda, on Dec. 11, to cross the Abyssinian tableland eastward to the coast. In the earlier stages the expedition was aboard the gunboat Faidherbe and other small boats. It was an enormous task to drag them over the sandbanks and the rapids of the Baro, an affluent of Sobat, which flows into the Nile near Fashoda. Leaving the river, the heavy material had to be transported by mules. The mission reached Addisaba on March 31, and rested there. It is expected at Jibutil on May 17, where Governor Martineau has made great preparations to welcome Major Marchand. The cruiser D'Assas has been at Jibutil since April 16, and will convey Major Marchand to France.

SAYS HE CURED CONSUMPTION.

Italian Scientist Claims to Have Invented a Gas That Will Do It.

Rome, May 15.—Prof. Cervello, at the Palermo Hospital, has invented what he claims is a cure for consumption. The principal feature of the cure is the inhalation of gas produced by a powerful antiseptic called formalina. Cervello says he has tried the method on 20 consumptives in the third stage of the disease in the Palermo Hospital. Two died from debility before the cure could operate; 13 recovered within a month, and five are fast recovering their health. A factory for the manufacture of formalina is being erected. Treatment is expected to cost $10 a day. Prof. Cervello will shortly go to Berlin to lay his discovery before the Berlin Congress on Tuberculosis.

Sounding France and Germany.

Paris, May 15.—The Eclair learns that Lord Salisbury is sounding France and Germany with a view to ascertaining if they would abstain from intervention if England found it necessary to take active measures against the Transvaal. The Eclair believes that France will give the required guarantee and that the Kaiser will also promise neutrality.

Filipinos Attacked Spaniards.

Madrid, May 15.—An official despatch from Manila says the insurgents attacked the Spaniards at Zamboanga, on the Island of Mindanao, but were repulsed. Two Spanish officers and three men were wounded and one man was killed. The insurgents cut the water supply at Zamboanga.

TESTIMONIALS

Allisten, March 1st, 1898.

I have had one of your "Crematory Closets" in use now for several weeks and am glad to be able to say that I have found it entirely satisfactory in every respect. I have not been able to detect the slightest odor from it at any time and would not be without it. I am sure it must prove a great convenience to people in the country and in towns where water is not obtainable.

I have used it for some time and find it perfectly odorless. It is a long felt want and I believe it will become very popular especially in rural districts, towns and villages where wells are so frequently contaminated by the ordinary closets. I am, yours, etc.,

MEN OF INDEPENDENT MIND.

No wonder Mr Costigan and other men of independent minds refuse to follow such leaders. After the next general election there will be no Tories left in Canada except a few old sore heads.—Hamilton Times.

Our Grit contemporary is cutting it in rather rich slices. We always imagined it was the "sore heads" who deserted a party, and those who stood firmly by their principles through success and through adversity are not usually looked upon as "sore heads." Those who remain true to their Conservative principles will not be "sore heads" by any means, but will be the ones who have had politics and have been identified with a party as a matter of principle and patriotism.

But look at the Times' man's first statement that," other men of independent minds refuse to follow such leaders." Well, that is rich! It is too good to be passed over coming from a Grit newspaper that fiercely condemned the protective tariff of the Tory Government, but, when the Laurier combination were forced to adopt that Tory tariff, swallowed its independence and said nothing. In fact such Liberals as McMullen and Cartwright and the others who pretended to be fighting Tory policy on principle and who stood for and demanded decreased expenditure and reduced taxation have all swallowed their independence and have accepted the increased expenditure, the increased taxation and the tariff simply because they were fathered by the Liberal Administration. If these men, these old-time Liberals, had possessed a spark of "independence of mind" they would never have sat in silence while the Laurier-Tarte combination violated every pledge made to the people and cast to the winds the principles and policy which they had advocated before the people. The Times is unfortunate in referring to "men of independent minds," for they are not to be found among the men who talked so loudly and condemned so fiercely what they now accept in silence, and the Times man is among the number.

A comment noticed the other day on the "flop" made by Mr Costigan is appropriate in connection with the Times' reference. The Events, of Ottawa, remarked that it was more consistent for Mr Costigan to support the present Administration than it was for the old-time Liberals to remain in the Liberal ranks. The obedient and subservient Grit majority who accepted all the present rulers gave them regardless of old promises and former principles should never even whisper about "men of independent mind."

ONE OF "INDEPENDENT MIND."

Mr. McMullen's list of reforms ran as follows:—

1. A reduction in the salaries of the Governors.
2. The Ministers to be reduced in number and their salaries to be dropped from $7,000 to $4,000.
3. A million to be saved in the Civil Service.
4. Six millions to be saved all round.
5. No member of Parliament to be appointed to office.
6. Free trade and low taxes.

The hon gentleman has not introduced one of these measures, although he was very earnest about reform No. 2.

All we have from him is a bill which says that any employee who shall ask for or accept any extra remuneration other than a permanent increase in his salary shall be held to have thereby vacated his office, and this is merely to create places for the faithful.—Mail and Empire.

THE burglar-proof bank vaults do not seem to bother these cracksmen any more than the locks and bars of Napanee gaol bothered Pare and Holden.

Sothern, the comedian, was extremely sensitive to interruption of any sort. Seeing a man in the act of leaving his box during the delivery of one of the actor's best speeches, she shouted out: "Hi, you, sir, do you know there is another act?" The offender was equal to the occasion, however; he turned to the actor and answered cheerfully: "Oh, yes—that's why I'm going!"

Something About the Lucky Men and Their Works.

The list of new nominations to the Legion of Honor, published in The Journal Officiel, contains the names of three well-known men of letters—Georges Courteline, Francois de Curel and Georges d'Esparbes. Courteline is an author who may be strongly recommended to such English readers as are not already acquainted with the "Gaities de l'Escadron" or the "Rounds-de-Cuir." Among living French "funny" writers he is almost alone in possessing humor, a quality very rare on this side of the Channel, for which, as is well known, no exact equivalent exists in the French language. As regards his style and the extraordinary keenness of his observation he has much in common with Guy de Maupassant; indeed, he might not inaptly be described as a more jovial Maupassant. He has written several short plays, which it is no exaggeration to say are masterpieces, and if a really great comedy of manners is to be produced by the present generation of French dramatists it will probably be by Courteline. It may interest those who remember The Figaro in its palmy days to mention that Georges Courteline is the son of Jules Moinaux, whose incomparable legal reports won unique journalistic triumph.

M. Francois de Curel is a dramatist whose specialty is the writing of "interesting plays that are never a success." He is one of those happy authors—he is very rich—whom everybody is agreed to credit with genius. All his plays have been heralded as masterpieces, and unanswerable excuses have been found for the failure of each of them. One of the young lions brought out by the famous Theatre Libre, he has so far given just sufficient evidence of his powers to make it possible that he will one day deserve the reputation he already enjoys.

Georges d'Esparbes is a novelist of whom it would be easy to write illnaturedly were it not that to do so is impossible, as he is one of the men who can make no enemies. The mildest and meekest of men, he revels in gore. He babbles of battles, and on nearly every page of his books somebody is slain. The fact that he is an officer in the reserve may, perhaps, account for much. Still, for people who like bloodshed and deeds of derring-do, he is the author tout indique, and it must not be denied that there are vigor and real literary quality in all his volumes—"La Guerre en Dentelles" in particular.

JAMES M. MACLEAN, M.P.

The Imperial Commoner Who Repudiates His Party.

James Mackenzie Maclean, the member of Parliament for Cardiff, who dramatically repudiated his own party in the House of Commons the other week and openly joined the Liberals, is noted for his fearlessness and contrariness in Parliament. He is a son of the great clan of his name. His father was Alexander Maclean. For many years Mr. Maclean lived in India. He is a fellow of the Bombay University, a former chairman of the Bombay Town Council, and editor of

He was elected to the Commons from Cardiff in 1895, the first Conservative to be returned from that district in above 40 years. Mr. Maclean's 65 years of life have not in the least dashed the ardency of his bold Scotch spirit.

Jail Officials Got a Scare.

Winnipeg, May 15.—Gusczak, the condemned Galician murderer, who is to be hanged a week from Friday next, gave the jail officials a scare yesterday. When they went to his cell in the morning it was empty. The murderer had sprung the lock. He was in hiding in the jail building, however, and was soon secured.

The probability is that Czuby, the other Galician murderer, will be reprieved, as he shows signs of insanity, and is supposed to have been a mere instrument in the hands of the other murderer.

NINE LIVES LOST.

Coal Schooner Foundered in Lake Superior—Only the Captain Saved.

Sault Ste. Marie, May 15.—The schooner Nelson, deeply laden with a cargo of coal, foundered in Lake Superior, off Grand Maris, on Saturday night. So far as known here no one escaped except the captain.

The crew consisted of the following: Captain Andrew Haghney of Toledo, the captain's wife and 2-year-old child, Fred. Haas, sailor, residence unknown; six sailors, names unknown. Where she sank there is 300 feet of water. She went down head first.

Lady Minto's Trip.

Montreal, May 15.—Lady Minto and party reached here on Saturday from Quebec and left last evening for Kingston. His Excellency, with Lady Minto and family, will occupy Lord Strathcona's residence here during the Queen's Birthday celebration in this city.

BOWMANVILLE BURGLARY

Further Particulars of the Daring Robbery.

The Proceedings Were Very Sensational—The Town Watchman Was Handcuffed and Gagged, and Three Doors Were Blown Up—The Midnight Mechanics Were Rewarded With $11,000 in Cash for Their Trouble—No Clue.

Bowmanville, May 15.—The Standard Bank, on the corner of King and Temperance streets, the business center of the town, was burglarized on Saturday morning between 2 and 3 o'clock, and all the money in the vault, excepting the coppers, was stolen, with a number of valuable papers.

Henry Metcalf, the nightwatchman employed by the Town Council to patrol the business streets, had just finished taking his lunch in the police office in the Town Hall block, only about 50 yards from the bank corner, when he heard footsteps on the sidewalk, and went to the door to see who was passing. As he stepped from the police office door to the street he was seized by two masked men, one on each side of him, and his arms raised from his sides to prevent his reaching his pocket for his revolver. He was pushed back into the office and the baton wrested from his hand by a blow from some instrument that inflicted a gash on the back of the head, now badly swollen. Metcalf was then blindfolded by a third party with an ordinary white linen handkerchief, and gagged by another similar handkerchief.

Threatened to Kill.

When his arms were first seized two other men stood, one on each side of him, with revolvers pointed to his head, and he was told that "if you open your peep we will shoot you." They took from his pocket a pair of handcuffs, and, placing his hands behind him, handcuffed him, and he was then marched by the two men towards the bank. Before he was gagged Metcalf said: "Boys, is this a game?" thinking it might be some local sports playing a trick on him. One promptly answered, "No, it's business; we are going through the bank." He was taken a few steps south of King street, beside the bank, and his legs tied with a piece of rope that apparently had been part of a clothes line.

Five in the Job.

One man stood by him as he sat on the sidewalk with Metcalf's revolver, which they had taken from him, in hand, while the others, at least five in number, proceeded to do the job. A large pane of glass was cut with a die from a west window and an entry secured to the manager's office. The front door was pried open. Very soon he heard an explosion, the men having run on to the street by the front door. They immediately returned to the building and in a few minutes there was another explosion. The burglars had now secured entrance to the inside vault, where they rifled the contents of several boxes, some belonging to the manager and others to customers who had placed them there for safe keeping. Before the third explosion, which blew open the massive safe, Metcalf was moved a few yards farther south so as to be away from danger should the walls be blown out. This explosion, like the others, was very successful, and it was the work of only a few minutes to secure the contents.

$11,000 Gone.

The amount of money stolen is over $11,000 belonging to the bank, and $90 to the Canada Life Insurance Company, for which Mr. W. J. Jones, the manager, is agent; $110 belonging to the Queen Fire Insurance Company, both of which were in a private pouch. Many valuable papers are also missing, receipts, drafts, etc.

When the burglars got through with the job, which lasted only about 30 minutes, two of them carried Metcalf into the bank, laid him on the matting on the floor, and left him there gagged and bound. He soon began shouting, but not till about 5 o'clock was he discovered by Frank J. Garrett. Chief Richard Jarvis was soon on the spot and removed the handcuffs, and Mr. Metcalf was once more at liberty.

All is Speculation.

The bank robbery has been discussed on all sides and many theories advanced. Some think the safe-crackers had an accomplice staying here for some time. Others think they have spent a night or two in the town in the guise of tramps. Certain it is that their movements show evidence of the familiarity with police regulations and how to carry their scheme to a successful issue with the least disturbance.

A J. & J. Taylor safe was ordered shipped and placed in the Standard Bank vault on Saturday. When the new safe was being removed from the station the wagon was crushed by the weight, and William Rowe had one foot badly crushed.

Government Detective Rogers returned home to Toronto late Saturday, and confessed that he could not find the slightest clue to work on.

A reward of $2,500 will be paid for the recovery of the money, and $2,500 for the arrest and conviction of the thieves.

HE CLAIMS THE ROYAL CITY.

Samuel A. Connor, a Barber, Will Sue for the Site of Guelph.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 15.—Samuel A. Connor, a barber, living at Brachurn, will enter suit in the Hamilton (Ontario) Division Court next month and lay claim to nearly all the site of Guelph, a town of 15,000 inhabitants. Connor's brother, William, will join in the suit.

Their grandfather, John Connor, was an early settler in Canada, and a British soldier during the war of 1812. For service rendered the Government 800 acres of land were allowed him. At the time of his death, more than 50 years ago, none of these tracts were valuable, and his son, John, jr., who left home at an early age, did not return when his father died, and was thought dead. The land was thought to be without owners, and squatters settled upon it. It is now occupied largely by the city of Guelph. It is the sons of John who have undertaken to recover the estate.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

There is talk of raising $100,000 for Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Rubens' "Holy Family" was sold at auction in London on Saturday for £8,200.

On Sunday a fire in the Paris Chamber of Commerce partially destroyed the building.

George Stevens of Peterboro sold $2,500 worth of junk in Toronto last week. He says old rubbers are worth $5 a hundred.

The body found at Colchester, Ont., on Friday morning has been identified by papers found upon it as that of Charles Warner of Cleveland.

Bishop Howley of St. John's, Nfld., preached on the "Authority of the Catholic Church" at St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto, on Sunday night.

The bodies of William Holgate and David Maddock, who were drowned last week in the Moira River, near Belleville, were recovered on Saturday night.

Bertha Bellstein, who has been on trial for the murder of her mother, was acquitted at Pittsburg, Pa., the jury rendering a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.

Annie Wolliver, alleged to be from Canada, was alleged to have stolen a lot of goods from a Buffalo departmental store on Saturday. She was fined $10 by Judge King for the alleged theft.

It is said in Vienna court circles that Princess Elizabeth, the 16-year-old daughter of the late Crown Prince Rudolph, is betrothed to Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir apparent, 20 years her senior.

Emperor William has sent an invitation to dinner to Baron Deschmidt, a member of the Reichstag and formerly a soldier in the French army. It is hinted that the Kaiser's attention indicates an Imperial flirtation with France.

A peculiar accident happened to Miss Maggie Bronson of Hamilton on Saturday. She yawned too hard and was unable to close her mouth afterwards. Immediately she fainted away from fright. Doctors performed a minor operation and she is now all right.

While Oliver A. Johnson of Seaford, Del., was fishing for sturgeon in Delaware Bay he felt a mighty tug at his line. He wrapped the line around his arm and started to pull in, but was drawn from the boat by the monster fish, and did not reappear.

G. R. Birt, the absconding chairman of the Mill Wall Dock Company, London, Eng., who disappeared last February, leaving a shortage in his accounts of $1,900,000 and who was recently apprehended in London, was on Saturday found guilty of embezzlement. Birt is 70 years old and has 18 children. Birt was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment.

A farmer named Jack Hayes, who was struck by the Gatineau Valley train on Saturday, had had a drop or two. The passengers and train officials were debating whether to get Hayes taken home or carry him on the train to Aylwin, ten miles, where the nearest doctor was, when the victim rolled over, staggered unaided to his feet and with an affable grin remarked, "Gee, what yer making shish fush about me fur, anyway."

Rev. Dr. Briggs Ordained.

New York, May 15.—Rev. Dr. Charles A. Briggs, who was found guilty of heresy by the Presbyterian Assembly, was yesterday morning ordained a priest of the Episcopal Church.

The work of a farmer's wife is never ended. But it is wholesome, enjoyable, productive work that is pleasurable if the farmer's wife is a well woman.

The work becomes weary drudgery when the woman is sick. The work drags and the woman's pride is hurt. Her ambition is to do as much and better work than her neighbors. It is a distinct triumph if her butter is generally regarded as the finest in the county. But fine butter and bad health don't go together.

Mrs. W. J. Kidder, of Hill Dale Farm, Enosburg, Vt., writes to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.: "During the past year I found that I was to become a mother and that I was in rapidly failing health. I suffered dreadfully from bloating, and urinary difficulty. I was growing perceptibly weaker each day and suffered much sharp pain at times. I had to give up my work and I felt that something must be done. I sought your advice and received a prompt reply. I followed your directions and took twelve bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also followed your hygenic instructions. I began to improve immediately, my health became excellent, and I could do all my work (we live on a good sized farm). I walked and rode all I could, and enjoyed it. I had a short, easy confinement and have a healthy baby boy."

The one medicine that gives prompt and sure relief is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a tonic and purifier that works on one special set of organs and puts them in a perfectly vigorous, healthy condition. It quickly soothes inflammation and stops debilitating drains on the system. Taken regularly during the period of gestation it greatly lessens the pain and danger of childbirth.

Although sweet to the taste it contains no sugar which often disagrees with weak stomachs; nor does it contain any alcohol, or opium in any form, and therefore does not induce a craving for stimulants. Keeps perfectly in any climate.

THEATERS IN PARIS.

ALL ARE AT THE MERCY OF PIRATICAL TICKET MONGERS.

These Agents Are In League With the Society of Dramatic Authors and Composers, and the Latter Rule the Theaters With a Rod of Iron.

The great abuse that the theater going public in France has to put up with is the ring of piratical ticket agents who buy up nearly all the good seats whenever there is a popular piece running and at once double or quadruple the prices, owing to their successful corner, which, in consequence of vested interests of various sorts, the law is powerless to prevent. These ticket mongers lie in ambush near all the leading theaters and are frequently in league with the "buralistes," or women who, from time beyond memory, have sold places at the regular ticket offices of the theaters.

When asked about the system of selling tickets at the Paris theaters, Mme. Sarah Bernhardt replied: "I have tried in vain to find some way of suppressing the ticket mongers, but this is impossible in France unless the matter be taken up by parliament. The chief obstacle is the Society of the Dramatic Authors and Composers, which is a monopoly and rules all theatrical managers with a rod of iron. It makes contracts with each manager, specifying the amount the society shall take, which is usually 15 per cent of the gross receipts. If the manager refuses to sign the contract, no plays by members of the society can be performed at his theater. This would close his doors, because every dramatist in France is a member of the society. All this bears directly on the sale of tickets.

The contracts between the different managers require that the author whose work is produced shall be entitled to 100 francs' worth of tickets, in addition to two dozen seats placed at his disposal for the first and second performances. Besides this, every author who has one act produced at a theater is entitled to one free seat at the theater for every performance during one year, no matter whether it be his own play that is given or the play of some one else. The author who has four or five acts played at a theater is entitled each night to a free seat for five years. Six acts entitle the author to a free entrance for life. The dramatist who has 10 acts produced at any theater has a right to two free entrances each night for his lifetime, with reversion after death to such third person, also for life, who may be named by will.

"You can imagine," continued Mme. Bernhardt, "how terribly hampered a theatrical manager is in Paris, especially when it is remembered that the assistance publique takes each night for the Paris poor one-eleventh of the total gross receipts. But the worst of it is that the authors usually transfer the tickets secured to them by the Society of Dramatic Authors and Composers to the ticket mongers or other agents, who sell them at the highest price obtainable. This I consider a real grievance and explains the impossibility of doing away with the ticket mongers. I think the Society of Dramatic Authors is to blame for this."

As M. Victorien Sardou was listening attentively to this conversation, and as he is the president of the Society of Dramatic Authors and Composers, the writer asked him to express his opinion on the subject. The prince of French playwrights replied: "The tickets and free entrances accorded to French dramatic authors with hereditary reversions constitute vested interests that have accumulated for generations, and to do away with them would be an impossible task. Years ago, when I was just old enough to go to the theater, it was not so bad as it is now. In those days there was a famous theatrical hairdresser to whom all the dramatic authors handed over their tickets to be disposed of, and from whom they often borrowed money. He got the whole business into his hands and founded the present community of ticket mongers. I quite agree with Mme. Sarah Bernhardt that it would be impossible to make any change at present."

The explanations given by Mme. Sarah Bernhardt and M. Sardou will enable an American to understand why it is that when he presents his ticket at the entrance of a Paris theater it is not glanced at hastily by a single gateman, as in New York, but is critically examined by three grave officials. One of these is the ticket taker of the theater; another is the government envoy, who verifies the gross receipts, so that the assistance publique may get its one-eleventh, and the third is the agent of the Society of the Dramatic Authors and Composers. Convenient features of all the Paris theatrical ticket offices are small plaster and wood models of the auditorium, with each seat distinctly numbered, so that the purchaser can see at a glance the position of his seat.

The ushers and cloakroom attendants at Paris theaters, as well as the ticket sellers at the ticket office, are invariably women. The cloakroom women take charge of overcoats, cloaks, umbrellas, etc., for which they give in return a round wooden numbered check. During the last "entr'acte" they will, if so requested, return the garments to the occupants of the boxes or stalls, so that time may be gained in putting them on and leaving the theater. It is a peculiar custom for men to wear their hats at Paris theaters while the curtain is down. They are always immediately removed, however, as soon as the curtain rises in deference to the performers. The programmes are sold at the theaters for 25 centimes (5 cents) apiece and contain well executed portraits of the authors, actors and actresses, with little scraps of biography, and frequently with short historical sketches of the theater itself.—New York Tribune.

James Brown is rich and stingy. An acquaintance of his met Brown's son the other day. "Your father seems to have lost a good deal of money lately. The last time I saw him he was complaining and saying he must economize."

"Economize! Did he say where he was going to begin?"

"Yes, on his table, he said."

"Then he must be going to take away the tablecloth," was the filial declaration.—Exchange.

In a Trice.

Many persons use the phrase "in a trice" who have no conception of its meaning. A trice is the sixtieth part of a second of time. The hour is diluded into 60 minutes, the minute into 60 seconds and the second into 60 trices, or thirds, from the Spanish tris.

Improved the Opportunity.

Peter Foote, long since dead, used to be a police magistrate in Chicago. Foote was intensely Irish and loved to show it.

One day a dudishly attired young fellow calling himself Frederick Edwards, and plainly betokening by his speech that he hadn't been long from the shores of England, was arraigned before the justice charged with lounging about the parks. When he was arrested, he showed fight and had to be dragged to the patrol box.

"'E 'urted me feelin's badly, your worship," said the prisoner when in the dock the following morning. "'E 'it me on the sole of me fute an'"—

"I don't think you've any feelings in your soul," growled the sympathizer of downtrodden Ireland. "And, another thing, you must remember you're in America now. In England you object to an Irishman wearing the green. Here we object to Englishmen lying on it; $1 and costs." And the justice pinched himself to look unconcerned while the Briton begged the clerk to cut the fine down to a "bob."

A Trap of Her Own Setting.

We have all met people whose pride in their own possessions is so great that they can see no charms in those of others. A young botanist was showing a party of ladies and gentlemen through a conservatory and explaining to them the properties of some of the choicest plants. Among the visitors was a would be young looking, middle aged lady who at every description volunteered the statement that the plants and flowers she had at home were quite the equal of anything here or indeed anywhere.

Just as they were passing a giant cactus she was heard to exclaim:

"Well, this is nothing extraordinary. I have a cactus at home that is still larger. I planted and reared it myself."

"Reared it yourself?" the professor gently observed. "How remarkable! This specimen is 62 years old, and if yours is still larger"—

The lady did not stay to hear any more, but executed a strategic movement to the rear.

His Mother's Son.

"My niece Mary was always a well meaning girl, but she would say the wrong thing almost every time," said one old gentleman to another, "and she's got a boy that's going to be her very counterpart."

The old gentleman's eyes twinkled, and his ugly, good natured face was puckered with enjoyment as he drew from his pocketbook a small sheet of note paper.

"I sent Hal a toy monkey that plays all kinds of pranks when it's wound up," said he, chuckling. "Now you listen to this letter of thanks I got from him. He's just 8 years old:

"DEAR UNCLE NED—I am delited with the munkey, thank you. He makes me think of you very often. And whenever mamma winds him up, and he begins to jump, mamma and I feal as if we were back at your house where all those toys are, and mamma will look at the munkey and say, 'That's your Uncle Ned all over.' Goodbye from your greatfull

"HAL."

SLEEPING IN THE DARK.

Pain Seems Hardest to Bear When the Sufferer Is Alone.

All who have suffered from toothache know to their sorrow that the pains increase as the night grows older. A toothache which during the day interfered but little with our enjoyment of life is likely to develop during the hours of darkness into a veritable terror, that makes us curse the accident of our birth. It is the same with an earache, asthmatic troubles, etc. Asthma is most likely to develop into a smothering nightmare between the hours of 10 p. m. and 6 a. m.

At the Vienna university Dr. Goldscheider has told the reason in a paper read before his class. He thinks the darkness prevailing in the average bedroom is at fault. Light, he says, plays a greater part in the pathology of aches than most people imagine. Those are, generally speaking, the healthiest members of the human family who live in sunlit, well aired rooms and who move about in the sun as much as practicable.

If in daytime we are stricken with pain, our sufferings are certainly less, relatively speaking, than they would be if the malady had seized us at night, for light and sunshine soothe our feelings and do not allow us to abandon ourselves to the feeling of pain.

When night comes, the painful sensations increase. They are bearable as long as we are in the gas or lamplight, but become intense the moment we stretch out in bed, enveloped by stillness and darkness. A lessening of the pain is observable only after sunrise.

"What does it mean?" asks the doctor. "That darkness and stillness are not conducive to the comfort of sick people. Therefore I say, if you have pains in the evening, do not rob yourself of the soothing effects of a lamp. In ninety-nine out of a hundred cases the presence of a light in the sickroom alleviates pain.

"For the same reasons do not let your children sleep in the dark if they prefer a light. The denial of a night light has made children ill with heart disease. If children refuse to sleep in the dark, it may be assumed that there is some physical or mental reason for it which we ought to respect.

"From the above rules nervous people are exempt. Some of them absolutely refuse to find rest until all is quiet and dark about them. I have found that in cases of megrim, a neuralgic pain in one side of the head, nothing would do but to place the patient in an absolutely dark and still room, if possible at the top of the house. I advise that people suffering from sick headache should interrupt their day's work and take themselves for a quarter of an hour to a darkened room proof against noises. Nature has put two great remedies in our hands—light and darkness. Sufferers should find out for themselves which best agrees with them."

Not Quite Satisfactory.

A dog belonging to a west side family has the sociable habit of visiting throughout the neighborhood. During a recent wet spell the dog went over to a next door house and "tracked" mud all over the front porch. The woman of the house was indignant. She sent word that the dog was a nuisance. The woman who owned the dog was offended. She resolved to make the complaining neighbor ashamed of herself.

"Mary, you take a bucket of warm water and a brush and go over and scrub Mrs. Brown's front porch," she said to the servant girl. "Make it cleaner than it has been in a year."

The girl did as she was ordered. Mrs. Brown stood in the front door and watched her, not at all abashed.

"That's very nice," she said when Mary had finished. "Now come around and begin on the back steps."

She kept the girl at work for two hours, and now there is a deadly feud.—Chicago Record.

Free Medical Treatment For Weak Men

Who are Willing to Pay When Convinced of Cure.

A SCIENTIFIC combined medical and mechanical cure has been discovered for "Weakness of Men." Its success has been so startling that the proprietors now announce that they will send it on trial—remedies and appliance—without advance payment—to any honest man. If not all that is claimed—all you wish—send it back—that ends it—pay nothing.

No Lower Prices

Anywhere in our field. We are not to be undersold. No one has any right to undersell us. No one can buy more cheaply than us. Cash selling puts the key of Cash buying in our hands. That joined with our knowledge of the markets, etc., gives us every possible advantage.

We have no percentage of bad debts to distribute among our customers, no burdensome charges for bookkeeping or collecting.

We buy at bed-rock prices, we sell with a shaving of profit added—just enough to make it good for us to be in business, and good for you that we are in business.

Oftener than not you will find our prices lower than any others within your reach. They've a right to be. Our way of doing business fixes that. You pay close Cost for your goods and just the little more that pays us for handling them.

We will hope to deserve your trade.

DOG OWNNRS TAXED.

A Number Who Failed to Take Out Tags Pay Costs Extra.

Dog owners who neglected to pay their tax by May 1st, as by law ordained, are now contributing increased sums towards the civic revenue. At the Police Court this morning there were four or five such offenders. One was fined $2 and costs, while the others paid 85 cents each as costs for the privilege of being allowed to pay the tax. The police are acting vigorously in this matter. There was no other business at the court.

A COMMERCIAL FLOTILLA.

A Queer Craft That Passed Through the Locks on Saturday.

On Saturday evening Lockmaster Collins was surprised at the sight of one of the oddest outfits in a marine way that struck the vicinity of the locks for some time.

A Fraserville dealer came to town and made some considerable purchases of general goods and among other things a barrel of coal oil. This oil he evidently had learned he could not ship by passenger train and he could not wait for a freight on Monday. He determined to Klondike it down the river. In a grip he had brought some tools and he went about and got some lumber and in a couple of hours had knocked up a rough punt, built on the lines of a cheese vat. Daylight could be seen through the bottom boards, but that did not seem to count. He appeared at the locks about five o'clock with the box on one cart and a load of goods on another. He put the queer craft into the drink to swell, as he said, and rolled the barrel of coal oil into the stream and took a turn or two about it with a couple of plow lines.

He packed eighteen loaves of bread, a bag of corn meal, a chest of tea and a lot of assorted dry groceries into the wet punt and hitched onto the coal oil barrel and got it in tow, using a paddle to propel the outfit. An hour after he settled down to work he was still in sight working for all he was worth and making speed at the rate of about three miles per day, and singing "A Life on the Ocean Wave." The barrel of oil drew about 19 inches of water showing the bung hole and a trifle of stave above the surface. Occasionally the barrel would swing to one side and the motive power would pitch in and get things square again. People on the shore supposed that the lone fisherman had captured some kind of a sea serpent and was taking it home for keeps.

There is no use talking this great waterway, the Trent Valley canal, is bound to have its influence in bringing these railroads to time.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

Items of Interest Gathered From the Different Congregations

CHARLOTTE-ST.

Rev. Mr. Crossley preached at the Charlotte-st. church yesterday. At the evening service Mr. M. A. Sorsoliel gave a practical address to young men. The choir rendered the anthem "How Long Wilt Thou Forget Me O Lord!" at the morning service, with recitative by Mr. A. L. Davis and an alto solo by Mrs. Pearse. As an offertory the choir sang "Home at Last." The shading was particularly good. At the evening service the chorus singing was excellent. Two anthems were rendered. "Saviour When Night Involves the Skies," was sung with baritone solo by Mr. A. L. Davis and Miss F. Hall took the soprano solo in "He Shall Feed His Flock." As an offertory "Our Father God," was sung by the choir. The duet by the sopranos and tenors was very pleasing.

ST. LUKE'S.

Mrs. Morris rendered the sacred song "Paradise," as an offertory piece in St. Luke's church last night. Mrs. Morris is well known in Peterborough and many of her old friends and acquaintances were present.

Next Sunday being Whit Sunday, will be observed as a festival in St. Luke's. Yesterday morning Rev. Mr. Symonds explained the significance of the day. There will be two celebrations of the Holy Communion, at 8 and 11 a. m. respectively. In the morning the sermon will be on the subject of Christian Unity, and in the evening the annual flower service will be held.

The choir held their second meeting at Mr. Davis' residence, 217 London-st., last Thursday. There was a good attendance and an enjoyable evening was spent. A set of rules was drafted by Mr. Davies for the guidance of the members, and after a few slight alterations was unanimously carried. It was decided that the choir should henceforth meet in the school house and enter the church in a body. Yesterday there was a marked improvement in the singing which was rendered with much heartiness at both services.

Rev. H. Symonds will address the Deanery of South Simcoe on "Christian Unity," to-morrow evening at Cookstown. Ministers of other churches have accepted invitations to be present. On Wednesday morning he will give a devotional address at the Communion services, and afterwards read a paper on "Unity," to the clergy alone.

The last meeting of the Synod committees, prior to the annual session of the Synod, will be held in Toronto this week, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, when the reports for the Convening Circle will be drawn up. The report of the committee on the increase of the Episcopate will recommend that the diocese of Toronto be divided, but that for a period of years after the division the missions of the two diocese be managed by a joint

SEVERELY INJURED IN A RUNAWAY

MR JOHN STEWART, OF OTONABEE, SUSTAINS SERIOUS INJURY.

The Bridle Broke While he was Driving and the Horses Ran Away—Other Members of the Family Escape Injury.

Mr. John Stewart, of Otonabee, a well known citizen of the township, residing about nine miles down the river road, met with an accident in a runaway yesterday from the effects of which he may not recover. A number of the members of the family were driving home from attending church at Springville when the bridle of one of the horses broke and a runaway ensued. The pole of the carriage broke and the horses fell on the road. Mr. Stewart, who was driving, was thrown out, falling heavily on his head and shoulder. He was rendered unconscious. Dr. Boucher was down last evening and found his condition quite serious as he was suffering from a severe concussion of the brain and had lost all power of movement of his right side. The doctor was down again this morning and though Mr. Stewart appeared to have rallied somewhat and was able to move his side he was still unconscious and his condition is regarded as critical. The runaway occurred on the boundary road, not far from the residence of Mr. Hugh Waddell.

DANGER OF FIRECRACKERS

Some Urchins Nearly Cause a Runaway on George-st.

Shortly after noon to-day as the Chief of Police was going up George-st. he noticed some boys setting off the urchin's joy, firecrackers, near the corner of George and Dublin-sts. A couple of ladies were coming along at the time and a runaway was almost caused by the horse becoming frightened at the explosions. The Chief confiscated the blank ammunition. Boys are warned against playing with firecrackers on the streets or lanes of the town as they are liable to punishment.

TRAIN DELAYED.

Slight Accident to a G T R Freight Near Jackson Park.

A train on the G T R met with a mishap near town yesterday. A long string of empty box cars bound for the west left the Grand Trunk yards yesterday afternoon about 3.30 o'clock, and when just above Jackson park the coupling between the tender and the first car broke. The air brakes went on instantly and in the jar the drawheads of several of the cars came out or were damaged. The train was got together again and the cars were run back to the yards here to be put in shape.

DEATH OF MR A V R YOUNG

Apoplexy Was the Cause of His Sudden Demise at Yonkers.

Mr W F Johnston, who went to Yonkers, N Y, to be present at the enquiry made into the death of M A V R Young, formerly of town, and arrange for the funeral, returned home Saturday night.

It appears that the deceased had been resident at Yonkers, N Y, since the 31st of January, and had been boarding at the Wyannstay hotel. On the morning of May 9th, about 6.15 o'clock, Mr Young called a bell boy to his room and asked him to send Mr Strong, the proprietor, to him as soon as he came downstairs. About 7 o'clock when Mr Strong came downstairs he was given the message and went to Mr Young's room, and found him lying on his bed, partly dressed and dead.

A coroner's inquest was held at which the facts given above were brought out in evidence. A post mortem examination was also made, and the medical men who made this examination pronounced apoplexy the immediate cause of death.

The jury returned a verdict of death "from apoplexy superinduced by Bright's disease."

The remains were interred at Yonkers.

The Douro Picnic.

The Douro picnic will be held on June 22nd this year. For the benefit of the picnic Mr Owens donates a pump valued at $6, Mr Peter Hamilton a plow valued at $13, and Mr Fair a lady's silk cape valued at $27.50. Don't forget the date, June 22nd.

Wheeling

The spring handicap road race of the C. G. E. Bicycle club will be held on the afternoon of Saturday, May 20th. The course will be up to Nassau and return, leaving the corner of Smith and Water-sts. and finishing on the Nicholls park track, a distance of seven miles. Entries will be received up to 6 o'clock p. m. on Thursday, 18th, by the Secretary, Mr. Good, or any other officer of the club. Entry fee is 25c. The race is open to members of the club only.

—The tent caterpillars are coming out of the nests in swarms. The bark of the trees in many parts of the town is covered with them.

—Business on the railroads is picking up considerably.

Lacrosse.

Ottawa Free Press:—The Capital Lacrosse club seem to be in a bad way. Three weeks have elapsed since the first practice was called and during that time only five men who can lay any claim to senior rank were at the grounds. Last night's practice, which was considered to be a very important one, was not attended by a single senior player. The executive will likely step in and form a team of juniors. Harry Westwick was the only man of last year's team who was on the playing grounds, and he contented himself with throwing the ball from the unoccupied end of the field. He was not in uniform. Position has been offered Westwick in the Government Printing Bureau, and he will likely remain in Ottawa, and be out to practice on Monday night.

Brevities.

—Kingston is to have a new theatre.

—There was quite a heavy frost last night and the night before.

—Lawn mowers are coming into popular use again after the winter.

—The Marks Bros.' Dramatic company arrived in town at noon to-day.

—Chief Roasel wants an owner for a key found on George-st. near Antrim. It was made by the Miller Lock Co., Philadelphia.

—There will be a meeting of clerks and others interested in the early closing the movement at the National hotel to-morrow evening at eight o'clock.

—George-st. Methodist Sunday school will hold its annual excursion to Juniper Island, Stony lake, on July 6ts. They will go to Lakefield by train and then take the steamer Sunbeam to the Island.

—The safe at McNeil's store, Keene, to rob which an attempt was made on Friday night last, is still out of order and all attempts to open it have been unsuccessful. Mr. James English went down to the village to-day to try his skill.

—The Children's Aid Society has for adoption three children, two girls, one fifteen, the other eleven years of age, and a boy twelve years old. All exceptionally bright and interesting children. The Society is at present in urgent need of boys' clothing.

—Belleville proposes to have an "old boys" day, when the Belleville boys who are scattered all over the world will be gathered home, as far as possible, and hold a great re-union. The idea is all right, and no doubt in the hands of a committee of Belleville's enterprising and live citizens will be made a success.

—The siding from the C. P. R. track to the works of the Matthew's Co., along Wolfe-st., is now almost completed and ready for use. The ties have been laid on the course from both ends and it is expected that the junction will be made on the west side of George-st. and a ballast train run over to-morrow.

—New pulp mills are likely to be built near Ottawa. Mr. J. L. Whitcomb, of New York, recently visited Ottawa, and in company with several local capitalists, looked over various possible sites for new pulp mills. Mr. Whitcomb was acting on behalf of several newspaper publishers in the United States, and Montreal capital was also represented.

CURTAIN RAISERS.

Charles G. Craig is to star in "Shore Acres" next season.

Marie Tempest is to star in "The Green Carnation" in London.

Madeline Bouton, now the Baroness Nimptsch, declares that she has retired from the stage forever.

A San Francisco writer is moved to remark, "Nance O'Neill will some day wear Sarah Bernhardt's crown."

Augustus Thomas has completed a new play entitled "Arizona," which will be produced in Chicago early next season.

Augustin Daly has bought for this country Paul Hervieu's "The Law For Men," and Eleanora Duse will play it in Italy.

Ida Conquest has been assured of the leadership in one of Charles Frohman's regular companies in New York next season.

Otis Skinner is shortly to appear in an adaptation of "Le Cheminean," from which Beerbohm Tree took "Ragged Robin."

The new Casino production in New York is called "In Gay Paree." It includes a burlesque forecast of next year's World's fair.

Ellis Proctor Otis, the popular actress, is a first cousin of General Otis, the military commander of the United States forces in the Philippines.

It has been discovered in England that Squire Bancroft's title, "What Will the World Say?" which he gave to his new play, is rather an old one, having been used as far back as 1841.

Ellen Terry appeared recently in the costume of Queen Catherine in a platform entertainment. She recited the trial scene, taking also the parts of Henry VIII and the cardinal. She wore the costume of the latter.

It is announced that Mary Marble will star next season in a piece called "A Queen of the Night." Miss Marble, however, has announced her intention of resting throughout the whole of the next season, and so the matter stands.

A matter of Home Discipline.

A child should never be discussed within his own hearing. Unfortunate is that family where the little ones learn that they may appeal successfully from one parent to another or where upon one falls the onus of every necessary denial or reproof, while the other stands sponsor for every pleasure and indulgence. Let us spare no secret effort as parents to appear a unit to the child. — Elaine Goodale Eastman in Woman's Home Companion.

The first duel known to have taken place upon American soil occurred in 1680, when Edward Doty and Edward Leister, servants of a New England colonist named Hopkins, fought over some trifling matter with swords. Neither was seriously injured, but both were severely punished by the provincial authorities.

LOST MAN'S LANE

A SECOND EPISODE IN THE LIFE OF AMELIA BUTTERWORTH

BY ANNA KATHARINE GREEN

AUTHOR OF "THE LEAVENWORTH CASE," "BEHIND CLOSED DOORS," "THAT AFFAIR NEXT DOOR," ETC., ETC.

COPYRIGHT, 1899, BY ANNA K. ROHLFS.

But William had a word to say for himself.

"Miss Butterworth," said he, "you're a right good sort of woman, as Saracen has found out, and we, too, in these last few plaguy days of our trouble here. But I'm not such a bad lot either, and if I do like my own way, which may not be other people's way, and if I am sometimes short with the girls for some of their d——d nonsense, I have a little decency about me, too, and I say I will fix these grounds, and out of my own money too. Now that nine-tenths of our income does not have to go abroad we'll have chink enough to let us go respectable once more in a place where one horse, if he's good enough, will give a fellow a standing and make him the envy of even those who for some other pesky reasons may think themselves called upon to hoot him. I don't begrudge the old place a few dollars, especially as I mean to live and die in it so look out, you three women folks, and work lively as you can on the inside of the old rookery or the dickness of the outside will put you to open shame, and that would never please Lorena, nor, as I take it, Miss Butterworth either."

It was a challenge we were glad to accept, especially as from the number of persons we now saw come flocking into the lane it was very apparent that we should experience no further difficulty in obtaining any help we might need to carry out our undertakings.

Meantime my thoughts were not altogether concentrated even upon these pleasing plans for Lacetta's benefit. There were certain points yet to be made clear in the matter whose termination still lay heavy on my heart, and there was a confession for me to make, without which I could not face Mr. Gryce with all that unwavering composure which our peculiar relations seemed to demand.

The explanations came first. They were volunteered by Mr. Gryce, whom I met in the course of the morning at Mother Jane's cottage. She had been perfectly happy all night, sleeping with the coin in her hand and waking to again devour it with her greedy but loving eyes. As we were looking at her and Mr. Gryce directing with his hand the movements of the men who had come to smooth down her garden and make it presentable again the detective spoke.

"I suppose you have been wondering how this old woman came to have those mementos of the crimes which took place up there. Well, we have figured it out thus: The trinket from the peddler's pack she probably stole from that pack before it was found by the villagers and given up to the proper authorities. The other, the ring, has a different history, and the finding of it in Mother Jane's possession can only be explained by a series of causes so bizarre that they must ever rank as among the most remarkable that have ever adorned the annals of our police register. Should I give it out as a puzzle you could never answer it. How could a ring which was on the finger of Mr. —— five minutes before he vanished from the light of the sun forever pass from the mouth of that old well into Mother Jane's hand a half mile away without compromising Mr. Trohm in the eyes of mortal man, or even Mother Jane, who was as innocent of wrong in this as we are? You cannot tell. You might quote Scripture and say, 'A bird of the air carried it.' But, Miss Butterworth, you would never believe the truth of your own words, and yet that was the very way it was done—a bird of the air carried it. In those days—it is three months ago now—Mother Jane kept two tame pigeons. They slept on her house top, they ate from her hand and they flew sometimes as far away as Mr. Trohm's garden. One day a young man, equipped for traveling, paused for a glass of water at the famous well there while these pigeons were picking up corn which Mr. Trohm had scattered for them, for his tastes are confined to the cultivation of fruits and flowers, but extend to dumb animals, to whom he is uniformly kind. The young man wore a ring, and being nervous was fiddling with it as he talked to the pleasant old gentleman who was lowering the bucket for him. As he fiddled with it the earth fell from under him, and as the daylight vanished above him the ring flew out of his up thrown hand and lay, the only token of his now blotted out existence, upon the emerald sward he had but a moment before pressed with his unsuspicious feet. It burned—this ruby burned like a drop of blood in the grass when that demon came again to his senses, and being a telltale evidence of crime to him who had allowed nothing to ever speak against him of these matters, he stared at it as at a deadly thing directed against himself and to be got rid of at once and by means which by no possibility could recoil back upon himself as its author.

"The pigeons stalking near offered to his abnormally acute understanding the only solution which would leave him absolutely devoid of fear. He might have swung open the lid of the well once more and flung it after its owner, but this meant an aftermath of experience from which even he shrank who delighted in the thought that the victims he saw vanish before his eyes were like something wiped out by a sweep of the hand. To see or hear them again would be to this notion. He preferred the subtler way and to take advantage of old Mother Jane's characteristics, so he caught one of the pigeons (he has always been able to lure birds into his hands), and tying the ring around the neck of the bird with a blade of grass plucked up from the highway he let it fly and so was rid of the bauble which to Mother Jane's eyes, of course, was a direct gift from the heavens through which the bird had flown before lighting on her doorstep."

"Wonderful!" I exclaimed, almost overwhelmed with humiliation, but preserving a brave front. "What invention and what audacity—the audacity of a man totally irresponsible for his deeds, was it not?" I asked. "There is no doubt, is there, about his being an absolute maniac?"

"No, madam." What a relief I felt at that word! "Since we entrapped him yesterday and he found himself fully discovered he has lost all grip upon himself and filled the room we put him in with the unmistakable ravings of a madman. It was through these I learned the facts about the ring and the pigeon."

I drew a deep breath. We were standing in the sight of several men, and their presence there seemed intolerable. Unconsciously I began to walk away. Unconsciously Mr. Gryce followed me. At the end of several paces we both stopped. We were no longer visible to the crowd, and I felt I could speak the words I had been burning to say ever since I saw the nature of Mr. Trohm exposed.

"Mr. Gryce," said I, flushing scarlet—which I here solemnly declare is something which has not happened to me before in years and if I can help it shall never happen to me again—"I am interested in this which you say because yesterday, here in the open road, Mr. Trohm proposed to me, and"—

"You did not accept it?"

"No. What do you think I am made of, Mr. Gryce? I did not accept him, but—I made the refusal a gentle one, and—this is not easy work, Mr. Gryce," I interrupted myself to say with suitable grimness—"the same thing took place between me and Deacon Spear, and to him I gave a response such as I thought his presumption warranted. The discrimination does not argue well for my acumen, Mr. Gryce. You see, I want no credit that I do not deserve. Perhaps you cannot understand that, but it is a part of my nature."

"Madam," said he, and I must own I thought his conduct perfect for the occasion, "had I not been as completely deceived as yourself I might find words of criticism for this possibly unprofessional partiality. But when an old hand like myself can listen to the insinuations of a maniac and repose, as I must say I did repose, more or less confidence in the statements he chose to make me, and which were true enough as regarded plain fact, but wickedly false and preposterously wrong as regards their suggestion, I can have no words of blame for a woman who, whatever her understanding and whatever her experience, necessarily has seen less of human nature and its incalculable surprises. As to the more delicate matter you have been good enough to confide to me, madam, I have but one remark to make. With such an example of womanhood suddenly brought to their notice in such a wild as this, how could you expect them, sane or insane, to do otherwise than they did? I know many a worthy man who would like to follow their example." And with a bow that left me speechless Mr. Gryce laid his hand on his heart and softly withdrew.

THE END.

Again?

A young English attache of the legation in Washington remarked to an American belle some years ago: "I am really sorry that the Bering sea affair is not likely to be amicably adjusted, for of course, with our superior navy, we could just wipe you off the face of the earth."

She replied with one word, "Again?"—Christian Register.

THE COLOR OF SNOW.

Why It Is Generally White, but Sometimes Red.

The white color of snow is the result of the combination of the different prismatic rays issuing from the minute snow crystals. Pounded glass and foam give analogous illustrations of the prismatic colors blending together and forming the white light out of which they had been originally formed. The air contained in the crystals intensifies the whiteness of the snow. The snow, from its loose texture and the fact that it contains about ten times its bulk of air, is a very bad conductor of heat, and thus forms an admirable covering for the earth from the effects of radiation. It not infrequently happening in times of great cold that the soil is 40 degrees warmer than the surface of the overlying snow.

The apparent redness of snow as seen from a distance is often an effect of light which adds a peculiar charm to mountain and winter landscapes, particularly in the mornings and evenings, when the rays of the sun fall most obliquely on the surface of the snow. But snow is occasionally found both in polar and Alpine regions of a really red color. This phenomenon seems to have been observed by the ancients, as a passage in Aristotle apparently refers to it, but it attracted no attention in modern times till 1760, when Saussure observed it in the Alps and from chemical experiments concluded that the red color was owing to the presence of some vegetable substance, which he supposed might be the pollen of a plant.

The next observations on red snow were made in the arctic expedition under Captain Ross, when it was found extending over a range of cliffs on the shore of Baffin's bay for eight miles, the red color penetrating the snow in some places to a depth of 12 feet. On the return of the expedition in 1819 the coloring matter as then existing in the melted red snow was subjected to careful examination by Robert Brown and by Francis Bauer, the former most eminent botanist pronouncing it to be produced by a unicellular plant of the order algæ. Baron Wrangel afterward declared it to be a lichen and called it Leprasia kermesina. But Dr. Greville of Edinburgh, who obtained specimens from the Scottish island of Lismore, on further examination returned to the opinion of Brown, an opinion which has since been fully confirmed, and the plant is generally known by the name Protococcus nivalis.

THE HIGH DIVE.

How the Thrilling Circus Act Is Safely Performed.

"About the first thing I teach my pupils," said a trainer of circus gymnasts, "is how to fall. That, you know, is the secret of the great 'head dive' from the roof, which remains up to date the greatest invention in the way of gymnastic tricks that the world has seen."

"It looks almost too perilous to be interesting," I ventured.

"But it is not in the least dangerous, if one only knows how to fall," he continued. "Now, if the untrained performer should attempt to fall in a net from any height whatever, he would be almost sure to break some bones. Should he stretch out his arm to save himself he would be very likely to break it in two places. Should he light on his heels he might break his leg, or, more likely, pitch forward and break his jaw. But just fill your lungs with air and hold them full, double yourself up into a knot, leaving no limb free, and fall on the back of your shoulders just above the shoulder blades, and you can fall from what height you like and come to no hurt. This explains the cannon and catapult tricks.

"Why, once we attempted the catapult trick in a hall where the roof was so low that we had to sink the catapult below the floor. The gymnast forgot all about having his net lowered a corresponding distance, and, when shot 150 feet forward and upward at the same time, didn't he come down underneath the net and land slap bang on his shoulders on the bare floor! We picked him up for dead. You may hardly believe me, but it had only knocked the wind out of him and shaken him up a bit. The next night he was performing as usual. That just shows what the muscles of the shoulders, together with an elastic cushion of air in the lungs, will resist. Then, of course, in the case of gymnasts the muscles become as hard as iron and furnish a great protection for the bones."

Hicks' Story.

It was in 1847 that Hicks first made a county name as a witty raconteur. In that year Sir Samuel Spry, who had been member for Bodmin since the great reform bill, lost his seat, and in a petulant mood took legal proceedings against Hicks on the ground that he had abused his official position to influence voters at the poll. In the course of the trial Hicks was called upon to state what he had to say in his defense.

In the course of his statement he asked leave of the court to illustrate his position by a story. His request being assented to, he related how a few days previously he had been to see a lad whom he knew well who was laid up from a fall from a vicious donkey, which had kicked out all his front teeth. The lad, said Hicks, had taken the matter in the most kindly way, and had said to him, "'Tian't the fall, Mr. Hicks, and 'tisn't the vally of the teeth what annoys me, but 'tis the nashty, gashly, wishous disposition of the jackass."

Sir Samuel Spry sprang up in the well of the court in a fury and exclaimed, "He has called me a jackass!" The court was convulsed with laughter, and Hicks was promptly and fully acquitted of the trumpery charge brought against him.—Cornhill Magazine.

Hogs and Cholera.

A western farmer, feeding his hogs upon the ash pile of a deserted sawmill, lost none of his hogs from cholera, while his neighbors were all losing heavily. One of his neighbors, remembering how fond hogs were of ashes and charcoal, hauled ashes and made a bed on which to do his feeding, and when cholera came again he was likewise spared from its ravages.—Indiana Farmer.

AT THE HAGUE.

The Russian Delegates to the Czar's Peace Convention Have Arrived—The Delegates Pledged to Secrecy.

The Hague, May 15.—Every available inch of space at the leading hotels here has been taken up by the delegates to the peace conference and their staffs. The conference promises to be a more strikingly remarkable gathering than it was first expected. Some of the delegates have already arrived.

The Russian Delegates.

Baron de Staal and the other Russian delegates to the international disarmament congress arrived here Saturday night, being the first of the official representatives to reach the city. About 190 delegates will be entitled to vote.

Extraordinary precautions have been taken to prevent unauthorised persons from gaining admission to the Huis Ten Bosche, where the sessions of the conference will be held.

Count Munster Will Open.

There is a general agreement among the diplomatic corps at The Hague that Count Munster will call the delegates to order and will nominate M. de Beaufort, the Dutch Minister of Foreign Affairs, as honorary president. Baron de Staal will then be elected chairman, and the Russian program will be produced.

This is the logical order of procedure, since the congress is the Czar's project, and the delegates of 26 nations have been brought together on Russia's initiative.

A Forecast.

London, May 15.—As the time approaches for the assembling of the Czar's disarmament conference the expectations of a practical outcome of any importance continue to diminish. A very simple but decisive fact justifies this view. The instructions which the delegates of all the great powers, with the exception of Russia, carry to The Hague, while, of course, secret in all details, embody a virtual prohibition against the acceptance of any radical proposal for changing the present international relationship. The policy of diplomatic machinery will remain unaltered, and the game of beggar our neighbor between European nations will probably not receive any serious check.

The general impression in diplomatic circles is that the practical work of the conference will be limited to a revision of the Geneva convention, and within these narrow limits most of the delegates will probably be glad to discuss proposals to further eliminate the unnecessary cruelties of war. Nothing whatever is now heard of the talk of a general disarmament.

A SLAP AT THE TRUSTS.

Boston Elevated Railway Saved Money by Buying in England.

Boston, Mass., May 15.—A consignment of 300 tons of steel guard rails has just arrived from London, to be used by the Boston Elevated Railroad in its construction work. The purchase was made last March.

Gen. Bancroft, vice-president and general manager, said that everything had been done by him to place the order with some firm in this country, but when he went into the market he found that the competition in these particular rails had been eliminated and that he would have to pay the price established by the trust producing them if he was to use American-made goods.

This price he considered exorbitant, and invited quotations from English makers. As a result, the contract was given to a London firm at a price considerably under that made by the domestic mills, and which admits of rails being landed here, duty paid, at a saving of 33 per cent. over the price insisted upon by the consolidated concerns.

TOBACCO SMUGGLERS SENTENCED.

They Were Tried at Rochester and Were Residents of Hamilton, Ont.

Rochester, May 15.—The Federal grand jury has been in session here during the past week before Judge Cox. Among the more important actions for the court was the hearing of John S. Johnson, Mrs. Mary Oliver and the latter's daughter, Queenie, charged with smuggling leaf tobacco over Suspension Bridge from Canada. Mrs. Oliver pleaded guilty and escaped with a fine of $50. Johnson stood trial. On being brought up for sentence, after the jury had returned a verdict of guilty as charged, Johnson made a statement admitting that it was the second time that he had been convicted of smuggling and endeavoring to exculpate the woman, but it was too late, for she had already pleaded guilty and had been sentenced. He was sentenced to two years in Auburn Prison and fined $50. The court dealt leniently with Queenie Oliver on account of her youth and dismissed the indictment against her. All the parties are residents of Hamilton, Ont.

PORT BURWELL BURNED.

Business Portion of the Village Has Been Destroyed by Fire.

Tilsonburg, Ont., May 15.—The business part of Port Burwell was entirely destroyed by fire on Friday night with the exception of Mr. Emery's store. The fire was first discovered in the rear of D. Zant's store about 10 o'block. The fire took everything before it on both sides of Main street for two blocks—the post-office, telephone office, drug store, G.N.W. telegraph office, hardware store, general stores, two hotels and several other buildings. Loss about $50,000; probable insurance, $25,000. Altogether there were 27 buildings destroyed.

BUFFALO STRIKE SETTLED.

The Men Are Said to Have Gained All They Demanded.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 15.—At 1.30 o'clock yesterday morning it was announced that the trouble between the grain shovellers and contractors had been settled and that the men would return to work this morning. The men get practically all that they struck for.

TWENTY-EIGHT KILLED.

The Injured in the Rear-End Collision on the Pennsylvania & Reading Road Number Fifty.

Reading, May 15.—Twenty-eight dead and 50 injured, some so badly that they may not recover, is the awful result of the terrible rear-end collision on the Philadelphia & Reading Road late on Friday night.

The cause of the disaster is still involved in mystery, and officials of the road are investigating, in order to place the blame. The man at the signal tower at Exeter Station claims to have had the signals properly displayed. In a statement yesterday, General Superintendent Sweigard of the Reading Railway said the prime cause of the accident was a block of freight cars on the track, which were taking a siding at Birdsboro, and which compelled the express to stop at Exeter. It is not known as yet whether a signalman was sent back to notify the special or second section.

A strange feature of the disaster was the fact that not one woman was killed, and only one was injured. Norristown is in mourning, as the greatest number of dead and injured were residents of that place.

A FATAL FAMILY QUARREL.

Frederick Wood Shoots His Wife and Then Kills Himself.

Greenwood, Ont., May 15.—A shocking tragedy occurred here about 7 o'clock on Saturday morning. Frederick Wood, his wife and family quarrelled last spring, and, as a result, he was locked up in Whitby jail for three months. Since his release he has been wandering from place to place, the family refusing to admit him to their home. He slept in the barn on Friday night, and entered the house as soon as the family had gone to work, his wife and daughter being the only ones present. He gave his watch to his daughter, then ordered her out. He then shot his wife, one bullet taking effect in the abdomen and one in the back. Thinking he had killed her, he placed the revolver to his mouth and fired, killing himself instantly. He leaves a grown-up and very respectable family. Mrs. Wood died at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning.

Is the baby too thin?

Does he increase too slowly in weight?

Are you in constant fear he will be ill?

Then give him more flesh. Give him more power to resist disease. He certainly needs a fat-forming food.

Scott's Emulsion is just that food. It will make the baby plump; increase the weight; bring color to the cheeks, and prosperity to the whole body. Thin children take to it as naturally as they do to their milk.

GOOD HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food Restores Weak, Sickly Women to Robust Health.

Any irregularities in the monthly uterine action is sufficient cause for women to be alarmed about their health. Whether painful, suppressed or profuse menstruation, the cause can be traced to some derangement of the nerves.

A few boxes of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food will completely build up the exhausted nerves and restore the regular monthly action which removes from the body the clogged matter that would otherwise cause pain and serious disease.

It is as a restorative for pale, weak women that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food has been singularly successful. It counteracts the debilitating diseases peculiar to women by feeding the nerves and creating new nerve fluid, the vital force of the human body.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food has restored scores of hundreds of weak, sickly women to robust health. 50c. a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW

Insurance Protection.

Commenting on the recent deaths of Gleeson White, a famous art critic, and of Harold Fredric, a celebrated novelist and correspondent, who, it was found, had made no provision for their families, and, indeed subscriptions had to be made for their relief, the Insurance Press says :—

"One would not suppose that it is necessary nowadays to urge on business men the benefits to be derived from life insurance, but the unfortunate conditions referred to are very suggestive."

The guaranteed income policy introduced by the Sun Life of Canada, is the most modern development in life insurance, and in the opinion of many comes nearer to perfection than any form of contract which has preceded it.

This policy provides for the payment of the sum assured in twenty equal annual instalments and as much longer as the beneficiary may live. In this way a much larger fixed income is guaranteed than would be obtainable from the investment of a similiar sum paid on an ordinary policy. The wife has also the advantage of the absolute security which a strong and prosperous institution like the Sun Life of Canada affords. This policy makes absolute provision for the beneficiary.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

Board.

Rev. John Bushell, M. A., of Keene, will be ordained to the Priesthood next Sunday week in Toronto. His services on that day will be conducted by Mr. J. J. Turner, jr.

ALL SAINTS.'

At All Saints' Church yesterday Rev Mr Armitage preached two excellent sermons. In the morning he spoke on the Ascension and his subject for the evening was the "Conquest or Temptation," the text being from 1 Cor. x. 13, "There hath no temptation," etc. The congregation was a large one. Rev Mr Armstige pointed out the certainty of temptation and the danger of the feeling of each one that his temptation was the greatest. It was really a sermon of comfort. The speaker summarized at the close by giving some direction of the "Ways of escape" from temptation.

ST. PAUL'S.

Rev Dr Torrance preached at St. Paul's at both services yesterday and was heard with pleasure by his congregation after his absence. The choral music was very pleasing, the morning anthem being the "Trisagion Sanctus" while the "Spirit Immortal" from "Attila" was given in the evening.

WEARY OF EXPERIMENTING.

With salves, suppositories and ointments and dreading a surgical operation, scores and hundreds have turned to Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment and found in it an absolute cure for piles. The first application brings relief from the terrible itching, and it is very seldom that more than one box is required to effect a permanent cure.

No Poached Eggs For Her.

There is an old lady in a charming out of the way village whose opinions of "artist chaps" and "Lunnon ways" are amusing.

On one occasion a wandering knight of the brush secured a night's lodging at her cottage.

Early next morning he was asked what he would like for breakfast.

"Oh," was the reply, "a couple of eggs will do—poached, mind you."

"Beg pardon, sir"—

"I said a couple of eggs, poached," repeated the artist in a louder tone.

The old lady stiffened her back, opened the door and pointed out into the road.

"Clear out o' my house!" she commanded. "I'd have you know as I respects my neighbor's property, and I ain't no poacher. Sich goings on may do in Lunnon, but they won't do in Loamshire."

The artist endeavored to explain, but the lady would not listen, and he did not break his fast in that house.

"Painters was allus a bad lot," were the last words he heard before she shut the door behind him, "but gettin honest fowk to poach eggs for 'em's quite a new dodge."—London Telegraph.

Kruger and Milner to Meet.

Pretoria, Transvaal Republic, May 15.—The Volksraad has given its approval to the meeting of President Kruger and Sir Alfred Milner, Governor of Cape Colony and high commissioner of South Africa, on neutral ground, at Bloemfontein. The points of decision are now being decided, and the general opinion is that the meeting will clear the air of most of the existing troubles.

Do You Mean It?

Do you really want to be rid of your rheumatism or are you only growling from habit? The straight way to be rid of rheumatism is to take Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. Mr. Thomas Simmons, of Chaffey's Locks, Ont., Steamboat Engineer, suffered with Sciatic Rheumatism for two years. Four bottles of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure cured him completely. This preparation is taken internally. 50 cents a bottle, containing ten days' treatment. For sale at all drug stores.

DAIRY OUTLOOK FOR THE SEASON

RESULT OF A TRIP IN SOME OF THE SECTIONS OF ONTARIO.

The Observations Do Not Infer any Material Change in the Price of Cheese Until Well on into the Season—Home Demand for Butter.

The outlook for the agricultural community as g'eaned from a trip through some of the leading sections of Ontario is rather mixed at present. On the one hand, prices on dairy produce, notably cheese, have opened out 2c. per pound above the figures for the corresponding period last year, and from present appearances, it seems certain that this ratio will be maintained until the end of June, if not later. In other directions, however, dwelt on later, it will be found that farmers' prospects are not by any means as encouraging as they were last spring. The influences which have operated in establishing a higher price for cheese are too well known to require any extended reference here. The most powerful have been the reduced exports from this Continent which fall short of those in 1898 by over half a million boxes. The shortage has not been in Canadian but in States' cheese, the consumption of the latter in the States increasing every year. The fact is reflected in a greater return to Canadian farmers this spring for their early makes, and it is all the more gratifying when it is borne in mind that the Canadian output for 1898 was practically the same as that for the previous year.

Many students of the cheese market expected this spring that the relatively higher prices ruling would result in an increased make of early fodder cheese as compared with last year. A recent tour by a representative of this paper of the leading districts of production shows that such an assumption is not in accordance with the facts. Taking the sections in the order of their distance from Montreal it is found that in the Brockville district the output is about 75 per cent. of what it was last year. The same proportion holds good for other sections east of Toronto, with the exception of the Belleville district, where the make of April cheese was somewhat in excess of last spring. This district, however, does not cover as large an area as the others, and its contribution to the April supply is so small as to be hardly worth consideration.

West of Toronto the April make was even lighter than it was east, as a conservative estimate places it at 3,000 boxes or 50 per cent. of what it was last year. In the whole of Canada, therefore, the yield of early spring cheese at the very outside, has not exceeded 12,000 to 15,000 boxes, as against fully 18,000 last year. The gross return to the farmers, however, owing to the higher prices ruling, despite the material reduction in the output is only about $12,000 behind that of 1898, being about $76,000 odd this spring, as against $88,000 last year. Considering, therefore, that these early goods are never under any circumstances a very desirable article, producers of cheese have no reason to complain, and may consider themselves lucky if the same relative conditions govern the market for the balance of the season.

A powerful influence in restricting the cheese output west of Toronto has been the high prices ruling for live stock. This circumstance has made it more profitable for the farmer to feed their milk to their calves and fatten up their live stock generally, than to turn the milk into cheese or butter. On the average from eight to ten car loads of calves and beeves left several important points west of Toronto weekly for Buffalo and the seaboard during March and April. Lately, however, prices of live stock have shown a tendency to relax; but, nevertheless, the influence of this condition of affairs will make itself felt for a much longer period in relation to the aggregate flow of milk in the districts in question.

Another factor that is becoming of increasing importance each year, as an influence in covering the price of dairy produce, is the steady growth in the home consumption of butter. In the days of dairy butter one pound of the article sufficed for four pounds of creamery, the latter being a more palatable article, and this proportion is being extended as the consumption of the latter is steadily expanding. In fact, when winter creameries were first started, about three years ago, all kinds of dire predictions were made that there would always be a large surplus of this winter butter carried over the spring months, when its inferior keeping quality as compared with grass butter, would have a deleterious effect on the market. The experience of the current and previous seasons proves that these forebodings were unfounded. Instead of a large surplus for export, the home consumption has more than kept pace with the increasing output of winter creamery, taking the great bulk of it, and the farmers have reaped the benefit of the withdrawal of the old-fashioned, stale, held dairy stock, and the substitution for it of a fine, fresh, palatable article. They have in a word marketed a large quantity of milk in the shape of butter during the winter months, that, under the old method, did not fetch the same return. All in all, therefore, in so far as live stock and their producr are concerned, farmers have no serious reason to complain of present conditions.

The same remarks did not hold good, however, regarding the condition of winter wheat. In all the counties bordering on Lake Erie, and in Oxford, Middlesex, Perth, in fact everywhere between Sarnia and Stratford, those acquainted with the conditions, estimate that the winter wheat crop will not range over a third of half a crop. A large proportion of the winter wheat fields are being ploughed up, and the farmers are putting in oats, corn and root crops. This will, of course, interfere with the rotation of crops, but it is better than leaving the soil to lie unproductive, as it would, if many of the wheat fields were allowed to go over until next crop.—Montreal Gazette.

A Question.

How can we raise more corn to the acher? Why, of course by using Putnam's Corn Extractor. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor has given universal satisfaction, for it is sure, safe and painless. Like every article of real merit it has a host of imitators, and we would specially warn the public to guard against those dangerous substitutes offered for the genuine Putnam's Extractor. N. C. REVIEWS.

The Designer, that well-known and always popular fashion monthly, has advanced its subscription price 15 cts. on the year, but has likewise so improved and enlarged that it is worth double the dollar now charged for it. The June issue is a credit to its publishers, both in illustration and literary work.

A paper of considerable interest to Canadians is that of Newfoundland, which appears in the May number of the Pall Mall Magazine. Newfoundland is at present the centre of interest among the North American Colonies. A picturespue account of "St. John's," the capital of the island, is written by a resident, and illustrated by many fine photographs.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at James Lynch's Drug Store as their giving away to their many customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable remedy, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases are quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size 50c. and $1.00 Every bottle warranted.

Among Hope's new romance, The Countess Emilia, beginning in the May Ladies' Home Journal, will be read with the greatest interest by its author's admirers in this country. In the very opening chapter the reader's curiosity is aroused in the liveliest possible way. The story is in Anthony Hope's characteristic vein, and carries one's interest as unwaveringly as did The Prisoner of Zenda, with which he entertained and delighted every lover of a good story well told.

According to the New York fashion letter in Harper's Bazar, the prettiest gowns of the year are the all white. It is a fad this year to wear all white or all black, and consequently there have been a great many charming materials brought forward. The Bazar in this, its May issue, gives some very full descriptions of many artistic summer gowns.

Brave Men Fail.

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents, at any Drug Store. Every bottle guaranteed.

Rules of the Road.

There are so many wheels on the street nowadays that the rules of the road should be treated with much more respect than they are by a small percentage of the riders. It is only a small percentage that are careless and cause danger to a large number, simply by neglecting to observe the common rules of the road, understood and observed by every sensible and thoughtful rider. It is for the careless few that these little reminders are given. In the first place, keep to the right, if it is in the least possible. You have a right on the right side, and the other party is then responsible if you get tangled up in an accident. Another point that it would be well for all riders to observe is carefulness in passing a rider ahead. Always go to the left, except in extreme circumstances. The rule is to go to the left, and if you do so it will save you a smash-up that is bound to come some day if you insist on otherwise. These are the principal rules of the road, and, if you can't remember them, paste this in your hat.

Dangerous to Himself and Others.

Kingston, Ont., May 15.—William Phillips, a desperate man, somewhat demented, attempted suicide in the police cells on Saturday night. He slit his throat with a nail or piece of glass. He is in the hospital and will recover. He broke a lad's arm on one occasion, and when the lad's father interfered Phillips savagely bit the man's hand. He is about 20 years of age.

Carpets and Draperies

"Biggest" is the biggest word we know of; "Newest" the freshest.

We use both to talk of Housefurnishings. A guaranteed security of the makers' responsibility. We put our responsibility back of every article we sell. That's the guarantee we give.

In Carpets, it has got abroad, that our prices are low. This is not by accident—there are several reasons—more than you care to listen to. The fact remains, however—our prices are as little as honest work, honest materials and honest dye will permit.

LACE CURTAINS nudge us to write about them. They are worth it but the writing up of one would seem a reflection on the whole. At every point our Curtains take an equal worth, because each is the best dollar's worth to be had.

KOWLOON TROUBLE RENEWED

Troops Are on the Move and Gunboats Are Leaving for Sea.

Sealed Orders Are Carried by the Latter—There Is the Gravest Anxiety at Pekin—Germans and Japanese Are Particularly Uneasy Because of Russia's Unexpected Move—Chinese Are Anxious for the Protection of Britain.

Hongkong, May 16.—The native opposition to the occupation by British forces of the new territory, Kowloon, opposite Hongkong, has suddenly been renewed. About 900 men of the Hongkong Regiment, with machine guns, left yesterday, while the volunteers have been warned to be in readiness for any emergency. The British second-class gunboat Swift, accompanied by three other gunboats, is proceeding to sea under sealed orders. These warships have 500 men on board.

The territory back of the hinterland is also disturbed, and Chinese troops have been sent there.

The Troops Actually Sent.

A later despatch says: In all, 1,350 infantry soldiers, 100 artillerymen, 50 engineers and 500 marines have gone to the Kowloon hinterland. The greatest secrecy is observed as to the plans of the British authorities, and nothing is definitely known regarding the actual destination of the troops. The gun vessels engaged in the operations have been provisioned for eight days. Troops are patrolling the European quarter of Kowloon. It is reported that rebels from Tungkung invaded British territory on Sunday evening, and that two armed gangs robbed the city of Kowloon. Hongkong itself is quiet.

Anxiety at Pekin.

Pekin, May 16.—The Russian demand for a new railroad concession, connecting Pekin with Russia's present railroad system in Manchuria, is still exciting the gravest anxiety there. The chief Chinese officials are having constant consultations with the Dowager Empress. The Germans and Japanese are particularly uneasy on the subject of this unexpected move upon the part of the Russians, and there is a feeling among the prominent Chinese that the moment has come to make every effort in the direction of securing British sympathy and aid.

PACIFIC CABLE CONFERENCE.

The Imperial Government Open to Conviction in This Matter.

Both Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Selborne Are Anxious That the Colonial Governments Shall Be Satisfied—There Was No Idea of Being Ungracious to the Colonies Interested—His Lordship Surprised at the Complaint Made.

London, May 16.—The Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, had a conference yesterday on the subject of the proposed Pacific cable with Baron Strathcona and Mount Royal, the high commissioner of Canada, and other colonial agents-general, who presented certain modifications of the original proposals. Mr. Chamberlain promised that they should receive the best consideration.

Lord Aberdeen's Query Answered.

Replying in the House of Lords to the Earl of Aberdeen (Liberal), former Governor-General of Canada, who urged the importance of Imperial and colonial Governments reaching an understanding with reference to the Pacific cable, the Earl of Selborne, Under Secretary of State for the Colonies, said Her Majesty's Government was perfectly prepared to review the whole matter in the light of any new representations the colonies might make, with a sincere desire to arrive at a decision satisfactory to all Governments concerned.

Lord Selborne Was Surprised.

During the course of his remarks, the Earl of Selborne assured the House there was no intention upon the part of the Government to throw cold water upon a matter of such great public interest, nor was there any idea of being ungracious. He expressed surprise at the fact that exception had been taken to the Government's assertion that the cable was more important to Canada and Australasia than to the United Kingdom, explaining that this was not incompatible with the view that it was of great importance to the Empire, as it might be perfectly true that such a project as this might be of great Imperial interest, and at the same time be of greater importance to specific portions of the Empire.

Continuing, the Under Secretary said he did not think anyone conversant with the full aspect of the matter would regard the Government's offer as being ungenerous, because it offered to share the burden, without demanding a share of the profits. The sum of $100,000 was named because it seemed to be the outside limit on the proportion of five-eighteenths, which Great Britain could be called upon to pay. The conditions proposed, he explained, were merely such as the experience of the postoffice and treasury suggested, and being the most likely to secure efficiency. If the colonies had any objections to urge against the form of the British proposals, the Government was perfectly prepared to review the whole matter, with a sincere desire to arrive at a decision which would be satisfactory to all concerned.

THE QUEEN IN LONDON.

Her Majesty Drove to Kensington Palace, Accompanied by Duke and Duchess of York—Great Enthusiasm.

London, May 16.—Queen Victoria arrived in London yesterday from Windsor, accompanied by the Duke and Duchess of York and her suite, and drove to Kensington Palace, the party occupying a number of open four-horse landaus, with postillions in blue and white, red-coated outriders, escorted by a detachment of the Horse Guards. Enthusiastic people lined the route to the palace, where Her Majesty visited the old apartments which she occupied as a young girl, which have been renovated preparatory to opening the palace to the public.

Her Majesty Patted "Tim."

On the arrival of Her Majesty at Paddington railroad station she noticed on the platform a shaggy Irish terrier named "Tim," which collects contributions for the widows and orphans of the railroad. The Queen had "Tim" brought to her by the conductor of the train, and after patting the terrier on the head she dropped a piece of gold into the metal box hanging about the dog's neck.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

The Foreign Minister of the Netherlands Is Decorated by the Czar.

The Hague, May 16.—M. de Staal, the Russian ambassador to the Court of St. James, representative of Russia at the peace conference and president of that body, conferred with the Foreign Minister of the Netherlands, W. H. de Beaufort, yesterday, and handed him the decoration of the Alexander Newski Order. In so doing, the Russian representative expressed the Czar's gratitude for the hospitality extended to the delegates.

The peace conference will hold its first sitting at 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon next.

MEMBERS' DAY IN THE HOUSE

Mr. Fielding Opposed to Canada Establishing a Mint.

The Debate on the Molsons Motion Resumed, and the Finance Minister States the Reasons for His Opposition—Mr. Sifton Makes a Statement Concerning the "Douk" Immigration to the Dominion of Canada.

Ottawa, May 16.—At the opening of the House yesterday, after routine, the Premier, in answer to a question by Mr. Gillies, said that the Government had not yet received a copy of the report of the British commission on the French shore question.

Third Readings.

The following private bills went through committee, were read a third time and passed:

Act respecting the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon and Pontypool Railway Company—Mr. McHugh.

Act respecting the Cobourg, Northumberland and Pacific Railway Company—Mr. Guillet.

Act to incorporate "Lechemin de Fer de Colonization du Nord"—Mr. Bourassa.

Act to incorporate the Edmonton and Slave Lake Railway Company—Mr. Poupore.

Act to incorporate the Athabasca Railway Company—Mr. Lavergne.

Act respecting the Central Counties Railway Company—Mr. Edwards.

Act to incorporate the Russell, Dundas and Grenville Counties Railway Company—Mr. Edwards.

Amongst the questions answered were the following:

Telegraph to Dawson.

Sir Louis Davies, for the Minister of Public Works, informed Col. Prior that the English representatives of the Northern Commercial Telegraph Company had communicated to the Government the readiness of their company to commence forthwith the construction of the Skaguay and Dawson telegraph line under their charter, but not until after a construction party had been sent out by the Public Works Department to commence the construction of a Government line of telegraph.

Aid to Premier Hardy.

Mr. Fielding informed Mr. Foster that no order-in-council had been passed reducing the rate of interest paid on the debt owed by the province of Ontario to the Dominion.

"Douks" and Other Immigrants.

In answer to Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sifton said:

1. The Government has not built houses or done any seeding for the Doukhobors or any other foreign immigrants. In cases where there was urgent necessity for assistance being given to provide for the immediate wants of newly-arrived immigrants a small amount of assistance has been given. It is the policy of the Government to extend this assistance to all, English, Irish and Scotch immigrants, as well as others.

2. The only difference in inducements offered continental immigrants and British immigrants is that the arrangement made by the late Government respecting continental bonus has been continued and the continental bonus to booking agents is, under that arrangement, larger than the bonus to British booking agents.

The reason for this policy was and is that it is necessary to meet the bonuses paid by other countries to continental booking agents. In the case of the Doukhobors no bonus was paid to booking agents, but in lieu thereof a special bonus of $4.86 per head was agreed upon and paid to the English committee for the Doukhobors, because the committee were prepared to give us a very large number of desirable agricultural immigrants, with no expense whatever to the Government, in so far as inducing the immigration was concerned, except the bonus. The Government is prepared at any time to make a similar arrangement with any persons who may be in a position to furnish a large body of desirable agricultural immigrants from Britain.

Agents in the U. S.

Mr. Marcotte was told the Government had no information as to the number of Canadians repatriated from the States; that no specified amount was paid to agents per head, but a commission; that there were 15 regular agents in the United States, drawing $15,300 a year.

TESTIMONIALS

Allistou, March 1st, 1898.

I have had one of your "Crematory Closets" in use now for several weeks and am glad to be able to say that I have found it entirely satisfactory in every respect. I have not been able to detect the slightest odor from it at any time and would not be without it. I am sure it must prove a great convenience to people in the country and in towns where water is not obtainable.

Yours respectfully, JAMES CONWAY.

Shedden, February 28th, 1898.

I have used it for some time and find it perfectly odorless. It is a long felt want and I believe it will become very popular especially in rural districts, towns and villages where wells are so frequently contaminated by the ordinary closets. I am, yours, etc.,

The Daily Review.

TUESDAY, MAY 16, 1899.

THREE bank robbers and safe crackers cannot surely be some of the election bribers and pluggers putting in their spare time between bye-elections, can they?

THE youth should not allow his ambitions to run in the direction of safecracking simply because the Dresden and Bowmanville artists succeeded in getting away with so much money. Wait until you see the finish.

THE Bloomer household in Bowmanville who sat and watched while the cracksmen demolished and robbed the Standard Bank in that town are entitled to a resolution of thanks from the gang for not disturbing their operations.

THE Liberal press seem to be rather disappointed that there is not more stir and more signs of consternation on the part of the Conservative party and press because Mr Costigan has succumbed to Laurier-Tarte influence and is now a supporter of the combination.

BROCKVILLE has elected Mr Comstock, has had an excursion to the capital and seen the sights, and the new Laurier supporter has taken his seat in the House, but there is no drill shed in sight yet. Brockvillians should have saved their Ottawa demonstration for the day when the appropriation to make good the election bribe passes the House.

MANY of the despatches from the Philippines continue to be exceedingly funny. For instance, one in Monday's papers in regard to a charge by a party of twenty scouts, says: "The Filipinos were so terrorized that although they fired twenty thousand rounds of amunition they only slightly wounded one scout." Of course if there had been twenty thousand and one rounds fired the fact would have been chronicled.

M. Moisson takes exception to the sweeping condemnation by M Ditte of the aluminum utensils used by the French army in the Madagascar expedition. The aluminum used was not as pure as it is made now, and very slight impurities affect its durability. Moreover, qualities should not be sought for in the metal which it does not possess. It has the advantages of being light, of being easily worked into shape by stamping, thus doing away with joints and leaks, and above all, of being harmless when it oxidizes. He thinks it likely that tinned utensils subjected to the same tests would have proved equally unsatisfactory.

THE Hamilton Times is now giving place in its columns to "write-ups" showing the boom that is being enjoyed in Canada. This is not Canada's first boom, but it is the first time that we remember seeing the Times give prominence to its presence. Some good results have followed the accession of the Liberals to power and one, as illustrated in the case cited, is the death or conversion of these "blue ruin" Grits. They now can see prosperity and a boom, while before they failed to recognize what was good in Canada, or, recognizing it, tried to paint it with their "blue ruin" mixture.

AN exchange draws attention to the nice adjustment necessary in the various parts of the immense engines now employed for some of the trains on our great railway lines. This may be indicated by a few data of the work performed by these parts when the locomotive is worked at high speed. Thus in the case of a passenger engine at sixty miles an hour, a driving wheel of five and one-half feet diameter revolves five times every second, and, this being so, the reciprocating parts of each cyclinder, including one piston rod, crosshead and connecting rod, weighing about six hundred and fifty pounds, must move back and forth a distance equal to the stroke, say two feet, every time the wheel revolves, or in the fifth of a second. This weight starts from a state of rest at the end of each stroke of the piston and must acquire a velocity of thirty-two feet per second in one-twentieth of a second, and must be brought to a state of rest in the same period of time. A piston eighteen inches in diameter has an area of 254½ square inches; steam of one hundred and fifty pounds pressure per square inch would therefore exert a force on the piston equal to 38,175 pounds, which force is applied alternately on each side of the piston ten times in a second.

When Poe Was Hungry.

Gabriel Harrison, who was a popular young actor in the forties and also an artist and politician and friend of celebrated men, told this story of Edgar Allan Poe:

"I asked Poe several times when he was at the studio to sit for his portrait, but he always refused on the ground that his clothes were too shabby. But one afternon I caught him in an unusually complacent mood and obtained the original of the engraving you see there on the wall. This was but three years before Poe's death, and he was not at all prosperous.

"I recollect that once we were walking up town together late in the day, when Poe began to sway from side to side and then stopped. He said he felt faint. We went into a cafe, where we had a glass of wine and a biscuit. Poe then told me that his sudden dizziness was the result of not having eaten anything since early morning."

Malleable Glass.

Neri, whose book on glass was published at Florence in 1612, says, "In the time of Tiberius was invented a way of making glass malleable, a thing afterward lost and to this day wholly unknown, for if such a thing were now known without a doubt it would be more esteemed for its beauty and incorruptibility than silver or gold, since from glass there ariseth neither smell nor taste nor any other quality." But though unknown to the old Italian, the art was practiced in Persia, if we may believe Bailey, who says that in 1610 Sophi, emperor of Persia, sent to King Philip III of Spain six glasses that were malleable glass to Richelieu, 1620, was rewarded for his ingenuity by perpetual imprisonment lest the vested interests of French glass workers should be injured by the new invention.

Pure and Clean Temples.

Now is the Time to Cleanse and Tone the Body.

Paine's Celery Compound Rebuilds and Strengthens Brokendown and Weakened Physical Frames.

On the street, in assemblies and where men and women do not congregate, the quick and critical eye can discern weakness, decay and disease.

The cruel signs of disease and death are not confined to any particular class or age. There are prominent victims in youth and full age, and this is truly the season when the army of diseased people shows up in full strength.

The faces of men and women in the month of May are the true indicators of health or disease. Pale, sallow faces, cheeks bloated and full of pimples and nasty eruptions, nervous twitchings of the limbs and unsteady gait, all tell of weakness and growing disease.

In the great majority of cases poisoned blood is the prime cause of trouble. For such as suffer from blood and skin diseases, Paine's Celery Compound is their true rescurer—their only salvation. It is the greatest of all blood purifiers known to medical men; its marvellous cures are the truest and best proofs of its efficacy.

For nervousness, dyspepsia, headaches, billiousness and liver complaint that so quickly wear out nervous energy and life, Paine's Celery Compound stands far ahead of all other medicines as a curative agent.

It is just now that Paine's Celery Compound can best show its power over disease and weakness. A bottle or two used before the hot weather comes on will certainly effect a most blessed change for every man and woman whose blood is foul, impure and sluggish.

A DOCTOR'S TRICK.

Mr. R. Smith, Toronto, Points out a Fact that is Extremely Noticeable in Dealing With Doctors.

He Suffered from a General "Run-Down" of the System. Dodd's Kidney Pills Built Him Up.

Toronto, May 15.—There is one thing the most inexperienced physician never forgets—his fee. He may fail to cure, but he charges just the same. It is this piece of professional etiquette that makes a doctor one of the most expensive luxuries we have. Mr. R. Smith, a well-known commercial traveller for a glove house, with headquarters in Toronto, says in this connection:

"I had been feeling very weak and losing flesh, and the doctors could do nothing for me, but charge fees. I decided to try a box of your Pills, having heard of them as a blood purifier, and if I found no relief from them to give up all hope of ever feeling well again. After the first box I found I could both eat and sleep well and after three boxes I was as strong as ever. I am glad to testify to the genuine worth of your Pills. Have many friends who have been benefited by them through my recommendation.

Sincerely yours,
"R. Smith."

Mr. Smith's letter brings out the point where doctors differ from Dodd's The former while failing to cure charge a stiff price. The latter, which are only fifty cents a box, never fail to do the work for which they were intended—strengthen the kidneys—and by this means banish all impurities from the blood. Thus they get at the cause of, and when used invariably cure Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Gout, Heart Disease, Paralysis, Dropsy, Stone in Bladder, Urinary Troubles and Female Complaints.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, or will be sent on receipt of price, by The Dodds Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MEMBERS DAY IN THE HOUSE

and 18 in Europe, drawing $20,825

A Second Judge for the Yukon.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper was informed that the Government intends to appoint a second judge for the Yukon district.

A number of motions for papers were passed.

A Canadian Mint.

Hon. Mr. Fielding, continuing the debate on Mr. McInnes' motion, said he could well understand that hon. members who only thought out this subject as they listened to Mr. McInnes, would believe the establishment of a mint desirable, but there was another side to the question they should be willing to hear. He was not prepared to hold that under no circumstances should they establish a mint in Canada, but, whatever they might do in the future, it would not be well to take that step at present. It would necessitate the enlargement of our metallic currency, and perhaps there was no department of our public affairs against the disturbance of which they should more strenuously guard themselves than that of the alteration of our currency system. Our currency was, practically, a gold currency, and he was afraid Mr. McInnes' proposition would bring about some financial disturbances which would not be to the advantage of Canada. Mr. McInnes had said there would be a profit on minting silver and copper, but he had very properly pointed out that there would be no profit on gold coining. If we could absorb an unlimited amount of silver and copper coinage, we might make much money in minting silver and copper coinage, but there was a limit to the amount of silver and copper coinage that the country could take; but if they exceeded the amount the country could take, the coinage would be depreciated. It was only by keeping within that necessary limit that we kept our silver and copper coinage from deteriorating. If they adopted Mr. McInnes' principle they would lose a very considerable amount per annum if we attempted to run a mint of our own, and the net result would be that, instead of enjoying a handsome profit, the Government would have a loss. Under his system they would pay much more than by the present system, because Canada could not absorb a sufficient amount of that coinage to keep the mint in operation for more than one month out of the twelve. They did not need a gold coinage in Canada to any considerable extent. Except from a sentimental point of view, it was unnecessary that they should mint gold. Gold would displace the note currency, which was practically a loan from the public to the Dominion of Canada, without interest. They would, therefore, lose in the minting: they would have a more expensive mode of manufacturing coins than at present, and they would displace our present currency, and be obliged to go on the market and borrow money, which, under the present system, the public were disposed to give to the Government to-day without interest. The people of Canada did not want gold; the note system was a much more convenient form of currency.

The Debate Continued.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Casey (West Elgin), Henderson (Halton), Clarke Wallace (West York), Osler (West Toronto), Oliver (Alberta), Carscallen (North Hastings), and Mills (St. John City, N.B.).

The debate was then adjourned.

A number of motions for papers were passed, amongst them one by Mr. Martin for correspondence, telegrams and other documents with reference to the carrying of the mails for Prince Edward Island between the Intercolonial at Cape Tormentine, on which there was a long discussion, and after that motion was carried the House adjourned at 11 p.m.

THE BANK BURGLARY.

Tweed, Ont., May 16.—Yesterday afternoon five men were arrested a mile east of this town on suspicion of having been concerned in the Bowmanville bank robbery on Friday night. One of them, who was in town earlier in the day, showed intense interest in the contents of a Toronto morning paper, and the editor of The News notified the local constables, with the above result. They are now at the police station and carefully guarded. One of the men said he was James Conklin of Toronto, that he was 59 years of age, and that he was a moulder by trade, and worked a short time ago in the safe works of J. & J. Taylor.

The second man gave the name of George Ward, said he was 58 years of age, and last worked in the Detroit Stove Works at Detroit, Mich.

The next gave the name of William Jones of Toronto. He said he was 37 years of age, and last worked in the carriage works of Jones & McLauchlin in Buffalo.

The fourth said he was born in Lambton County 42 years ago, and that he last worked in Erie Pa.

The last man gave the name of Patrick O'Brien, and said he had been working with a farmer named Torpy, six miles from Peterboro.

They all denied having anything to do with the others, although they were traveling together.

Greer Goes to Tweed.

A telegram was sent to the general manager of the Standard Bank shortly after the arrest asking for instructions, and last evening a message was received from Provincial Detective Greer giving instructions to hold the prisoners until his arrival on the 2 a.m. express from Toronto.

Mr. West Don't Know Him.

Toronto, May 16.—Mr. Joseph M. West, president of the J. & J. Taylor Safe Works, was called on early this morning, and Mr. West stated that he did not know of any such man as James Conklin, arrested at Tweed, who said he had been an employe of the Taylor Safe Works.

NO INSOLVENCY BILL.

Mr. Fortin's Bill Will Not Come Up at the Present Session.

Ottawa, May 16.—Merchants throughout Canada who are anxious to secure a reform in the present system of winding-up and distributing of insolvency estates will be disappointed to learn that Mr. Fortin's new insolvency bill will not come up at the present session of the House of Commons. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has conferred with Mr. Fortin, with the result that the bill will not be introduced, and the Premier will probably make an early announcement to that effect.

Gone Into Camp.

Kingston, Ont., May 16.—Yesterday morning the members of "A" Field Battery, R.C.A., went into camp on the front road, Pittsburgh, below Barrifield. There are six guns, wagons, etc., and 138 men. The battery will remain under canvas for a month at least.

Mr. Maclean's Improvement.

Toronto, May 16.—Mr. W. F. Maclean, M.P., has recovered so far as to be able to sit up. The fracture of the leg has made a good union. He expects to be down to the office, and probably in Ottawa, within the course of a week.

A KIND NEIGHBOR.

The kindest and most neighborly thing one woman can do for another in case of sickness is to tell how she herself was brought out of trouble and distress; and urge her neighbor to seek the same remedy. Hundreds of thousands of mothers have cause to bless just this same kind, neighborly spirit which actuated Mrs. Wm. S. Vollmer, of Concord, Cabarrus Co., North Carolina.

"We moved here to Concord, N. C., over a month ago, she says, in her communication to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "A little girl here was in dreadful health. We told her folks about Dr. Pierce's medicines. I knew what they had done for us. Her parents bought a bottle of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Pellets.' The patient has improved wonderfully after taking these medicines. I wish everybody knew the great virtue of Dr. Pierce's medicines. I have been using them in my family for three years and always with success.

"I will be pleased to have my letter published. If persons wishing to know more about the great benefits we have received from using Dr. Pierce's medicines will write, enclosing stamp, I will gladly answer."

Every mother of children ought to possess Dr. Pierce's grand book, the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a magnificent thousand-page illustrated volume. It teaches mothers how to care for their children and themselves. It is the best doctor to have in the house in case of emergency. Over half a million copies were sold at $1.50 each, but one free copy in paper-covers will be sent on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only; or send 50 stamps if you prefer a heavier, handsome cloth-bound copy. Address the publishers, World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Queer Kind of Savage.

When Albert Henry Savage Landor reached St. Petersburg on his way from the Forbidden Land, the fact was duly chronicled, and the London press associations sent cable messages to Australia telling of the hairbreadth escapes and manifold sufferings. The Melbourne Times received but a short note, which was this:

"A. Savage Landor arrived in St. Petersburg today from Tibet after suffering greatly at the hands of the natives."

This was meager enough, but the news editor was equal to the occasion. The following morning, among the other matters of news, the readers of The Times found this startling information:

"A savage landor got into St. Petersburg yesterday, and the people of the city were terrified. After considerable difficulty the beast, which came from Tibet, was captured, taken to a remote place and there dispatched. It is said that this is the first animal of the sort ever seen in Russia. How he reached the city, after his fights with the natives of Tibet, which is a comparatively unknown country, is a mystery."

Polish Jehus.

To drive slowly over cobblestones is not a joy, but to drive four Russian horses at a gallop over cobblestones was something to make you bite your tongue and to break your teeth and to shake your very soul from its socket. I most solemnly assure you it was anything but a simple drive to one fresh from the asphalt of Paris, for, like Jehu, they drove furiously. Their horses are all wild, runaway beasts, and they drive them at an uneven gallop resembling the gait of our fire engine horses at home, except that ours go more slowly.

Sometimes the horses fall down as they drive across country, or stop only for stone walls or moats. The carriages must be built of iron, for the front wheels drop a few feet into a burrow every now and then, and at such times an unwary American is liable to be pitched over the coachman's head.

"Hold on with both hands, shut your eyes, and keep your tongue from between your teeth," would be my instructions to one about to "take a drive" in Poland.—Lilian Bell in Woman's Home Companion.

Trying to Stop Frauds.

Madrid, May 16.—The Minister of Finance, Marquis Villa Vaede, has issued a decree closing immediately the registers of foreign bondholders, in order to decide who is entitled to gold payments on the external debt coupons under the recent law. This course is taken to stop the frauds by which Spaniards transfer their claims in order to secure gold, in which foreigners only are entitled.

It Never Disappoints.

People who are troubled with any disease caused or promoted by impure blood or a low state of the system may take Hood's Sarsaparilla with the utmost confidence that its faithful use will effect a cure. Millions take it as a spring medicine, because they know by experience it is just what the system needs.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver tonic. Gentle, reliable, sure.

Way Up In It.

The fair young girl looked at the gilded clock on the mantel.

"I don't want to hurry you, Mr. Slowgo," she sweetly explained as she met his questioning look, "but the fact is it is almost time for ma to come home from the club. And I just want to say this: If ma says, 'I move we adjourn,' don't you attempt to lay it on the table, or to raise a point of order, or anything else that's foolish, because you might as well understand right here and now that ma's simply a howling Jim dandy when it comes to the rules of parliamentary procedure, and don't you hesitate to recollect it!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

HARD CLAIM TO PROVE.

The Pittsburg Harbor's Right to the Site of the Royal City.

Toronto, May 16.—The Pittsburg harbor who thinks he rightly owns the city of Guelph will have a lot of difficulty substantiating his claim. The Canada Company secured a tract of 42,338 acres from the province of Upper Canada, the original patent being dated July, 1829. This land now constitutes the township of Guelph, and includes the whole of the Royal City.

The patent was made during the reign of George IV., and bears an immense beeswax seal, which was the great seal of the province. It is signed by Sir John Colborne, who was then Governor of the province of Upper Canada; by John B. Robinson, Attorney-General, and D'Arcy Boulton, jr., Auditor-General. Accompanying the document is a very minute map of the district, drawn in 1828.

The books of the Canada Company show no transactions with persons by the name of Connor. If it is possible that old Mr. Connor did have some land, and that it was deeded by the province of Upper Canada to the Canada Company, then, the company thinks the heirs of the deceased gentleman must look to the province of Upper Canada for compensation.

MAIL DRIVER ARRESTED.

He Is Charged With Abstracting Registered Letters From the Mails.

Brockville, Ont., May 16.—A young man named William Ball, who has been for some time employed as mail driver here, was last night arrested on a charge of abstracting registered letters and articles of value from the mails. The chief of police and postmaster searched his room last night, and found certain articles and letters of which he could not give a satisfactory account, and he was promptly taken into custody.

Pegleg Brown Must Die.

Ottawa May 16.—The Cabinet has decided that the law shall take its course in the case of Marion Brown, who shot and killed Policeman Toohey in London, Ont. Brown, therefore, will be hanged on Wednesday next, the 17th inst. Radcliffe has arrived to make the necessary preparations.

To Upset the Protest.

Toronto May 16.—At Osgoode Hall yesterday Barrister Holman, acting for Hon. John Dryden, moved to set aside the particulars supporting the South Ontario election protest on the grounds of indefiniteness and ambiguity. Argument on the motion will be heard to-day.

WILL FIGHT IT OUT.

Aguinaldo Gives Notice That the War Will Be Continued to the Bitter End—More Fighting.

London, May 16.—The Filipino Junta here has received the following message from Aguinaldo, cabled from Hongkong under date of May 12: "The Filipino Government, in accordance with the general feeling of the country, has decided to continue the war at all costs, until independence is secured.

"The Filipinos energetically refuse the American peace overtures, based on restricted autonomy, coupled with promises of subsequent self-government.

"The Filipinos demand a strict fulfilment of the articles of the American constitution and treaties contracted by the American representatives when imploring a Filipino alliance in combatting the Spaniards.

"All the Filipino generals support Aguinaldo. General Luna's reported overtures for peace are untrue. Our army is near Manila, simultaneously attacking the whole American line.

"The heat and rains are causing many casualties in the American army. All the hospitals are crowded with sick and wounded. Four hundred of the Cincinnati regiment have been imprisoned by General Otis for insubordination in refusing to fight. The regular troops quartered in Manila and other towns are quiet. The volunteers are abused and are always at the front with scanty rations.

"The discontent between the Americans and Europeans is general."

Into a Nest of Insurgents.

Manila, May 16.—The "tinclad" gunboats Laguna de Bay and Cavadonga and a launch, under Captain Grant, ran into a nest of insurgents concealed in the bushes on both sides of the Rio Grande River, three miles above Calumpit, yesterday afternoon and were received with heavy volleys at short range. A sergeant belonging to the Utah battery, was killed and a private was wounded. Opening with their rapid-fire guns, the Americans killed twenty of the natives and wounded several others, filling the jungle with a hail of shot for a half hour, until the enemy fled.

They Are Still Deserting.

Halifax, N.S. May 16.—Desertions are occurring almost daily from the 1st Leinster Regiment, stationed in the garrison. Five privates have departed within the past week, four of the number on Friday. Men of nearly every corps in the garrison and also several sailors from H.M.S. Comus, Alert and Buzzard have within the past few months thought fit to seek fresh fields and pastures new. Two gunners also are reported as being deserters.

Searle Raised the Money.

Windsor, Ont., May 16.—W. P. Searle, who was convicted of having fraudulently induced T. W. McKee and Eugene Lasaline to endorse drafts drawn on Searle & Co., Brantford, whom he claimed to represent, will be released to-day, as the money which Judge Horne gave Searle a week to produce will be returned to the endorsers.

Col. Aylmer Going to School.

Ottawa, May 16.—Col. Aylmer, Adjutant-General of Canada, leaves on Saturday next for London, England, where he will be on the staff of Sir Redvers Buller, in command at Aldershot, and where he will take a short course in tactical fitness for command. Col. Aylmer will be absent for four months.

Charley Devlin Home Again.

Ottawa, May 16.—C. R. Devlin, ex-M.P., now Canadian immigration agent in Ireland, arrived here yesterday. He has come to discuss matters with his department, and take a trip west to get posted on what things really are in that country.

The Grand Trunk has decided to build a second large bridge over the Niagara River. The new structure will connect Buffalo city and Black Rock with Canada, and will be used exclusively by the Grand Trunk.

What Is a Day?

Nine persons out of 10—yes, 999 out of every 1,000—if asked how long it takes the earth to turn once on its axis would answer 24 hours, and to the question, How many times does it turn on its axis in the course of the year? the answer would be 365¼ times. Both answers are wrong.

It requires but 23 hours and 56 minutes for the earth to make one complete turn, and it makes 366¼ turns during the year. The error springs from a wrong idea of what is meant by a day.

The day is not, as is commonly supposed, the time required by the earth to make one turn on its axis, but the interval between two successive passages of the sun across the meridian—that is to say, the time which elapses after the sun is seen exactly south in its diurnal course through the heavens before it is again seen in that position.

Now, in consequence of the earth's revolution in its orbit, or path round the sun, the sun has the appearance of moving very slowly in the heavens in a direction from east to west. At noon tomorrow the sun will be a short distance to the east of the point in the heavens at which it is seen at noon today, so that when the earth has made one complete turn it will still have to turn four minutes longer before the sun can again be seen exactly south.

Chinatown's Lottery.

Chinamen are natural gamblers, and in every city in this country where they congregate they have a lottery.

The manner of conducting the lottery is characteristic. Square yellow papers are circulated about Chinatown. They contain 80 characters within a green border. There is no name or location on the sheet, but every one knows its office and uses. Translated literally, these characters represent some natural phenomena, such as "Heaven and earth," "Fishes swim," "Birds fly," "The world is vast," "Clouds rise" and other commonplaces of daily life, and so general are they that the most ordinary dream may find here a character for interpretation.

Twenty characters are chosen and crossed and the wager laid. When the drawing comes, the man who guesses three of these numbers gets his money back; five, he wins double his stake, and ten, 200 times the amount paid in. The stakes run from 10 cents to $5. The highest and lowliest inhabitant of the quarter delights in the bah-ka-pou and plays it with almost religious persistency.

Maddening.

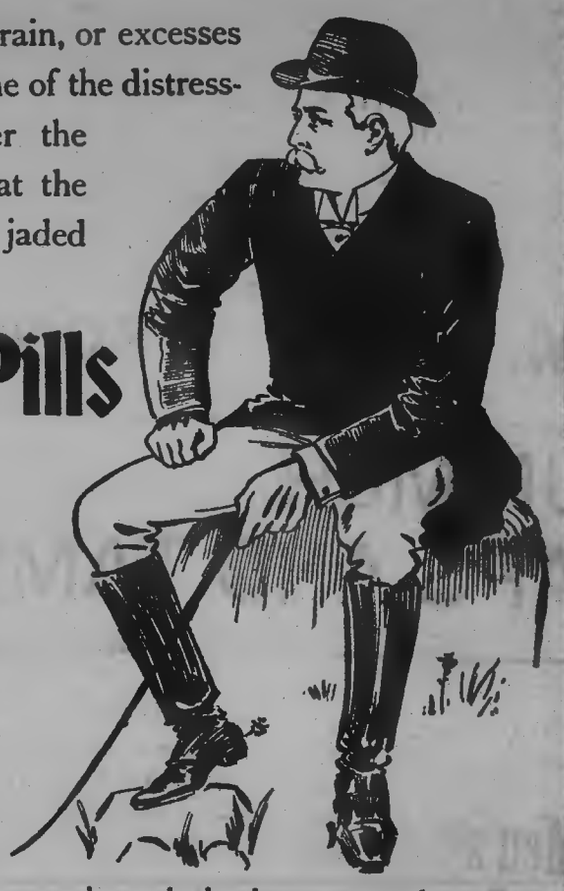
"I happen to have a dress coat," said a man about town, "that was made by Poole, the famous London tailor, and I've preserved it with a good deal of care. To tell the truth, I attached less value to the garment itself than I did to the sign manual of the house, emblazoned on a strip of white silk and stitched inside the collar. It was a trifle snobbish, I dare say, but if so I've received my punishment.

"A few weeks ago I took the coat along with me on a trip to Florida, and while at a small coast resort I noticed the buttons were getting worn. The only tailor in town was a Chinaman, and I gave him the coat with instructions to repair the damages, which he did very neatly. I had forgotten all about the incident, and one evening during carnival was at the club chatting with some visitors from Detroit when somehow or other the conversation turned on high art tailoring.

"One of the strangers sang the praises of a chap at his home, and I, like a fool, couldn't resist the temptation of remarking that my suit was made by Poole. Thereupon the other fellow expressed curiosity as to how the English tailors inserted the shoulder reenforcements of dress coats, and I obligingly slipped mine off to allow him to examine it. He looked it over, and when he handed it back I noticed that he wore a peculiar smile. It was no wonder, for, by Jove, in place of the signed silk strip below the collar was a great hideous pink tab bearing the legend. 'Charley One-Lung, Merchant Tailor, Wayback, Fla.!'"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Nervous Debility

may be caused by over-work, worry, mental strain, or excesses of almost any nature. Very frequently it is one of the distressing after effects of la grippe. But whatever the cause a debilitated, nervous system means that the nerves lack nutrition. Feed the tired and jaded nerves and life will renew its joys for you.



Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

is the best nerve food and most valuable tonic known to science. Merit, and merit alone, has given these pills a larger sale than any other medicine in the world. Through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills hundreds of thousands of tired, and jaded, despondent men and women have been made bright, active, work-loving people. But you must get the genuine—imitations are always a source of disappointment, and a waste of money.

WEAK AND NERVOUS.

Mr. Austin Fancy is a well known blacksmith living at Baker Settlement, a hamlet about ten miles from Bridgewater, N. S. Mr. Fancy is well known in the locality in which he lives. He is another of the legion whose restoration to health adds to the popularity of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. Fancy related his story of illness and renewed health to a reporter of the Enterprise as follows:—"During the last winter, owing I suppose to overwork and impure blood, I became very much reduced in flesh, and had severe pains in the muscles all over my body. I felt tired and nervous all the time, had no appetite and often felt so low spirited that I wished myself in another world. Some of the time, necessity compelled me to undertake a little work in my blacksmith shop, but I was not fit for it, and after doing the job, would have to lie down; indeed I often felt like fainting. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using a couple of boxes, I felt a decided relief. The pains began to abate, and I felt again as though life was not all dreariness. By the time I had used six boxes I was as well as ever, and able to do a hard day's work at the forge without fatigue, and those who know anything about a blacksmith's work will knew what this means. Those who are not well will make no mistake in looking for health through the medium of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Pink colored pills in glass jars, or in any loose form, or in boxes that do not bear the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, are not Dr. Williams'.

The genuine are put up in packages resembling the engraving on the left, with wrapper printed in red.

Sold by all dealers in medicine or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

TUESDAY, MAY 16, 1899.

INAUGURAL MEETING.

Directors of the Public Library Elect Officers and Committees.

The inaugural meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Public Library for 1899 was held last evening at the library, Dr Burnham presiding. The following officers were elected :—

President—Dr George Burnham.
Vice-President—Thos Richardson.
Secretary-Treasurer—John Corkery.

The following committees were appointed :—

Library Committee—R Robertson, J Corkery and J English.

Class Committee—W H Hill, T A S Hay, T Richardson and J S Knapman.

Property Committee—Jas English, T A S Hay and J Corkery.

Finance Committee—H S Macdonald, W H Hill and Jas English.

A considerable amount of general business was transacted. The report of the Mechanical Drawing Instructor, Mr W J Francis, was received and referred to the Class committee. A vote of thanks was passed to the examiners at the recent examination, Messrs H S Greenwood, Can. Soc. C. E., and T Ferguson, B. A., Sc., who presented their report. It was addressed to the chairman of the Class committee and reported that Mr Peter Gillespie took highest marks in the senior class, winning 85 per cent, and that Mr W D McClennan took the highest in the junior class with 97 per cent. Others candidates writing were Mr C D Mathias in the senior class and Messrs W Allison, C W Laing, J T O'Connell, George Collins, J Hardill and E Hall in the junior department. The report said : "As will be seen, the percentage is higher than last year, and we find the class of a much higher standard, some of their drawing being very good, while the whole is very creditable to themselves as well as to their instructor."

Dr Burnham was appointed to represent the Board on the Joint committee to consider the question of a free public library.

The first named of each committee is Convenor, and is expected to present a written report of the work to the vice-president of his or her department, at each monthly business meeting—the last Monday in each month.

A membership contest was instituted, between the "Reds" and the "Whites." Mr Sam. Taylor is leader of the Reds, and Mr. Chas. Crowe leader of the Whites. The contest is to continue until the end of June, and each member of the League has been chosen to act on one side or the other.

The meetings are held every Monday evening at eight o'clock, when all who come will be made welcome.

The Ladies' Aid of Mark-st church will meet at Mrs. Joy's, Mark-st., on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock.

PILES FOR 15 YEARS.

Mr. Jas. Bowles, Councillor, Embro, Ont., writes: "For over 15 years I suffered the misery of bleeding, protruding piles. The many remedies I tried all failed. I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and must say that the first application gave relief, after the third day the bleeding stopped and two boxes cured me completely."

BILLS OF THE STANDARD BANK

THE POLICE ARREST THREE SUSPICIOUS LOOKING TRAMPS.

One of Them Had Twenty-Nine Dollars, Including Six Dollars in Silver, on His Clothes—Their Appearance in Police Court.

The police last night made what may turn out to be an important capture. Three hard looking citizens who appeared to be in anything but affluent circumstances and looked as if they did not know how to get connected with the price for the next beer were run in and when taken to the station were searched, with the result that on one of them, Wm. Brooks, was found the following money:

Three $5 Standard Bank bills, one $2 Dominion note, six $1 Dominion notes, $6 in silver, over half of it being in 5 and 10 cent pieces.

The arrest was made at the Bridge works yard, near the C. P. R. track, about eight o'clock. A citizen had informed the police that he saw some suspicious looking men there about tea time. The men were drunk, Brooks, the man with the money, appearing to be the most intoxicated. They had nothing else on them except the regular tramp outfit, a rather poor one at that, and the possession of twenty-nine dollars was a suspicious looking circumstance in view of their general condition. At the station the men described themselves as follows:

William Riley, Ottawa, age 26 years, married, painter by trade; William Brooks, Cornwall, age 30, single, painter by trade; James Dean, Toronto, age 31, married, ironworker. Brooks refused to state where he got the money but said that he would explain when before the Court.

The three men were brought up to the Police Court about 10.30 this morning, Alderman Davidson, J. P., presiding. They were all dressed in dark clothes and wore dark shirts. All looked the worse of their jag and were rather unkempt. All are medium sized and look like tramps. Brooks was charged with being drunk and disorderly and the other two with vagrancy. Brooks was asked where he got the money found in his possession. He told a rather disconnected story. He stated that he had worked on the canal at Cornwall. The name of his boss was Wheeler. The man in charge of the work was called Cleveland. He had worked off and on last winter and this spring. He left about two weeks ago, did not know just what day. He was asked how much money he had when he left and made answer that he had $150, which he had made and saved. Asked how he kept it, he replied that he had kept it in his pocket.

When asked for the names of some of the men he worked with he said he could name four hundred if he liked.

Dean, who still appeared to be under the influence of his jag, stood up and stated that he could prove where he had been every day. He asked if there was a lawyer in the court and finding none he sat down.

The three were then remanded for a week. The Chief will write to Cornwall to discover whether Brook's story is true.

TWEED MEN DISCHARGED.

A special despatch from Tweed this afternoon says:—"The five men who were arrested here yesterday on suspicion of being the parties who robbed the Standard Bank at Bowmanville were discharged to-day as no evidence was produced to connect them with the affair."

Fire in Otonabee.

Fire broke out this morning in the house of Mr John Conroy, Otonabee, five miles east of town, originating in some unknown way in a room in the second storey. The house got a bad scorching and some of the clothing and furniture in the room were destroyed. The house was in danger for a time but a number of men came to the rescue and with some difficulty the flames were overcome.

A Store Improvement.

Fairweather & Co. have made another improvement in the arrangement of their fine store. Their large bicycle trade has taxed the space available on the ground floor, while at the same time the whole of the second flat has been devoted to showing the lines of wheels carried. The fine business office erected in the rear of the store has had to be sacrificed and the space occupied put to other uses. A new office has been built in the centre of the store, giving the advantages of being more compact and bringing the cash and bookkeeping departments forward. Following the latest modern style the new office takes the shape of a low screen instead of the high partition. The advantage is obvious and the appearance of the store enhanced thereby.

MAY ASK PROTECTION.

Bankers' Association May Ask Municipalities for More Safeguards.

It is probable that as a result of the recent bank robberies a meeting of the Bankers' Association will be called and measures will be discussed to secure greater safety for the banks. Mr. Byron E. Walker, of the Bank of Commerce, gives some inkling of what action the association might take.

"We have in Canada," says Mr. Walker, "safes and vaults and locks of the most modern construction. So far the banks are well protected, and I don't see how any improvement can be made in this regard. There has not been a time within the last thirty years when expert cracksmen could not have done just what was done at Dresden and Bowmanville. The bank officials cannot frustrate the explosive power of nitro-glycerine.

"But we are studying conditions and reflecting on ways to keep the nitro-glycerine artist, from getting an opportunity to do his work. Special watchmen sleeping in the bank are not of much use. When I became manager here, there used to be a guard who slept on a trundle bed across the door of the vault. It was a useless expense, and there was always the chance that our guard might be cholorformed or sandbagged to death.

"What impresses itself on the bank managers chiefly is the inadequate police protection both in Dresden and Bowmanville. In Dresden there was nobody at all; in Bowmanville there was a decrepit old man. If in either places there had been two able bodied policemen the burglary would have been impracticable. For instance, it took three men to handle the old fellow at Bowmanville. If there had been another active assistant, he could have got away and raised the alarm. In some municipalities all the street lights are extinguished at twelve and even at eleven o'clock in others there are no lights at all. A band of bold men, coming at midnight, into a dark place like that, would at once be masters of the situation.

"The way the thing will work out," Mr. Walker concluded, "is that hereafter when a municipality asks for a chartered bank, the bankers will insist that the municipality have at least two night watchmen and proper street lighting. Things have lagged along so pleasantly for many years in Ontario—cracksmen's visits being few and far between—that bank managers almost forgot policemen were necessary. We are fully alive to that fact now, and may be depended on to remember it in our future dealings with the municipalities."

The Men Ruled Out.

The final practices for the items of the programme at the married ladies' social, to be given to-night at George-st. church school room were held and proved a great success. All masculine people were turned out doors and two or three who undertook to view the proceedings from outside were hustled off. There is no doubt the social will be a big success. Young and elderly married ladies will take part in the programme, the details of which have been kept a dead secret.

THE KEENE AFFAIR

The Attempt to Rob McNeil's Safe Evidently the Work of an Expert.

An examination of the safe in Mr Jas McNeil's store at Keene, an attempt to rob which was made on Friday night last, reveals the fact that the work was done by a skilled burglar. Mr James English was down yesterday and, putting his skill and mechanical genius to play at the safe, was able to open it by means of the combination in a few minutes. The door had been drilled at the right spot, exactly opposite the lock, and the charge had been inserted and exploded. The explosion, however, had left the outer door intact. The burglars in their effort to open it had then twisted off the knob, and being no nearer the inside than when they started, evidently decided to give up the job. The wooden doors between the outer door and the recess were badly shattered by the explosion. The safe was drilled only in one place.

Against Old Colonial Documents.

New Amsterdam had been in British hands four years when this quaint and curious custom's order, the oldest in existence and but recently unearthed from a mass of colonial records, was penned "Instructions for Mr. Cornelius Van Ruyven, Collector of the Customes in ye City of New York by Order of Colonell Francis Lovelace, Governour, May 24, 1668.

"You or y'r clerk are to be dayly at ye Custome House from nine in ye morning untill twelve at noone. There to receive ye Customes both in and out, as the Merchants shall come & enter, ye merchant is to make foure Bills, and signe them with his hand, writing his name to them, & ye same time, when you have signed ye Warrant, or one of ye Bills, you are to demand ye Custome, either in kinde at 10 P Cent inwards or double ye vallue of its first Cost in Holland, in Beaver. And likewise outwards for Peltry you are to receive 10½ P Cent according to ye vallue in Beaver, for Tobacco one half penny Pr. pound Ster'g; which is noe more than all Englishmen doe pay. * * * You to tell ye Merchant you are not to give credit. * * * If they doe not like your propositions, you are not to pass their Bills. * * *

"And Lastly pray lett ye Books be kept all in English and all Factoryes and Papers, that when I have occasion to satisfy myself I may better understand them."

A Joke on the Jap.

The Japanese students at our colleges find the American sense of humor as it is expressed by the other students about them a somewhat peculiar thing, but not at all hard to understand. In fact, it is quite simple and elementary. A Japanese gentleman who was a student at Harvard not long ago relates that he was asked by some of his American fellow students to "teach them some Japanese words." He began by giving them "Good morning" in Japanese. This phrase is represented in Japanese by a word which in English equivalents cannot be more closely represented than by the word "Ohio." The boys were interested and promised to remember it.

Next morning, when the Japanese student came to the lecture room, he found a group of the boys gathered to give him the morning salutation in Japanese.

"Pennsylvania!" shouted one of them.

"Kentucky!" yelled another.

"Virginia!" "New Hampshire!" "Rhode Island!" still others called.

But not one of them said "Ohio!" It was the American idea of a great joke. The young Japanese was much edified and made a note of it.—Boston Transcript.

A Fatal Wedding

CHAPTER I.

"A SPOILED, INDULGED CHILD."

The sun shone bright and warm upon the lawn of Glynn Castle; a thousand rare and fragrant flowers sent forth sweet messages to all, borne by the summer wind that stirred the green leaves faintly.

It was a pretty scene—the smooth, green lawn, diversified with masses of gorgeous bloom. In the foreground stood the picturesque, gray old Castle of Glynn; in the background, the dark-brown woods. In the midst of the lawn was a grand cedar-tree, whose sweeping branches trailed on the long grass.

Under the shade of the cedar was a group that an artist, in panting, would have immortalized himself.

Just where the sunbeams came flittering through the dense green foliage, where they fell mellow and golden, stood a beautiful girl. This was Sybil Jocelyn.

To look at her was to know that she came from a grand old race; the tall, slender figure was of rare grace and girlish dignity—the carriage, the manner, and bearing of a young queen.

Her beautiful head was proudly set upon graceful shoulders that would have charmed a sculptor; her white throat was arched and delicate; her little hands, with their slender, rose-tipped fingers, were a picture in themselves.

Words tell but weakly of the white, low forehead, of the delicately arched brows; of the deep violet eyes, with a world of veiled tenderness and passion in their clear depths; of long silken lashes that lay like fringe upon the rounded cheeks; of the proud, sensitive lips, capable both of scorn and sweetness; of the wealth of golden-brown hair that rippled over little shell-like ears, and fell in a thousand waving lines over her shoulders.

Looking at her, she gave one the impression of being a spoiled, indulged, child.

She was not more than seventeen, this girl whose future held so terrible a story, and she had never known the faintest shadow of care. She looked at home and in her place amidst beauty and flowers. She was like some rare exotic; the cold wind had never blown upon her; frost, snow, rain, had never been near her.

At this moment she stands under the cedar tree, her lovely face lighted by charming smiles, and turned toward a young man near her with a half-persuasive, wholly irresistible look.

"I should enjoy it, Sir Rupert," she was saying. "You know how much I like fresh air and sunshine. What possible reason can you have for objecting to a picnic in Birley Woods."

The voice agreed with the face; it was rich, full and musical, with sweet cadences, and the play of her lips as she spoke was irresistible.

"It is not to the woods I object," replied her companion. "Lady Marche is not always so particular as she should be about her visitors. She has some military men over at Ling now; and Sybil, you know the squire likes you to be very select."

A slight shade of impatience crossed her face.

"I know all that," she said; "and, ah, me! I am so tired of being select. What is the world, outside select people, like? Is it all laughter and fun?"

Sir Rupert Dacre flushed slightly.

"I wish you would not say such things, Sybil," he cried. "You do not mean them. No one would be more shocked and disgusted than you if you once found yourself outside the circle your father's love has kept select."

"You do not understand me," she replied. "Of course I detest all vulgarity; it is not that I mean. We are all very select, I suppose—papa, Irene, Violet, you, and myself. See how quiet we are—how we all think and say the same things; we visit the same places, enjoy the same mild little amusements. Now I want something different—something brighter. An opportunity comes, and you will not let me embrace it."

He looked wistfully at her—this bright, fair girl, into whose life, with its many yearnings and longings, he could not enter.

He would have been content to give up the whole world for love of her. He asked for no other face to smile upon him—no other voice to cheer him. While she—well, she knew she had his whole heart, but she seemed to look beyond it; it was less than nothing to her. Having that, she wanted something brighter—something different. Yet he was one upon whom no woman could look without keen admiration. He was tall, with a manly, erect figure; full of superb dignity mingled with graceful ease; with broad, deep chest; bonny shoulders that were the envy of half his male friends; hands white as those of a dainty lady, yet strong and firm as steel.

He was dark, with a face that Mugille would have painted well—a grave, handsome face; a broad brow, on which thought and intellect were enthroned; dark, true eyes, clear and deep; a beautiful mouth, half hidden under a dark mustache; the lips firm, with grave lines around them—lips not given to overmuch laughing, but wearing at times a smile tender and sweet as the smile of a little child.

Any woman might have been proud of his love and have worn it with pride, as her brightest jewel. The dainty, lovely girl by his side thought but little of it.

They made a beautiful picture—she, light, defiant and charming; he, grave, tender, and wistful—the sun shone down through the cedar-tree upon them.

"Never mind it, Sybil," he said, after a pause. "I will make up a party to Langley Abbey. You like ruins. It will be quite as enjoyable."

"And papa would drive there in a close carriage; we should follow suit in an open brougham, and all yawn over a cold dinner, wishing it were time to go home again. No, thank you, Rupert; I remember the deadly liveliness of our expedition to Deane Hall."

"But I shall be with you, Sybil," he said, anxiously.

"Oh! yes, I know," she replied, carelessly, seemingly little charmed at the prospect; "but do you never feel yourself as though you would like some new element in your life—one golden thread among many gray ones?"

"You are my golden thread," he said earnestly. "Sybil, speak more kindly to me; say you are pleased when I am with you."

"I can only think of one thing at once," she replied, coquettishly; "and just now my mind is bent upon Birley Woods."

"Go later on, when the leaves change and the nuts grow ripe," he urged.

"That would not do at all," she said, turning her light, laughing eyes full upon him.

"Then, Sybil, I must suppose this Captain Ayrton to be the attraction."

"I should like to see a real live captain," she replied. "You can not understand me, Rupert. You have been half over the world, and have seen the greater part of what there is to see. I have been nowhere and have seen nothing."

"But you shall!" he cried, eagerly. "Wait, Sybil."

"No," she interrupted, with a smile there was no resisting. "I can not wait. I am not accustomed to wait. I must go to Birley."

Before he had time to answer two ladies joined them. One tall and stately, with a kind, pleasant face, gentle eyes, with shadowed depths, winning manners, and a sweet voice. That was Irene Jocelyn, the squire's eldest daughter, who had been like a mother to Sybil. The other, a magnificent brunette, with a face rarely seen out of sunny Spain, dark, glowing, and magnificent, with almond-shaped eyes, and long, dark lashes—a queenly head, crowned with masses of black hair—a beautiful, dazzling, brilliant woman. And this was Violet Ruthers, the squire's niece, a constant visitor at Glynn Castle.

"What is it?" she asked, seeing Rupert's clouded face, and the half-triumphant air of the young beauty by her side. "What are you doing, Sybil? Something wrong and mischievous?"

"I want to go to Birley," she replied, turning toward them.

"And Sir Rupert objects," said Violet, her dark eyes growing bright as she looked at him.

"You must speak in the past tense, Miss Ruthers," said Sir Rupert. "I did object slightly; but now I yield, and shall be most happy to offer my escort."

Sybil laughed a low, silvery laugh that fell on the summer air like the soft chime of a sweet bell.

Miss Ruthers turned away; there was both pain and contempt in her proud face.

"I will write to Lady Marche," said Miss Jocelyn, "and tell her that it is all settled."

"Thank you, Sir Rupert," said Sybil. "I should have gone in any case; but it is more pleasant to go when every one approves, than to leave grave faces behind!"

"You will let me escort you, Sybil?" he asked, anxiously. "If you like," was the careless reply; and then, having secured the wish of her heart, the delicate, dainty beauty left the shade of the cedar tree, and went out among the flowers with a smile of gladness.

"I shall see Captain Ayrton," she thought. "Lucy Marche says he wears a plume in his cap, like the knight in the picture. I wonder if he likes her. I hope he talks well, and can amuse one. I am weary to death of gravity. I often wish I had been a flower, or a bud, or anything else that has a gay, bright life."

Some people might have thought Sybil Jocelyn's life bright enough, but she did not. In her gay, innocent, willful way she declared herself tired of all she had and longing for more.

Sir Rupert watched the graceful figure and lovely face among the flowers with a wistful yearning that could not be put into words.

"She shall go," he said, "my sweet, innocent darling; but I will be there to take care of her."

She was to go; but the day came when Sybil Jocelyn wished she had died rather than have gone to Birley Woods.

Old Slavery Times.

The Columbia (S. C.) Herald recently republished this interesting item, which it originally printed in the slavery days before the war:

"Negroes sell as high as heretofore, but they are hired out at lower rates. For a 12-year-old girl $50 is given, and an 8-year-old boy goes at $1. Peter, belonging to the Mary Shock estate, is hired out for $202; J. S. Clarkson's Mary, 28 years old, sold for $1,100, Alex, belonging to the estate of the Rev. D. Hall, brings $336; J. H. Waugh buys Willis for $310; negroes of W. H. Irwin are sold on 12 months' credit, and T. C. Parker buys Elisa and child for $1,111; Robert Lemon buys John, a 10-year-old, for $510, and Jack, a 9-year-old, for $606; H. R. C. Cowden pays $1,100 for A. Sublett's Mary."

THE LADIES DELIGHT TO SPEAK OF

DIAMOND DYES

AND EXTOL THEIR WONDROUS RENEWING POWERS.

Amongst the many useful and meritorious articles manufactured for home use and home money-saving, Diamond Dyes are certainly first in the estimation of all women.

The beautiful and charming colors produced by Diamond Dyes satisfy the most critical of women. Let the season be spring, summer, autumn or winter, the woman of taste can select suitable and fashionable colors when she decides to renew her old and faded dress, skirt, blouse, jacket, shawl, hose or ribbons, or her boys' or husband's faded and dirty looking suits.

The Diamond Dyes work wonderful and truly delightful transformations in every line of old material, from the silk dress to rags for the making of home made carpets and rugs. The colors are always bright, full and never-fading.

Chemical science has proved that a dye which produces a brilliant and lasting color on animal fibres or all-wool goods cannot give as good results on vegetable fibres or cotton goods.

To ensure perfect success in home dyeing the manufacturers of Diamond Dyes prepare two special dyes, one for coloring silk and all-wool goods, and one for coloring cotton and mixed goods. No other make of dyes can boast of the same scientific achievements; no other make of dyes can so well protect the interests of home dyers.

Successful home dying therefore depends on the use of Diamond Dyes at all times. Never allow your dealer to sell you untried and imitation dyes. Insist upon being supplied with the Diamond Dyes.

LUDGATE ARRESTED.

The Sawmill Man Handcuffed After a Struggle—The Riot Act Read—Warship Ordered Out.

Vancouver, B.C., May 16.—The Riot Act was read on Deadman's Island yesterday morning, and Theodore Ludgate was arrested and put in handcuffs after a fierce struggle with two officers, one of whom he roughly used. Ludgate, apparently acting on further advice from Ottawa, decided the night before to make another landing on the disputed island. At 5 o'clock a force of sixty or seventy men were actively at work cutting down trees. About 5 o'clock a provincial constable arrived and ordered that the work be stopped. Ludgate defied him, and the officer, realizing his helplessness, did not attempt to use force, but set off for assistance. About 6.30 Officer Baines of the city police arrived and his order for cessation of work was also ignored. Provincial officers continued to arrive, one at a time, until they were about ten strong and each armed with revolvers.

Joe Martin on the Scene.

They made no attempt, however, to interfere with the men until the arrival of Attorney-General Martin and Justice of the Peace Anderson, about 9.15. The Attorney-General requested Ludgate to order his men to stop work, but the sawmill man remained obstinate as ever, whereupon the Attorney-General ordered his arrest. Officer Baines stepped forward to execute the orders. He attempted to arrest Ludgate by the arm, but received a blow on the jaw from that gentleman which sent him sprawling among a heap of underbrush. Officer Campbell went to Baines' assistance and after about two minutes' fierce struggling the two managed to get the handcuffs on the prisoner.

The Riot Act Read.

All the men had in the meantime stopped work and were ready to attack the police, when the Riot Act was read, and on Ludgate's advice they refrained. Ludgate was led from the island with blood flowing profusely from his nose, and the men recommenced work. The Attorney-General addressed them and said if work was not stopped and all off the island in 30 minutes the constabulary would be ordered to shoot. The men held a short confab and decided to leave. The city is in a great state of excitement and all kinds of rumors are afloat.

A Warship Ordered Out.

The Province has received a special from Nanaimo, which says H.M.S. Egeria departed from that port yesterday morning for Vancouver simultaneously with the arrival there of the news of trouble. It is expected here almost any hour, but it is not known what action will be taken. The police are still on the island and are being reinforced. It is believed that Ludgate's men will go back and attempt a seizure. It is also rumored that troops will be ordered out. Ludgate is in jail and refuses to accept his release on bail.

SENATOR BOULTON IS DEAD.

Sketch of the Interesting Career of a Canadian Military Man.

Russell, May 16.—A despatch dated May 15, says: Senator Boulton died this morning at 1 o'clock of congestion of the lungs, brought on by a drive from Elkhorn in the late snow storm. He was ill eight days. The funeral will likely be on Wednesday.

Brief Biography.

Lieut.-Colonel Hon. Charles Arkoll Boulton was the son of Lieut.-Colonel D'Arcy Boulton of Cobourg, Ontario, and was born in that town Sept. 17, 1841. He was educated at Upper Canada College. In 1859 he was gazetted ensign in H. M. 100th Regiment (Royal Canadians); was promoted to lieutenant in 1861, and, after serving in various parts of the world, retired from the army in 1868. In the same year he was appointed major of the 46th Battalion, V.M., and soon afterwards went to Red River, now Manitoba. At the outbreak of the rebellion under Riel in 1870 he took an active part on the side loyal with the late Sir John Schultz, and was one of the Canadian party arrested and imprisoned and sentenced to death by the conspirators.

Returning to Ontario after the restoration of peace, he engaged in lumbering operations in Lakefield, and was elected reeve, serving for three years. He became brevet lieut.-colonel in 1878 and retired with that rank in 1881.

In 1880 he again became a resident of Manitoba, and then devoted himself to farming at Shellmouth. Elected warden of the County of Russell, he filled that office for three years, and was subsequently chairman of the Judicial Board of the Western Judicial District.

He raised a corps of mounted riflemen known as "Boulton's Scouts," and commanded the same throughout the Northwest Rebellion, 1885, for which he obtained a medal. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the representation of Birtle in the Manitoba Assembly at the general election in 1879, and for Marquette in the House of Commons at the general election in 1887. He wrote an interesting book, "Reminiscences of the Northwest Rebellion."

He was called to the Senate by Lord Stanley in 1889 and has since acted generally with the Liberal party in that chamber. In 1897 he accompanied Sir Wilfrid Laurier to England as a member of the staff sent to represent Canada at the Queen's Diamond Jubilee. He favored a commercial unity of the Empire upon a free trade basis. In 1896 he introduced a motion favoring an international peace tribunal.

The late Colonel married Miss Latter. His daughter, Miss C. R. Boulton, has displayed ability as a writer for the periodical press, and edited a newspaper in Manitoba. In religion the Senator belonged to the Church of England.

GOOD HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food Restores Weak Sickly Women to Robust Health.

Any irregularities in the monthly uterine action is sufficient cause for women to be alarmed about their health. Whether painful, suppressed or profuse menstruation, the cause can be traced to some derangement of the nerves.

A few boxes of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food will completely build up the exhausted nerves and restore the regular monthly action which removes from the body the clogged matter that would otherwise cause pain and serious disease.

It is as a restorative for pale, weak women that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food has been singularly successful. It counteracts the debilitating diseases peculiar to women by feeding the nerves and creating new nerve fluid, the vital force of the human body.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food has restored scores of hundreds of weak, sickly women to robust health. 50c. a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Insurance Protection.

Commenting on the recent deaths of Gleeson White, a famous art critic, and of Harold Fredric, a celebrated novelist and correspondent, who, it was found, had made no provision for their families, and, indeed subscriptions had to be made for their relief, the Insurance Press says:—

"One would not suppose that it is necessary nowadays to urge on business men the benefits to be derived from life insurance, but the unfortunate conditions referred to are very suggestive."

The guaranteed income policy introduced by the Sun Life of Canada, is the most modern development in life insurance, and is the opinion of many comes nearer to perfection than any form of contract which has preceded it.

This policy provides for the payment of the sum assured in twenty equal annual installments and as much longer as the beneficiary may live. In this way a much larger fixed income is guaranteed than would be obtainable from the investment of a similiar sum paid on an ordinary policy. The wife has also the advantage of the absolute security which a strong and prosperous institution like the Sun Life of Canada affords. This policy makes absolute provision for the beneficiary.

REVIEWS.

One of the most interesting articles of the month is to be found in Harper's Magazine for May. It is by Julian Ralph, and is entitled Keeping House in London. Mr Ralph's name nowadays is in itself a guarantee that an article will be interesting. The one in question is a continuation of the delightful articles by Mr. Ralph which have appeared in recent numbers of the Magazine, and shows the amusing difficulties which an American encounters in setting up a domestic establishment in England. Mr. Ralph has a power entirely his own of finding interesting incidents, and the present article is full of them. It gives a very good idea of the trouble Ambassador Choate experienced in his search for a house.

In the current issue of Harper's Weekly under the title An American Sovereign, appears the first of a series of articles on India, by Julian Ralph. It is interesting to know that our first American Sovereign and her liege, Lord Curson, rule more subjects than are combined in the sum total of the population of all the nations of Europe omitting Russia. Two hundred and forty millions of subjects acknowledge the rule of the Empress Victoria's Vicroy. Lady Curson, although she has no formal or official title, has achieved the highest and most powerful place which any American woman has gained by marrying out of her own country. According to Mr. Ralph there will be a measurable revival of Oriental splendor, as the English have at last come to recognize the value of pomp and pageantry in impressing the native mind. The article in question is illustrated with a beautiful portrait of Lady Curson.

RHEUMATISM CAN'T EXIST.

When the kidneys are kept healthy and vigorous by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. It is uric acid left in the blood by defective kidneys that causes rheumatism. Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys strong and active in their work of filtering the blood, and thus remove the cause of rheumatism. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

A Wonderful Appetite.

The digestive power of the heron is remarkable, as well as its capacity and ability to swallow large fish, says Forest and Stream. The neck seems to expand as if made of india rubber—the fish slips down, and the bird is ready for another. In eating beef, large bones are swallowed intact. On one or two occasions after feeding beef this way, great alarm was felt, as the birds showed signs of great distress, but the uneasiness was soon calmed when the bird threw up a large bone, clean and white, the meat having been thoroughly digested.

In eating catfish they instinctively pierce it with their strong beaks, until there is no question in their simple minds but that it is harmless. If in their hurry to swallow their food, it goes down the throat covered with sand or trash, they immediately eject it, carry it to the water and, having rinsed it well, swallow it again

Brave Men Fall.

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents, at any Drug Store. Every bottle guaranteed.

Arab Music.

Arab music has been described as the singing of a prima donna who has ruptured her voice in trying to sing a duet with herself. Each note starts from somewhere between a sharp and a flat, but does not stop even there, and splits up into four or more portions, of which no person can be expected to catch more than one at a time.

THE "SNEEZE BONE."

How the Nerves of the Nose Connect With the Brain's Nerve Centre—Cure for Sneezing.

Before the hay fever season is upon us, it may interest some sufferers from the disease to learn that Dr. James B. Ball, physician in charge of the throat department, West London hospital, while investigating the subject of sneezing has found what he claims to be a permanent cure.

Dr. Ball calls sneezing "a peculiar nasal reflex," and says that it is harmless in a mild form, but when it becomes paroxysmal it is very serious.

He has notes of one person who sneezed 229 times without an appreciable break, and of another who sneezed 294 times. These people used from 30 to 40 handkerchiefs per week. It is Dr. Ball's opinion that sneezing is hereditary. In some of his cases he has obtained a history of similar troubles in parents and grandparents. In 38 per cent. of them he was able to obtain a history of paroxysmal sneezing or asthma or both in one or more members of patients' families. It is thought that nervous exhaustion and sneezing are nearly related; and that a patient suffering from paroxysms of the latter is necessarily a highly nervous person. Among these Dr. Ball includes victims of hay fever, most of whom will not agree with him in thinking that no complaint which may be defined as hay fever really exists. He thinks that the same people sneeze a great deal at other times of the year besides the hay-making season. Everything in the pharmacopoeia has been tried to control the disease, but Dr. Ball states that he has never seen drugs effect a cure. The internal remedies that have been found most useful are belladonna, quinine, arsenic and iodide of potassium. Sometimes relief has been obtained by using the cautery to destroy sensitive spots on the membrane, or a superficial nerve, but such treatment is not usually sufficient. Dr. Ball thinks sneezing a disease which calls for the practice of surgery. The septum is the bone dividing the nostrils. The turbinals, each consisting of a layer of thin, spongy bone, are situated one on each side of the outer wall of the nostril. In cases of excessive sneezing a main trouble is that "spurs of bone project from the septum against the turbinals. These must be sawed off." The passage must be left free for respiration and all possible contact with turbinals be prevented. Sometimes the removal of one or both inferior turbinals is the only plan to adopt.

Many of Dr. Ball's patients are unwilling to submit to such an operation as will insure a complete cure, but out of 31 cases where he carried out this line of treatment only one was unrelieved and there were 25 absolute cures. He has other cases promising equally well, but does not include them in his statement, as a year has not yet elapsed.

A Question.

How can we raise more corn to the acher? Why, of course by using Putnam's Corn Extractor. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor has given universal satisfaction, for it is sure, safe and painless. Like every article of real merit it has a host of imitators, and we would specially warn the public to guard against those dangerous substitutes offered for the genuine Putnam's Extractor. N. C. Polson & Co., proprietors, Kingston. 1

Force of Habit.

"Of course you can't imagine what curious experiences we have with sick people," confided a trained nurse. "I have just come from a very interesting case—a dear old lady, lovely in every way, but utterly unmanageable and unreasonable on the subject of early rising. The dear woman cannot turn over in her bed or put her hand to her head—she is fatally ill, poor creature—but she wakes me every morning at 5 o'clock to have her face and hands bathed and her cap changed. 'Oh,' I groan, 'it is only 5 o'clock, Mrs. Lorrimer; that is too early for sick people to get awake! Let us have another little nap.'

"'No, no,' she always answers: 'my father reared me to get up at 5 o'clock I can't disobey my training You must make my toilet. I mustn't sleep any longer.'

"So I have to get awake, prepare the dear old lady for the day—80 years old she is, and weak and sick—just because she was reared by a father with abnormal ideas of rising time."—Indianapolis Journal.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at James Lynch's Drug Store as their giving away to their many customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable remedy, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases are quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size 50c. and $1.00 Every bottle warranted.

HEADS AS TROPHIES.

SAMOANS DECAPITATE THEIR FOES SLAIN IN BATTLE.

After Parading Their Gruesome Prizes as Tokens of Victory They Are Returned to the Women of the Vanquished Faction.

Head hunting, although about the only English words for the thing, is a decided misnomer when applied to the Samoan procedure. The Samoans are not at all head hunters in the same sense as the Dyaks of the Malay seas, who set out on expeditions of which the distinct aim is to gather heads and carefully dry the heads they have taken by suspending them in smoke until sufficiently preserved to ornament the family rooftree.

The Samoans take heads only incidentally, merely to serve a temporary end as a measure of victory. After the heads have served this purpose they are never dried and hung up for ornament, but may be had on application by the next of kin of the former owners. It is a very ancient custom of the Samoans, if one may repose confidence in the tellers of stories, but as the custom is not found among the other Polynesians of the Pacific there seems reason to believe that it has sprung up among the Samoans since the period of their great dispersion six or eight centuries ago.

Be that as it may, the custom certainly antedates the first coming of the white men, for, living in ignorance of metals, the islanders fashioned a peculiar type of club which their experience proved possessed distinct advantages for purposes of decapitation. The heading clubs had a thin but deep blade and were made of very dense wood, which would take an edge and not easily chip through the common accidents of its use for this particular operation. An essential feature of the type was a sharp and rather long hook or spine recurving from the tip of the blade along its back. This was designed for carrying the severed head and gave this class of clubs the name "nifo oti" ("the tooth of death").

Since white men brought forges to the islands the specialized club has been replaced by a long handled knife or hanger very much like the familiar machete, with the addition of the hook at the end, which is an essential. The old name still clings to the steel heading knives, which between wars serve as dancing favors or toys for the official maid and the official beau, who are part of the social state in every Samoan village. At the dances and the frequent parades and processions of Samoan life village maids and village dandies take a conspicuous part in juggling these long and dangerous looking implements of a special purpose in war.

Samoan battles scarcely deserve classification as a hazardous risk. They are fought for the most part at rather long range and with uncertain aim. Not many warriors are wounded, and still fewer are killed. If too many on any one side are found to be getting hurt, that side scampers away out of danger. Whenever possible the vanquished try to remove their dead from the field. The wounded may be left behind with perfect confidence. They will be in no danger of violence at the hands of the conquerors. But the slain represent a different aspect of battle. It is no shame to a Samoan fighting man to run away, but the victor will lose all his pride in victory unless he has a good tale of heads to show for it. No Samoan would attempt decapitation of a living and objecting person, but as soon as it appears that the enemy is wavering in battle and is likely to retreat then a furious attack is made, both to turn the signs of wavering into rout and so to annoy the fugitive army that it will be prevented from carrying away its dead. As soon as the victors find themselves securely established on the field of battle they hunt for the enemy's dead and promptly chop their heads off.

The severed heads are carried about the camp with ostentatious parade and finally laid before the leader of the war party which has taken them. After serving as the visible proof of victory, which they can do in a high degree, inasmuch as every head is perfectly well known by all who see it, the severed heads have no further use. As soon as night has fallen a stream of women from the camp of the vanquished begins to arrive, and their errand is to reclaim the heads of the slain. They are cordially received and entertained, for Samoan warfare is only skin deep after all. They have no difficulty in securing the heads which they have come after, and, unmolested, they set out for the camp of their party, carrying the heads in cocoanut baskets. The heads are assorted out to the bodies with which they were formerly associated, and both are buried in some convenient spot, which after the return of peace will be marked by a cairn of rock decorated with empty bottles turned bottoms up.

There is a law of the Samoan government providing dire penalties upon those who chop heads in war. The Samoan government is very docile, under the prompting of the white officials in Apia or of others whom it desires to encourage. The parliament of native chiefs will pass any law suggested to it and will assign Draconian penalties for each and every infraction, but it should be understood that these and all other laws of Samoa are to be taken in a purely Pickwickian sense and are not intended for use.

There is one thing as to which the Samoan is set to the last edge of obstinacy—that is the Samoan custom. That is never open to argument, debate or alteration. Samoan fashion is good enough for all Samoans. If it is absurd, they will grant the absurdity, but they will continue the practice. When a Samoan can bolster up a Samoan custom by chapter and verse from the Bible, it is idle to think that he can be moved from his position. The question was put to one of the best of Samoans whether she approved of the custom of decapitation. The woman could speak English well. She had traveled widely and in the course of her travels had spent considerable periods in Australia and the United States. She was happily married and seemed to bear much affection toward her good tempered giant of a husband. With all this, her only answer was that it was the custom of Samoa, and that what was good enough for Goliath and John the Baptist was surely good enough for the Samoans.

The Intelligent Jury.

Law court stories were especially attractive to Hicks, and he told many of them. His great story, which was almost a dramatic sketch, was of the acquittal of a Cornish doctor who was charged with the murder of his mother-in-law by mixing arsenic with a dish of rabbits and onions, which he gave her for supper. The setting of the court, the swearing of the jury, the speeches of counsel, and the judge's charge were all related by Hicks with marvelous humor.

The climax to the fun was the confabulation of the jury as to the verdict they should give, and their individual reasons for returning a verdict of acquittal—from the juryman who "didn't hold with old 'oman eating rabbits and onions for supper" to the juryman who declared that "it wasn't a ha'p'th of odds to him, and 'twas but an old 'oman."—Cornhill Magazine.

Siamese Magic.

Siamese magicians profess to be able to destroy your enemy for you. They first bewitch part of a buffalo till it becomes as small as a pea. When your enemy has been induced to swallow it they make it return to its original size, and after suffering great agonies he suffocates. Pig's flesh and fish are also used. When these people die, the reason can be detected, because at their cremation some part of their body refuses to burn, and when it is cut open it contains fish or meat of some animal. A small boy died recently and was cremated. A certain part of the child's chest refused to burn, and they got it examined and found it to be a piece of salt pork!

Not Quite Persuaded.

"We like the idea of simplified spelling," says the editor of the Perkins Junction Palladium. "But we don't think we could ever become used to writing it: 'He wawkt down the ile, leeving the trax of his larj and muddee shues on the flore. The marx ar vissibl yet.'"

Georgetown, Ont., May 17.—George Bradley, a stonemason living here, attempted to board the Grand Trunk eastbound train while it was in motion, missed his footing and fell between the wheels and the platform. One of his heels was cut off and he was otherwise bruised about the body. The company's agent here states that Bradley had no transportation.

One of the Old Guard.

Montreal, May 17.—Abraham Bernard, one of the old guard of the Provincial Liberal party, and for some years member of the Legislative Assembly for the County of Verchores, died yesterday at Beloeil, at the age of 68. He served in the Assembly under Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere and the late Honore Mercier, and was replaced in 1886 by Mr. A. E. E. Luisier. He was a farmer. Has Taken to the Mountains as a Strategic Move.

He Will Continue the War From There—Americans Cannot Follow Him—Canadian and American Prisoners Released—The Spaniards to Evacuate Two Towns—An American Firm Sells Arms to the Filipino Insurgents.

London, May 17.—The Filipino Junta here informs the Associated Press that on receipt of the news saying all foreigners had been ordered from the Filipino lines, a cable message of inquiry was sent to Aguinaldo, who replied that the announcement was due to the statements of Mr. Higgins, the manager of the railroad, on his return to Manila, after several months residence in the Filipino lines. The Filipinos, it is added, ridicule the statement that Aguinaldo is a fugitive, and declare his retirement to the Carballos Mountains is part of his strategic plans, as the mountains are almost inaccessible, are inhabited by savages who use poisoned arrows, and that it is absolutely impossible for the Americans to follow him there.

Canadian and American Released.

Manila, May 17.—Messrs. Carrick and Holmes, the American and Canadian civilians captured at the Calumpit rice mill, have been released by the rebel general Luna, who saw them through his lines with several Englishmen, who received 48 hours' notice to leave rebel territory.

General Lawton's advanced force has left San Miguel and is moving in the direction of San Isidro. A rain storm impeded the progress of the troops and severed the line of communication when the force was within seven miles of its destination.

Spaniards to Evacuate.

Madrid, May 17.—General Rios, in command of the Spanish troops remaining in the Philippine Islands, has cabled to the War Office here announcing that he has entered into an agreement with Major-General Otis, the American commander, for an immediate Spanish evacuation of Zamboanga and Jolo. Consequently, the despatch adds, the steamer Leon XIII. has started with American troops, who will occupy Jolo and render honors to the Spanish flag on the departure of the Spanish troops.

Gold Before Patriotism.

New York, May 17.—A Berlin despatch to The Staats Zeitung says that word has been received from Hongkong that the members of the American firm of Smits & Company at Hongkong have suddenly left the city upon it being discovered they were supplying Aguinaldo with arms and ammunition.

First Washington, Beware!

Seattle, Wash., May 17.—Major Weinsenberg, commanding volunteers in the Philippines, writes that the Filipinos have offered a special reward to those who succeed in killing either an officer or private in the First Washington.

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

Program at the Great Conservative Demonstration at Sherbrooke, Que.

Montreal, May 17.—Hon. W. R. Ives was here yesterday, and spoke in very enthusiastic terms of the great Conservative demonstration to be held in Sherbrooke on the Queen's Birthday. Special trains will be run from Montreal and elsewhere, and thousands are expected to attend.

In the afternoon Hon. Thomas Chapais will speak in French to the outdoor gathering, and will be followed by Sir Charles Tupper. In the evening a banquet will be held, and some 10 or 15 members of the House of Commons will speak. The demonstration will be presided over by Mr. Rufus H. Pope, M.P., president of the Liberal-Conservative Association of the Eastern Townships.

Tarte Able to Travel.

Hon. J. Israel Tarte wired his son yesterday that he would likely be well enough to come down to Montreal to-day.

Laeknor and Breithaupt.

Berlin, Ont., May 17.—Nominations for North Waterloo bye-election to fill the vacancy in the Local House necessitated by the unseating of Dr. H. G. Laeknor, were held at the Court House here between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. L. J. Breithaupt, Berlin, and Dr. Laeknor were nominated, and by arrangement only the candidates addressed the meeting.

Fenton to Be Tried at Cobourg.

Toronto, May 17.—Counsel for Crown and for the defence have interviewed Mr. Justice Robertson as to the venue for the Fenton trial. No order was made, but his lordship formally assented to Cobourg, which would be agreeable to all parties. Fenton's bail is continued.

Bannockburn Aground.

Port Colborne, Ont., May 17.—The steamer Bannockburn, while entering the harbor yesterday afternoon, grounded between the piers, and is still on the bottom. Two tugs were unable to pull her off.

Dr. Fleck Is Dead.

London, Ont., May 17.—Dr. John R. Fleck, coroner for the city of London, died at his residence at noon yesterday.

TURMOIL IN THE TRANSVAAL

Sensational Arrest of Eight Former British Officers.

It Is Charged That the Prisoners Were in the Rand for the Purpose of Inciting Rebellion and That They Were Enlisting Men for This Purpose—Said That Their Roster Carried 2,000 Names.

Pretoria, Transvaal Republic, May 17.—The arrest at Johannesburg early yesterday morning of eight alleged former British officers, named Capt. Patterson, formerly of the Lancers; Col. R. F. Nicals, Lieut. F. J. Tremlett, C. A. Ellis, lately a private detective at Johannesburg; Lieut. Johnall, formerly of the Horse Artillery; Quartermaster Mitchell, Former Sergeant Fries and Former Sergeant R. P. Hooper, on the charge of high treason, has caused intense excitement here. The prisoners were brought to Pretoria by special train. After they had been lodged in jail they were visited by the British diplomatic agent here. The arrests were effected by a detective, who joined the movement, which, it is asserted, was for the purpose of enrolling men in order to cause an outbreak of rebellion. Incriminating documents were found upon the prisoners, and it is expected that further arrests will be made. None of them has been in the employ of the British South Africa Chartered Company.

It is said that the commissioner of police, who had the affair in hand, had been working up the case for four months. Mr. Beaty, the detective who effected the arrests, received his instructions last week, and secured the necessary warrants on Tuesday. The executive of the Transvaal was sitting in secret session last evening, considering the arrests.

Expressed Regrets to Kruger.

The British agent and charge d'affaires, Mr. Conyngham Green, had an interview with President Kruger yesterday afternoon and expressed regret that men who had worn the Queen's uniform should be concerned in such a movement.

President Kruger replied that he would not believe the prisoners were British officers until it had been proved, adding that he hoped the affair would not interfere with the proposed meeting between himself and Sir Alfred Milner, Governor of Cape Colony and British high commissioner for South Africa.

Charged With Conspiracy.

Cape Town, May 17.—According to advices from Pretoria, the charge against the prisoners is that while staying in the Rand privately, they were really engaged in enlisting men for the purposes of rebellion, when they were ready to give the signal. It is said that the enlistment roster included 2,000 men, and that a number of incriminating documents were found at the time the arrests were made.

A Sensation Certain.

London, May 17.—The advices from Johannesburg are also probably connected with a mysterious despatch received at Johannesburg from Pretoria on May 12, saying a special train, fully equipped with Boer artillerymen, guns and a searchlight apparatus, was being held in readiness at the capital of the Transvaal. The statement was then declared to be without significance, but yesterday's news throws a more serious light on the movement, and it is certain there will be a great sensation in London when the news of the arrests becomes generally known.

The Standard and Diggers' News, the Boer organ in London, has a despatch from Pretoria, which says that warrants were issued on Tuesday evening by the State Attorney and were executed at midnight.

Mr. Chamberlain Interviewed.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, who was interviewed in the lobby of the House of Commons last evening, said he had heard nothing officially regarding the arrests in the Transvaal, and did not think that too serious significance ought to be attached to them. No information had reached him from South Africa, he asserted, that could lead him in any way to anticipate or explain the arrests.

The news caused considerable excitement among the members of the House, but little disposition was manifested to credit the rumors of a rebellious conspiracy.

THE ODORLESS
CREMATORY CLOSETS.

I have been appointed Sole Agent for the Odorless Crematory Closet manufactured by the Crematry Closet and General Heating Co., of Hamilton.

This Closet has found a place in many of the best homes in the province, and all who have used it cannot speak too highly of its merits. Medical men speak of it from a sanitary point of view, claiming that, if health is any consideration, no home should be without one. Here are some of the

TESTIMONIALS

Allston, March 1st, 1898.

I have had one of your "Crematory Closets" in use now for several weeks and am glad to be able to say that I have found it entirely satisfactory in every respect. I have not been able to detect the slightest odor from it at any time and would not be without it. I am sure it must prove a great convenience to people in the country and in towns where water is not obtainable.

Yours respectfully, JAMES CONWAY.

Sheddon, February 28th, 1898.

I have used it for some time and find it perfectly odorless. It is a long felt want and I believe it will become very popular especially in rural districts, towns and villages where wells are so frequently contaminated by the ordinary closets. I am, yours, etc.,

The Daily Review.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17, 1899.

If the Conservative Senators continue to be called away from this mortal sphere, Mr Tarte and the Liberals will come to the conclusion that they were in error and that the Senate does not require reforming.

THE Globe's special cables announce that the tide of European immigration has set in towards Canada. This does not mean that there is any increase in the number of Irishmen, Scotchmen or Englishmen that are coming, but the "tide" is represented by Galacians and Doukhobors.

MR. Sifton seems to find it a much easier and probably a more pleasant task to "lay on the table" of the House returns regarding what has been done by Government officials in past years in taking up and purchasing lands in the Northwest than he does to give full details regarding the conduct of officials in the Yukon in more recent times. Why would this be the case? Is it a hard question to answer?

SOME fifty thousand more Galicians are on their way to this continent, masses of them to settle in Canada and others to settle in the United States. In addition, new consignments of Doukhobors are coming, and an assortment of Armenians is booked for the Northwest. This immigration is aided by the $5 per head allowance made by the Federal Government. In knowsnothingism we do not believe; we ought to welcome foreigners who will assimilate to our unoccupied lands. But the introduction with unwonted freedom and in vast numbers of nationalities that will not become Canadian is not a hopeful sign. The United States had to check this influx, and our Government would be far better engaged in keeping Canadians in Canada than in bonusing foreigners who will remain such to take the places of the natives who are exiled.—Mail and Empire.

Seized the Silk Goods.

Toronto, May 17.—Customs officers yesterday seized two trunks at the Albion Hotel, which were filled with silk waists, valued at $300. They belonged to a young woman who registered as Ida A. Butler, Hamilton. She claims that she has brought many just such articles over and has always paid the duty. No officials interfered with her on the last trip and she simply came through from Niagara Falls to Toronto without saying anything to anyone. The owner has carried on a business of selling the waists in British Columbia for some time past.

glesey, as to whether the Government had received any information regarding the arrests, Mr. Chamberlain said he had seen the press despatches, but that no official information was at hand.

Rhodes Knows Nothing of It.

Mr. Cecil Rhodes, the former Premier of Cape Colony, and resident director in South Africa of the British Chartered South Africa Company, who was recently elected president of the South Africa League, informs the Associated Press that he has heard nothing regarding the arrests made at Johannesburg, and that he knows nothing about the reason for which they were made.

Comments of the Papers.

All the morning papers devote their principal editorials to the arrests in the Transvaal, counselling a postponement of conclusions until the facts of the case are ascertained, and declining to believe that English officers or subjects have been guilty of what The Standard terms "such treasonable folly."

The Daily Mail says: "The conditions are that of a boiler with furnaces at full blast and safety valves screwed down. No conspiracy can flourish while freedom exists, and the Kruger policy will inevitably produce resistance."

The Times, which repudiates the idea that the prisoners are of weight among the British Uitlanders, or represent important interests of any kind at Johannesburg, suggests that President Kruger has been imposed upon by his own detectives.

Gives Up Sunday Paper.

London, May 17.—Mr. Alfred Harmsworth, editor and proprietor of The Daily Mail, announces this morning that the publication of a Sunday edition of the paper, only recently initiated, will be suspended. In the place of it The Daily Mail will appear on Saturday as an illustrated edition.

The Hague Conference.

The Hague, May 17.—The peace conference here should have opened yesterday according to program, but the first official sitting will not take place until to-morrow.

DO NOT WANT TO BE TIED UP.

The Niagara Falls Council States Its Views on Power Question.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 17.—At a special meeting of the Niagara Falls Town Council held yesterday noon for the purpose of discussing the proposed new agreement that the Ontario Government was likely to make with the American Power Company, the following resolution was carried unanimously and ordered to be telegraphed to the Attorney-General, which was done in the afternoon:

"Moved by Alderman Hanan, seconded by Alderman Stephens, that the following resolution be wired to the Lieut.-Governor-in-Council of Ontario:

Resolved, That the Council of the town of Niagara Falls respectfully protests against any provision in the proposed Agreement with the Canadian Niagara Power Company which will have the effect of binding the Province of Ontario or the Queen Victoria Niagara Falls Park commissioners to any line of action as to future agreement respecting power or otherwise, and suggest that, if the province aforesaid, or the said commissioners, deem it wise to grant more favorable terms to any other person, persons or corporation, that the same rates be applicable to the said Canadian Niagara Power Company, provided the said company have developed, or will develop, the same amount of power as specified in the agreement with such other person, persons or corporation.

A Young Life Crushed Out.

Windsor, Ont., May 17.—The 2½-year-old child of James McGarvin of this town wandered into the street yesterday at noon. Just as a heavy wagon drawn by a team of horses happened around the corner the child stumbled and fell, and in an instant the little life was crushed out by the horses' hoofs. One of the great wheels of the wagon passed over the breast of the child, breaking every rib in the little body. She uttered no cry and the driver passed on, unconscious of the accident.

Vipond Has Been Punished.

Bracebridge, Ont., May 17.—Joseph Vipond was brought here yesterday from Barrie Jail to be tried before Justice Ferguson on a charge of seduction. He is the first prisoner that has been confined so long in Barrie Jail without trial. There was no Assize Court here last fall, but there was in Barrie, and the general jail delivery there was only a supposition, for Vipond was not dealt with. This kind of British justice is being criticised about here just now.

Horrible Cruelty.

Atlanta, Ga., May 17.—Winnie Roach, a mulatto woman, came near being lynched by a mob of negroes last night. The crime with which she and her husband were charged was brutally burning their four children nearly to death by igniting paper saturated with kerosene, with which their bodies had been wrapped. One of the children had all the flesh burned from her legs in several places, and will die. The other three are badly burned.

THUNDERER BACKS CANADA.

It Reminds Americans That the Main Interests Involved Are Canadian.

London, May 17.—(Montreal Star Special.)—If British opinion remains unprejudiced against Canada in the matter of the Anglo-American commission it will not be the fault of the New York and Washington correspondents. Their daily theme in the English journals is Canada's obstreperousness, and her refusal to co-operate with British and American statesmen in a fair settlement.

The Times' New York correspondent varies this attitude yesterday by quoting The New York Sun's declaration, or Sir Wilfrid Laurier's fear, that Sir Charles Tupper is the real cause of Canada's intractability. Other Washington despatches welcome Sir Julian Pauncefote's return to London as an indication that the Imperial Government means to wave Canada to one side. The Times, however, in an editorial, disabuses the American mind by a reminder that the main interests involved are Canadian, and that imperial interests are only secondary. "Give and take is," it says, "the very essence of the negotiations, but it would be futile and mischeivous for the Imperial Government to press upon Canada conditions which she cannot regard as at least a fair working compromise."

More Doukhobors.

Two thousand and seventy-eight more Doukhobors left Batoum on the steamer Lake Huron on May 12 for Quebec, under arrangements made by the Canadian Pacific Railway. This makes over 7,000 of these people settling in the Canadian Northwest in the past few months.

BRITISH OCCUPY KOWLOON.

Fifty Welsh Fusiliers Left in Possession of the Place.

Hongkong, May 17.—Part of the British troops sent into the disturbed territory near here have returned after taking possession of Kowloon city. The Chinese garrison was disarmed, the British flag was hoisted without disturbance and 50 men of the Welsh Fusilier Regiment were left to garrison the town. No news has been received from the hinterland expedition.

A Noble Bad Woman.

St. Petersburg, May 17.—A trial which has caused a great sensation here, owing to the high station of the prisoner, has just been concluded. The evidence disclosed that the accused, Maria Marshwiska, a woman of noble birth, had led an extraordinary career of intrigue and crime. The court found her guilty of poisoning her lover and two women, owing to jealousy; with kidnapping a child and with forging documents and bills of exchange. She was sentenced to 15 years' penal servitude in Siberia and to be deprived of her title of nobility.

A Jovial Count Wanted to Die.

London, May 17.—Special despatches from Vienna say it is reported there that Count Badeni, the former Prime Minister of Austria, recently tried to commit suicide on account of losses sustained on the race course. The fortune of the former Premier has been estimated at $2,500,000. In manner he is described as being a jovial and generous man.

ROCKEFELLER CONTROLS ALL.

Standard Oil Trust Is Practically a One-Man Power.

Washington, May 17.—Attorney-General Frank S. Monett of Ohio was before the industrial commission yesterday as a witness in the trust investigation. His testimony related almost exclusively to the Standard Oil Trust, against which he has been proceeding in his official capacity in Ohio. Mr. Monett gave the figures, showing the capital stock of the 20 companies comprising the trust, as well as their valuation, showing the capitalization to amount in the aggregate to $102,283,000, and the valuation is $121,631,000. He said the trust could make its dividends whatever it desired them to be, as it controlled completely the retail price of oil. Mr. Monett told of the distribution of the stock of the trust, saying that the trustees held 466,269 of the 700,000 shares, and that Mr. John D. Rockefeller, as chairman of the trustees, held a majority of the stock thus distributed, giving him the balance of power.

"This gives him absolute, individual control?" remarked Mr. North, to which Mr. Monett replied: "Yes, it is practically a one-man power."

Mr. Monett insisted that the way to control the trusts was to control the transportation companies, which, he thought, the courts could do, and if the courts could not do this the charters of the roads should be taken from them. The Government had no more right to permit discrimination or other abuses by the railroad companies in the interest of monopolies than it had to permit counterfeiting.

Speaking of the earnings of the oil trust, Mr. Monett estimated that the gross receipts were $120,000,000 a year on the Ohio product alone, and said that all was profit over four cents a gallon on refined oil.

Comet Cycle Company.

Toronto, May 17.—A meeting of the creditors of the Comet Cycle Company was held yesterday. The assets of the estate, according to the statement presented, were $33,057, and the total liabilities $92,180, thus showing a good surplus. The company made an offer which would give the creditors about 50 cents on the dollar, and this will be considered. Inspectors were appointed.

Young Man Drowned.

Vancouver, B.C., May 17.—Charles Albert May, the 18-year-old son of Chief Engineer May of Tait's Mill on False Creek, was drowned yesterday. He was working on the mill booms, and, slipping, fell off into the water. He must have struck his head, for he was found drowned a short time later in comparatively shallow water.

A HARD-WORKED MAN.

Hon. David Mills Daily at Work Till Midnight "Licking Into Shape" the Redistribution Bill.

Ottawa, May 17.—Hon. David Mills is a very hard-worked man nowadays trying to "lick into shape" the redistribution bill which Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal papers are trying to represent as being so "fair" and "just" and "simple" that every Conservative is expected to fall in love with it the moment it is brought down. Mr. Mills is believed to be endeavoring to frame a fair measure, but his "wicked partners" are understood to be more anxious to "hive the Tories" than to exhibit any great amount of "fairness."

That the Government is experiencing some difficulty in getting the bill into shape is shown by the fact that Mr. Mills is working in his office every night until nearly midnight, and the admission by a very prominent supporter of the Government who is "assisting" in the tinkering, that the bill will not be down before Friday, if then.

DUNCAN BOLE ON TRIAL.

The Poll Books Were Lost—The Case Postponed.

St. Thomas, Ont., May 17.—The trial of Duncan Bole of Sault Ste. Marie, who acted as deputy returning officer at Shedden at the bye-election in January last, took place at Shedden yesterday morning before J. C. Schlichauf, J.P. Mr. Heyd, for the prisoner, asked that the first two charges be dismissed. The charges are as follows: First, that Duncan Bole did deposit in the ballot box a ballot that he should not have deposited there; second, that the said Bole did, without due authority, supply a ballot paper to Joseph T. Moore of politig sub-division No. 4, Southwold. After a lot of argument on the part of the counsel, the magistrate dismissed these two charges. The remaining charges, of altering ballots and poll books, were taken up in the afternoon, and, as the poll books were not in court, an adjournment was made for one week.

VICTIMS OF THE IRON HORSE.

Earl of Strafford Among Those Killed on the Railway on Tuesday.

Rat Portage, May 17.—C.P.R. Sectionman Love, father of Engineer George Love of this town, while working on the track near Whitemouth was struck by an engine and instantly killed.

Jammed to Death.

Sudbury, May 17.—Sylvester Scharf was jammed between two cars here and sustained injuries which brought about his death. He was 26 years of age and his home was at Templeton, near Ottawa.

Earl of Strafford Killed.

London, May 17.—The Earl of Strafford, who married Mrs. Samuel J. Colgate in Grace Church, New York, last December, was instantly killed last evening at Potterbar by the Cambridge express.

Charge of Bigamy.

Winnipeg, May 17.—At the court yesterday Alex. H. Delaney of Crystal City was brought up on a charge of bigamy. It appeared he was married in Ontario in 1889, and lived with his wife for about four years, when he left and came to this province. In August last he married a woman living in Cartwright. It is said that his first wife had been insane before his marriage, though he did not know it, and she had a return of the same disease after they were married. He did not know at the time of his second marriage whether his first wife was living or dead, but has since found out she was living. However, she has since died, so there are no legal impediments now to defendant and the second wife being legally married, which they are anxious to do. The accused elected to be tried speedily, and his trial was fixed for June 2.

SICK WOMEN

are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter, without fee or charge of any kind. Dr. Pierce is a specialist in the diseases of women. He has treated over half-a-million women for diseases of the womanly organs and ninety-eight out of every hundred women he has treated have been absolutely and perfectly cured. Every letter received by Dr. Pierce, is treated as a purely personal and private communication and its contents guarded as a sacred confidence. All answers to these letters are sent in sealed envelopes bearing upon them no printing or advertising whatever.

Write to the doctor. It is no use for sick women to write to a man unless he is a doctor. It is no use to "write to a woman" unless the woman is a doctor. Write to a woman about cookery or any branch of housekeeping, because she is a woman and knows. But it is of no use to write to a woman about disease unless she has a doctor's training and diploma. A woman who isn't a doctor is just as dangerous as a man who isn't a doctor, when she undertakes to treat disease.

There is no qualified woman physician so far as is known connected with any proprietary medicine put up for women. Even the "bearded woman," the man who advertises "write to a woman" is not a qualified physician and stands too much in fear of the law to claim that he is.

There is no other physician, male or female, who, like Dr. Pierce has a record of over thirty years, as chief consulting physician of a well known institution, making a specialty of the private treatment of women's diseases.

Write to the doctor—Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Women realize Dr. Pierce's ability when they read his great work the Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages; sent free on receipt of stamps to defray cost of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-bound edition, or 50 stamps for cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

TESTIMONY

I, GEO. W. HILL, of the city of Windsor in the County of Essex do solemnly declare that I have been troubled with Rheumatism for years and treated by four of the leading Doctors of this City, but received no relief. I was recommended by a friend to try Dr. Marchaux's No. 44, and after six weeks treatment I am able to be out again and follow my occupation as contractor and carpenter. Previous to taking your medicine I was totally disabled. I have lived here for 19 years and my friends are surprised to see me out again. Wishing you success,

I remain, Yours Truly,
GEO. W. HILL.

He Was Ready to Sing.

Brignoli once agreed to sing a solo at St. Agnes' Church, New York City. He came in late, and after divesting himself of many coverings, tumbling over music racks, and exasperating the choir by trying his voice, he came to the conclusion that he was ready, says The National Review. By this time, however, the sermon had commenced, but Brignoli, unabashed, leaned over the choir railings and tried to attract the attention of the preacher by shaking his head and gesticulating with his hands. At last he called out in a voice which was audible for some distance: "Me ready for se sing! Stoppa se preach!" And the priest actually cut the sermon in order to accommodate the impatient tenor, whose voice now rang out with such fervor as to thrill the worshipers and justify the sacrifice.

Brave Men Fall.

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents, at any Drug Store. Every bottle guaranteed.

An Uncomfortable Superstition.

A very uncomfortable superstition prevails in the Minieh province in Egypt. Whenever a pigeon house is to be made, the fellahin consider that the pottery used in its construction should be baked by the help of a human body. A pigeon house was to be erected recently at the village of Beni Somrook, in this province, and this necessary preliminary of its construction was not forgotten. A young child was first caught and in spite of its struggles was put in an oven and burned alive while the pottery was baked with the aid of this human holocaust. Two men, one of them a potter by trade, have been arrested on suspicion of having taken part in this old custom.—Cairo Egyptian Gazette.

PRINCESS GOWNS.

They Are Employed For Weddings and Other Festal Wear.

Princess gowns are not to be worn by very plump or very slender women. A tall, well rounded figure is required for them and a graceful carriage. Without these accessories the princess gown loses its charm and is decidedly unbecoming. Wedding gowns are made in this style whenever the figure of the bride warrants it, and the lining, like the outside, must have no seam at the waist line, but extend unbroken from top to foot. Faille or taffeta is the usual lining chosen, and when the outside material is of but moderate quality an interlining of thin flannel is used to give richness.

Where the princess gown is draped in front it is always easy to arrange the fastening, which may be concealed by the decoration or placed under the left arm. If the trimming does not admit of this, the fastening may be in the middle of the back by means of lacings or buttons and buttonholes. The latter method is the newest. The row of buttons is not carried up to the collar, a yoke, chemisette or fichu being so arranged as to break the line of buttons before it reaches the top.

Today's illustration shows a costume of bright red cloth. The tight skirt is entirely plain. The coat bodice has long, square tabs or basques descending to the foot of the skirt and bordered with flat bands of velvet. Similar bands decorate the bodice, mingled with black velvet buttons. The bodice opens over a blouse front of red cloth, the pointed opening at the top of the blouse being bordered with black velvet bands. The collar and plastron are of white silk. The sleeves are trimmed with velvet and buttons at the top and the wrists. The hat of black chip is trimmed with black plumes and a knot of red velvet fastened by a gold buckle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

As a short and straightforward proposal, nothing has ever surpassed that of the youth who, on entering the room, knelt down before the lady and, producing a ring from his pocket, said, "May I?"

Victor Hugo was a great believer in the shower bath for brain workers and spoke of the benefit he derived from it.

A Question.

How can we raise more corn to the acher? Why, of course by using Putnam's Corn Extractor. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor has given universal satisfaction, for it is sure, safe and painless. Like every article of real merit it has a host of imitators, and we would specially warn the public to guard against those dangerous substitutes offered for the genuine Putnam's Extractor. N. C. Polson & Co., proprietors, Kingston.

"The Boot of Dukeronomy."

A nervous curate the other day announced from the reading desk, "Here beginneth the second chapter of the duke of Booteronomy." His vicar looked severely at him, and the young man blushed, coughed and repeated. "The boot of Dukeronomy."

There must have been germs of mispronunciation lurking in the air, for at a later period in the service the vicar read out, "I publish the manns of barriage," etc.

The curate beamed with satisfaction in spite of the solemnity of the occasion.—Household Words.

Exile Necessary.

Doctor—Your husband must have complete rest.

Wife—I know it. I talk to him seven or eight hours every day so as to keep his mind off business.

Doctor—On second thought, madam, I conclude that the one chance for your husband is to take him to the hospital with instructions that no one but the trained nurse and myself be admitted.—Detroit Free Press.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at James Lynch's Drug Store as their giving away to their many customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable remedy, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases are quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size 50c. and $1.00. Every bottle warranted.

WONDER OF SCIENCE.

SURGERY'S GREAT TRIUMPH IN THE CASE OF MRS. WHITNEY.

Rescued From Almost Certain Death by a New Method of Treatment—Her Neck Was Dislocated, Practically Broken, About a Year Ago, and She Still Lives.

Although such wonderful progress has been made in surgery during the last 20 years, in no case has a greater triumph been obtained than in that of Mrs. William C. Whitney, whose neck was dislocated, practically broken, about a year ago, near Aiken, S.C., in a hunting field. Her horse, at a gallop, carried her under a low bridge where her head came in contact with one of the stringers and she was thrown, unconscious, to the ground. When raised, her head was found to be bent backward until the curve of the chin, which pointed upward, had become almost a straight line. With returning consciousness came the knowledge that she was completely paralyzed below the point of injury. Between two displaced vertebrae the spinal cord was imprisoned. Although the brain was in perfect working order, its messages could not be transmitted to other parts of the body, because the telegraph line was not in working order.

It has, until recently, been believed that in such cases the cord gradually degenerated and that inevitably exhaustion and death soon followed.

Mr. Whitney immediately wired to New York for physicians. The special train which bore Dr. Dana beat the express schedule by ten hours. Special beds and appliances followed. It was soon determined by the position of the head that the injury existed between the second and third cervical vertebrae.

Mrs. Whitney's head was at once placed in a cast of plaster of paris, that no movement of the head and neck might be possible. A harness, completely inclosing the head, held it rigid. To this was attached a cord which ran over a pulley. At its end was a weight which gently pulled upon the displaced vertebrae. When it was seen to be necessary to remove the patient to New York, a car was remodeled so that no sudden stops, quick runs or backward jerks could jar her bed.

After reaching home the X rays were for the first time used to ascertain the full extent of the injury. Lying day after day upon her back, confined in a harness always pulling slightly on the dislocated vertebrae, a beautiful yacht, which was a little floating hospital, bore Mrs. Whitney from her Long Island home to which she had been carried, to Bar Harbor and back. She was not allowed to suffer from ennui. Everything that could be done was devised for her entertainment. A private race track came into existence, where skilled riders upon fine horses competed before her eyes. Golf links, tennis courts and things that could promise amusement followed. Then came architects to design a new house, and Mrs. Whitney will soon be enjoying one of the loveliest homes in New York City. The weight-bearing harness has now been removed and its place taken by a sort of sling called by surgeons a "jury-mast," which brings the weight of the head on the shoulders, while it takes all pressure from the neck. Mrs. Whitney sits up and even walks a little, and as soon as her new house is ready she expects to take her old places in society. It is said that there is no previous record of any case where a patient so severely injured has recovered.

Frose the Quicksand.

"When I was out among the hills of northern India," said the major, "I had an experience that I wonder didn't turn my hair gray. I was camped all alone on the side of the Ganges and had occasion to go for some water. Before I knew where I was I had stepped right into a quicksand. I knew what was up at once and knew that I was gone. As I stood there with that horrible sand dragging at me like some living monster I turned colder and colder. Do what I could my teeth would keep on clattering, though I knew that every vibration of my jaw was shaking me farther down into that ready made grave. Suddenly I noticed that I had stopped sinking."

"Struck the bottom, eh?"

"Certainly not; I had grown so cold from horror and fear—I may as well admit—that I actually froze the water in the quicksand."

If It Hadn't Been Sunday.

"Had it not been the Sabbath day," said a Perthshire preacher to an elder "between the preachin's," "I would just have asked ye how the hay was selling in Perth on Friday."

"Well, sir," said the elder, "had it no been the day it is I wad jest hae tell't ye it was gaun at a shillin the stane."

"Indeed! Well, had it been Monday instead of the Sabbath I would have told ye I have some to sell."

"Umph, aye, ou aye, sir! And had it been Monday, as ye say, then I wad jest hae tell't ye I wad gie ye the market price for it."

The elder's carts were at the manse early on Monday morning, and the preacher's haystack vanished like a highland mist.

George's Teeth.

The American Journal of Dental Science for 1843 states that George Washington lost most of his natural teeth at an early age, relying upon the art and skill of one Mr. John Greenwood, a distinguished dentist of New York, to make good the deficiency.

Washington's artificial teeth were manufactured from the ivory of the tusk of the elephant, the only material at that time employed for the purpose.

An Episcopal Joke.

The Isis tells a story about the bishop of Oxford. The bishop was at a meeting engaged in auditing the accounts of a sectarian school. Among the items was one of £50 for an "occasional monitor." One of the persons present asked the bishop what an "occasional monitor" was. He is reported to have answered, "I suppose that is the nonconformist conscience."

Women's Shirt Waists

Are as good a test of a store as any other one thing. They are a better test than most things. It is easy for a dealer with slip shod methods to get ill-fitting Shirt Waists of poor patterns and last season's shapes. They generally do the easy thing.

Some makers are famous for the style and fit they get into every garment they make. It costs them no more to turn out such goods than to produce the sloppy, slouchy sorts. It really costs them less—they waste less. These are the makers we hunt out. It is THEIR work we show you here. Their economies may be your gain—more than a money gain too.

Here are shirt waists of English Cambrics, American Percales, French Muslins, Anderson's Scotch Zephers, American Dimitties, Manchester Piques and Swiss Muslins, in STRIPES, up and down and roundabout, CHECKS straight and bias. Floral stripes relieved from their set designs by dainty frills and insertions, others by white tucked yokes and Valenciennes Lace. Most of them have the newly rounded collars and cuffs of the same material, others have the white rounded collars and cuffs. When you see and think of the stuffs these blouses are composed of and the work on them, and the style that is cut and sewed and ironed into every one of them you will be convinced that the prices are right and the character of Shirt Waists you had hoped to find are here.

THE SANFORD MEDAL.

A Reference from the Guardian to Mr R E Spence, Formerly of Town.

Christian Guardian:—The Sanford gold medal presented to R E Spence (at the Victoria convocation) for general proficiency, the Isaiah, Reformer and Statesman. The presentation was made by Rev Dr Meacham who has labored for many years in the missionary field of Japan, to a classmate of the winner, Mr Spence himself being absent on missionary work in the Rockies. Rev Dr Meacham expressed pleasure at the fact that a young man of the evident superior tastes and attainments of Mr Spence was willing to take his place and do his share of the work in the mission field.

ROAD ROLLER HERE

The Steam Road Roller of the Harrisburg Co. Arrives in Town.

The now famous steam road roller—for which our town fathers fought and bled—is here at the C. P. R. station, where it awaits unloading. It is a ponderous affair and looks to be in weight quite equal of the fifteen tons it is said to weigh. It will be taken from the car on the arrival of the expert from the Harrisburg works and given a trial. At present the upper works and engines are covered with a tarpaulin and a liberal coat of grease paint, some of which adhered to several inquisitive citizens who went prowling about it during the afternoon. When the road roller strikes the front street with steam up and all colors flying, it will need a wide berth and few horses hitched to the sides of the street.

TWO BOYS WENT OVER THE SLIDE

HEROIC BUT UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT OF A SMALL BOY.

Eight-Year-Old Son of Mr Cornelius Wall Drowned in the Otonabee—His Brother Makes a Brave Effort at Rescue.

"Joe," the eight year old son of Mr. Con. Wall, who lives on Driscoll-st., Ashburnham, was drowned about two o'clock this afternoon by being carried over the slide of the Rogers dam, which extends across the river from just back of the old Brodie mill to the extremity of Douro-st., Ashburnham.

The two Wall boys, Eddie, aged 10, and Joe, aged 8 years, were engaged in carrying light pieces of wood from the big sawdust dump on the town side of the river to their home on the Ashburnham side. Over the slide there is a foot bridge which is not intended for general use but is used by some pedestrians for a short out. Under it the water rushes over the slide with terrible swiftness and falls, raging and foaming, into the bed of the river. It would be a terrible place for the strongest swimmer to brave.

The two boys first crossed a plank over a raceway, then walked along a sawdust strip and came to the bridge. The step up to this from the sawdust is quite high. There is no railing or other protection along the side of the bridge. It appears that the older boy was leading and was up on the bridge with his armful of wood. The younger one tripped as he stepped up with his wood and was thrown forward, going down into the water about six feet below, just as it begins to rush over the slide. His sticks fell on the bridge and the brother heard the fall and heard the little fellow strike the water.

Without a moment's hesitation he plunged in afterwards and grabbed his brother as the two were carried swiftly over the slide. It was indeed a heroic act. Eddie was a good swimmer, while Joe could swim but a few strokes. But in the boiling eddy below the slide the brave lad was forced to let go to save himself and he lost sight of Joe.

About sixty yards below the dam a sawdust bank projects out somewhat and the water is shallow. The older boy succeeded in swimming the eddy and reached this, when he waded out and gave the alarm. He never saw his brother after he let go his hold. Indeed it is a wonder that he was able to save himself.

A number of persons were on the spot in a short time and watched anxiously for some sign of the body in the eddying torrent. No trace of it appeared and the conclusion was reach that it had passed below the bar and was carried down the river. Boats were got out and searching was commenced, but the spot is a very difficult one to navigate.

Marion Brown, the Peg-Leg, Was Hanged at London This Morning.

Special to the Review.

London, May 17.—Marion Brown was hanged this morning for the murder of Constable Toohey on June 24, 1898.

Yesterday the prisoner requested that the Salvation Army people be allowed to hold a song service, and this was done continually up to 2.30 this morning. Fred Matthews and Rev Mr Walker remained in the cell all night, praying with the prisoner. Brown put in most of the time praying and singing and at 3 o'clock he lay down on his bed, but slept little, getting up at daybreak and joining in the services.

Brown made a confession to Rev Dr Johnston, but requested that nothing be made public. The drop fell at 8.01 a m.

MARRIED LADIES GIVE A SOCIAL

A BIG CROWD WELL ENTERTAINED AT GEORGE-ST. CHURCH.

The Married Women Keep Open House—A Satirical Burlesque on the Enfranchisement of Men—Cakes and Coffee—The Whole a Big Success.

The married ladies of the George-st. church—there are no women nowadays—gave a social in the basement of the church last night and that the public has full confidence in them in every way was shown by the very large audience that assembled. It is woman's immemorable right and privilege to please and the art is known in all its developments to the matrons who conducted the affair last evening. Their bearers were appreciative at all times. The ladies, old, young and middle aged, took their parts with as much grace and self-possessions as so many operatic prima donnas. Indeed it is a wonder that so much ability has been allowed to lie idle at the George-st. church.

Everything was done by the aforesaid ladies. A strong guard received the money at the door, where over sixty dollars was located, and attentive ladies ushered the guests to their seats. About 8.30 Mrs Meharry took the chair. The programme consisted of three parts—a musical part, a mock parliament and a feed, generally known as refreshments. Each was better than the foregoing. The first number was a hymn by a chorus of the ladies, and was followed by a unison prayer. The next was a chorus by about fifty of the ladies "Roll, Jordan, Roll." In response to an enthusiastic encore they gave "Home Sweet Home." A number of the elderly ladies, Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Shields, Mrs. C. Miller, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Lumsden, and Mrs. Cunningham, took the leading parts and, nicely costumed in caps and light shawls, the effect was quaint and very pleasing. A vocal solo was rendered by Mrs. F. A. Turner and Mrs. Kendry gave a motherly reading "The Bald Headed Tyrant," that was loudly applauded. An excellent solo and chorus followed, Mrs. Wm. Bellegham taking the solo in good voice. Mrs. Stewart sang a lullaby song which merited and received an encore and Mrs. Moore gave a recitation "That Last Hymn," which was one of the best things of the evening. It was rendered in most creditable style. Then came the best number, a medley of national and popular airs by a chorus of about fifty of the ladies. It was a splendid blending of all the old favorites, Scotch, Irish, British, Darkey and popular airs being nicely mingled. The applause threatened to bring down the ceiling when Auld Lang Syne brought the chorus to a close and it had to be

THE REPORT OF THE INSTRUCTOR

CLOSE OF THE MECHANICAL DRAWING CLASS AT THE LIBRARY.

The Report Submitted at the Closing of the Class Shows Gratifying Progress in the Studies—The Results of the Examinations.

In view of the interest attaching to the subject of technical education, a matter which has aroused considerable debate in the province at large, the report of the instructor of the class in mechanical drawing conducted in connection with the Public library, published below, is interesting. It shows that as far as the educational benefit is concerned the results of the season's work are most gratifying. While those who joined the class have been diligent and regular in attendance the number who took advantage of the school is more limited than might be expected in a town where industrial pursuits form the occupation of such a large proportion of the people as they do in Peterborough. The existence of this class is an opportunity for scientific training of practical value that the mechanics of town should take full advantage. It would be a good sign to see the number in attendance doubled next season. The benefits are great and the fee is but nominal. The education is practically free. The report is as follows:

W. H. Hill, Esq.,
Chairman of Class Committee Peterborough Public Library:

Report of Instructor of class in Machine Drawing, Peterborough Public Library, 1898-9.

Dear Sir,—Before noting the more important matters connected with the work of the class in Machine Drawing during the session of 1898-9, permit me to refer to some of the difficulties encountered in carrying on the work. I am continually meeting those who are eligible pupils who say that they were unaware of the particular advantages afforded by our class. It seems to me that the class is not sufficiently advertised and kept before the artisans of town. The means used in this direction last October proved almost entirely a failure, judging from the fact that the recent members were all intending to take the work before the handbills were distributed; and I am not aware that any connected themselves with us through the instrumentality of the handbills. That there are men, and great numbers of them too, who are interested in education of this kind is clearly shown by the remarkable success of the Scranton Correspondence schools in obtaining upwards of 115 pupils in Peterborough. This is indeed an exceedingly large proportion of our artisans, and, when we consider that a course in the Scranton school costs $40 or more, while ours is practically free might it not be well, by way of increasing our pupils in numbers at least, to consider some of the methods adopted by a firm that is in the field to make money.

The lithograph plates of mechanical drawings now in the class room for examples are rather antiquated. Methods and designs have changed rapidly during the past few years, and there is not more than one plate fit to give a beginner as an example. This is a disadvantage and this year I have been put to the trouble and expense of preparing drawings myself.

The number of pupils in attendance was, as you are already aware, much smaller than it ought to have been. At the commencement I was desirous of severing my connection with the class, having foreseen the improbability of a large membership, but I have, at your request, finished the session.

The members have been divided into two classes—a senior and a junior. The names, ages, occupations and attendance of all the pupils are given. The ages in the senior class range from 19 to 25, and in the junior from 17 to 22.

I am sorry that one member, Roy, left the class and did not finish the year's work. After attending 18 lessons Dawson was obliged to give up through night work at the William Hamilton shops. R. D. Collins went to Hamilton before the end of the session. I have to refer with regret to the loss the class sustained by the death of Mr. H. J. Burns. With these members accounted for there were twenty sets of papers to be handed in at the final examinations. Nineteen papers were actually submitted to the examiners.

The local examinations, over which Messrs. Greenwood and Ferguson presided, were held on April 20th. I attach herewith copies of the papers set. As you are aware the progress and application of the members can better be judged by this examination which is set to fairly cover the season's work, than by the departmental paper set by entire strangers in a subject which covers a very wide field. The results of this examination speak for themselves. The examiners have favored me with the percentages, which I am forwarding to the superintendent of Art schools and Public libraries at Toronto.

The departmental examinations were held April 27th, Mr. Walker being presiding examiner. The paper set was rather difficult, but I trust that the candidates have acquitted themselves creditably.

Permit me to refer to the interest taken in the work by the whole class. As one instance I would say that I have forwarded to the Superintendent of Art schools and public libraries 8 drawings in competition for the silver medal awarded by the Educational Department for the best specimen of machine drawing from models. These drawings, by the regulations, had to be prepared by the students from the object, without assistance. I trust we shall have further of these drawings.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WALTER J. FRANCIS,
Instructor.

PILES FOR 15 YEARS.

Mr. Jas. Bowles, Councillor, Embro, Ont., writes: "For over 15 years I suffered the misery of bleeding, protruding piles. The many remedies I tried all failed. I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and must say that the first application gave relief, after the third day the bleeding stopped and two boxes cured me completely."

means a cricketer only, as most people believe. He is, as was his father, a capable surgeon and an able practitioner.

As a lad in Gloucestershire his father, who was an expert cricketer himself, taught young William the art of wielding the bat as well as the scalpel. William's uncle also took part in the lad's cricket education. Thus he did not lack the best preceptors. Dr. Grace began his record-making when he was 16 years old, and has been at it ever since, although he is now 50. He is a superb specimen of English strong manhood, and there is no man so well qualified to write a book about cricket, whether the qualification be literary or sporting, as is the old champion.

"A Female Stranger."

In St. Paul's churchyard, in Alexandria, Va., is a marble tombstone bearing this inscription:

To the memory of a female stranger:
How loved, how honored once avails thee not;
To whom related or by whom begot;
A heap of dust alone remains of thee.
'Tis all thou art, and all the proud shall be.

This strange inscription raised much conjecture. The facts, as nearly as known, are that in May, 1816, a man and a beautiful girl, accompanied by a valet, arrived at Alexandria in an English vessel. They shunned every one. Five months afterward the girl died. The husband staid long enough to erect a monument, left a sum of money to repair it and then sailed away and was never heard of again. Several novels have been founded upon this sad and romantic incident.

CHAPTER II.

"HE GUARDED HIS TREASURE JEALOUSLY."

The Jocelyns of Glynn ranked as one of the oldest families in England. They did not boast of having "come over with the Conqueror"—they were there when he arrived. A good old Saxon family, proud of a pedigree that has few equals; for the old musty records, kept zealously by the present squire in the strong-room at Glynn, tell of good service rendered to king and state—of right brave deeds done by noble men—of stainless lives and heroic deaths.

Kings and queens both offered titles to them; they might have been barons of Glynn, lords of Woodale, but that each one liked best the simple, time-honored name of "squire." They thought nothing grander; the world had no higher rank than that their fathers had so nobly borne. Times had been when the Jocelyns were a numerous family, the younger branches increasing and multiplying; but that was no longer the case, they had died out, as old families will, and the present squire was the last man of his race.

They had been exceedingly rich; they had owned more than half of the fair country of which Glynn is the chief pride; but some of the property had been confiscated, and some portion lost.

Nevertheless, the squire of Glynn was a wealthy man; the broad lands of Glynn were his, and the fair, fertile estate of Woodale. His rent-roll reached fifteen thousand per annum, and he was well satisfied with his share of this world's goods.

Yet he had not been altogether a prosperous or happy man. He had known some great sorrows in his life.

He married young. His wife's portrait hangs where the sunbeams fall bright on the walls of the grand picture-gallery, and the squire goes every day to see it. He loved his wife, and no other during the whole course of his life. Their marriage was not all happiness; the squire's great wish was for a son and heir; there had never been a time yet when the Jocelyns of Glynn were without a male heir. His first disappointment arose from the birth of a daughter.

The long-looked for heir came at last, but he was a delicate boy, and died before reaching his third year. Then for the squire and Lady Rose Jocelyn there followed a series of disappointments, each one more bitter than the other.

Four boys were born to them, who all died young. Lady Rose, never very strong, began to droop and fade; the loss of her children weighed heavily upon her; and the squire, looking around him, felt something like despair.

Lady Rose had never been a beautiful woman. She had a sweet, pure, high-bred face, and manners that were considered matchless in their graceful courtesy.

Glynn Castle, during the life of Lady Rose Jocelyn was the center and home of elegant hospitality. After her death the squire renounced all society and gayety, caring only for the two children she left behind her.

Lady Rose died a few weeks after little Sybil's birth—the youngest, fairest, and best loved of all her children. She died, leaving the child to her eldest daughter, Irene, whose especial charge she was.

Even as a babe she gave promise of marvelous beauty; and from her resemblance to one of the old family portraits, they called her Sybil.

She was wonderfully like the picture of the Lady Sybil Jocelyn—wife of the brave esquire who stood by his royal master through all changes of fortune, and never deserted him until the ax had done its worst, and the martyred king lay low.

She grew more like her day by day—save in this, that Lady Sybil's lovely patrician face had a shade upon it; round the sweet young mouth lines of sorrow; in the violet eyes was a shadow of care; while Sybil Jocelyn's face was bright and unclouded as a May morning.

The squire and Irene Jocelyn may be said to have given their lives to her. She was the petted, spoiled darling of the house. No one ever crossed, displeased or contradicted her. She ruled like a little queen, and all by right of a charming face and sunlit smiles.

The squire would never part with her; he would not let her remain out of his sight for a day. She was his loved wife's last legacy, his own especial treasure. Governesses came to Glynn and did their best to teach her. Masters went to the castle, and wasted any amount of energy upon her. She learned what she liked, and left the rest.

For music she had a wonderful capacity. She played not only brilliantly, but well; and she sung with a voice and in a style seldom surpassed by amateurs. She had great taste for drawing, too, and could sketch with a bold, rapid touch. She was fond of reading poetry, but nothing very grave or serious.

She spoke French and Italian fluently; though how she learned it was puzzle to most people. She was a graceful dancer and a magnificent horsewoman.

There Sybil's list of accomplishments ended. Of education in its true sense she had none. She lived the bright, painless life of a butterfly, and no one ever said to her that the world was full of sorrow and pain; no one ever told her she had more to do than laugh through the sunny hours; no one prepared her for suffering, or taught her lessons of stern endurance.

The squire would never hear of it.

"Let the child be happy," he would say; "her troubles will begin soon enough."

And so, when the graver sister would have trained the impressionable, loving nature, he forbade it.

Many of Heaven's fairest gifts had fallen to her lot. She was pure and innocent as a dreaming child. Wayward, it is true; yet her woman's nature was reverential and earnest. She was generous and beautiful; scornful and intolerant of all meanness; resenting herself all wrong and oppression, detecting all lies and falsity; never pardoning an act of deception.

It was a grand nature, capable of great things, had it been properly trained.

She knew she was beautiful, and rejoiced in her own loveliness. She was neither vain, coquettish, nor affected. Every one told her she was like Lady Sybil Jocelyn, and she could see for herself that no fairer face ever shone on canvas than the lady's after whom she was named.

She always rode the best horses; and Sybil Jocelyn, in her dark-blue habit, her coquettish little hat, with her white plumes drooping over golden hair and sweet face, was a pleasant picture to gaze upon.

She did just as she liked in every way save one. She would have enjoyed going to London, and mixing with the great world. She would have liked more balls, more parties, more society, but Squire Jocelyn would have none of these things.

He guarded his treasure too jealously, and that was why he came to lose it. He would not allow his motherless girl to leave the safe haven of their own home. In vain Sybil urged that other girls went to London, and were presented at court, and so had some chance in the world; why could she not do as others did?

But the squire answered very gravely.

"The court," he said, "was the purest and grandest in Europe. He knew that the gracious lady who headed it was a model of pure and perfect womanhood, peerless as wife, mother, and queen; but he did not wish his Sybil to mix with the gay world at all. She was his bright, bonny bird, and must be content with her cage."

His one great idea, the rock upon which his hopes and her life were centered, was the notion of keeping his beautiful, dainty Sybil select. There were few with whom he willingly saw her associate; there were few, indeed, whom the proud, loving father thought good enough for his child. So Sybil grew up in the beautiful solitude of Glynn, and the girl's heart was unstained, unspotted by the world—all its dark phases were unknown to her. She had some vague idea that in some remote places sin, suffering, shame and sorrow were to be found. She had some faint notion that all lives were not like her own; that toil and labor, poverty and privation fell to the lot of others.

She knew that some had to work hard for their daily bread, and eat it watered by tears. She knew such things as unkindness, violence and crime existed, but she never realized these things until the time came when her loving heart was tortured by bitter words, and her white arms darkened with heavy blows.

She was happy now, with her birds and her flowers, dreaming, in the shade of Glenn woods, of the knight who was some day to ride by and break the spell a thousand vague and delicious hopes, all full of love and poetry.

Time and oft came trilling from her sweet snatches of music and song. The squire would bend his grey head to listen to the clear, rich voice singing gayly among the flowers.

There had never been one shadow of care on her face; there had never been a cloud in her sky. When she reached her sixteenth year, the squire declared she had had enough of governesses and masters, and from that time she was free.

She must be down at breakfast time to make his tea; he would not take it from other hands. After breakfast she must be ready to ride with him, and then, until dinner-time, she was free. After dinner the squire was never happy unless she was near him; singing or talking in her gay, girlish way.

No wonder that he hated all society, for it would have robbed him of the sweetest, gayest companion man ever had. Yet he was wrong, and in after years, when the result of this strange training brought unutterable woe, he bowed his head and acknowledged the fault.

CHAPTER III.

"HE LOVED HER UNTO DEATH."

Sybil Jocelyn had many lovers. She was no coquette; the proud, frank-hearted girl, who invariably said what she thought, was far above the meanness of flirtation. Yet she took a pleasure in feeling the power of her own beauty.

Young country squires loved her in a very humble, hopeless kind of way; none among them ever dreaming in their wildest moments of winning the love of the delicate young beauty. Sir Charles Thornton was very fond of her; and Lord Clive, of Langton, who had been a morose old bachelor all his life, gave in to her, and owned himself conquered. He would have given his life to have made her Lady Clive; but she only laughed merrily at the idea.

They all loved her; but when, in after days, her golden head drooped, and the bright, girlish beauty left her face, none of them were near to comfort her in her hour of direst need.

Sybil had yet another lover. She alternately jested with and scolded Lord Clive; but she was quite at a loss what to do with Sir Rupert Darce, of The Hilde.

It was quite another thing. She could neither laugh at or tease him. He was superior to every one she had ever met; he rose even superior to the heroes in her favorite novels, and some of those were very magnificent creations.

All her woman's soul did reverence to his noble qualities. She admired him with a strength that at times left her without words, when in his society. She said to herself, over and over again, that he was the grandest, the truest, and most noble man in the world. But she could not give him her girlish love. He was too perfect for her; in her eyes he was to be looked up to, admired, imitated if possible, but not loved.

He was young—not more than four-and-twenty; but she never thought of him as a young man. To her he was totally different from all others; yet she did not love him.

Sir Rupert Darce had succeeded to The Hilde before he reached his eighteenth year. His father died, leaving him uncontrolled master of one of the finest estates in England. He had always been thoughtful and grave; but the gravity was so mingled with sweet and considerate kindness that one could never have thought of it. He was no "young lady's hero," the master of The Hilde. He had faults although they were restrained by a strong will; and Rupert Darce had a will of iron when he chose to use it.

It was partly for this that women instinctively loved him—there was strength and power in his face. In the moment of doubt, of danger, or of death, one would have turned unhesitatingly to him. The strong, true heart, the strong right arm, were every ready; yet when the woman he loved better than life needed both, he was far from her.

The Hilde was the next estate to Glynn; the lands met and joined. The young heir and the squire had ever been good friends, and it was with keen pleasure Squire Jocelyn saw Sir Rupert's love for his daughter. He knew he could not hope to keep her always with him, and such a marriage as this would entail no separation. She would live always at The Hilde near him, safe from the world the good old squire hated and dreaded.

Rupert's love for Sybil had not come to him suddenly. He could not remember the time when he did not care more for Sybil Jocelyn than for all the world beside. He loved her when she was a pretty, spoiled, ingenious child who kissed him, and shared her sweets with him. He watched her grow, and loved her in his chivalrous, boyish fashion all the time.

Then he went to college, and traveled for some years on the Continent. He returned to find her sixteen years old, and more beautiful than even he had thought she would be.

It was no new love. When she held out her dainty hands and welcomed him, Rupert Darce's heart went out to her, and he had never been able to get it back. He loved her then as he had done all his life, and as he was to do until he died.

TACTICS TO BURK ENQUIRY.

Why Calling Public Accounts Committee Has Been Delayed.

Sir C. H. Tupper Says It Was for the Sole Purpose of Preventing an Investigation in Connection With the Manitoba Election Case, in Which Payments, Unsanctioned by Parliament, Are Said to Have Been Made.

Ottawa, May 17.—The whole of yesterday's session was nominally passed discussing a motion to adjourn, but actually there was a long and very interesting debate on the shortcomings of the Government in not calling a meeting of the public accounts committee until the 65th day of the session (next Friday), on a general review of the Manitoba election case, the investigation of the expenditure in connection with which was commenced in public accounts committee last year, and was to have been continued this session, but so far the Government has burked inquiry by not calling the committee.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper made an incisive attack on the Government, speaking from the time routine was finished in the afternoon until after 10 o'clock, and especially on Mr. Sifton, who, he said, asked for payments of money that was not sanctioned by Parliament. He was very ably supported by Mr. Foster, Dr. Sproule, Mr. McNeill, Mr. Borden of Halifax and Mr. Clarke Wallace, who paid special attention to Mr. McMullen, the chairman of last year's public accounts committee, and made that gentleman spend a very uncomfortable five minutes.

Sir Louis Replies.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries (Sir Louis Davies), in replying, said the assumption of simulated passion by Mr. Foster was but a miserable attempt to escape from the very awkward position in which the hon. gentleman and his friends stood. The Government were taking a dignified and honorable course in this matter. If he had more evidence to give they were willing to withhold judgment until all the evidence producable by the member for Pictou could be produced.

Sir Hibbert Tupper's motion to adjourn was lost, and the House adjourned at half-past 12 o'clock on motion of Sir Louis Davies.

Montreal Moulders' Strike.

Montreal, May 17.—There are indications that the moulders' strike may be terminated to-day. It is also stated that the Grand Trunk Railway had made arrangements by which between 40 and 50 moulders will be brought from England to take the places of its striking moulders. These men, who are skilled workmen, will, it is stated, be guaranteed work for a certain length of time, after the expiration of which, if they so wish, their passage back to England will be paid by the company.

Hon. Senator Villeneuve is very low, and his recovery is doubtful.

Thousands Put on the Lists.

Winnipeg, May 17.—At midnight the voters' lists closed throughout the province. During the past few days work at the three registration offices in Winnipeg has been gradually increasing, and yesterday the rush increased. At the offices for South, Centre and North Winnipeg the estimated number registered is nearly 4,000 each, and the aggregate is 11,000. There were between 7,000 and 8,000 on the old lists. Those who failed to get their names on the lists yesterday will have only one more opportunity, and that will be before the Court of Revision.

Military Notes From Kingston.

Kingston, Ont., May 17.—Major J. L. Biggar, Belleville, has been appointed to organize the Canadian transport service. He will take a course in England.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, May 17.—The receipts of live stock at the cattle market yesterday were large, 86 loads all told, composed of 1,600 hogs, 1,500 cattle, 122 sheep and lambs, with about 75 calves. The quality of fat cattle was good, the supply being equal to the demand for both butchers' and exporters. Trade was brisker than it has been for several weeks, but owing to the large run prices did not advance, remaining fairly steady at last Friday's quotations.

Total receipts of live stock for last week were 3,329 cattle, 395 sheep and 3,241 hogs.

DR. GAUTHIER ENDORSES

The statement that Mr. Major owes his life to . . . . DR. CHASE'S Kidney Liver Pills

Dr. J. T. A. Gauthier, of Valleyfield, Que., writes: "I, the undersigned, certify that the contents of this letter, in regard to the cure of Mr. Isadore Major, by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, is correct."

Here is Mr. Major's letter: "After 20 years of suffering from backache and kidney disease I owe my life to Dr. A. W. Chase. I had tried an endless variety of remedies to no avail, and on the recommendation of a friend began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Two pills that night and two next morning gave great relief, and I continued their use until now I am completely cured. My friends are surprised and pleased to see me well again, for I spent hundreds of dollars in vain trying to get cured. Before using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills my back ached so I could not put on my shoes and couldn't lift 20 lbs. My shoulders were sore, I had headaches and a bad taste in the mouth. These troubles are now entirely gone and what I say I am ready to prove. I have told my friends of my wonderful cure, and many have been greatly benefited by using these pills."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the greatest kidney cure the world has ever known. One pill a dose, 25c. a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

FIELD OF GENERAL SPORT

Golf :

Toronto News :—"Peterborough is the last place to have obtained professional advice in the laying out of a new set of links, and the ground is said to be an excellent one, lying high and dry, and with a good sandy soil. May the club prosper."

As the epidemic is raging in our midst, the following from the London Globe may prove valuable :—"Golf?" the physician said with a sigh. "Golf, or, more correctly, golficitis, must be designated the fourth dementia. Golficitis is a permanent addition to English manias and is attracting the attention of thinking alienists. The mania differs from others in that it is most acute in its chronic stage and is incurable. Its symptoms are a loathing for legitimate business, an abnormal disposition to copious profanity and nervous irritation; a passion for giddy and eccentric garments, a profound contempt for truth, a hatred of domestic restraint, accompanied by a flushed face and a depraved love of out of doors."

Tennis

The Peterborough Tennis Club organized yesterday for the season of 1899, when the following officers were elected :—

Patroness—Mrs A P Pousssette.
Patron—Mr A P Pousssette.
President—Mr H S Greenwood.
Vice-President—Miss Dennistoun.
Secretary-Treasurer—Mr W Harold Cluxton.

Committee—Mrs Aylmer, Miss Hatton, Miss Annie Hall, Mr H Ritchie and Mr C Poussette.

The meeting was enthusiastic and the season promises to be a most interesting one, owing to the great revival of interest in tennis throughout the province. Members may pay their fees to the secretary-treasurer, Mr Cluxton, or Mr A S Houston at the Bank of Commerce.

DISCOVER NEW LAND.

BELGICA EXPEDITION HAS RETURNED FROM ANTARCTIC SEAS.

First Party to Pass the Winter in South Polar Seas—Active Volcanoes Found—Voyage a Scientific Success—Some of the Facts Established by a Meagre Telegram.

The following special cablegram from Dr. Frederick A. Cook of Brooklyn, surgeon of the Antarctic expedition on the Belgian steamship Belgica, was recently printed in the newspapers:

"Montevideo, Uruguay.—The Belgica has arrived here. All well. Our Antarctic voyage has been a complete success.

"Much new land in Weddell Sea and open water to the far north discovered. Active volcanoes were also seen. I come home direct by steamer.

"The Belgica will not return for another winter, as originally planned. We lost men by accident, but none by disease.

"Cook."

Brief as this despatch is, it tells enough to show that the little Belgian expedition has indeed achieved a brilliant success. It has discovered the first new land found in Antarctic waters for 58 years, or since the expedition of Ross in 1841. The details given in Dr. Cook's dispatch are very meager, but these facts are established:

The new discoveries of land have been made southeast of the termination of South America. The discoveries are probably south of 74.15 southern latitude, the most southern point attained by Weddell in 1823, though they may be to the east or west of his route.

The reason favoring the probability that they are south of Weddell's furthest is that, if they were to the east or west of his route, they would very likely have been seen by Morrell in 1823, or by Ross in 1843.

It seems unlikely, however, that the Belgia reached a point very much nearer the pole than that attained by Weddell, or Dr. Cook would have mentioned it as one of the most important successes of the expedition.

It will be observed that the Belgica found a vast expanse of open water, just as Weddell did, 75 years earlier. He entered a perfectly open sea. No land was in sight, but he saw three icebergs. Whales were in abundance, and birds, chiefly penguins, were in enormous numbers. In the same year, about 700 miles to the northwest, Morrell also discovered a nearly ice-free sea.

It appears from Dr. Cook's dispatch that active volcanoes were also discovered by the Belgica. The only other Antarctic volcano in eruption that had hitherto been seen was Erebus (12,000 feet), on Victoria Island. It is not known whether the volcano near, named Terror (11,000 feet), is in active condition.

The Belgica, under command of Lieut. Gerlache, set sail from Antwerp on August 16, 1897. She was a Norwegian vessel, which Gerlache fitted out for polar work. He was assisted to a large extent by the Belgian Government. The scientific staff included Lieut. Danco, who was to be in charge of pendulum and magnetic observations; Dr. Racovitza, naturalist, and Dr. Arctowski, geologist. Dr. F. A. Cook joined the party at Rio de Janiero, leaving Brooklyn on February 20, 1897. He was to be surgeon and ethnologist, and his experience in the Arctic region was expected to be of much service to the expedition.

Gerlache did not expect to winter in the Antarctic regions. After spending the southern summer of 1897-98 in explorations, his plan was to go to Australia for the winter and renew his researches the following season. The Belgica, however, was not heard from again until 15 months after she started from Terra del Fuego for the little-known Grahamland to the south. She is, therefore, the first vessel that has spent a winter in south polar waters.

The Belgica has spent two summers and a winter in the Antarctic. She will bring home the first records of south polar phenomena during the winter months. She has found lands in a region that was white on the maps, and has considerably lessened the area of unsailed Antarctic waters. It is evident that few polar expeditions have been richer in experience, interest, and results. The Belgica has shown again that it is not always the most costly and ambitious expeditions that reap the best fruits of polar research.

Her Private Punch.

The women hurried along Adams street from the Art institute on their way to the Woman's Euchre club at Handel hall.

"Just run in with me here a minute," said one. "I've got to get me a punch."

The clerk showed a collection of punches that made holes of various shapes.

"No," said the shopper. "I want just a simple, round punch—this size." And she abstracted a cardboard from her pocket that showed the size of the perforation.

"Oh, very well!" said the clerk. "We have it. But it's not called for very often for private games." And the punch was brought out and sold promptly.

The second woman wondered what her friend wanted of that particular punch, but kept her curiosity to herself. The game was exciting, and, as the friend is a good player, she won eight games. The second woman noticed this particularly. But when the score cards were exhibited the friend had 11 credit marks punched in her score card. The other woman saw then the wherefore of the particular punch they had bought. The friend had won eight games, and then had done a little punching with a private punch.

The prizes at these club contests are quite valuable, and the spirit of gambling has become so pronounced among some of the players that they are not above resorting to unfair means to capture them.

Her Evening Gown.

It is undeniable that foreign diplomats in Washington frequently find themselves at a loss owing to the novelties presented to them by American customs. Even the language offers difficulties.

Only the other day the Guatemalan minister was speaking to some Washington ladies of what he regarded as a remarkable social experience met with here at the capital. He had been invited to an afternoon reception.

"And do you know," he said, "the hostess received the guests in a nightgown!"

"Good heavens!" replied the ladies to whom this information was addressed. "Surely you are joking, Mr Minister!"

"Not at all, I assure you," reiterated the diplomat. "It was in her nightdress that we were received—low neck and bare arms!"

"Oh, you mean evening dress, do you not, Mr. Minister?" suggested one of the ladies.

"Yes, that is what I mean," admitted Senor Arriaga; "low neck and bare arms, just like the costume for the opera or ball."

As may be imagined, the laugh was at the minister's expense. In Washington ladies quite commonly wear evening dress when giving afternoon receptions.

Feudalism in Hungary.

Inconceivable as the anachronism may seem to the western mind, the agrarian system of Hungary has not yet issued from the feudal form. The Hungarian farmer of today is virtually a serf, bound to his master, the hereditary owner of the soil which the peasant tills, by the tangible tie of personal liability. The Hungarian feudal lord of today is entitled to 50 days' labor from each male adult who dwells on his land. The seignior is at liberty to demand this feudal contribution at whatever time may seem best to him, with the frequent result that the tenant farmer is employed in gathering his master's harvests while his own crops are rotting after a rainfall or are being consumed by an early frost or suffer damage from one or more of the many possible causes which render destructive the slightest delay on the part of the harvester in gathering the fruits of a year's labor.—S. Ivan Tonjoroff in Arena.

Free Hairdressing.

Some one said once that you could get almost anything for nothing in New York. This was brought practically to my notice a few days ago, says a writer in the New York Herald, as I was going up town on Third avenue. I passed a barber shop which displayed this strange sign:

"Ladies' Hairdressing Done Free Every Afternoon From 1 to 5 o'Clock."

As it was past 3 I was prompted by curiosity to go in and investigate. I found the "ladies'" hairdressing parlor a neat, cozy place, with a number of chairs standing in front of a long mirror, which covered one side of the room.

I was fortunate enough to find a subject in the chair, who was having her hair dressed. She was a middled aged, thick handed, respectable looking woman, who was going to the inevitable ball. "Doing" her hair was a nice looking little woman, the head of the hairdressing establishment, and gathered around the chair were half a dozen white coated young men, watching the process of the work and occasionally giving assistance. And that is how the apprentice or student in hairdressing gains his experience, and the clever women who are in touch with the trick get their hair dressed for nothing.

Cape Horn's Letter Box.

On Cape Horn stands a covered barrel, a regular international letter box. It is the custom of captains passing round the Horn to send a boat ashore at this point, if possible, take whatever mail is going in the direction of the vessel and drop in whatever is desired shall go in the other direction.

The Pyramid Builders.

The laborers who built the pyramids did not work under such disadvantages as have long been attributed to them. Recent research shows that they had solid and tubular drills and lathe tools. The drills were set with jewels and cut into the rocks with keenness and accuracy.

repeated. Mrs. Shorey acted as conductor. Mrs. McClennan then gave a pianoforte selection. Mrs. E. T. Morgan was the accompanist of the evening.

Then followed a "Mock Parliament" in which the ladies showed a thorough knowledge of the rules govering the procedure of legislative bodies. The platform was arranged like the floor of the Ontario House. Mrs. Nugent was the Hon-Speaker. On one side were the ministry, a number of the ladies acting as cabinet ministers, and on the opposite side were the ladies of the Opposition. Each group was supported by a number of members. There was no third party (the Patrons being extinct). The only thing that showed unreal in the whole burlesque was that the ladies were all awake. This was a fatal mistake. First came the questions of the day. Some were as follows:

Is it the intention of the Government to give a grant of $120 to assist the town of Peterborough in buying out the street railway?

It is the intention of the Government to pass a curfew law to prohibit married men being out after ten o'clock except when accompanied by their wives?

Is it their intention to include town water in the list of prohibited drinks?

The debate of the evening was on "A bill to extend the franchise to widowers and bachelors" and the question of extending the ballot to men in general was discussed. Speeches pro. and con. were made.

The periods of the ladies read like an essay of Macauley's and sounded like Burke on Chivalry. The speeches were tremendous. A man in the audience said "These speeches beat the Bowmanville bank robbery." The satire was cruel in its intensity and truth. For the men in the audience the room became quite sultry and several threatened to have apoplexy. The chief speakers were Mrs. Shorey, Mrs. Kendry, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Yenney and Mrs. Stubbs. The failings of men were brought out in scorching fashion and all were relieved when the bill was passed.

The married women of George-st. church are good at reciting speeches but they are better at serving refreshments. In this they excel. Their spread was bountiful, varied and dainty. It was well served. It was also well eaten. The verdict was that the ladies were winners in the refreshment line.

THE BENSFORT BRIDGE.

The Question of Maintainance of the Bridge is Now Settled.

At a special session of the County Council at the Court House yesterday afternoon the question of the maintainance of the Bensfort bridge was amicably settled, the settlement resulting in the adjustment of the claim made by Mr Smith, who has been bridge tender and has had difficulty in ascertaining from whom he was to receive his remuneration. Mr Smith entered an action to recover the amount of wages he claimed from Peterborough, the united counties of Durham and Northumberland and the township of South Monaghan. The case came up at the recent sittings of the County Court, but the case had been ruled out and was coming up in the High Court.

The County Council session opened in the morning with Warden Hawthorne in the chair and Messrs Peck, Anderson, Pearce, Buck, Crowe, Eastland, Shaw, Foster and Fitzgerald present. After the Warden had explained the object of the meeting—to consider the question of the maintainance of the Bensfort bridge with a view to seeing if an amicable arrangement could not be reached. After Mr W A Stratton had explained the propositions that had already been made the matter was referred to the Roads and Bridge committee.

This committee, consisting of the whole Council, met in the afternoon, and with them were representatives of the united counties of Durham and Northumberland and of the township of South Monaghan. Mr Geo Edmison was present as solicitor for South Monaghan and Mr R M Dennistoun was present on behalf of Mr Smith.

A consideration of the whole matter followed, South Monaghan offering $150 as its contribution towards settling the Smith action out of court. Mr Dennistoun for Mr Smith said the costs in the case were $120 and the claim $116, but he was prepared to accept $200.

After consultation South Monaghan agreed to pay $160 in settlement of the Smith action and this was accepted by Mr Dennistoun.

The committee then passed a resolution regarding the future maintainance of the bridge, and this resolution was presented to the County Council in a report as follows :—

"Your committee recommend that this county assume one-half of the future maintainance of the bridge over the Otonabee river, commonly known as the Bensfort bridge, provided Northumberland and Durham assume one-half of such future maintainance and provided the township of South Monaghan settle the suit of Smith vs Monaghan, including the plaintiff's costs.

This proposition is made without prejudice to the position of the county of Peterborough, that they have no liability whatever with respect to the maintainance of this bridge.

WM. ANDERSON,
Chairman.

The report was adopted and the special session adjourned.

WISH FATHER TO THE THOUGHT.

The Yankees Will Have It That Canada Cuts No Figure.

Washington, May 18.—As the result of a conference at the Foreign Office in London, between Lord Salisbury, Sir Julian Pauncefote and Ambassador Choate, it can now be predicted that the high joint commission to adjust issues between the United States and Canada will be re-assembled during the coming summer or early fall. This outcome is not positively assured, but Mr. Choate's report of the exchanges at the Foreign Office certainly convey great encouragement to the officials here, and warrant the expectation that negotiations may be again taken up with some prospect of reaching an agreement.

It can be stated that if the commission reconvenes it will only do so on a complete abandonment of the old basis, which proved to be unsuitable to the erection of a complete agreement, and the United States Government will have some sort of assurance in advance of the nature and degree of the concessions that may be expected from the other side, the lack of which, it is said, caused the failure of the first negotiations.

Have Taken a New Turn.

The negotiations have taken a new turn by the suggestion that the Alaskan boundary question be submitted to arbitration, independent of the other issues involved, thus leaving the commission free to resume its work on the many other pending questions.

Lightning Fired the Barn.

Chatham, Ont., May 18.—During yesterday's heavy storm the barn of Charles Wilkinson, Chatham Township, was struck by lightning and completely destroyed. A team of horses, a colt, several calves and cows were killed. A large quantity of grain and farm implements were burned with the building. Mr. Wilkinson was rendered unconscious by the stroke, but recovered sufficiently to escape. The loss will be about $8,000.

Poisoned Himself.

Berlin, May 18.—Rudolf Riese, the banker whose flight from Berlin with 200,000 marks in April caused a sensation here and who was arrested at Leipsic with his mistress, has committed suicide by taking poison.

The Equitable Appeal Dismissed.

London, May 18.—The Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice has dismissed, with costs, the appeal of the Equitable Assurance Society of New York against an assessment for income tax.

DEADMAN'S ISLAND BATTLE.

Attorney-General Bound to Bring the Dominion In.

The Federal Government Must Be a Party to the Case if a Settlement That is a Settlement Is to Be Effected—The Present Suit Would Settle Nothing—Injunction Continued Until the 26th.

Vancouver, May 18.—Yesterday before Chief Justice McColl, Attorney-General Martin applied for the continuance of the Deadman's Island injunction until the 26th inst., with a view to bringing the Dominion Government in as a party in the case.

Theodore Ludgate's solicitors read an affidavit made by Ludgate, who swore if the injunction were continued it would prevent his building the mill this year and cause him great damage.

Mr. Martin said that it was the desire of Mr. Ludgate, and also of the people, to have the Dominion taken into the case. He would urge the Dominion to take the same action and that would make a suit that would settle something. The present suit would settle nothing.

His lordship said he would adjourn the case until the 26th. He could see no objection to a few weeks' delay, as the matter would not be one to be settled in British Columbia, but would go to Ottawa or perhaps to England for settlement.

CAPTURE OF SAN ISIDRO.

Gen. Lawton in Possession of the Second Rebel Capital—There Was Only Slight Resistance.

Manila, May 18.—General Lawton's advance guard, under Col. Summers of the Oregon troops, took San Isidro, the second insurgent capital, at 8.30 o'clock yesterday, morning.

Col. Summers' command, consisting of the 22nd Infantry on the left, the Minnesota Regiment in the center and the Oregon and North Dakota Regiments on the right, preceded by scouts and accompanied by Scott's battery and artillery, advanced from Balurte at daylight. The troops first encountered the enemy two miles from San Isidro, the rebels retiring when our artillery opened fire. Just outside the town a rebel force, estimated to number 2,000 men, was entrenched. It made a slight resistance, but evacuated its position when the American troops turned its right flank.

The enemy's loss was 15 men killed and 20 wounded. Our troops also captured three prisoners and many rifles. On the American side, one soldier of the Oregon Regiment and one of the Minnesota Regiment were wounded.

After capturing the town Col. Summers' troops continued their advance, pursuing the retreating rebels for several miles.

WORSE THAN EVER AT BUFFALO.

Firemen of Lake Boats Threaten to Go Out—Vessels Leaving Port.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 18.—The strike situation here was further complicated last night by the action of the firemen on the lake boats deciding to go on strike at noon to-day if the other strikers had not secured a settlement of their grievances with the Buffalo Union, and if they go out it will prevent the movement of boats either in or out of the harbor.

Anticipating this latest move the owners of several vessels ordered their boats away from Buffalo yesterday and these boats are now making for Cleveland and other ports in an endeavor to get rid of their cargoes.

LIGHTNING KILLED HIM.

Duncan Greenless of Plympton Was Struck by a Bolt.

Forest, Ont., May 18.—While Duncan Greenless, aged 17, son of Mr. Angus Greenless of Plympton Township, was returning to the house yesterday, after doing the morning chores, he was instantly killed by lightning. His mother was within a rod of him at the time, and saw him fall. The body is without a mark of the cause of death, save a little singeing of the hair and a slight mark on one leg. A black felt hat which he wore was torn, his watch chain was burnt, but the watch was uninjured. A hole was torn in his shirt, opposite where the watch chain fastened to his brace. Both shoes were torn off his feet and thrown a considerable distance.

PROVINCIAL RIGHTS AGAIN.

Manitoba and Ontario Will Fight Mr. Fielding's Friendly Societies' Bill.

Toronto, May 18.—The Ontario Government is in earnest with its dispute with the Dominion Government regarding Mr. Fielding's bill relating to friendly societies, and the Manitoba Government will join with Ontario in the objections. The ground taken is that the Dominion Government has no control of certain companies which are provincial concerns. Opposition will be made to the private bill now before the Dominion Government to confirm the amalgamation of the Freehold Loan, Canada Permanent, Western Canada and the Ontario and London Loan Companies.

GERRYMANDER BILL FRIDAY.

Hon. William Mulock Will Push the Redistribution Measure.

Twenty-Five Out of Twenty-Seven Questions Answered by Ministers on Wednesday—The Canada General Service Medal—The Port Colborne Harbor and St. Lawrence Navigation—Mr. McMullen's Ridiculous Civil Service Bill.

Ottawa, May 18.—The Government showed more consideration for private members yesterday than on Monday last, when 21 out of 45 questons had to stand because Ministers were either absent or unprepared to answer. Yesterday, out of 27 questions, 25 were answered, amongst them the following:

Mr. Mulock informed Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper that the Canadian mails to Dawson were forwarded by the Pacific Coast Steamship Company.

Mr. Blair, in reply to Mr. Macdougall, said that 1,845,548 tons of freight had been carried by the Intercolonial during the year ending March 1, 1897, and the receipts were $1,748,885; in the year ended March 1, 1898, the quantity of freight had been 1,659,281 tons, and receipts $2,198,000.

Mr. Paterson informed Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper that there had been further correspondence in relation to the enforcement of the coasting laws of Canada on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, and copies of the papers would be brought down.

Canada General Service Medal.

Sir Richard Cartwright, in answer to Mr. Clarke, said that a design for the Canada general service medal had been approved of by the Canadian authorities on Nov. 22, 1898. The obverse will be the effigy of the Queen, and will be similar to that now borne on the India (1895) medal. The reverse will consist of a wreath of Canadian maple, with the Canadian flag, and a ribbon of scroll bearing on it the word, "Canada." It was forwarded to the Imperial authorities on Nov. 22, 1898, and approved by a letter from the War Office, dated 25th February, 1899. An order for the execution of the design was given to the Royal Mint on Feb. 22, 1899. No funds had been remitted to the Mint to pay the expense of striking the medal, and no demand for any funds had been made by the Imperial authorities.

Alleged Undervaluation.

Mr. Paterson stated, in reply to Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, that instructions had been sent to Commissioner Ogilvie to inquire into the alleged undervaluation of United States vessels entered at Dawson for Canadian register.

Inland Fisheries.

Mr. Fortin, in moving for copies of all papers, plans, maps, reports of fishery officers, correspondence and other documents relating to the existence of a dam across River Jesus, near the town of Terrebonne, and the construction of a fish way therein, according to the requirements of the law, referred to the decision of the Privy Council with respect to the fisheries, and said that in his opinion that decision had not relieved the Dominion Government from the duty of preserving the inland fisheries. The motion passed.

Port Colborne Harbor.

Mr. McCleary moved a resolution looking to the improvement of the harbor at Port Colborne. In support of his resolution, he spoke at considerable length on the necessity for inspiring the St. Lawrence route in preference to searching for new routes.

Hon. Mr. Blair agreed with the mover as to the importance of improving the Welland Canal, not only by deepening the entrance at Port Colborne, but in modernising the canal itself, so that greater facilities may be afforded for operating it. The Government had shown that it recognized the necessity for this by placing a large sum in next year's estimates for deepening the entrance at Port Colborne and other improvements. As to the breakwater referred to by Mr. McCleary, that was a matter under the control of the Minister of Public Works, and he had no doubt but that when the supplementary estimates came down it would be found that the Minister had not forgotten this. With reference to the building of elevators, he did not think that was a matter for the Government to undertake, as it would be best to leave that to private enterprise.

THE ODORLESS

CREMATORY CLOSETS.

I have been appointed Sole Agent for the Odorless Crematory Closet manufactured by the Crematry Closet and General Heating Co., of Hamilton.

This Closet has found a place in many of the best homes in the province, and all who have used it cannot speak too highly of its merits. Medical men speak of it from a sanitary point ot view, claiming that, if health is any consideration, no home should be without one. Here are some of the

TESTIMONIALS

Alliston, March 1st, 1898.

I have had one of your "Crematory Closets" in use now for several weeks and am glad to be able to say that I have found it entirely satisfactory in every respect. I have not been able to detect the slightest odor from it at any time and would not be without it. I am sure it must prove a great convenience to people in the country and in towns where water is not obtainable.

Yours respectfully, JAMES CONWAY.

Sheddon, February 28th, 1898.

I have used it for some time and find it perfectly odorless. It is a long felt want and I believe it will become very popular especially in rural districts, towns and villages where wells are so frequantly contaminated by the ordinary closets. I am, yours, etc.,

HEROIC CONDUCT THAT SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED.

THAT was the act of a hero that was chronicled in the Review last evening in the story of the sad drowning of "Joe" Wall at the Rogers dam. Any person who knows the terrific rush of water there is over the slide at this dam will realize the awful risk the brave brother, Eddie, took in plunging in to save his younger brother. Eddie knew, too, the danger that lurked in the boiling water below the slide, but he did not hesitate. His brother was a poor swimmer and he knew it and in he went to save him if possible, although it would appear to the ordinary man that the effort could only result in the death of the two, instead of the one. That Eddie was unsuccessful in his heroic endeavor to save his brother is most lamentable, for such a brave act deserved to be crowned with success.

Heroism such as that shown by Eddie Wall, his readiness to risk and even sacrifice his own life to save his younger and weaker brother is of the stamp that is true and pure. It is the spirit in a boy that makes a brave, courageous, self-sacrificing man, and the case should not be allowed to pass unnoticed. Although only ten years of age, steps should be taken at once to have the act recognized by the Royal Humane Society. No doubt he will always remember the sad occurrence which robbed him of a brother, but some public tribute to his bravery would also ever remind him that he had done his best to save that brother.

MR. SIFTON will leave the House one of these fine days and never come back. The people will do the necessary.

THE Minister of the Interior does not enjoy remaining in the House to hear his shortcomings discussed.

IT would not be surprising to learn that Mr Sifton does not entertain the sweetest and most deep abiding affection for Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper. But he might have remained to listen.

BY absenting himself from the House "the young Napoleon" may not hear the serious charges made against him, but the people of the country read them, and they prefer to see a man stand his ground and court investigation.

LIBERALS in Ontario made the Public Accounts committee a farce with their partisan rulings, and now the Liberals at Ottawa are obstructing the work of the Public Accounts committee there. They do not appear to court fair investigation at Ottawa any more than they did at Toronto.

TALK about not knowing what you are drinking when to travel from one town or city to another and sample the city water, but there seems to you a much greater room to question what you are eating. The annual report of the Connecticut Agricultural Station on the adulteration of foods sold in the markets shows some striking degrees of fraud on the consumer. Sixty-three samples of fruit jelly examined showed adulteration in two-thirds of the cases by starch, glucose, aniline dye and salicylic acid. Pure jellies cost twenty-five cents a pound, while these artificial jellies cost but five cents. Out of forty samples of marmalades and jams only three were pure, the rest being adulterated like jellies.

The Proposed R. C. Convention.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 18.—The following resolutions were unanimously passed by the R. C. Liberals of Niagara Falls:

Whereas, this meeting of the Roman Catholic Liberals of Niagara Falls and vicinity has been called to consider the advisability of sending representatives to the proposed convention of Roman Catholic Liberals, to be held in Toronto on the 23rd inst., resolved, that in the opinion of this meeting no cause for dissatisfaction exists in the representation of either the Provincial or Dominion Cabinets; that the tendency of the proposed convention would be to place the Roman Catholic Liberals in the false position of being a section or wing in the Liberal party; that we believe the true interest and dignity of Roman Catholic Liberals will be best conserved by our continuing to act as heretofore—as an integral part of the Liberal party and that we therefore disapprove of the proposed Toronto convention and decline to send any representatives to it.

Picked Up a Live Wire.

Kingston, Ont., May 18.—Last evening a lad named Elijah Veale picked up a live wire through which was passing 2,000 volts of electricity. He was severely burned about the hands and his body badly twisted and swollen. Two men went to his rescue, but were thrown to the ground. The machinery at the power house had to be shut down before the boy could be released. He is in a critical condition.

The Opening of the Czar's Peace Conference—The Program Contemplated—M. de Staal the Chairman.

The Hague, May 18.—All the delegates to the international peace conference have arrived. Yesterday was spent in a general exchange of visits.

The city is brilliantly decorated with foreign flags, denoting the various national headquarters.

The reporters will only be admitted to hear the inaugural addresses of M. de Beaufort, who is excluded from opening the discussion of the Czar's project.

Three commissions will then be named to arrange programs for discussion.

The first relates to restrictions of armaments and military expenditure, the second deals with the laws governing civilized warfare, and the third with the mediation and arbitration.

De Staal Will Be Chairman.

M. de Staal will open the conference by summarizing the objects of the gathering and expressing the confidence of Emperor Nicholas that the powers will support the beneficent work of the conference. After the appointment of the commissions the conference will adjourn for a week.

HUDDART LIQUIDATING.

Steamships of the Canadian-Australian Line Are Put Up for Sale by Action.

Montreal, May 18.—A Star special cable from London says: The liquidator of Mr. James Huddart's Canadian-Australian Steamship Company offers for sale by tender, in one lot, as a going concern, the steamships Miowera, Warrimoo and Aorangi, and all the business, goodwill and property of the company. Enquiries show that this is a mere formal stage in the reconstruction of the company, and is not likely to affect the continuance of the service.

LAID A CORNER-STONE AT 80.

Her Majesty Queen Victoria at the Victoria and Albert Museum.

London, May 18.—Queen Victoria laid the foundation-stone of the Victoria and Albert Museum yesterday. She drove through the streets lined with troops from Buckingham Palace, the royal carriage being escorted by a detachment of the Life Guards. Her Majesty was accompanied by several princes and princesses, and other royal personages met her at the museum, where a raised dais was reserved for them. The ambassadors, members of the Cabinet and the leading state officials occupied a pavilion at the site of the museum.

Crowds of people gathered along the route from early morning, and an enormous number had gathered at the time the Queen started from the palace at 4.15 p.m. The houses along the route were decorated, and there were strings of flags across the roads. The sun shone brightly. A gaily-dressed assemblage witnessed the ceremony, which the Queen performed without leaving her carriage, and amid much enthusiasm. Her Majesty afterwards took the train to Windsor.

A Miniature Jubilee.

The ceremonies resembled a miniature jubilee. Inside the museum the scene recalled the spectacle at St. Peter's Cathedral upon the occasion of the Jubilee. The Marquis of Salisbury, Lord Rosebery, all the Cabinet Ministers and the diplomatic corps were present, nearly all of them wearing brilliant uniforms. The arrival of the Ministers, in splendid equipages, with footmen, was very picturesque.

Her Majesty looked remarkable. She was dressed in black, except for a white plume in her bonnet. She took the greatest interest in the mechanical part of the stone-laying, talking lengthily with the Prince of Wales on the subject. The Queen was seated in a four-horse open carriage, with Scotchmen on the rumble, and escorted by outriders.

The National Anthem was sung by pupils of the Royal College of Music, and, afterwards, a madrigal, specially composed by the poet laureate, Mr. Alfred Austin, was sung to music written by Sir Alexander Mackenzie, principal of the Royal Academy of Music. The Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England, read the prayers.

CAPTURED WITHOUT BLOODSHED.

British Forces Took Possession of Saamchun, Opposite Hongkong.

Hongkong, May 18.—Saamchun was occupied yesterday without any casualties and without resistance. The British troops found the gates of the town open. The boundary of the new British territory was not otherwise extended. The villagers along the route welcomed the troops and seemed peaceable. There is an unconfirmed report that the rebels are occupying Sunon City. Saamchun and Sunon are situated in the hinterland of Hongkong.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

A Winnipeg despatch says the Conservatives have nominated Samuel Humphrey to contest Lorne with James Riddell, the present member.

Ex-President Harrison sailed for England Thursday, where he goes as chief counsel for Venezuela in the boundary arbitration proceedings.

William O'Brien, a section man, in the employ of the Grand Trunk, was killed on Thursday while performing his duties at Etobicoke. He inadvertently stepped in front of train No. 5.

At Toronto on Thursday George Kendrick, who was convicted of stealing a horse and buggy from E. Gallanough of Thornhill and a watch from E. Tomsett of York County, was sentenced to Kingston Penitentiary for five years.

The dock laborers employed by the Anchor Line and Allan Line at Glasgow have gone out on strike. About 1,800 men are idle. Three Anchor Line steamers, two Donaldson Line steamers and three steamships of the Allan Line are blocked.

William Cane, sr., head of the William Cane & Sons' Manufacturing Company of Newmarket, Ont., the leading business man of the town, and one of the best-known men in North York, died on Wednesday, after a lingering illness, at the age of 78.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest on a charge of forgery of Jim McDonald of St. Thomas. McDonald stole from a drawer the title deeds of a parcel of land and raised money on them by mortgage by passing himself off as his brother, the owner.

BROWN IS NO MORE.

Hanged at London for the Murder of Policeman Toohey.

London, Ont., May 18—Marion Brown yesterday morning, at one minute past 8 o'clock, was hanged, because on June 24 last he shot Policeman Toohey to death while the constable was endeavoring to arrest him. Brown got away, and was only caught at North Yakima, Wash., on Sept. 24. From there he was brought here, tried and convicted.

Brown's last night on earth was spent in prayer and devotional exercises, in which several members of the Salvation Army took part at the convict's request.

Rev. Dr. Robert Johnston took a great interest in the culprit, and went to Ottawa to intercede for him, arriving back only at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Dr. Johnston called the reporters together yesterday morning, and said: "I wish to make a protest against the overstraining of British justice in the case of this man, against whom the crime of murder, as described by any statute in the British law, has not been proved. In attending him this morning, I look upon him not as the subject of justice, but as the victim of persecution, and his execution as the culmination of cruelty and not the administration of British law. Though he die strong and unrelenting, justice will be required at the hands of those who are responsible for his death."

Only 20 people saw the execution.

CAHILL'S TRIAL.

The St. Thomas Magistrate Adjourns the Case Until July 11.

St. Thomas, May 18.—Martin Cahill, the St. Catharines reporter who acted as deputy returning officer in polling subdivision No. 11 at the bye-election of January last, under the name of Joseph B. Montgomery, and who was arrested on May 10 by Special P. C. Wesley Graham on a charge of forgery and despoiling a poll-book, appeared before Police Magistrate Davidson yesterday for trial. The charges were read and the prisoner pleaded not guilty, electing to be tried summarily.

Mr. Donahue, Crown Attorney, stated that the prosecution was not in a position to proceed without the poll-book, which was now in the possession of the Clerk in Chancery. The trial would be a farce without the poll-books. He did not expect he could get them in less than ten days.

The magistrate set the date for July 11, and the prisoner was admitted to bail at $2,000, the prisoner for $1,000 and two sureties of $500 each. Alf. Sinclair and David Gardner were accepted as bondsmen.

Honored the Boy King's Birthday.

Gibraltar, May 18.—In honor of the birthday of the King of Spain, who was born May 17, 1886, the land batteries here and the American cable steamer Hooker, which arrived May 15, from New York, yesterday fired salutes and the vessel was dressed with bunting.

Midland Canal Bill Thrown Out.

Berlin, May 18.—The bill providing for the construction of the Midland Canal, connecting the Rhine and Elbe, has been rejected by the special committee of the Landtag, to which it was referred.

"BURNING MONEY."

The most precious possession on earth is perfect health. It is the ground-work of all prosperity in life; and few people grudge any reasonable expenditure which will be the means of restoring it; but one of the most disheartening things in the world is for any one who works hard for his money to keep paying it out for doctors and medicines that do no earthly good. It is like throwing it into the fire.

"We had spent lots of money for doctor bills and I had almost given up in despair," says Mrs. Ella Schall, of Moosehead, Luzerne Co., Pa., in a sincere letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "Then I told my husband I was going to write to you. I am very glad I did so; You remember my case was abscess of the breast. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cured me in one month, sound and well."

"Your kindness to me I can never forget," writes Mrs. Josie R. Clark, of Enterprise, Shelby Co., Mo. "I cannot express half my feelings of gratefulness to you. I had despaired of ever getting well. I had been in bad health for twelve years. Had aches all through me, numb hands, cold feet, and everything I ate distressed me; my bowels were constipated. I was very nervous, depressed and despondent. When I first wrote to you I thought I could never be cured. I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and my health is now good. You have my honest recommendation to all sufferers. I think there is no medicine in the world as good as Dr. Pierce's."

It's an insult to your intelligence for a dealer to attempt to palm off upon you a substitute for this world-famed medicine. You know what you want. It's his business to meet that want. When he urges some substitute he's thinking of the larger profit he'll make—not of your welfare. Shun all such dishonest dealers.

Every sick person in this land should possess Dr. Pierce's grand 1000-page Common Sense Medical Adviser, which will be sent free for the bare cost of customs and mailing, 21 one-cent stamps.

A Lucky Cross.

The Princess of Wales possesses a cross which is supposed to always bring good luck to its owner. It was formerly the property of the king of Denmark, having been discovered years ago in the grave of the beautiful Queen Dagmar. Besides its superstitious interest, it is a fine work of art, and was given by the king to the princess on her marriage day.

A Spanish Street Scene.

In nothing is the illiterate condition of Spain shown as in the numerous writing booths which line the streets of Barcelona. Spain has preserved much of the picturesque life of past ages, and even at the present day in many of its towns may be seen the watchman, with pike and lantern, going his nightly rounds not far from a fine street brilliantly illuminated by the electric light.

In the Rambla, the principal street of Barcelona, may be seen several of these writing booths of the public scribes. There for a small consideration the illiterate or any one else may have anything indited from the poetry of a love epistle to the prosaic application for a situation. The front of each booth is placarded with the name of the scribe and the services he is prepared to render to his customers. Some scribes combine the art of painting with that of writing, and all add to their activities the business of registry offices for servants.

A Question.

How can we raise more corn to the acher? Why, of course by using Putnam's Corn Extractor. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor has given universal satisfaction, for it is sure, safe and painless. Like every article of real merit it has a host of imitators, and we would specially warn the public to guard against those dangerous substitutes offered for the genuine Putnam's Extractor. N. C. The Prig and His Cane.

In the number of The Tatler for Oct. 6, 1709, it is observed that "a cane is part of the dress of a prig" (this, by the way, shows the erroneous notion prevalent that "priggishness" is a modern word) "and always worn upon a button, for fear he should be thought to have an occasion for it or be esteemed really and not genteelly a cripple."

In the number of Nov. 18 a rural squire in town is sketched who is the prototype of one of the pavement nuisances: "His arms naturally swang at an unreasonable distance from his sides, which, with the advantage of a cane that he brandished in a great variety of irregular motions, made it unsafe for any one to walk within several years of him."

And under date of Dec. 5 there is an amusing sketch of "a lively, fresh colored young man" who was among the applicants to Isaac Bickerstaff's court of censorship for license to use "canes, perspective glasses, snuffboxes, orange flower waters and the like ornaments of life." This young man had his cane hanging on his fifth button and was "an Oxford scholar who was just entered at the temple."—Gentleman's Magazine.

Brave Men Fall.

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents, at any Drug Store. Every bottle guaranteed.

Mr. Bennett spoke at some length in favor of the Parry Sound route to the seaboard. He thought that the best route from the northwest to Montreal was from Fort William to Midland or Collingwood by water, and from there to Montreal by rail. Even if the 14-foot route were completed, it could only accommodate vessels carrying 60,000 or 70,000 bushels of grain, whereas the trend of the carrying trade was toward large vessels, and a great portion of the trade to Buffalo was now done by vessels carrying 200,000 to 250,000 bushels.

Mr. Ives spoke of the rapid development of trade at Montreal, pointing out that it had increased so suddenly that it had outgrown the shipping facilities of the port, and urging upon the Government the necessity for improving the harbor.

On the suggestion of Mr. Blair, the debate was adjourned.

The Banque du Peuple Bill.

After recess, the hour devoted to private bills was spent in committee on the Banque du Peuple bill, which now stands for third reading, on the understanding that the Premier will, before the third reading of the bill, obtain from the Minister of Justice an opinion as to the competency of the Dominion Parliament to pass the act.

McMullen's Civil Service Bill.

Mr. McMullen (North Wellington) moved the second reading of an act to amend the act respecting the civil service of Canada, which provides that any deputy officer or employe asking for or accepting any extra salary or additional remuneration other than a permanent increase of his salary, shall be held to have thereby vacated his office.

After a lengthy discussion, in the course of which Sir Hibbert Tupper, Mr. Clarke Wallace, Mr. Taylor, Mr. Craig and others spoke, generally characterizing the proposal of the hon. member for North Wellington as ridiculous, the debate was adjourned, and the House rose at 10.35 p.m.

Corridor Notes.

Hon. Mr. Mulock last night gave notice that the redistribution bill would be introduced on Friday.

The Drummond County resolution will be gone on with to-day, the debate being resumed by Mr. Haggart.

A crowded meeting of the Parliamentary committee on banking and commerce was held yesterday to consider the bill respecting the Canada Life Insurance Company. This is the bill presented by the company, not the one presented by the shareholders. After a long discussion, the preamble of the bill was adopted without a division. Mr. Wood of Hamilton moved the reinsertion of the clause restricting the maximum number of votes to be cast by any one shareholder to 40. It being 1 o'clock, the committee adjourned until this morning

The Senate met last night and sat for an hour and a half, the time being occupied in the delivery of eulogies of the late Senator Boulton by Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Hon. David Mills and others.

A Brantford Landmark Gone.

Brantford, Ont., May 18.—The old White mill, which stood on the canal bank, and has been one of the landmarks of the city for over 40 years, was at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon completely wiped out by fire. It is estimated that $18,000 will scarcely cover the damage.

The schooner Ganges was sunk in Lake Erie about 11 o'clock on Wednesday night by a collision with the steamer Presqu Isle, about eight miles off Colchester. No lives lost.

It Must Be Torture.

Dr. Nachtigal, the celebrated African explorer, was the guest of a rich Hamburg merchant. The merchant's son, a young man of a somewhat sentimental temperament, said among other things that his dearest wish was to ride across the desert on the back of a camel. He thought such a ride must be very poetical indeed.

"My dear young friend," replied the explorer, "I can tell you how you can get a partial idea of what riding a camel on the deserts of Africa is like. Take an office stool, screw it up as high as possible and put it in a wagon without any springs. Then seat yourself on the stool and have it driven over rocky and uneven ground during the hottest weather of July or August and after you have not had anything to eat or drink for 24 hours, and then you will get a faint idea of how delightfully poetic it is to ride on a camel in the wilds of Africa."

Using the Left Hand.

The superiority of Japanese drawing can probably be traced to the custom of that land to make the children practice painting and drawing without the use of any stick or supporting device for the hand. They are taught to draw at the same time they are taught to write the letters of the alphabet, and they are taught to use both hands equally in the task.

The natural preference given to the right arm has been explained physiologically by the construction of the veins and nerves that enter the arms, those of the right arm being more prominent. The reverse is the case in the few who are naturally left handed.

Women's Shirt Waists

Are as good a test of a store as any other one thing. They are a better test than most things. It is easy for a dealer with slip shod methods to get ill-fitting Shirt Waists of poor patterns and last season's shapes. They generally do the easy thing.

Some makers are famous for the style and fit they get into every garment they make. It costs them no more to turn out such goods than to produce the sloppy, slouchy sorts. It really costs them less—they waste less. These are the makers we hunt out. It is THEIR work we show you here. Their economies may be your gain—more than a money gain too.

Here are shirt waists of English Cambrics, American Percales, French Muslins, Anderson's Scotch Zephers, American Dimitties, Manchester Piques and Swiss Muslins, in STRIPES, up and down and roundabout, CHECKS straight and bias. Floral stripes relieved from their set designs by dainty frills and insertions, others by white tucked yokes and Valenciennes Lace. Most of them have the newly rounded collars and cuffs of the same material, others have the white rounded collars and cuffs. When you see and think of the stuffs these blouses are composed of and the work on them, and the style that is cut and sewed and ironed into every one of them you will be convinced that the prices are right and the character of Shirt Waists you had hoped to find are here.

Silk Shirt Waists from the quiet designs to the fetching broad stripes with a style of their own.

DEATH RESULTED.

Fatal Termination of the Accident to Mr John Stewart, Otonabee.

Mr. John Stewart, sr., a well known and highly respected citizen of Otonabee, died to-day as a result of the injuries he sustained in a runaway on Sunday last. He has been lying between life and death since and passed away this morning. Mr. John Stewart was sixty-two years of age and was unmarried. The family is one of the best known in the county, the elder members having been among the pioneers. The death will be deeply regretted. Mr. Stewart was a son of the late Richard Stewart and came to Canada with his father from Ireland in 1840.

As stated on Monday Mr. Stewart was thrown from his carriage in a runaway. He alighted on his head and shoulder and besides serious bodily injuries severe concussion of the brain resulted.

The funeral takes place from his late residence, lot 13, con. 15, Otonabee, on Saturday at two o'clock. Interment will take place at Centreville cemetery.

Mr. Stewart's niece, Miss Annie Smithson, who was with him in the runaway and received a badly injured knee is recovering.

A CONGREGAIONAL RECEPTION

Tendered to the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Torrence at St. Paul's Church.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Torrance received the warm congratulations of hundreds of the members and adherents of St. Paul's church last evening at the reception tendered them in the commodious school room of the church, which had been most tastefully and artistically decorated. The reception was a most successful and pleasant social gathering, and considered in its congregational aspect must have been most pleasing to those in whose honor it was held.

The reception was held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the church, and the ladies were present in all parts of the room to make it pleasant and sociable for those who had responded to the invitation to be present. Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Torrance received the congratulations of their congregation under most pleasant circumstances, and exchanged a word or two of greeting with every one present. A reception committee composed of Mrs (Sheriff) Hall, Mrs McKibbon, Mrs Robt Innes, Miss Dickson and Mrs J D Collins were at the door and extended a warm and hearty welcome to all who came. Among those outside the congregation of St Paul's who were present to extend congratulations to the pastor and his bride were Rev. J G Potter and Mrs Potter, of St Andrew's church; Rev. J C Davidson, Rector, of St John's church; Rev. S J Shorey and Mrs Shorey, of the George-st Methodist church, and Rev. J Bastow and Mrs Bastow, of the Murray-st Baptist church.

The gathering was of an informal character, but during the evening instrumental music was contributed by a number of ladies. Refreshments were served during the evening.

FIELD OF GENERAL SPORT

Lacrosse.

President W. J. Stark was in Toronto on Saturday, and with ex-President Dan A. Rose and Mr. J. D. Bailey waited upon Mr. C. E. McPherson, district passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific railway, in connection with the matter of a special schedule of passenger rates for Canadian Lacrosse Association teams. After a lengthened consultation, Mr. McPherson said his company would consider the matter, but suggested, in the meantime, that the lacrossists petition the Grand Trunk for the same concessions. It is very probable that the railways will grant a special rate to C. L. A. clubs.

Campbellford Herald:—The Maple Leaf lacrosse team of Campbellford have accepted a challenge from the Peterborough Shamrock lacrosse team, the match to be played at the Roman Catholic picnic to be held at Lakefield on the 24th of May.

The lacrosse club of Hastings have been granted the following certificates:—H. Quigley, Harry Dobb, Fred Scriver, Bill West, H. Doonan, Bob Morrison, Bert Stevenson, Jim Welsh, Bill Donovan, Frank Lynch, Sam Walsh, Tom Learworth, Bill Clapper, Henry Scriver and Eddie Wilcox.

The Markham club are out after Capt. Arthur Snell, of Varsity. "Art" played with Markham in 1886 and 1887, and manager "Ham" Hall thinks Markham cannot do without Snell this year.

Wheeling.

The road race of the C. G. E. bicycle club down for next Saturday, has been postponed for a week owing to the wet weather.

It is altogether likely that Angus McLeod will do a lot of racing on the other side this summer. He is showing great form in his training at the island, and McCarthy, the St. Louis rider, who is working out with him, is of the opinion that the Canadian champion will crowd the top-notchers closely. McCarthy is a cracker-jack on indoor tracks, having beaten Jay Eaton, the acknowledged champion of the small tracks.

Harley Davidson has closed a contract with the Brantford firm. He will ride at all meets through Ontario. Davidson is looking better than he ever did, and he says that he feels as good as he looks. He is training at the Island.

Baseball.

A number of the ball tossers were over at the P.A.A.A. grounds yesterday afternoon and a glimpse at their practice showed some fast work. Under the leadership of Mr. Dan McCabe the boys are making splendid progress in all the tricks of the business and are playing with a speed and sureness that augurs well for their first game next Wednesday. The evening practices are all being well attended and a good number of the hard workers go over to their Ashburnham home in the afternoons, for they know that baseball matches are not played in the evening and that day matches necessitate day practices.

GREATLY IMPROVED.

Extensive Changes at the Dry Goods Establishment of Sutcliffe & Sons.

The new firm of Messrs. J. Sutcliffe & Sons, 389 George-st., has shown good business enterprise and a commendable desire to serve the public efficiently by carrying out a big lot of improvements at their store. The establishment has been brightened up greatly by securing additional lighting area from the back and this in conjunction with the other changes enables goods to be shown to good advantage however dark the day. The shelving has been re-modled so as to produce the appearance of greater width in the store. The painters and paper hangers have exercised their skill with taste, the woodwork being done in white and the walls in a fetching blue tint. The departments have all been re-arranged and are now most convenient. The front has also been decorated nicely and a neat striped awning will be put up. The general effect of the improvements is excellent.

BROOKS' STORY WAS NOT TRUE

THE CORNWALL CHIEF OF POLICE COULD NOT FIND ANY INFORMATION REGARDING HIM.

There Is No Public Work in Progress There and Brooks Is Unknown—Riley Seems to Have Been Inventing a Story, Too.

After the man Brooks, the man of the trio of tramps arrested on Monday night on whom the money was found, told his story to Chief Rousel about having been employed on the canal at Cornwall last winter and saving $150, the Chief communicated with the Chief of Police at Cornwall, to ascertain what truth there was in the man's story. It will be remembered that Brooks said he had left Cornwall two weeks ago, that he then had $150; that the man he worked for there was named Cleveland and that he was a member of the Church of England. The reply received to the Chief's enquiry at Cornwall show Brooks' yarn to have been made "out of whole cloth," and the question as to where he got the money found on him, the Standard bank bills and the small silver, becomes still more interesting. The letter from the Cornwall Chief of Police reads as follows:—

Sir,—In reply to yours of the 16th, re William Brooks, I have made enquiries about such a man and cannot find anyone that knows a painter by that name, nor is there any canal works going on here at present, nor any such a contractor as Cleveland. And, moreover, on making enquiries at the ofice of the Bank of Montreal and the Ontario Bank, the only banks here, the managers inform me that there is no Standard Bank money paid out by any of the public works contractors east of Kingston. There is a public works at Cardinal and Farran's Point; also Iroquois. These places are about 20 to 40 miles west from here. W. Davis & Sons are one of the principal contractors. I have not the names of others at present. The members of the Church of England here that I have spoken to do not know him.

Any information that I could give would be gladly furnished, but I think you have, if not the right man, a good clue to work on. I remain,

Yours respectfully,
A. CAMERON.

So much for Brooks' story. Then Riley, one of the other men said he was a married man living on Ontario-st., Ottawa. Enquiry reveals the fact that there is no Ontario-st. in Ottawa and no painter by the name of Riley is known in that city.

Who are these tramps? Where did Brooks secure the peculiar money he had on him? These are questions that the police are anxious to unravel.

ONE GOT LOOSE.

One Bull Makes Considerable Excitement at the Cattle Yards.

Yesterday afternoon when a carload of cattle, including a number of bulls, was being unloaded at the yards there was considerable fun. One big fellow got loose and started to cut capers. He drew back from the bunch, looked at them with a wicked and vengeful eye, lowered his massive head and charged the bunch at the gallop. Having caught some animals in the flank with all the force of a battery of big guns he would withdraw to his vantage ground and return exultant to the charge. After diverting himself for some time with the fear of the attendants and of the other cattle he allowed himself to be taken on board for a ride on the cars.

Boy Badly Burned.

On Friday Master Ray Waters, aged 7 years, of Flemings school, met with an accident which may yet prove fatal. He, while with two other small boys, were playing with matches, had the misfortune to have his clothes take fire. Mr. David Johnston, who was working near by and had gone over to the well at the school house at the time for a drink, no doubt was instrumental along with the teacher, Miss M. Lancaster, in saving the lad's life. As soon as the boy found his clothes on fire he ran to the pump and by Mr. Jonhston's and the teacher's aid the fire was extinguished but not before the chest and one arm of the lad were badly burned. He was taken to his home and Dr. McCowan was called and dressed the injuries. Mr. Johnston had the misfortune while saving the boy to have both hands badly burned. This is a warning for children not to play with matches.—Hastings Star.

VETERANS' MEDALS.

An Explanation of the Delay that has Been Occasioned.

A despatch from Ottawa states that the long-looked-for general service medals for the veterans of the Canadian militia are at last in sight. Yesterday Hon. F W Borden, Minister of Militia, cabled the authorities at the Royal Mint, asking for an explanation of the causes of the delay in forwarding the medals. An answer was received, in which it was stated that the working force at the mint is at present greatly rushed, as, in addition to the Canadian medal, those for the Soudan and Chitral campaigns are being manufactured. The mint authorities state also that there is necessarily great delay in the work of manufacturing the medals, as the dies are exceedingly friable and very frequently break, rendering it necessary temporarily to stop operations. Dr. Borden was informed that if he so elected the mint authorities would be able to send a consignment of a portion of the total number of medals every two weeks until the whole order is filled. The Minister of Militia cabled an order to do so, and the first consignment will be despatched to Ottawa by next Saturday's steamer. By the 1st of July it is expected that there will be a large enough number of the medals in the Dominion to make it possible to present them on Dominion Day to those entitled to them in Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, St John, Halifax, Hamilton, London, Victoria, Vancouver and Winnipeg. It will take about three months under the present arrangement to secure the entire order from the Royal Mint.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mr John Sim, an Old Resident of Peterborough.

Mr John Sim, sr., aged 85 years, an old resident of town, died yesterday morning at the family residence, McDonnel-st. The deceased was a native of Scotland and came to Peterborough over fifty years ago. He has resided in town ever since and won the respect of all. He was a member of St. Paul's church. He had been unwell for the last couple of years and about two weeks ago received a fall which hastened his death. The surviving children are Mrs W Turnbull, Hartney, Man; Mrs W J Hamilton, Cobourg; Miss Helen Sim and Mr John Sim, town. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock.

Will make connections with the G T R train, arriving at Lakefield at 1.30 p. m on Tuesday, May 23rd, and run to Stony Lake, returning to Lakefield in time to connect with the special train from Lakefield to Peterborough at about 7 p m on the 24th of May. This gives the afternoon of Tuesday and all day Wednesday at the lake. 5d116

Brevities.

—Campbellford claims a population of 2,323.

—Capt Reynolds expects his new boat to be ready for work on Stony lake about June 15th.

—The Matthews Co. yesterday packed and shipped two refrigerator cars of bacon to Montreal for export.

—Best cabinet photos $1.50 per doz. at Garnet Green's Charlotte-st. studio. Price no detriment to the finish. dtf

—The Marks Bros. Dramatic Co left on the midnight last night for Perth, where they will disband on May 24th.

—The Sons of England band goes to Stirling on the 24th of May. The 57th Battalion band will probably be in town that day.

—Arthur Paton, a boy of fourteen, was charged at the Police Court this morning with firing off a gun. He was discharged.

—The Chief of Police has received several communications asking for information regarding the three men arrested here the other evening.

—There will be a meeting of the Children's Aid Society at the Council Chamber this evening at 7.30 o'clock. A full attendance is hoped for.

—Mr Metcalfe, ex-M P P, of Kingston, has been retired from the position of warden of Kingston penitentiary. He is succeeded by Dr Platt, ex-M P P for Prince Edward county.

—The demand for real estate in Campbellford continues, as quite a number of properties have changed hands during the past three months. There are not many desirable houses remaining unoccupied at the present time.

—Rev Patrick O'Leary, parish priest of Fenelon Falls, said mass at St. Joseph's church, Douro, Wednesday morning. The people are always pleased to see the rev gentleman in Douro, where he was born and reared.

—A test fire alarm was given yesterday at the Central school, Port Hope. None of the teachers or scholars knew anything about it and the building was emptied of every scholar and teacher in the most orderly manner in forty-five seconds.

—An error crept into the report of the Married Ladies social at the George-st. church. The number sung by the ladies' chorus was not "Roll, Jordan Roll," but "On Jordan's Stormy Banks I Stand."

—Mr. Ed. Welsh would like to get some information about a cream colored mare with a banged tail and mane. It strayed from his premises, Hunter-st., on Monday, May 8th. Any information would very much oblige E. Welsh, confectioner, 172 Hunter-st. 1d116-1w20

—One evening last week while Mr O'Reilly, of Percy, along with two other persons, were milking the cows in the barn yard, one of the animals fell. On investigation it was found that it had been shot by a stray bullet from a military rifle in the hands of some unknown person.

—Mr J E Billingsley, G T R freight agent at Lindsay for the last five or six years, has been promoted to the position of station agent at Kirkfield and will leave for there at once to assume his new duties. Mr Ernest Foley, who has been assistant agent, will in future have full charge.

—At noon to-day no trace had been found of the body of little Joe Wall, who was drowned yesterday afternoon. The search was carried on all yesterday afternoon and late last night, it being thought that the body might have been carried by the eddy into the adjacent raceway. It is now thought it must have been carried down to the lake.

—Says the Orillia Packet:—"The member of the Peterborough Board of Health who had some fault to find with the Review for publishing the Medical Health Officer's report of the condition of things he found at the waterworks pumping station, on the occasion of his recent inspection, must have a peculiar idea of the public duty a newspaper has to perform."

—Preparations are being completed for the celebration of the Queen's birthday, next Wednesday, by baseball and lacrosse matches on the P A A A grounds. The two events promise to furnish good amusement for the day. The baseball attraction should be a welcome thing on account of its rarity. The match will likely be a good one. The home club is playing keen ball. The afternoon event, Peterborough vs Hastings at lacrosse, excites lots of local interest and a good match is assured. As there is no other celebration the public would do well to patronize both athletic affairs.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at James Lynch's Drug Store as their giving away to their many customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable remedy, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases are quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size 50c. and $1.00 Every bottle warranted.

Mr. Meekton was gazing at his wife with that inane and amiable fixety which comes into a man's face when he has been napping and is ashamed of the fact.

"Leonidas," she said sternly.

"What is it, my dear?" he inquired as he straightened himself up in his sleepy hollow chair.

"What is the matter?"

"Nothing is the matter," he said, growing red in the face. "I haven't intimated that there was anything wrong, have I?"

"No. But you have been behaving rather queerly. Just now you gave a little start and exclaimed, 'Yes, Henrietta, I agree with you perfectly.'"

"Well," answered he, apprehensively, "there isn't anything in that to take exception to, is there?"

"Are you sure you meant it?"

"Every word of it."

"You had given the matter due consideration before you spoke?"

"Certainly. Do you doubt me, Henrietta?"

"Oh, no. But I can't help attaching some significance to the fact that I hadn't uttered a word during the ten minutes previous to your enthusiastic indorsement of my sentiments."

"Well, to tell the truth, Henrietta, I had been asleep, and something awoke me, and I naturally supposed—that is to say, I took it for granted"— And then he gave it up

The Sensitive Porgy.

The porgy, common as it is, is a beautiful fish when seen in the water in a favorable light, and it is likewise one of the most sensitive of fishes. In captivity it is easily frightened. It will take alarm from something done by a passing visitor, a thoughtless touching of glass, or something of that sort, and go rushing around until it is exhausted. Sometimes a porgy in a tank may, when frightened, jump out of the water and bump its nose against the wire screen over the tank and be seemingly paralyzed by the shock and rendered unable to swim. In such a condition it will lie upon its back, motionless, except perhaps for a fluttering of its fins, for an hour, and then it may come back all right again and swim about so lively and in such good form that you can't tell then which fish of the lot it was that had bumped its head.

A peculiarity of the porgy is its liability to blindness. Blindness is not uncommon among fishes, but there are perhaps more blind porgies than there are fish of any other kind. There's a saying among fishermen, "As blind as a porgy."

A Fatal Wedding

By BERTHA M. CLAY.

Author of "On Her Wedding Morn," "Which Loved Him Best," Story of a Wedding Ring," "Between Two Loves," Etc.

He did not tell her so all at once, although he wooed her as lovely woman was never wooed before! All the chivalry, the poetry, the fire of his nature was called into action. He wooed her with music and song—with flowers and sweet words.

He was always thinking of her, and for her. She was his one idea—the center of the world to him.

How he longed to make her his own!—to take her to his own home, where he might indulge her pretty caprices, and give her everything her heart desired.

And the day came when Sir Rupert Dacre went to Squire Jocelyn and told him the story of his love.

He did not go to Sybil first. She was so young—"only a sweet, wayward child." He thought it better first to see if the squire was willing.

Willing! Why, light now shone in the old man's eyes as he heard how well his darling was cared for; the child of his old age, his great treasure, even he who loved her so dearly could wish nothing better for her than this.

"I shall die happy, Rupert," he said; "if I leave my darling with you."

"Will she be willing, sir, do you think?" asked Sir Rupert gravely.

"I can not doubt it, of course she will. She is not one of those flirting girls, you know, who have thought of nothing but love and lovers. She is like a beautiful, innocent child still; there is no one else she can care for—she must love you."

But this logical reasoning hardly encouraged Sir Rupert. At length the day came when he could bear his suspense no longer, and went to Glynn, determined that very hour to ask Sybil to be his wife.

He will never forget the day or the scene. The dark after years brought terrible pictures; this one remained clear and bright in his memory while he lived.

It was the close of a warm August morning, and the sun shone brightly over the grounds and gardens of Glynn. He inquired for the squire, and was told that he had gone over to Lord Clive's to dine. Miss Jocelyn and Miss Ruthers were out in the pony-carriage; Miss Sybil was in the garden alone.

There he went to seek her. He remembered the golden glow of the trees, the fragrance of the flowers. He remembered how the tall, white lilies gleamed and glistened; how the rich, sweet scent of the roses greeted him; how the acacia blossoms fell under his feet as he passed by; how the little birds sung quaint love-stories from the depths of green trees; how the wind had died away into the softest of murmurs. He remembered how his heart beat when he saw her sitting under a flowering chestnut-tree, trying to read, and yet looking with charmed eyes on the fair world around her.

He went slowly up to where she sat. He might have read his fate in the kindly, frank smile that brightened her face when she saw him. Real, true pleasure shone in her eyes, and her words were quite free and unconstrained.

There was no sudden flush, no drooping of the proud, bright eyes, no quiver on the sweet lips, no beating of the quiet heart. Was he blind, that he did not notice it?

"I am so glad to see you," she said. "I am left all alone to-day, and I am tired of myself. Sit down, Sir Rupert, and tell me something new and charming."

He sat down by her side, but the ready words did not come.

"You are not going to disappoint me, and prove dull, are you?" she asked, anxiously.

"I hope not," he said, with a strange smile. "I should like you to think what I say to-day more interesting than anything you have ever heard."

"What will it be about?" she asked, wondering at his serious tone.

"It will be about you and myself," he said.

Then he paused abruptly, for she turned her face so frankly to him, he saw that she had not the faintest idea of his meaning.

"Then it can not be anything very interesting," she replied. "I know all about myself, and find no amusement in the knowledge."

"But you do not know all about me," he cried, and the passion in his voice startled her. "You do not know, Sybil, my darling, how dearly I love you—so dearly that I would give you my life and all I have in the world. Oh Sybil! could you learn to care for me—could you love me?"

And before she could speak he was kneeling in the soft, long grass at her feet, pouring out a passionate torrent of words that bewildered her.

Words such as would have burned their way into another woman's heart, for the man's whole soul was in them; the long-pent-up love that had never found vent before was lavished upon her now.

He remembered how the bright, sweet face grew white and still, how the innocent, eloquent eyes grew dim with wonder and with fear; how a startled expression came over her, and she sat like a grieved, perplexed, bewildered child.

"Sybil," he cried, passionately, "tell me I have not frightened you. I can not find words to tell you how dearly I love you. See, darling, I kneel here, and I pray you to speak one word to me—only one. Will you be my wife?"

The startled fear upon her face deepened.

"Your wife!" she gasped, and then the trembling lips refused to utter more.

"My wife," he replied, "and I will make you happier than any woman ever was before. I love you so dearly and so deeply I would give my life to make you happy."

Bright tears gathered in the violet eyes.

"Oh, Rupert!" she said, "what a pity to spoil our pleasant evenings in this way! I can not be anybody's wife yet. Stop—let me think—do not speak to me just yet; let me think it over."

CHAPTER IV.

"LONGING FOR A CHANGE."

They sat for some minutes in unbroken silence. The wind waved the large branches of the chestnut tree; the perfume of the roses came to them in faint, sweet breaths; and Rupert Dacre looked into the beautiful face of the girl who was to give him life or death.

She was silent so long he grew afraid.

"Sybil," he said, gently, "only one little word."

"I can not say it," she cried. "I do not know."

"You do not know if you love me?" he said, bending his dark, handsome face over her, his eyes all aflame as hers drooped from them.

"No," she replied, simply; "you have taken me so completely by surprise. I do not know whether I love you or not. I have never thought about being any one's wife yet, Rupert."

He smiled at her words.

"You do not love any one else?" he asked, anxiously.

"Oh! no," was the quick reply. "I have not thought much of love."

"And you do not send me from you?" he continued. "You do not refuse to care for me, and tell me that you will never be my wife?"

"No," she replied, thoughtfully; "I can not; for, you see, Rupert, I am not sure. Do forget it all, and let us go down to the lake."

"I can not forget it, Sybil," he said, quietly. "You do not refuse me, you do not accept me; my darling, will you do another thing—will you give me time to try and win you?"

She made no answer, and he continued:

"Let me love you, and woo you until these dear hands shall rest in mine, and you say yourself you will be my wife. I will wait long years for it, Sybil. I will never tease or importune you. You will try to love me? If you succeed, ah! my darling, you shall not repent it. If you can not, I will resign you, praying Heaven to bless you wherever you go. Are you willing for this, Sybil?"

"Yes," she was willing. "I am engaged, you know Rupert," she said.

"You are free as the wind," he replied. "I will wait for you twenty years if you like; and at the end of that time, if you send me from you, I will not complain."

The great generosity of his love did not strike her; she only trembled slightly at the passion in his face.

"You are cold," he said. "Let us go down to the lake; I will row you across."

She rose, and for one moment they stood side by side; he dark, handsome, and stately, she so fair and sweet.

Sir Rupert bent over her.

"Let me kiss you, Sybil," he said—"once."

He remembered how she blushed and half turned her face away, and how he clasped her in his arms, and pressed on her lips warm, passionate kisses, murmuring sweet words the while; then put her away from him, and stood reverently before her.

"I do not want to go to the lake," said Sybil. "I will go home. Papa will be there, perhaps."

And, satisfied with what he had won, Sir Rupert walked by her side, talking to her about indifferent things, until Sybil ceased to tremble, and by the time they reached home she was her own bright self again.

So for many long months matters stood. Sir Rupert told the squire what had passed, the squire confided in his head counselor, Irene, and the trio watched anxiously for signs betokening their darling's frame of mind.

They watched in vain; she was but a happy, careless child. She promised to try to care for him, and looking down a long vista of years she saw some remote probability of doing so. No love warmed or quickened into life. Her thoughts of Sir Rupert were something quite different to the sweet, girlish dreams that came to her in the spring-time.

For some few days, remembering those passionate kisses, she was shy and reserved with him; but she soon forgot them, and was her own laughing, bright self again. Yet her heart was still sleeping; Sir Rupert had not wakened it.

It was almost pitiful to see the passionate love he lavished upon her. He did not take her in his arms again, he did not kiss her face; but never, surely, was love like his.

People talked about it—every one said how devotedly attached Sir Rupert was to Sybil Jocelyn—every one wished him success and happiness; but, among all these rumors, no one was ever heard to say that Sybil loved him.

He was full of hope as the long, light summer months passed, and then a new element came into his life.

Sybil had completed her seventeenth year, and was constantly longing for change; birds and flowers, music and drawings, no longer satisfied her; she wanted something different—something brighter!

She longed for some of the gayeties other girls had; she wanted to dance herself weary at a ball; to tire herself out at parties; to taste what people called life.

Sir Rupert Dacre will never forget the day he found her sitting by the lake-side, looking with dreamy, wearied eyes upon the bright, clear water.

He went up to her and asked her what she was thinking of. Her face did not brighten when he spoke.

"I can not quite tell you," she said. "I am longing for a change. I think I have grown tired of always being in the same place, and seeing the same people. I want fresh faces, and fresh voices."

She did not see how keen was the pain she had inflicted upon him.

"I want to do as other girls of my age do," she continued. "Ah! Rupert, that bright world—that world full of beautiful ladies and lover knights! Where is it? When shall I go out into it?"

"Be my wife, Sybil," he said, eagerly, "and you shall have every wish of your heart."

His Criticism.

When the first edition of the "Seasons" came out, the poet sent a handsomely bound copy to Sir Gilbert Elliott of Minto, who had shown him kindness. Sir Gilbert took the book to his gardener, a relative of Thomson, who turned it over and over in his hands, gazing at it in admiration. Sir Gilbert said:

"Well, David, what do you think of James Thomson now? There's a book that will make him famous the world over and immortalize his name."

"In truth," said David, "it is a grand book. I did na think the lad had ingenuity enow to ha' done sich a neat piece o' handicraft."

HONEST WORK IS WELL-EARNED HAPPINESS

But Overwork Takes All the Joy Out of Life.

If the Stomach is Overworked it also Becomes Unhappy—It Sends Grumbling Telegrams by the Nerves all over the Body—These if Translated Would Read, "Send a Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablet With Each Meal."

No honest right-thinking man objects to work. There is a lot in working and in the result of work that amply repays a man for the trouble and pains he puts into it.

But overwork is a different thing. Overwork kills. It takes away all chance of proper rest and recreation, and rest is necessary for the proper performance of work.

All this is recognized and understood in the case of a man as a man. But does that part of the man that keeps him alive—get a fair share of rest.

The stomach works on when he is sleeping. The stomach works when his mind is playing.

When we consider how much unnecessary work we give it besides, in the shape of unwholesome and harmful kind of food, is it any wonder it suffers?

Dyspepsia is caused by an overworked stomach. The juices that digest the food run dry. There is either too great a bulk to digest or the materials of which the food is composed are too difficult of digestion.

Thus both the wealthy man who has on the table everything money can buy and the poor day laborer who has to subsist on cheap unwholesome food, are alike victims of Dyspepsia.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets take charge of the work of digestion and give the stomach a much needed rest. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Catarrh of the Stomach, Bilious Headaches, and all other stomach complaints.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale at all druggists at fifty cents a box, or will be sent on receipt of price, by The Dodd's Medical Co., Limited, Toronto.

A SIGNIFICANT MOVEMENT.

Three Batteries of Field Artillery Ordered to South Africa.

They Will Leave England on Monday, and Their Destination Is the National Arsenal, Close to the Boer Republic's Borders—The Arrested Men Arraigned—Charged With High Treason—Said to Look Like Common Loafers.

London, May 18.—Three batteries of field artillery have been ordered to South Africa and will leave England next Monday. Their destination is the National Arsenal in the Transvaal, near the Boer Republic. Although the dispatch of these troops is part of a plan to strengthen the British forces in South Africa, the hurry orders under which they move make their departure significant. Their arrival in Natal will give England six strong batteries at that particular point, which is easy of access to the Transvaal.

High Treason Charged.

The consul of the Transvaal here has received the following telegram from his Government, dated Pretoria, May 16.—"Richard Nicholls, describing himself as a colonel; George Patterson, a captain; Edward J. Tremlett, Charles Ellis and John A. Mitchell, lieutenants, and Fries and Hooper, were arrested yesterday morning on the sworn declaration of three Englishmen, on the charge of high treason, in connection with the alleged object of enrollment of troops to create a revolution, seize Johannesburg fort, and hold possession of the town until British troops from Natal could come to their assistance.

"One of the prisoners alleges that he was acting under instructions from the British War Department."

Were the Charges Trumped Up?

A representatives of the Associated Press saw a number of prominent South Africans connected with the leading concerns of Johannesburg yesterday. They all declared that they had not received a word from their own agents in Cape Colony, indicating, they added, that the affair was "trumped up by the Boer police," and that in any case the men arrested were irresponsible nobodies with fictitious military titles affixed by the Boers with the object of discrediting the British in the eyes of the continental powers. It is now believed that Tremlett was formerly a captain of volunteers in Cape Colony, and he is now a mining agent; Patterson is described as a butcher and labor agitator; Mitchell is said to be a storekeeper; Hooper is classed as a carpenter; Ellis is alleged to be a private detective, and the occupations of Fries and Nicholls are unknown.

What a Uitlander Says.

A prominent Uitlander said to the representative of the Associated Press:

"My own view is that a few unknown and irresponsible people met together to discuss means of defence in case the necessity of such action arose. Those who are acquainted with Johannesburg know that such precautions are necessary. There was the greatest unrest and ferment there when I left. But the statement that there has been a conspiracy during the past four months and that the South African League was connected with it is untrue. No Uitlander is allowed to possess a rifle, yet at every corner are policemen armed with rifles and revolvers.

"The feeling of alarm on the arrival of the Boer artillery can be conceived.

"It is a significant fact that the men arrested are practically unknown, showing that the feeling which in 1895 was limited to the capitalist class, has now gone lower down and has reached the ordinary working class of shopkeepers of Johannesburg."

Too Absurd for Refutation.

In response to inquiries on the subject made in Government circles, the correspondent here of the Associated Press was told yesterday that the statement that the men arrested at Johannesburg had acted under instructions from the British War Office, was "too absurd for refutation."

A corrected description of the prisoners says that Tremlett is a civilian, Fries a Danish subject and all the other British ex-non-commissioned officers.

The Men in Court.

Pretoria, Transvaal Republic, May 18.—The seven alleged revolutionists, who presented the appearance of ordinary loafers, were arraigned yesterday morning in court and were charged with the capital offence of high treason. They were remanded for a fortnight.

Sworn affidavits alleged that 2,000 men have been enrolled for military service, and that it was intended to arm them in Natal, to return them to the Rand and at a given signal to seize and hold the port of Johannesburg for 24 hours pending the arrival of British troops.

The Press says the Government regards the matter as "an unfortunate local incident which will not affect the general political situation."

The Government also confirms the report that the arrangements between President Kruger and the Governor of Cape Colony and high commissioner of South Africa, Sir Alfred Milner, for a meeting at Bloemfontein, capital of the Orange Free State, are nearly completed. The President's proposed reforms will be presented to the Raad (Legislature) prior to the meeting.

Russia Will Not Accept Refusal.

London, May 18.—The Pekin correspondent of The Times says:

"M. de Geirs, Russian minister to China, declines to accept the refusal of the Chinese Government to grant the railway concession to connect Pekin with Russia's present railroad system in Manchuria. He will insist upon the grant. Unless supported by some other power, China will yield to Russia. She is surrounded with calamities brought upon her by Italy, France and Germany, while England's hands are tied by the Anglo-Russian convention."

Turkish Traitor Must Die.

Moscow, May 18.—News has been received from Constantinople that the Sultan has signed the death warrant of Col. Azis Bey of the Turkish general staff, convicted by court-martial of having sold to a foreign power the secret information and military plans of the Turkish War Ministry.

Will Sing Before the Queen.

London, May 18.—Wagner's "Lohengrin," without the second act, will be produced at Windsor Castle on the Queen's Birthday, with a cast including Jean and Edouard de Reszke, Mme. Nordica, Mme. Schumann-Heink and David Bispham. The conductor will be Signor Mancinelli.

Arrived at Jibouti.

Jibouti, East Coast of Africa, May 18.—Major Marchand, the French explorer, has arrived here. The insignia of Commander of the Legion of Honor was handed to him on board the French second-class cruiser D'Assas, without any ceremony.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago Futures Showed Considerable Strength and Wheat Advanced One Cent—The Latest Quotations.

Liverpool, May 18.—Wheat futures were steadier yesterday, closing ½d per cental higher than on Wednesday.

Chicago, May 18.—Wheat futures yesterday manifested an upward tendency. Prices advanced a cent over Wednesday's close, and maintained most of the rise to the end of the session. There were no special features, and traders are holding off and waiting for something decisive to turn up.

ITCHING PILES...

Positively and permanently cured by Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is an absolute cure for piles, and has never been known to fail to cure the worst forms of this disease which has baffled medical skill for ages.

This statement may sound rather strong to persons who do not know the superior merits of Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment, but it is perfectly true, and heartily endorsed by the grateful testimony of thousands of men and women who have been cured by it after years of suffering, and after trying many preparations and consulting the best doctors.

Mr. H. Ball, Belleville, Ont., says: "I take pleasure in stating that after thirty years of suffering with Itching Piles, Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely cured me. I tried every remedy that was advertised, with little or no benefit, but as I have told different persons affected as I was, Dr. Chase's Ointment made a perfect cure."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has a record of cures unparalleled in the history of medicine. It is guaranteed to cure any case of piles. For sale by all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Montreal, May 17—The Gazette this morning says:—Receipts of cheese to-day were 3,059 boxes. The market is without change and prices on new make are nominal at a range of 9 1-2c. to 9 5-8c. The cable on white cheese was 6d higher at 51s 6d., while colored was unchanged at 50s.

Receipts of butter were 616 packages. Until offerings of full grass cheese are on the market, and none are expected until the end of next week, trading is in a transitory state, present prices are no fair criterion on which to base a judgment of the future. Prices to-day on creamery ranged all the way from 15 1-2c. to 16 1-2c. as to grade and size of lot.

Campbellford, May 16.—At the Campbellford cheese board, held here to-night, 1,025 boxes of white were boarded. McGrath got 560 at 9 1-4c.; Ayer, 350 at 9 1-4; balance unsold. Next meeting of the Board on May 30th, at 10 a.m. Buyers present—Bird, Whitten, Thompson, Kerr and Bailey and Cook.

New York, May 15.—The cheese market opens with a good demand for the home trade, in small sizes, at 9 3-4c. to 10c., and more interest is shown on the new. Old is about gone and holders are willing to concede in prices to clear. In export there is good demand, but holders are asking 1-8c. advance, which blocks trading. Receipts this week, colored is in large majority and larger proportion of large sizes; 9 3-4c. asked; 9 5-8c. bid.

The Funny Bone.

A man who fractured his funny bone concludes that it is not a funny matter. He said: "The displacement of the olecranon is accompanied by disablement of the whole arm for a long while. Webster describes the point as follows: 'The large process at the proximal end of the ulna which projects behind the articulation with the humerus and forms the bony prominence of the elbow.' I have it with me. I fell on the ice in 1873 and broke off my left funny bone. It hurt, but I did not know what had happened for months, and then Dr. Henry Fish of Fargo told me. It was too late to do anything then except exercise to bring my muscles into condition.

"A new development set in then, and the lower part of my forearm became flat, while the upper muscles developed. At present I can pull or lift as much with that arm as I could at any time, but I cannot strike or push with it and cannot exert downward pressure with it at all, unless I hold my arm rigid and put the weight of my body upon it. I can scarcely hold a sheet of paper upon my desk, and for fully 12 months I could not use my left arm at all. Perhaps it was because I did not have surgical attention soon enough. Recently I had a radiograph made, and the fragment of bone was clearly shown lying loosely in the joint. After the fracture two splinters protruded from the skin and were removed."

SPRING STYLES.

The Fancy For Long Neck Chains Still Prevails.

Accordion plaited skirts, although not the rule, are nevertheless sanctioned by fashion, and especially the flounce which now usually encircles the foot of the skirt may be accordion plaited with great propriety. Radiating or sun plaiting, as it is called, is the preferred kind and requires, of course, that the goods should be cut in a curved form.

Long neck chains continue to be much worn, and the fashionable woman has a number of them, of varying styles, to go with different costumes. Those of gold, with infrequent studding of turquoises, diamonds and other precious stones, are less now, although more delicate than ropes of beads arranged like a rosary. Cu crystals and amethysts are favorites. A simple chain is worn with a plain gown, the richer ones being reserved to accompany visiting and theater costumes and even ball gowns, for the chain may support a purse, a watch, a lorgnette or a fan, as occasion demands. When the purse hangs loose and is in sight, it should be of an ornamental character. Pretty ones are made of gold, silver or steel links, with a round, jeweled top.

The picture shows a charming gown of mastic cloth. The skirt is long and open in redingote style over a horizontally plaited tablier. The redingote is bordered with applications of white guipure. The tight bolero opens over a vest of white cloth, which has a short basque. There are double revers of white cloth trimmed with applications of guipure, and between them is a plaited plastron matching the tablier. Fancy silver buttons adorn the front of the bolero. The sleeves are plaited horizontally at the top and ornamented with guipure applications at the wrists. The hat of mastic straw is trimmed with gray plumes. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Consumption and Fresh Air.

It is a matter of common knowledge, says an English exchange, that the late Sir Andrew Clarke cured himself of consumption by living as much as possible in the open air. The principle involved has since been generally recognized by the medical profession, with the result that the old bad practice of keeping consumptives in warm, stuffy rooms has been almost entirely abandoned. It is fresh air which is mainly responsible for the cures worked at such places as Davos, where the patients spend 14 hours a day out of doors, breathing cold, bracing mountain air, while they are exhilarated by bright sunshine. The result is that each diseased spot in the lungs is cut off from the healthy tissue by a ring of stretched cells, across which disease germs cannot pass, and so the malady is arrested until the strengthened body can overcome it.

Worse Than Not Stopping.

An Englishman traveling in Maryland had occasion to investigate the running time of the trains that passed through the small place where he was stopping. Carefully searching a time table he found apparently that there would be an express train due at 4 o'clock that afternoon. The Englishman was on time with his grip, etc., and so was the express train. The intending passenger watched it approach and thunder by the station at top speed. The traveler was annoyed, and, turning to a colored man who stood near, remarked:

"That train didn't stop!"

"No, sir," replied the colored citizen cheerfully; "didn't ev'n hes'tate."

Sweet.

"I had my picture taken today," said little Christine. "I crossed my arms and leaned on a chair, and the picture man put my head in some tongs."

"Why, you must have looked like a lump of sugar in sugar tongs," laughed papa.

"Why, so I must have," said Christine delightedly, "'cause the man kept saying, 'What a sweet little girl!'"—What to Eat.

SPOKE PLAINLY.

The President of Toronto Conference on Christian Science, Athletics, Etc.

"Fakes and suggestions of the devil," were epithets Rev. A. B. Chambers, president of Toronto Conference, applied at Barrie last Sunday night to Christian Science, spiritualism and faith cures—seductive doctrines which, he said, are more in evidence in Toronto than in Barrie. The pulpit was warned of the Spirit to speak expressly against these and other unscriptured teachings.

"The same Scripture by Timothy," he be said, "teaches that bodily exercise profiteth little, yet young men and boys in Toronto and also many old men, have gone crazy on athletics." He believed in legitimate games, where occupations did not permit sufficient physical exercise, but he thought when men became so sportive as to think the greatest object in life was to kick a leather bag stuffed with wind, they had missed the object of this creation.

In his sermon Dr. Chambers referred to Jacob of old, who was proud of his twelve sons, "for in the days of Jacob," said he, "the birth rates was higher than it is in Ontario nowadays, when parents think three of a family is one too many."

DATE HAS BEEN FIXED.

Oom Paul and Sir Alfred Milner Will Meet at Bloemfontein on May 30.

London, May 19.—The Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, announced in the House of Commons yesterday that a meeting between Sir Alfred Milner, the Governor of Cape Colony and high commissioner of South Africa, and President Kruger had been arranged to take place on May 30 at Bloemfontein, capital of the Orange Free State, at the invitation of the President of the Orange Free State, M. T. Steyn. He added: "Sir Alfred Milner, with my approval, accepted the invitation, with the earnest hope of arriving at a satisfactory settlement of the situation which the British Government could accept and recommend to the Uitlanders as a reasonable concession of their just demands. President Kruger has also accepted, and Sir Alfred Milner will gladly discuss every proposal conducing to a good understanding between the Transvaal and Great Britain, provided the independence of the Transvaal is not impugned."

Kruger Grants a Big Reform.

Pretoria, Transvaal Republic, May 19.—President Kruger's reform proposals have been presented to the Raad. They suggest that the franchise be conferred on aliens five years after eligibility to the second Raad, instead of ten years after such eligibility, as now is the case, thus making a nine years' residence in the Transvaal qualify for the full franchise.

LETTER FROM ANDREE.

Was Found Early in April on Northwest Coast of Iceland.

Leith, Scotland, May 19.—The Norwegian ship Viking has brought news of a letter written by Prof. Andree, which was found in a bottle early in April near Rifetang, on the northeast coast of Iceland, by a farmer named Johann Magnusson. The letter was then in a bottle, addressed to the Polar Expedition at Gooteberg and bore Andree's own stamp, with the request that it be placed in the nearest postoffice. Magnusson, it is added, gave the letter to a merchant, Sveinn Einason, at Thintilford, who mailed it, and it is expected to arrive at its destination in the course of a few days. The letter brought by the Viking was addressed to an Icelander now in London, describing the finding and forwarding of Andree's letter.

PEACE CONFERENCE BEGUN.

M. de Beaufort Used Eloquent Words in Welcoming Delegates.

He Extolled Czar of Russia, and the Delegates Sent a Congratulatory Message to the Latter—M. de Staal Made a Neat Speech, and Paid a Graceful Compliment to the Young Queen of the Netherlands.

The Hague, May 19.—The peace conference called by the Czar of Russia was opened at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the hall of the Huis Ten Bosch, or the "House in the Woods," two miles from The Hague.

M. de Beaufort, president of the Council and Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Government of the Netherlands, delivered the inaugural address and welcomed the delegates.

M. de Beaufort spoke of the high honor of the choice of The Hague as the meeting place for the conference and extolled the noble initiative of the Czar, saying this would be a red-letter day in the history of the century, and expressing the hope that His Majesty would be able to look back at to-day as the most glorious day of his life. He concluded with calling attention to the allegorical group over the doorway of the hall, Peace entering to close the Temple of Janus, and said: "I trust this beautiful allegory will be a good augury of your labors, and that after you have completed them you will be able to say that peace, whom art introduced into this hall, left it to spread its blessings among the whole of humanity."

Telegram to the Czar.

The delegates decided to send the following telegram to the Czar:

"The peace conference lays at the feet of Your Majesty its respectful congratulations upon the occasion of your birthday and expresses its sincere desire to cooperate in the great and noble work in which Your Majesty has taken a generous initiative and for which it begs you to accept its humble and profound gratitude."

De Staal Made a Nice Speech.

M. de Staal, the Russian ambassador to Great Britain, and head of the Russian delegation, in formally assuming the presidency of the conference, said his first duty was to express to M. de Beaufort his sincere gratitude for the noble terms in which he had referred to his august master, adding that His Majesty would be deeply touched as well by the spontaneity with which the high assembly had associated itself therewith. Continuing, M. de Staal said: "Though to the Czar is due the initiative of the conference, we owe much to the Queen of the Netherlands for inviting us to her capital. It is a happy augury of success that we have met under the auspices of the young sovereign, whose charge is felt in a wide circle, whose heart is open to everything great and generous, and who has displayed such sympathy with the cause which brings us here. It is on the historic soil of the Netherlands that the greatest political problems have been discussed. Here is the cradle of science and international law."

After a reference to the historic peace treaties concluded at The Hague and expressing regret that M. de Beaufort had not accepted the presidency of the conference, M. de Staal said in conclusion: "I cannot consider my election otherwise than inspired by my position as plenipotentiary to the Emperor—who was the initiator of the conference. On this ground I accept with deep gratitude the distinguished honor, and I shall use every endeavor to justify your confidence. But I am perfectly aware that advanced age is, alas, a sad privilege and a weak auxiliary. But I hope that it will at least constitute a claim upon your indulgence."

Compliments to the Young Queen.

After making his address, M. de Staal, in behalf of the conference, telegraphed to the Queen of the Netherlands as follows:

"The members of this conference, assembled for the first time in this beautiful Huis Ten Bosch, hasten to lay at the feet of Your Majesty their best wishes, praying you to accept their homage and gratitude for the hospitality you have so graciously deigned to offer them."

The reading of the message was warmly applauded.

M. de Beaufort was appointed honorary president and the leading Dutch delegate, A. P. C. Van Karnebeck, D.L., former Minister of Foreign Affairs and Deputy, was appointed vice-president.

Sessions Will Be Secret.

After the appointment of nine secretaries M. de Staal's proposal that the sessions be secret was adopted. The next session will take place on Saturday, when the delegates will arrange a program and appoint committees. The conference then adjourned. The session yesterday lasted only 25 minutes and the apparent unanimity displayed was considered to augur well for the outcome.

Kaiser Toasted the Czar.

Wiesbaden, Prussia, May 19.—At a luncheon given by Emperor William yesterday, in accordance with his custom, in honor of the birthday of Emperor Nicholas, the Kaiser toasted the Czar in the following terms:

"With the toast to the Czar's health, which I propose every year with heartfelt sincerity, I would to-day couple my hearty good wishes upon the opening of the conference at The Hague, which owes its origin to His Majesty's initiative."

THE CROW'S NEST PASS INHUMANITY.

The Terrible Last Days of Macdonald and Fraser.

Commissioner Clute's Report Says There Was No Excuse for the Cruel Neglect of Those Men When They Were Ill—A Report Which Ought to Make Some People Bow Their Heads in Shame—House Proceedings.

Ottawa, May 19.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday afternoon laid on the table of the House the report of Mr. R. C. Clute, Q.C., the commissioner appointed to inquire into the circumstances of the death of Fraser and Macdonald during the construction of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway. It is stated in the commission, a copy of which is attacked to the report, that the inquiry was to be conducted with a view to establishing whether there was criminal negligence on the part of any person or persons resulting in the death of the men.

Press Reports Were True.

Mr. Clute appears to have made a very thorough examination, and his report, with the evidence taken, and his findings and recommendations, cover over 400 typewritten pages. He says that he visited the works, examined about 60 witnesses, whose evidence is given, and which gives the details of the men's illness and death, pretty much as it was given in the press at the time, and was brought out in the House last year.

Medical System Inadequate.

The conclusions he arrives at, briefly summarized, are, that the medical system on the Crow's Nest Pass Railway down to the time of the death of Fraser and Macdonald were absolutely inadequate, on account of the lack of hospital accommodation and the enormity of the distances to be covered by doctors to attend the sick men; that in the case in question the men ought not to have been removed from camp to Lethbridge, but that one of the two doctors attached to the works should have been called.

There Was No Excuse.

He considers that the means employed to remove the men were insufficient, and that the want of stimulants, nourishment and proper care was without excuse; that during the stoppage of 28 hours at Bull's Head there was ample time to call a doctor, and that the dangerous condition of the men was so apparent that there was no excuse for their being neglected and the journey continued.

Inhuman Treatment Condemned.

He also condemns the inhuman treatment received by the men during their stay at the fifth siding.

Suggestions Made.

The suggestions made in the report are that on works of the character of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway the Government should appoint an engineer and a chief medical officer, and that when the work is situated at a distance from the cities, in unsettled districts, then there should be established a thoroughly-equipped field hospital for accommodation of sick men, and that provision should be made for their isolation in cases of contagious or infectious diseases.

HOUSE ON HOLIDAY.

When Parliament Adjourns Friday Night It Will Stand Adjourned Till Next Thursday—House Proceedings.

After routine, Sir Henri Joly introduced a bill to amend the Adulteration Act. Mr. Ellis introduced a bill to amend the Act Respecting Canned Goods.

In answer to Mr. Roche, Sir Louis Davies said the cost of the last Hudson Bay expedition was $40,142. It was not the intention of the Government to take any action on the information gained by the expedition.

Sir Charles Hibbert Explains.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper explained the circumstances out of which arose the statement that "Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper's law partner was also an applicant for a Yukon liquor permit." Mr. Peters was a Liberal and before passing his final examination and becoming Sir Hibbert's law partner he asked his old friend Sir Louis Davies for a liquor permit in the Yukon.

Alliston, March 1st, 1898.

I have had one of your "Crematory Closets" in use now for several weeks and am glad to be able to say that I have found it entirely satisfactory in every respect. I have not been able to detect the slightest odor from it at any time and would not be without it. I am sure it must prove a great convenience to people in the country and in towns where water is not obtainable.

Yours respectfully, JAMES CONWAY.

Sheddon, February 28th, 1898.

I have used it for some time and find it perfectly odorless. It is a long felt want and I believe it will become very popular especially in rural districts, towns and villages where wells are so frequently contaminated by the ordinary closets. I am, yours, etc.,

GIVES ITSELF THE LIE.

THE complete departure of the leaders of the Liberal party when they gained power from the policy and principles advocated by them in Opposition is only equalled by the "right-about-face" that has been performed by the Toronto Globe whenever party exigencies required it. The Liberal organ has shown a strange readiness to support deals which it cried down and combatted. An example is given in the Drummond County railway deal, which two years ago the Globe opposed, but suddenly it saw things differently and found that such a road was necessary in the interests of the country.

The Mail and Empire has looked over the Globe files and gives its record on the question, and that record is not creditable to the independence or reliability of that journal as a leader of public opinion. Here is the record :—

Toronto Globe, Feb. 3, 1897 :

A mild agitation has sprung up for extending the Intercolonial railway by continuing it from Levis to Montreal. The Montreal Herald has invited prominent people in that city to give their views as to the advisability of such an extension. A considerable portion of those whose opinions are given are in favor of the Government engaging in such a project. It is encouraging, however, to see a few raise their voices in protest." * * * "The fact is that the extension of the Intercolonial along the south shore would be a paralleling of existing lines, a course that no government would be justified in sanctioning without very extraordinary reasons that are not urged in this case."

Toronto Globe, Feb. 6, 1897 :

"An agitation for the extension of the Intercolonial railway from Levis, the present western terminus, to Montreal, has gained considerable strength in the locality interested." "It is not seriously contended that existing facilities between Montreal and Levis are inadequate." "Traffic over the present line between Montreal and Levis is not more than sufficient for the profitable maintenance of the present service. Were the line duplicated and the traffic divided by the extension of the Intercolonial, the increase in business would not counterbalance the cost of double service and management."

Toronto Globe, May 16, 1899 :—

"The western extension of the Intercolonial railway to Montreal is a project first brought into vigorous life by the accession of the Liberal Ministry to office. As to its advisability, even necessity, the country now requires no argument. The Government line was well described as running from the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick seaports to nowhere, and even the coast section was hampered with agreements which turned much of its business over to the Canadian Pacific railway. No private corporation would leave a line in that situation, and it is a cardinal feature of the Liberal policy to infuse the energy and care of private enterprise into public business."

So that, as the Mail in commenting on the above remarks, the Government in its present stand on the Drummond county deal is infusing energy into public business by pursuing a course that "no Government would be justified in sanctioning" at a cost of six and a half millions to the public.

It is nothing out of the ordinary in these days for one Liberal newspaper to convict another of advocating that which is for the benefit of party friends rather than in the interests of the party. But the Globe saves its Liberal contemporaries the trouble and convicts itself.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie since he announced his intention to distribute his millions so that he would not die disgraced by being a rich man has been deluged with begging letters. He has therefore taken refuge in his Highland castle and states that no attention will be paid to these requests for a portion of his little savings. This came as a blow to those in Peterborough district who felt they could present pet charities that were worthy of the consideration of the multi-millionaire, not to say anything of those who felt assured their individual cases were worthy of a spare hundred thousand or two.

A young man named Robert Kirby, batching it on his homestead, a few miles south of Gainsborough, N.W.T., was found on Thursday morning buried under part of his stable, that had fallen in. It is supposed the accident happened on Monday night, as this was the last seen of him.

On Thursday the master-in-chambers at Toronto ordered a commission to get the evidence at Winnipeg of Dr. Bell and Hon. Thomas Greenway in Crerar v. Lister, Stratford, an action to recover the price of a valuable cow which died of tuberculosis. The transaction took place in Manitoba.

SIR GEORGE LARPENT SHOT.

Girl Swept Over the Deschenes Rapids and Drowned.

Six Lose Their Lives in a Warehouse Fire at Brunswick, Germany—Circular Saw Cuts Through a Boy's Skull at Newmarket—Burglars Break Into a Hardware Store at Simcoe and Steal Revolvers, Knives and Razors.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie has subscribed £1,000 to the Gladstone memorial fund.

U. S. Secretary Alger has agreed to order troops to the Mouqui Indian reservation in Arizona, to force the Indians to submit to vaccination.

The hardware store of Wallace Anderson of Simcoe was broken into on Wednesday night and a quantity of revolvers, knives and razors were stolen. No clue.

Charles W. Briggs, founder of Briggs Bros. & Co., one of the largest seed concerns in the United States, died on Thursday evening at Rochester, aged 78 years.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen have elected Grand Master Morrissey and other officers, while in session at New Orleans, and selected Milwaukee as the next meeting place.

The striking street car men at Duluth, Minn., wrecked another car by the use of dynamite on Thursday night. The car was filled with smoke, and the passengers were terrified, but unhurt.

Roy Trivett, a lad employed in Cane's factory, Newmarket, was working in the factory when his head came in contact with a saw, which cut clean through the skull. His recovery is doubtful.

Mr. John Bundell Leigh, because of the adultery of his wife, Lady Rose Leigh, a daughter of the Marquis of Abergavenny, with the young Earl of Cottenham, has been granted a divorce.

The Agricultural Department of New Zealand has made arrangements to the effect that all meat exported will be inspected and stamped by veterinary surgeons in the employ of the department.

The worsted yarn trust, to be known as the United States Worsted Yarn Company, with a capital of $50,000,000, is practically an assured fact. Nineteen worsted yarn spinners have agreed to enter the new company.

A large warehouse belonging to Karstadt & Co., at Brunswick, Germany, was totally destroyed by fire on Thursday. Five girls lost their lives in the flames, and several others were injured, one of whom has since died.

By the purchase of the Bell Telephone interests in the State of Wisconsin, the Cleveland Telephone Company becomes the largest concern of the kind in the world. It now operates 115,784 miles of wires and serves 75,000 subscribers.

John F. Potter, the famous abolitionist, and a former Congressman, died on Thursday at East Troy, Wisconsin, from a paralytic stroke, aged 82 years. Mr. Potter was one of the founders of the Republican party in the United States.

The inquest upon the remains of the Earl of Strafford, who was killed by the Cambridge express train on Tuesday evening at Potter's Bar, Hertfordshire, while returning from Wrotham Park, his country seat, resulted on Thursday in a verdict of "death by misadventure."

There was a fire in the forward hold of the North German Lloyd steamer Barbarossa, which left New York on Thursday morning for Southampton, but fortunately it was subdued by the fire boat Zoopher Mills, which came alongside on signals at Sandy Hook. Mrs. H. S. Mara and Mrs. E. T. Carter of Toronto were on board.

Howard Wilson, the Philadelphia boxer, arrived in Toronto Thursday, completing the list who will appear at the Crescent Athletic Club's show Saturday night in the Mutual Street Rink. The bouts are Jim Smith v. Pete Mulcahy, five rounds; Danny Gallagher v. Emil Sanches, 12 rounds; Harry Lemons v. Howard Wilson, both colored, 20 rounds.

Stanley and George Mead, 13 and 11 years respectively, sons of Charles Mead, who keeps a boardinghouse at Britannia, and Blanche Dallas were swept over the Deschenes Rapids at Ottawa on Wednesday in a skiff. Both lads were rescued a mile and a half below the rapids, after being an hour and a half in the water. Blanche was drowned. She was stepdaughter of William McConnell of the Ottawa Wire Works.

Despatches from United States sources on Thursday go to show that the war in the Philippines is nearly at an end. It is stated that Aguinaldo's forces are in the last ditch, and that overtures are being made to General Otis looking to a cessation of hostilities. News by way of London, however, is to the effect that Aguinaldo has made no proposals, but stands in the position indicated by these words: "We demand absolute independence or will fight to the death."

Sir George Albert de Hochspied Larpent, Colonel of the 88th Connaught Rangers and commander of the Bedfordshire regimental district, shot himself at Bedford on Thursday morning. His widow was formerly a Mrs. Camden Lambert, daughter of William Armstrong of Toronto, Canada. He was born in 1846, and succeeded his father in 1861. The deceased was well known in Toronto. The title dies with him, as he leaves no children.

Mr. Samuel Wilmot of Newcastle, Ont., so well known in fishery matters, died at Newcastle, Ont., on Wednesday, aged 77. He was born in Durham County, Ont. In 1852 Mr. Wilmot married Miss Helen Matilda Clark of Cobourg. By this marriage there were four sons and three daughters, all of the latter being married. Mrs. Wilmot survives her husband. She of late years has spent most of her time in Toronto. By a very singular coincidence Mr. Wilmot's brother died in New York at the same time that Samuel Wilmot died in Newcastle.

IT CAN'T BE DONE.

No One Can Remain Well, No Chronic Disease Can be Cured Unless the Stomach is First Made Strong and Vigorous.

This is plain because every organ in the body depends on the Stomach for its nourishment. Nerve, bone, sinew, blood are made from the food which the stomach converts to our use.

How useless to treat disease with this, that and the other remedy and neglect the most important of all, the stomach.

The earliest symptoms of indigestion are sour risings, bad taste in the mouth, gas in stomach and bowels, palpitation, all-gone feeling, faintness, headaches, constipation; later comes loss of flesh, consumption, liver and heart troubles, kidney diseases, nervous prostration, all of which are the indirect result of poor nutrition.

Any person suffering from indigestion should make it a practice to take after each meal one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, allowing it to dissolve in the mouth and thus mingle with the saliva and enter the stomach in the most natural way. These Tablets are highly recommended by Dr. Jennison because they are composed of the natural digestive acids and fruit essences which assist the stomach in digesting all wholesome food before it has time to ferment and sour.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists, full sized packages at 50 cents. They are also excellent for invalids and children. A book on stomach diseases and thousands of testimonials of genuine cures sent free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Michigan.

HOUSE ON HOLIDAY.

Minister's attention to the Washington despatches yesterday referring to the joint high commission.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied: "I have only to say that the report is evidently astray. The question is to-day in the same position that we left it at Washington when we stated on the floor of the House, and I can repeat now, that substantial progress had been made on most of the questions submitted to the commission, with the single exception of the Alaska boundary. On that question, as the House knows, we could not come to an agreement. We could not agree to accept the terms which were laid down by our American fellow-commissioners, and we referred the matter to the two Governments interested, which have had it in hand ever since."

In answer to Dr. Montague, Hon. Mr. Fielding said that the friendly societies' bill would not be proceeded with this year, because some of the societies wish to consider it, and also because the question of its constitutionality had been raised.

Stranding of the Gallia.

Mr. Bergeron drew attention to the stranding of the Gallia in the St. Lawrence, and said the buoying of the channel had not been well done during the last two seasons.

Sir Louis Davies denied that the channel had been neglected. The work of laying and carrying the buoys was to be done this season by the Department of Marine and Fisheries, under the superintendence of the chief engineer, Col. Anderson.

The Drummond County Deal.

Hon. John Haggart rose to continue the debate on the Drummond County resolutions, and defended his arrangement with the Canadian Pacific Railway for the Intercolonial and severely criticized the present bargain, although he was willing to admit it was better than the first bargain.

Mr. Morrison defended the bargain at great length and Mr. John Ross Robertson endorsed it, because, as he expressed it, it took the Intercolonial out of the "clutches" of his old enemy, the C.P.R.

Mr. Borden, after speaking an hour, moved the adjournment of the debate, which was agreed to.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier withdrew the notice he had previously given concerning the Queen's Birthday adjournment, and substituted one that when the House adjourns to-day it stands adjourned until Thursday next, and that when it adjourns on Friday night it stand adjourned until Saturday.

The House adjourned at midnight.

Corridor Notes.

The special committee to which was referred Dr. Douglas' bill for the establishment of warehouses, known as "flat" elevators, in the Northwest, threw out the first clause on a vote of 44 to 7. This virtually kills the bill.

Premier Greenway and Col. McMillan had a long interview with Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Sifton last evening in regard to handing over to the province the school lands and proceeds therefrom.

The Canada Life Insurance Company's bill was reported by the committee on banking and commerce yesterday. Power is given to hold the annual meetings in Toronto, and the 40-vote clause was overwhelmingly lost.

In the Senate yesterday Hon. David Mills said it was not the intention to this year increase the salaries of judges of Superior or County Courts of the Dominion.

The Senate considered in committee the partial expropriation bill, which had passed its second reading, but the committee rose without reporting or asking leave to sit again, thus killing the bill.

The redistribution bill, to be introduced by Mr. Mulock after the holiday adjournment, will adhere to the county boundaries, and in counties entitled to more than one member a commission of judges will be appointed to arrange the division.

A TRAGEDY AT SOREL, QUE.

Cuthbert Olivier, a United States Army Pensioner, Slew His Second Wife With a Pair of Scissors.

Sorel, Que., May 19.—Cuthbert Olivier, United States army pensioner, stabbed his wife with a pair of scissors yesterday morning, and then quickly walked away and gave himself up to the police. In passing the priest's house he handed over the key of his house, saying that his wife had attacked him and that he had stunned her. He is cut about the face and the house bears evidence of a hard struggle.

The murderer was married to this his second wife, Angeline Pelouquin, from Ste. Ann, last fall. They have lived apart most of the time. He was always cranky and very jealous. Angeline Pelouquin, the victim, lies on the floor half naked, with an old Union Jack thrown hurriedly over her body, and with a deep but narrow wound on her right temple, a pair of large scissors held clumsily in her right hand, as if placed there by her husband. The prisoner has wounds and scratches on his face, indicating that the murder was not committed without resistance.

The coroner's inquest began at 7 o'clock last night. Mr. Plamondon, Crown Attorney for Richelieu, has wired the provincial authorities for instructions.

THE STRIKE SITUATION.

Building Operations in Winnipeg Threatened by a Strike of Bricklayers—Buffalo Marine Firemen Out.

Winnipeg, May 19.—A general strike of bricklayers and masons of this city is threatened, in sympathy with the carpenters, who are still out, demanding a minimum wage of 30 cents per hour. Building operations, of which an enormous quantity is contracted for in this city this year, are at a standstill, and the situation is serious. The contractors and bricklayers held conferences last evening.

Just Out of Sympathy.

Buffalo, May 19.—The marine firemen at this port went on a sympathetic strike at noon yesterday. As the vessels arrive the firemen will quit work and remain out until the dock troubles are settled.

Going From Bad to Worse.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 19.—The strike of grain shovellers, freight handlers, ore dock men, elevator machinists and coal-heavers has developed into a struggle between Bishop Quigley and the strike leaders. Wednesday night the Bishop secured a promise from all of the men who are on strike that they accept the concessions that he had secured for them, and would return to work when he gave them the word. Yesterday, however, the men repudiated their agreement with the Bishop and last night the prospect of a settlement of the trouble was more remote than ever. A public investigation into the cause of the strike is being made by the State Board of Mediation and Arbitration.

Sporting Spirit.

Grogan—Billy has got the true sporting spirit in him.

Kilkey—What's the matter with Billy, now?

Grogan—He ran against an open door and blacked his eye, and he tells everybody he got the black eye in a fight.—Boston Transcript.

Ventured No Opinion.

"What's the matter with you?" asked the friend.

"I haven't the least idea," answered the very cynical invalid. "The surgeons are going to operate for appendicitis."—Washington Star.

No More Credit.

Mrs. Spendall—You look worried. Is it because you are so deeply in debt?

Mr. Spendall (gloomily)—No. It's because I can't get any deeper.—New York Weekly.

That's All.

Bill—Did you ever shoot at clay pigeons?

Gill—Oh, yes, I've shot at them.—Yonkers Statesman.

If all young women could have the right sort of motherly advice much of the unhappiness of the world would be avoided.

There are two troubles in the way. The girls hesitate to consult the mothers and the mothers really know only a little more than the girls. Counsel of the best sort is at the command of every woman and if she will promptly avail herself of it she will soon be relieved of her troubles.

Thousands of women, every year, write to Dr. R. V. Pierce telling their symptoms and asking his advice, which is freely given without cost.

For over thirty years Dr. Pierce has been and is to-day chief consulting physician of the great Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. He is a specialist in the diseases of women and his "Favorite Prescription" has had the greatest sale of all medicines ever devised for the cure of the troubles peculiarly feminine.

Every letter addressed to Dr. Pierce is held sacredly confidential and has the most careful attention.

No testimonial letter is ever published until the written consent of its author has been given.

Mrs. Mary E. Lewis, of Tanner, Gilmer Co., W. Va., writes: "For fifteen years I suffered untold misery. I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I could not lie down to sleep, and everything I ate would almost cramp me to death. Was very nervous and could hardly walk across the room. I only weighed ninety pounds when I commenced taking these medicines; I now weigh one hundred and forty pounds and am having better health than ever before. I have taken the 'Favorite Prescription,' the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and the 'Pellets.' I take great pleasure in recommending your medicines to the sick for I know that if it had not been for them I would not have been living to-day. I am very thankful to God, who put the great power in your medicines that cured me."

PRICES ON THEIR HEADS.

Chinese Highbinders at San Francisco Hired to Kill Three Men.

San Francisco, May 19.—The Chinese Slave Dealers' Association has called upon a highbinder association to rid the Chinese community of three men, members of the Chinese Society for English Education, because they are responsible for the organization of a vigilance society among the white people who wish to put a stop to the iniquities of Chinatown. On the head of Ong Fong is set the price of $1,000; Chin Jim is rated $500 and Chin Suey at the same figure. The Slave Dealers' Association is composed of something more than a hundred Chinese, who represent an ownership in more than 150 slave girls and about 1,400 human chattels.

Baptist Foreign Missions.

Ingersoll, Ont., May 19.—Yesterday's session of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society were devoted to foreign missions. Officers were then elected as follows: President, Mrs. Booker; first vice-president, Mrs. L. M. Harris; second vice-president, Mrs. Freeland; recording secretary, Miss Moyle; members of board, Mrs. Thomas White, Brantford; Mrs. G. Hill, Brantford; Mrs. Wolfgill, Hamilton; Mrs. G. W. Barber, St. George; Mrs. J. G. Goble, Woodstock.

Nineteenth Century Folly.

The greatest piece of folly of the nineteenth century is to suffer the tortures of rheumatism when a permanent cure can be obtained by using Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. Mr. C. W. Trotter, Cushendall, Ont., suffered with Muscular Rheumatism for three years. One bottle of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure completely cured him. He has not had a pain or ache since. This preparation is used internally. One bottle contains ten days' treatment, price 50 cents. For sale at all drug stores.

Reckless Extravagance.

Senator Hoar is not a stingy man, but he looks out for the pennies. He was riding on a street car one day, relates a Washington correspondent, and had just completed a transaction with the conductor involving the payment of a quarter of a dollar for six car tickets —4 1-6 cents a ticket—when an acquaintance got on board and took the seat next to him. The acquaintance handed the conductor a nickel and turned to open up a conversation with the Massachusetts senator. The senator fidgeted in his seat a minute and then broke in with the remark, "I am glad to see that you are prosperous."

"Prosperous!" exclaimed the other man. "Why, I am poor as a church mouse!"

"Excuse me; I thought you must be rich. I am comfortably well off myself, but I have never felt that I could afford to pay 5 cents for a ride in a street car when I could get six rides for a quarter."

STARTLING CONFESSIONS.

Show that 25 per cent of men and woman suffer the tortures of itching piles. Investigation proves that Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment has never yet failed to cure itching piles, and all of these men and women could end their sufferings at once by using it. Scores of thousands have been cured by this treatment. Everybody can be cured in the same way.

MILLINERY NOTES.

Hats, Bonnets and Accessories For the Coming Season.

Collars and cuffs of linen and lawn are much worn with tailor made costumes and plain woolen gowns. These accessories are plain or are decorated with hemstitching, little plaitings or ornamental stitching. Linen plastrons and chemisettes are made with masculine shirt plaits.

Hats of tulle are a conspicuous feature among the new millinery. These hats are often large and are made in all sorts of ways. Sometimes the tulle is arranged over the wire shape in thick braids and twists; sometimes it is puffed; sometimes it is shirred with innumerable little beadings, or it is made into ruches, the edges of which may be finished with a line of jet. Flowers are the favorite trimming, and a jeweled buckle or ornament is usually introduced also.

Chip hats are again seen, and a new idea for trimming them is to utilize ribbonlike bands of the chip, which are twisted into loops and bows. Leghorn hats are trimmed in the same way, strips of the leghorn braid being employed. Of course these bows are not the only trimming: they appear in connection with flowers, ribbons, velvet or mousseline de soie.

Straw hats of vivid colors are to be worn again this season. They are chiefly of wide fancy braid and appear in blues, purples, greens, reds and yellows. There are also very attractive gray and fawn shades, which are trimmed with the same tones and afford a pleasing relief from the brilliant colors.

Toques are rather large, and, like all millinery, are profusely trimmed. The toque of which a picture is given has a crown of pink roses, around which is arranged a thick torsade of black tulle. The brim has a border of steel trimming and is lifted at the left side by a twisted knot of pink velvet, which terminates in points at the back. Above the velvet is a large group of those powdery, white leaves which were worn years ago and have now been revived. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Snake Charmers.

It is generally supposed that the serpents exhibited by snake charmers have been deprived of their fangs, and this is doubtless often the case, while one instance at least is recorded in which the mouth of the snake had been sewed together to prevent it from biting.

The writer noticed at the Ceylon exhibition, given some years ago in London, that one of the snake charmers, finding the cobra he was exhibiting becoming too lively and aggressive, seized the reptile by the neck and thrust it hastily into the small round basket in which it was carried, at the same time pushing it with a voluminous white cloth, at which it bit savagely. Having almost closed the lid of the basket, the man drew away the cloth violently, thus doubtless dragging out the fangs which were fastened in it. He then secured the basket and carried it away. This, of course, required a large amount of cool courage as well as great quickness of hand and eye, all of which qualities must be doubly necessary in capturing and taming these deadly reptiles.

But if we are astonished at the skill and dexterity displayed by Indian snake charmers, still more must we marvel at the hardihood of the American Indians, who, in their snake dances, not only handle the deadly rattlesnake with impunity, but absolutely carry it about in their mouths.—Westminster Review.

Theater Tickets.

The fact that a ticket bought for a theater and not used on the date stamped on it is always good for an admittance is not generally known and probably theater managers would take very little trouble to spread knowledge of the fact, but it is nevertheless true.

"A man who buys a reserved seat for a theater," said a theater treasurer who handles more tickets every season than any other in New York, "may not use it on the evening for which he bought it. 'Good for this date only' may be stamped on the pasteboard. That would seem to mean that the ticket could be used at no other time. Probably most of the public accept that as proving the impossibility of making use of the ticket, and therefore few make any attempt to get the worth of their money when they are prevented by any cause from using the ticket on the date marked on it. But it could be presented at any time and would be good for an admission.

"Any theater manager would have to recognize the holder's right to enter the theater, although that would, of course, carry with it no right to the seat. It is that right which is limited by the printed date. For all other purposes the ticket is quite as good as if used on the date it bears."—New York Sun.

Must Be Barbers and Musicians.

There is a barber shop in an up town avenue in New York where music goes with every shave. Never a barber is hired there who cannot twinkle the sweet mandolin or plunk the dreamy guitar. The gentleman who can play on no instrument but the razor and the shears has no welcome in this tonsorial parlor, for the boss barber is musical and loves to mingle celestial strains with the torture of the barber chair. Whenever a chair is vacant, the attendant genius sits him down and performs on his favorite instrument.

Had Not Forgotten It.

The ward heeler, with whom the ambitious politician had been in consultation an hour or more, shook his head slowly.

"I don't know how it will turn out," he said. "But I'll do the best I can for you. How about the liquor question?"

"I was about to ask it," replied the ambitious politician. "What'll you take?"—Chicago Tribune.

The Infinity of Space.

"Among the photographs you have seen," said Sir Robert Ball, "there are stars so far distant from this earth that if the glad tidings of that first Christmas 1,800 years ago had been dispatched then by an electric current which could speed seven times round our globe between every two ticks of the clock they would not yet have received them."

DRINKING POISON.

Many a man who would be startled at the bare thought of sitting down and deliberately drinking a dose of poison, allows himself to be regularly and systematically poisoned day after day by accumulations of bile in the blood.

When the liver fails to do its regular work of filtering this bilious poison out of the circulation, it goes on poisoning the entire constitution just as surely as if a man was drinking prussic acid. Every part of the body is polluted. The digestive juices are suppressed and weakened. The kidneys and skin are clogged with impurities and the lungs and bronchial tubes overloaded with morbid secretions which eat away the delicate tissues, and bring about bronchitis and consumption.

All the diseases caused by this subtle process of bilious poisoning are cured by the marvelous alterative action of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It directly increases the liver's natural excretive and purifying powers; gives the digestive and blood-making organs power to manufacture an abundance of red, rich, healthy blood.

It drives out all impurities, and vitalizes the circulation with the life-giving elements which restore perfect nutrition and solid muscular power. It makes fresh, pure, rich blood. It brings back appetite and nerve force and good healthy flesh. No matter how far gone people seem to be, if there is anything left to build on, the "Golden Medical Discovery" will build you up again.

"In August 1895, was taken down in bed with a burning and severe pains in my stomach and under my shoulders, and dizziness in my head," writes Ira D. Herring, Esq., of Needmore, Levy Co., Fla. "My home physician was called and he said my symptoms were more like consumption than anything else. I lingered in this way seven months trying different kinds of medicine. Nothing that I ate would digest, and I had great distress in my stomach. I was persuaded to try some of Dr. Pierce's remedies or to see what he thought of my case. I wrote him and received an answer stating that my suffering was from indigestion and torpid liver, and advising me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first bottle gave pleasing results. I have taken four bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three small vials of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' I am able to do my work and eat what I could not before I took these medicines."

"I was tired all the time," writes J. Edward Davis, Esq. (Care Geo. F. Lasher), 147 North 10th Street, Philadelphia, Pa. "In the morning felt as if I had never slept, was too languid to eat; was troubled with pimples, boils, dizzy head, back ache and hollow cheeks. At one time I had twenty-eight boils on my back. I became very despondent and said to myself there is no use taking medicine, nothing can cure me. One day a friend of mine told me what a cure he had performed on a child who had a bad disorder of the blood or something to that effect. I was skeptical at first and said it would not do me any good. At last one morning I woke up and found a beating pulsation in my neck, front and back. In three days I had four boils, so situated on my neck that I could not turn either way. Then I commenced to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This medicine together with Dr. Pierce's Pellets, did wonders for me.

After the first three bottles it was no new thing for folks to say: 'Hello, Ed., I didn't know you;' or, 'Say, Davis, what's become of those pimples you used to have?' I took about ten bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.'"

It would save doctor bills for any family to have a copy of Dr. Pierce's splendid thousand-page free book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," explaining the laws of life and health in clear and interesting language, with many valuable suggestions and receipts for curing common ailments by simple home-treatment. It has over three hundred illustrations and colored plates. A strong paper-bound copy will be sent absolutely free on receipt of 31 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of customs and mailing only. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Ass'n, Buffalo, N. Y. A handsome cloth-bound, beautifully stamped copy will be sent for 50 stamps.

Even Though He Hated Lawyers.

President Dreher of Roanoke college tells this story of the late Edward Austen of Boston: "Meeting President Eliot of Harvard some years ago, he said, with a familiarity warranted by a lifelong acquaintance: 'Stop, Charles. What is the next building you want at Cambridge?'

"President Eliot replied, 'The building we most need now is a new building for the law school.'

"'Oh,' said Mr. Austin, 'I hate lawyers! But what do you suppose such a building would cost?'

"The president thought a moment and replied: 'It would depend on the material used. An adequate building of brick could be built for from $60,000 to $70,000.'

"'Are you sure,' asked Mr. Austin, 'that $100,000 would be enough to provide a thoroughly good building?'

"'Yes,' replied the president.

"'I'm your man,' said Mr. Austin.'

Tomatoes and Cancer.

A few years ago an eminent London physician, on my mentioning to him tomatoes as an article of diet for myself, said, "Why do you eat tomatoes?" I said, "Why not?" He said: "Well, I think that there are grave reasons for thinking it possible that eating tomatoes increases, if it does not produce, the liability to cancer. I do not say positively that it does so."

It strikes a layman as a fact that the consumption of tomatoes has increased as much in England of late years as has cancer.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Good Parrot Story.

A maiden lady of a certain town in Cornwall owned a parrot, which somehow acquired the disagreeable habit of observing at frequent intervals, "I wish the old lady would die." This annoyed the bird's owner, who spoke to her curate about it.

"I think we can rectify the matter," replied the good man. "I also have a parrot, and he is a righteous bird, having been brought up in the way he should go. I will lend you my parrot, and I trust his influence will reform that depraved bird of yours."

The curate's parrot was placed in the same room with the wicked one, and as soon as the two had become accustomed to each other the bad bird remarked, "I wish the old lady would die," whereupon the clergyman's bird rolled up his eyes and in solemn accents added, "We beseech thee to hear us, good Lord!"

The story got out in the parish, and for several Sundays it was necessary to omit the litany at the church services.—Household Words.

Lady Somerset Again President.

Chicago, Ill., May 19.—A cablegram from Miss Agnes Slack, London, Eng., to the officers of the National W.C.T.U., received yesterday, announces the re-election of Lady Henry Somerset to the presidency of the British Women's Temperance Association.

Mr. W. F. Maclean, M.P., Ont.

Toronto, May 19.—Mr. W. F. Maclean M.P., who has been confined to his home since March 12 with a fracture of his leg was down town yesterday in an invalid's chair. The break was an awkward and serious one, but has healed satisfactorily.

Brave Men Fall.

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents, at any Drug Store. Every bottle guaranteed.

LUMBER DESTROYED.

Two Thousand Dollars Worth Burned at Stoney Lake.

On Saturday afternoon of last week a fire started in the piling yard of Hoskin's saw mill on the south bay of Stony lake. About 140,000 feet of fine oak and basswood lumber were burned, out of about 200,000 feet piled in the yard. The fire is supposed to have caught from a spark from the smoke stack falling among the lumber. There was no insurance and Mr Isaac Hoskin, the owner, has to face a loss of about $2,000.

A Distinguished Visitor.

Obituary.

The death occurred this afternoon of Mr Samuel Ferguson, a carder at the Auburn Woollen mills and a resident of Water-st north. He had been ill for about a week, but death was not expected and the end came suddenly. He was a married man and leaves a family. He came to town from Philadelphia about four years ago.

STONE CRUSHER CAUSES A ROW

MESSRS CORRY & LAVERDURE ARE STOPPED WHILE REMOVING IT.

They Had Rented it for a Period of Four Days in Order to Keep Their Men Employed, But Some Aldermen Interfered Effectively.

Shall Corry and Laverdure have the use of the town stone crusher? This was a very live question around the civic headquarters this morning. Though there was no Council meeting or even a committee meeting the temporary possession of the machine—another thing for which our town fathers fought and bled although the number of slain was not so great as over the steam road roller—was the subject of debate. The talk was mostly carried on by telephone.

Early this morning Messrs. Cory and Laverdure sent over two teams of big horses and a gang of about ten big men to the lot where the stone crusher was stored between Charlotte and King-sts. They set to work to dismember it in so far as was necessary for the removal and to put it on a truck. Some of the Aldermen heard of it and were indignant at what was being done. Alderman Denne was notified of what was being done and he rushed up to the town clerk's office to see what could be done to stop it. He thought it was iniquitous that the machine should be taken away over to the canal without at least the authority of the Council. Was the Council going to refuse the machine to the Dickson Co. and then allow anybody to give the use of it to Messrs. Corry &

The reports of the local secretaries showing membership, financial condition, general condition, etc., will be received.

G T R SIDING INTO MATTHEWS'

SURVEYORS MARK OUT PROBABLE ROUTES FOR A SPUR.

The Grand Trunk Will Compete With its Rival for the Business of the Matthews Co.

A number of prominent officials of the Grand Trunk railway were in town this week and their visit was not without interest. Among those in town were Superintendent Tiffin, Roadmaster Cheer and Messrs White, Wiggins and Mitchell,

They were not here for any particular purpose, but had a number of matters affecting their local interests under consideration. Among these was the project to construct a siding to the factory of the Geo Mathews Co. While the railway men are always awake to a good business opportunity, the action of the Canadian Pacific in completing their spur to the Matthews Co's factory and to the river's edge has necessitated the Grand Trunk taking some steps to compete for the business. The officials went down and looked over the ground and apparently came to the conclusion that the project of a spur line was feasible, for surveyors were put to work and a couple of possible routes were staked off. The spur as at present intended will branch off from the Belleville track below Perry-st. and circle around to the north of Spaulding's Bay. The construction would be a matter of considerable difficulty both on account of the nature of the ground and the sharp turn. A bridge will also have to be constructed over the creek if the work goes ahead. Mr Sandy states that nothing final or definite has been done in the matter, but the officials have it under consideration and that the work will likely be advanced.

If you have had the grip take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It will brace you up, purify your blood, and overcome all bad effects of the disease.

THE THREE TRAMPS

Bowmanville People Suspect Them of Being Concerned in Burglaries but Not Bank Robberies.

A despatch from Bowmanville to-day states that the opinion there is that the three tramps in gaol here had nothing to do with the Standard Bank robbery, but that it is possible that they were implicated in several burglaries perpetrated at Orono, where several business places were entered and a quantity of small silver stolen.

The police have found nothing on the tramps that would connect them with any burglaries. The only suspicious discovery was the money the man Brooks had.

THAT THE LEASE BE CANCELLED

IS THE PETITION OF THE RESIDENTS OF THE SOUTH WARD.

A Public Meeting Held at the Park-st. Church to Consider the New Phase of the Cattle Yard Scheme—Some Explanations—Resolution Passed—Will the Lease be Cancelled?

The opposition of the residents of the south end of the town to the granting of any land to Mr. H. P. Kennedy for a cattle yard grows not less with time, but with every new move made by Mr. Kennedy flares up again. It is as fresh as the buds of May and as live as the caterpillars. Time cannot change it nor custom stale its infinite variety. Every mention of the scheme seems to draw out the wrath of its opponents and they keep close tab on Mr. Kennedy, the Council and the town commissioners. For such is their right.

The action of the Town Trust Commissioners in leasing a part of the town lot near the present C. P. R. and G. T. R. cattle pens to Mr. Kennedy has been the cause of the latest disturbance among the south enders. Mr. Kennedy has started to fence the lot so yesterday the Fiery Cross was sent around and a public meeting was called for last evening to organize a united opposition and to express to the commissioners the desire of the people. The meeting was held at the Park-st. church and when order was called about 8.15 o'clock there was a fair attendance despite the short notice. Mr. Harry Evans was appointed to the chair.

The chairman stated the object of the gathering. As Mr. Kennedy had started to fence the lot in it was thought advisable to meet and decide upon some plan of united action.

Ex-Councillor C. B. Robertson stated that Mr. Walter Evans and himself had hunted up information as to what had been done. They had discovered that Mr. Kennedy had commenced work before signing any lease. They had also found both Aldermen and Town Commissioners evasive on the subject, though all pronounced themselves against the cattle yards when speaking privately. He invited Alderman Davidson to make some remarks on the matter.

Alderman Davidson first removed a false impression that had gained credence in the minds of some that the speaker was interested financially in Mr. Kennedy's concern. This was false. Mr. Kennedy had first got an option on the Fargan lot but he seemed to have changed his mind and wanted to

CHILDREN'S AID INSPECTION

IT IS COMPLAINED THAT THE PRESENT SYSTEM IS INSUFFICIENT

And the Department Will be Asked to Give the Matter Attention—The Secretaryship of the Local Branch—A Committee Appointed.

The Children's Aid Society met last evening in the Council Chamber, when Mr. J. J. McBain, President, presided, and there was a fair attendance.

The special business for consideration was the secretaryship. Miss Clarke, who had been secretary, had sent in her resignation, and a committee had been aappointed to report on the matter of filling the vacancy. They found that Miss Clarke would not be leaving town so soon as she anticipated, and as they were desirous of retaining her services if possible, it had been suggested that she be relieved of the correspondence and give her time only to the local aspects of the secretary's work. This she had consented to do, and it was unanimously decided that Miss Clarke continue as secretary and that Mr. J. H. Burnham be appointed corresponding secretary, his duties being to attend to all correspondence. The Society was highly appreciative of Miss Clarke's excellent work in its cause. She had inaugurated a sewing school that had been a great benefit and had given her duties the very best kind of attention. It was, therefore, a matter of gratification that she had consented to remain in the office.

On motion of Mrs. Beck, seconded by Mrs. Garvin, Miss Clarke is to continue her sewing class.

INSUFFICIENT INSPECTION

The President brought up the question of the inspection of the foster homes where the children or wards of the Society were placed. He said he felt that some officer should visit these homes to show the foster parents and the children that the Society continue to take an interest in the children. This work, he said in answer to a question, probably belonged to Mrs Harvie, but she only came once a year, and he thought the visits should be made at least once in three months.

Mr. J. H. Burnham supported the President's remarks, speaking strongly of the insufficiency of the present inspection. He placed the blame with the department, which did not wish to incur too large an expense. This work did not belong to the Society here. Mr. Kelso should give this matter better attention, and he moved that the Department be memorialized in regard to the matter, stating that in the opinion of the Peterborough Society the present inspection was insufficient. He moved:

"That in the opinion of the Children's Aid Society of Peterborough it is necessary for the Department at Toronto to adopt a more rigid system of inspection so that a Children's Aid Society may not be compelled to assume a responsibility which properly belongs to the department at Toronto; and in order that the wards of the Society may be properly taken care of, and kept in the eye of the proper authorities by means of Government reference."

Rev. J. C. Davidson seconded the resolution and it was carried.

Mr. Shorey spoke of the importance of the Society keeping a watchful eye upon its wards, and making sure that the children were in proper homes. He thought they might have their own officers make an inspection once in three months.

This inspection by the local officer was to be made for the protection of the local society, but was not relieving the department of its responsibility.

Rev. Mr. Shorey moved that the Society's agent be instructed to visit the wards in their foster homes every three months.

Dr. Burnham seconded the motion and it was carried.

OTHER MATTERS.

The President then suggested that the children taken in charge by the Society be photographed. On motion the agent was authorized to have the children photographed for identification and other purposes.

The agent, Mr. Miller, brought up some cases now before the Society, cases in which excellent foster homes had been secured for children.

A committee, consisting of Mrs. Beck, Mrs. Birdsall, Mrs. Garvin, Mrs. Kendry, Miss Clarke, Mrs. E. A. Peck, Miss Gow and Rev. S. J. Shorey, Rev. O. C. Crossley, Dr. Burnham, Messrs. J. J. McBain and J. H. Burnham was appointed to wait upon the County Council to solicit the annual grant.

The meeting then adjourned.

She Wanted to Know.

Of women who wear black some women always have an air of recent bereavement which misleads the ordinary mind. At a railway station in this state not long ago a tall woman robed in deep black, accompanied by a young woman in colored garb, sat waiting for a train. The station matron hovered in the vicinity, evidently with something on her mind, and finally beckoned to the young woman, who went to see what was wanted.

"Has she got a corpse with her?" the station matron asked.

"Corpse?" the young woman exclaimed, looking over her shoulder in ghastly fright. "Who's got a corpse with her? What do you mean?"

"Don't be scared, lady," the matron exclaimed. "Most of 'em that travels in deep mournin has corpses on the train. I just wanted to know if your lady had a corpse with her."

"Goodness, no!" said the young woman. "Her husband's been dead 50 years. You ought to be ashamed to shock people that way. Don't you ever treat me that way again."

The station matron looked disappointed, and the young woman went back and sat down without even feeling at liberty to tell the lady in black what had happened. — Indianapolis Journal.

The Smart Young Wife.

Young Mr. and Mrs. Smith were preparing to make a visit to friends for a few days. Their baby was only 3 months old, but was an important member of the family just the same. Mr. Smith was up stairs and Mrs. Smith down stairs, putting on her things and getting ready to start. "Hubby," she called out to her better half on the floor above, "please bring me my gloves! They are lying on the dresser. And bring me my overshoes and veil and that hatpin lying on top of the chiffonier and a few of those animal crackers for baby, and don't forget the baby's toothbrush."

Poor hubby had a hard time finding everything his wife wanted. He was a long while making his appearance and finally his wife called to him, "What is keeping you, dear?"

"Oh, that confounded toothbrush for baby! I have everything but that."

Then Mrs. Smith laughed. "You silly duck," said she, "did you not know that I was only joking? The baby, bless her dear little heart, hasn't a tooth to her name."

That was why hubby got so mad and "said things" as he was coming down stairs. A man never likes to have a joke played on him by his wife.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

A Real Bottomless Pit.

Few indeed are they who have penetrated to the innermost recesses of Willis' cave—to the great rotunda where the icy water of the "big spring" takes a leap into the midnight blackness of the "bottomless pit." The entrance to the cave is at the summit of a hill near Versailles, Ind.

Rider Haggard, in his imaginary pictures of underground horrors, has told nothing that would equal the true story which a single misstep would furnish in Willis' cave. A stream of water pours from the rock, and, pursuing a devious underground channel for a quarter of a mile, emerges into a vast chamber with a slanting, slippery floor inclining to a sink hole in the center. Down this hole the stream pours and is lost forever. By means of ropes and weights the sink hole has been sounded to a depth of 400 feet, and still the bottom has not been reached. The room is surrounded by a narrow ledge of rock, on which daring explorers have made a complete circuit. One step off the ledge upon the slippery floor would mean almost instant death in the bottomless pit.

A Fatal Wedding

By BERTHA M. CLAY.

Author of "On Her Wedding Morn," "Which Loved Him Best," Story of a Wedding Ring," "Between Two Loves," Etc.

But she shrunk back from him, and he said to himself it was not yet time.

So passed the bleak winter; the spring came; there was promise of another summer; and, as yet, Rupert Dacre had read nothing in the face he loved so well to justify him in speaking again.

The three who loved Sybil Jocelyn watched her keenly, hoping every day for some sign that she was learning to appreciate the devoted love lavished upon her. Some one else watched her, too, with jealousy and not for love.

Violet Ruthers had been left an orphan while she was still a child—an orphan and an heiress. She was under the charge of an aunt, Mrs. Travers, and of Squire Jocelyn, her mother's brother.

Part of her time was spent in London and part at Glynn. She was of age at the time our story opens, and spent her time where she liked.

Violet Ruthers was a magnificent woman—a brunette, whose dark, glowing, southern beauty is rare among the fair-haired daughters of England. She was proud and passionate; a woman of great firmness and determination, never to be deterred from anything upon which she had set her mind.

She was a thorough woman of the world—bland, suave, gracious and dignified; as different to sweet, impulsive, willful Sybil as is the sun to the moon.

For some time her whole heart had been fixed upon one idea. She loved Sir Rupert Dacre and intended to be his wife.

He was chivalrous and courteous to all women. Miss Ruthers had mistaken his kind and considerate manner for something else.

As a beauty and an heiress, she might, in a worldly point of view, have done even better than marrying Sir Rupert; but her whole heart was fixed upon becoming Lady Dacre of The Hilde.

She had seen no man who could be compared to Sir Rupert; his dark, handsome face haunted her, and she determined to win his love.

She could not help seeing his devotion to Sybil, but she comforted herself, believing the girl's indifference would tire him in time, and she would catch his heart in the rebound.

Sir Rupert liked her simply because she was Sybil's cousin. When Sybil had pained him by some willful indifference, by some coldness, or caprice, it was pleasant to talk to her. She seemed to understand so quickly and sympathise so warmly. Not that Sybil's name was ever mentioned between them. No one had told Miss Ruthers what had passed, but she had a way of pouring balm upon his wounds that Sir Rupert never tried to resist.

She suffered much in those days. Here was she, one of the most beautiful and popular women in England, positively overlooked, set aside, for the sake of a simple, country girl, who had never even entered the charmed circle of fashion. She had laid herself out to captivate Sir Rupert. She had used all the dangerous weapons of beauty and fascination, and all in vain. One look, one half word from Sybil, and Sir Rupert forgot her existence. In vain she sang for him with the sweetest of voices—in vain she played, and glanced, and sighed. Sir Rupert was blind to it all.

Violet Ruthers waited patiently. She had great faith in time. An unexpected ally came to her aid.

One June morning, as Sybil had wandered into the garden, longing for sympathy that would relieve the monotony of life, Lady Marche was announced.

Irene, as lady of the house, hastened to receive the visitor. Sybil, on joining them, was warmly welcomed by Lady Marche.

"Where is Miss Ruthers?" she asked. "I have something to say to you all—a favor to ask—and I can take no denial."

Violet was soon found, and the three waited in longing suspense to hear what Lady Marche had to say.

"I have set my heart on it," began her ladyship, "and I can not take a refusal. The fact is, Ling is full of visitors, and I must do something to amuse them. We propose a grand picnic to Birley Woods, with a dance in the evening, and it positively can not take place unless you promise to accompany us."

Sybil's beautiful young face brightened wonderfully.

"We have some nice people with us," continued Lady Marche. "You know every one who is 'anybody,' Miss Ruthers. Do you know Captain Ayrton?"

"Captain Lyster Ayrton?" asked Violet, quietly. "A fair-haired, handsome man—sings delightfully?"

"It is the same," said Lady Marche. "We are all charmed with him. He has enlivened us wonderfully. He is an fait at everything—charades, tales and dances—and he has a fund of animal spirits that never fail. You would enjoy meeting him, I am sure."

"I have no hesitation in promising," said Miss Ruthers.

"And I am sure papa will let us go," cried Sybil. "I will ask him directly he comes home."

"You will let me have an answer then by to-morrow evening," said Lady Marche as she rose to take leave.

Then followed the discussion under the cedar-trees, with which our story opens.

CHAPTER V.

'A HEART BASE, HARD, COLD AND TREACHEROUS."

Squire Jocelyn had not been willing at first that his daughter should attend Lady Marche's picnic. Sir Rupert had also received an invitation, and he repeated to the squire some little on dits he had heard as to Captain Ayrton's character, which did not please the good old man.

"Handsome is he, and a professed lady-killer—fond of play? Ah! then my girls shall not go to the picnic, or visit Ling until he has left it. A coquette is bad enough; but a male flirt—bah!" cried the squire.

But Sybil was so anxious to go, she she longed so much for the gayety, he could not withstand her pleading face. He said, at last, that if Sir Rupert would escort them, they might accept the invitation; and in after years he wished he had died before saying it.

It was not so easy to persuade Sir Rupert. With the gentle, unerring instinct of love, he saw it was the young soldier that attracted Sybil, and not Birley Woods.

Like the squire, he gave way, and never pardoned himself for it.

Sybil was very happy all that day; the name of Lyster Ayrton had some strange charm for her; she repeated it over and over again. Seeing Violet alone on the terrace, she joined her.

"Where did you meet Captain Ayrton?" she asked. "How I envy you, Violet. You go everywhere."

"I met him in London," was the quiet reply, "three years ago. Captain Ayrton was one of the most popular young men in town."

She did not add that he was no longer so, or tell the reason why his popularity had declined. He was only met in very third-rate society now.

"I have never seen a real, living military man," said Sybil. "What is your friend like, Violet?"

"He is no friend of mine," replied Miss Ruthers—"merely a very distant acquaintance. He is a very handsome man, with a gay debonair manner; every one is charmed with him."

"Does he wear gold lace and a drooping plume?" asked innocent Sybil.

"Something like it," replied Violet, with a smile; then she could not be induced to say any more.

In the depths of her heart she devoutly hoped Sybil and Captain Ayrton might like each other; but neither by word or deed would she further any such project. So Sybil spent the remainder of the day in picturing to herself a handsome knight in the most picturesque costume—and this ideal creation she called Captain Lyster Ayrton.

The sun shone warm and bright on the fatal day when the squire's darling went out to meet her fate. She had dressed herself in fairest array. Sir Rupert's eyes followed her wonderingly. To him she was like a delicate, dainty, fairy vision. He saw only the lovely face flushed with excitement; what seemed to him clouds of white lace falling round the slender, graceful figure; a coquettish little hat on the queenly head, and a white feather drooping over the golden hair. He understood nothing of the details of her dress—the effect he saw was something marvelous.

Violet Ruthers was superb in a toilet of pink silk and white lace, but Sir Rupert never appeared to notice her.

They started in high spirits; they were to drive over to Ling, and with the rest of the party proceed to Birley Woods.

There was not a cloud in the summer sky, and Sybil Jocelyn looked happier than she had ever done in her life before. She leaned back in the luxurious carriage the squire had purchased expressly for her. Sir Rupert rode by her side, sunning himself in her gay smiles. No warning came to her on the breath of the summer wind—no foreshadowing of the dark cloud that was hereafter to hide the beauty of earth and heaven from her.

Lady Marche was unfeignedly glad to see them; the squire's reluctance to let his child go much among strangers was well known. She was pleased and flattered, and welcomed them accordingly.

They found a large party assembled; the guests were waiting for carriages, and were dispersed over the gardens.

Sybil Jocelyn's heart beat as, at the end of a shady path, standing under the branches of a blossoming lime tree, she saw the gleam of gold lace in the sun. Looking, she saw a tall, handsome man in a military uniform—a man with fair hair, and a fair, Saxon face, bright blue eyes, full of light and smiles; his mouth was hidden by the drooping of a light mustache. As he stood there, he looked bright and glittering, fair, handsome and animated—a different man to any she had ever seen—more lively, more animated, with gayer smiles.

There was no one to tell her the bright blue eyes that could look so bewitching and so tender could be full of cunning and greed; no one to lift aside the golden mustache, and show her the deceitful mouth, with its false, coarse lines; none to warn her that the gay, handsome exterior concealed a heart base as it was hard, cold and treacherous.

She saw the start of admiration when he first caught sight of her, and her lovely, child-like face flushed. She saw him speak eagerly to Lucy Marche, as though asking who she was, and she felt amused at the young lady's look of indifference.

Then Sir Rupert came and stood by her side, trying to make her interested in the drive to Birley. She was impatient, and answered him petulantly; she longed for him to go away, so that the handsome young soldier might come up and talk to her.

Perhaps Sir Rupert understood her, and grew tired of her pretty, capricious words, for presently he went away, and then she saw Captain Ayrton talking to Miss Ruthers.

Poor, petted, spoiled beauty! she felt nothing but wonder that he had not sought her sooner. She turned away and began to gather some of Lady Marche's roses; and then, just as her bright eyes were growing dim, Lady Marche came to her, and she saw Captain Ayrton by her side.

Lady Marche introduced him and, after a few words, went away, leaving them together. The captain did not say much, but his eyes were eloquent. They told her how happy he was to see her; how fair he thought her, and his ardent, passionate gaze seemed to reach Sybil's heart.

They stood over the roses, the sun shining warm upon them, and the first link of a long and heavy chain was formed.

"What had happened?" Sybil asked herself, in silent wonder. "Why did this man seem fairer than all others? What made the skies so bright, the flowers so sweet, and earth so fair? Why did the musical voice, speaking gentle, courteous words, make her heart beat and her cheek flush as no other voice had ever done?"

She saw him gather a beautiful rose only half blown, and carefully strip all the thorns away, arrange the green leaves around it; and then he offered it to her. Like the simple child she was, she threw away all the other flowers in her hand and took the one thus proffered.

Captain Ayrton smiled—a smile for which she would have hated him had she seen it.

He rode by her side all the way to Birley Woods. Of course, it was the same road she had known for many years; but this morning it seemed different. There was a golden radiance over everything. She might have been in fairy-land.

She never saw Sir Rupert's sad face, or Lucy Marche's pique, or Lady Marche's significant smile. The fair face and handsome head were bending down to her every moment, and she saw no more.

It was a cool, chill shock when the carriage stopped at Birley Woods and Sir Rupert came to help her. She wondered impatiently why he did not leave Captain Ayrton to assist her. But Sir Rupert took her hand and drew her arm in his. The captain had no chance; he was obliged to submit and leave her.

But if Sir Rupert looked for any reward he was woefully mistaken. Sybil listened; but he saw she heard very little that he said. Was it in feminine nature to pay heed to grave words while a handsome young soldier, visible love in his eyes, was near?

PARIS POSTMEN STRIKE.

3,000 of Them Demand More Wages and Quit Work—Government Considers and Will Punish Leaders.

Paris, May 19.—Owing to the refusal of the Senate to vote the bill providing increased pay for postmen, recently passed by the Chamber of Deputies, about 800 postmen refused to go to work early yesterday morning, and later the whole force, numbering 3,000 men, went out on strike. As a result there were no mail deliveries yesterday morning. Even the embassies have not received their letters. The men are standing in groups outside the postoffice.

Later the postmen held an open-air meeting around the postoffice and were addressed by the Under Postal Secretary, M. Mougeot, who vainly urged them to return to work. The strikers responded by demanding an increase of pay.

The postoffice was besieged by business men, who demanded their letters. M. Mougeot arranged for a delivery during the afternoon. The sorting was done by clerks who have been placed at the disposal of the postoffice authorities by the commercial houses and banks. They are under the direction of the auxiliary sorters. The mail was delivered by soldiers, conducted by policemen. The absence of a regular mail delivery has caused great disturbance in business circles.

Leaders to Be Punished.

The Cabinet met yesterday, considered the strike and decided to severely punish the leaders. M. Mougeot ordered the postmen to instantly return to work under pain of dismissal, but the strikers refused to do so and attacked a post wagon manned by republican guards. The police beat the strikers off after a fight in which several policemen were hurt and a number of strikers arrested.

In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday there was great animation. The Minister of Posts and Telegraphs said the regular delivery would be resumed last evening, adding that the public service should not be allowed to lie at the mercy of the few officials, nor could the latter be permitted to impose their will upon Parliament and the Government.

Premier Dupuy said the state of the employes was not such as to allow of them going on strike, and if the postmen did not resume work they would be replaced by others. The Government would yield to no such intimidation.

A vote of confidence in the Government was passed. The Socialist minority shouted and cheered for a general strike.

Irrevocable Dismissal.

M. Mougeot and the Paris prefect of police have issued a circular to the postmen individually, announcing that all who fail to return to duty to-day will be irrevocably dismissed.

CAREY CASTLE GONE.

B. C. Government House Burned at Victoria—Water Facilities Poor.

Victoria, B.C., May 19.—Fire broke out yesterday at 8 o'clock at Government House, known as Carey Castle, and by 10 o'clock the entire structure was a mass of ruins. The buildings are on an eminence commanding a magnificent view of the Straits of Fuca and consequently exposed to the fresh sea breeze which was blowing. The water facilities were poor and the firemen could do very little but stand by and endeavor to save the shrubbery and trees. A great deal of the furniture and effects of Lieut.-Governor McInnes were saved, though he mourns the loss of a large number of valuable pictures, and Mrs. McInnes lost a quantity of jewelry. The building was an old historical palace, valued possibly at $20,000, insured for $12,000.

May Have Been Murdered.

Wiarton, May 19.—It now transpires that William McGarvey, an old man, who was found near McNeill's spring on Wednesday of last week, with a bullet through his brain, owned a farm in Lennox County and had money on deposit in the Dominion Bank at Napanee. He had sent to Napanee for money, and if he received it it had been taken from his person, as not a single cent was found in his pocketbook. A relative of the dead man is making inquiries, and if he finds the circumstances require it, he will demand an inquest.

A Drummer Arrested.

Lucan, Ont., May 19.—Mr. Wesley W. McKenna, a travelling man in the employ of McPherson, Glassco & Co., grocers, of Hamilton, was placed under arrest yesterday afternoon by Detective Ward of London. He is charged with the embezzlement of $14.19 from the firm of T. B. Escott & Co. of London, with whom he was employed in February last. The prisoner was taken to London.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago Wheat Went Up Two Cents and There Was Also an Advance at Liverpool—The Latest Prices.

Liverpool, May 19.—Wheat futures yesterday advanced ¾d to ⅞d per cental above Wednesday's close. This month's options rose 2¼d.

Chicago, May 19.—Wheat futures were boosted up two cents a bushel yesterday. Trading was not on any very large scale. The strength of the market was based largely upon renewed reports of a decrease in the fall wheat acreage and yield.

Dr. A. W. CHASE

DISCOVERED A NEW TREATMENT FOR NERVOUS DISEASES

In his study of diseases of the nerves, Dr. A. W. Chase found that in nearly every case the cause of trouble was improper nourishment. About one-fifth of all the blood in the human body is found in the brain, and unless this blood is rich and pure the nerves cannot obtain proper nourishment, and become worn out and exhausted.

Nervous depression, nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia, loss of sleep and vital force, lack of energy, are symptoms of weak, watery blood and exhausted nerves.

It was as a food for blood and nerves that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food was prepared. Its remarkable success in curing all diseases arising from thin blood and impoverished nerves is proof that Dr. Chase's theory of feeding the nerves and blood is the proper one; stimulants only urge on the tired and worn out nervous system until there comes a complete collapse.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food creates new brain and nerve cells, and makes the blood pure and rich. It restores to the exhausted nerves the vigor of perfect health. 50c. a large box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

What is Scott's Emulsion?

It is the best cod-liver oil, partly digested, and combined with the hypophosphites and glycerine. What will it do? It will make the poor blood of the anæmic rich and red.

It will give nervous energy to the overworked brain and nerves. It will add flesh to the thin form of a child, wasted from fat-starvation.

It is everywhere acknowledged as The Standard of the World.

FIELD OF GENERAL SPORT

Wheeling.

R. J. Wilson, of Kingston, chairman of the Transportation committee of the C. W. A., received a communication from Henry Slunney, Coventry, Eng., secretary of the International Cyclists Association, intimating that the attendance of European racers and delegates at the world's meet at Montreal in July would be exceedingly large.

Cricket.

The annual district cricket match will be played at the Trinity College school grounds, Port Hope, to-morrow. The contestants will be the T.C.S. team and the team from the towns of the district, including Peterborough, Belleville, Cobourg, etc. Messrs Stocker, Hollingshead, R M Hamilton and Dr Perry Goldsmith will go down from town.

Golf

The competition for the prizes offered by Mr McHarrie, open only to golfers who did not play the game before 1st September, last year, continues to excite much local interest. Everyone thinks that he is as good as another, and some say that the old players might watch the game with advantage, because the young men have taken hold with a vim that must assuredly upset the calculations of the older heads. It is the opinion of the golfers that these handsome prizes will go to E H D Hall, A St A Smith, or G W Hatton. Others again say that Fred Hall, H Ritchie or C Poussette should win. There may be dark horses, and it is the opinion of many that the field will provide a winner. Below is the result of the first round:

E H D Hall beat A S Houston by 1 hole.
R C McHarrie beat C J Rogers by 6 holes.
J H Carter beat S Ray by 4 holes.
E W Lamprey won by default.
A St A Smith beat A G Parker by 1 hole.
C Poussette beat F B Francis by 1 hole.
H Ritchie beat E H Skill by 1 hole.
G W Hatton beat C Bell by 3 holes.
Fred Hall beat J W Garvin by 4 holes.
I Holst beat H D Burnett by 5 holes.

VISITED CHANDOS.

Bishop O'Connor Administers the Sacrament of Confirmation.

On Sunday last, May 14th, His Lordship Bishop O'Connor visited Chandos for the purpose of administering confirmation. He was met at Coe Hill on Saturday by Rev Father Fitzpatrick and a number of the parishioners and driven to the residence of Mr P Mahoney, where he remained during his visit. On Sunday at St. Mary's church he administered confirmation to twenty-five children. They had been prepared by Miss Katie Kennedy, teacher, and his lordship was much pleased to find them so well instructed and possessed of such a thorough knowledge of their religion. Afterwards an address of welcome was read to his lordship by Mr John Menegue on behalf of the parishioners. They thanked the Bishop for his kindly interest and for his many efforts in providing them with the benefits of the Church. His lordship made a reply of considerable length, congratulating the people on their spiritual condition and on the progress of their children. He praised Miss Kennedy highly for her good work and thanked all for their hearty reception.

A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Tea, Sale and Entertainment at All Saints' Church.

The annual tea and entertainment under the auspices of the Senior Girls's Guild of All Saints' church, was held last evening at the school room of the church. The affair was a great success. The attendance was large and all apparently enjoyed themselves fully. Tea was served by the young ladies from 5.30 o'clock to nearly 8. The tables were well patronized and those in charge were most obliging in attending to the wants of their visitors.

Later in the evening an entertainment was held. Rev Arthur Gadd, of Gore's Landing, gave a number of capital recitations, humorous and serious. He was heard with pleasure and was loudly applauded. The musical numbers were also good. An instrumental duet was rendered by the Misses English, a vocal trio was given by Messrs. Mulligan, Kingscote and Rev Mr Armitage, and an instrumental trio was given by Messrs. Pigeon, Patterson and Finney. Mrs Stapleton and Rev Mr Armitage sang a pleasing duet and Mr Mulligan contributed a song. Mr Stanley Pigeon gave a violin solo, Messrs Mulligan, Kingscote and Armitage rendered another selection and the programme was concluded with a vocal number by Misses Mills and Bullen and Messrs Armitage and Kingscote.

A committee of young ladies had counters where fancy and useful articles were sold. Things went as on a Thursday bargain day.

COMPANY FORMED.

Mr W F Hillard and Mr H W Laird in a Big Northwest Enterprise.

We notice from our western exchanges the formation of the Lumsden Stock & Ranching Company, breeders of thoroughbred Hereford cattle, with headquarters at Lumsden, N W T, near Regina. The ranges are located at Rough Bank Creek in the Yellow Grass district and at Lumsden, on the Prince Albert branch of the C P R. The personnel of the company consists of Dr Willoughby, of Regina; W F Hillard, of Peterborough, and H W Laird, of Cobourg, Ont, the latter two gentlemen being well and favorably known in this district. Being an old Peterborough boy, it is pleasing to notice Mr Hillard's connection with the large enterprise. Mr Laird is a brother chip, being formerly publisher of the Cobourg Sentinel-Star.

ESTEEM EXPRESSED.

Pleasing Demonstration by the Members of the Public Library Drawing Class.

Mr W J Francis, instructor of the Public Library drawing class, was agreeably surprised at his residence on Dennistoun-ave. by the members of the class last evening.

Mr P Gillespie read an address expressive of their high appreciation of his character and ability, and at an appropriate moment Mr C D Mathias handed Mr Francis a valuable inkstand, and to his son, Edward, a silver mug.

Mr Francis, though taken by surprise, made a complimentary speech in reply. He thanked the class for their attention and industry during the season's work. Some members might have done better, but, everything considered, he was quite satisfied with the results of the term.

HOW TO GET PLUMP AND ROSY.

Nature meant every woman to be pulmp, rosy and well developed, and if she has become pale, weak and nervous, Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food will restore and revitalize the wasted nerve cells, make the blood rich and pure, and give new vigor and elasticity to the whole body. For ills peculiar to women there is no remedy so successful as this great food cure of Dr. A. W. Chase. At all dealers.

TAKEN TO TORONTO.

Remains of the Late Dr Clarke and His Father to be Interred at Toronto.

The remains of the late Dr John Clarke, town physician, who died April 12th last, and those of his father, the late John Clarke, of Ashburnham, were taken to Toronto yesterday. The elder man died on Sept 11th, 1877, at the age of fifty-six years, and his remains have lain in the cemetery here for twenty-two years. The bodies were taken via C P R, Mr A R Clarke accompanying, and placed in the family plot in the Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Veterans of 1866.

At a meeting of the executive committee held last evening it was decided to celebrate the anniversary, June 2nd, by having a smoking concert. The announcement that the medals would not be ready for two or three months led to the suggestion that any veterans who have not already sent in their applications might still do so. Forms of application may be obtained either from Mr Poussette, the President, or Mr Collins, the secretary.

THAT THE LEASE BE CANCELLED

get farther up. He had then approached the Commissioners for that town lot which has been leased to him. He stated that he did not want it as a stock yard but simply to get the shipping facilities. Alderman Davidson was opposed to granting even this but after two meetings the Commissioners had given him a lease until the Stanley Piano Co. was in running order. Mr. Kennedy had not signed this lease yet. Mr. Davidson had learned that Mr. Kennedy had started work and had asked that a meeting of the Commissioners be called that the lease might be cancelled. This was but fair to Mr. Kennedy that he might be stopped before he had spent money on it. He believed that a meeting of the Commissioners would be held on Monday night. The meeting is called to recind the motion passed at the last meeting unless Mr. Kennedy gives up his lease of his own accord in the meantime.

Mr. Walter Evans pointed out that the intended location of the cattle yards had been shifted from place to place and had at last got back to the spot from which it had started. He has already felt the injury from the cattle yards. One of his tenants is leaving because of objections to the yards being close. Another man who had intended purchasing some property from him had changed his mind because of the talk of the yards being established. He believed that wherever the yards were established property would be depreciated. It had been the intention of the property holders all around to unite and take out an injunction to restrain the establishment if possible. The yards were prohibited for the Stanley Piano Co. He thought the residents of the vicinity should receive the same consideration.

The Chairman, Mr. Harry Evans, could not understand the action of the Commissioners. Surely the town did not need the paltry little sum of $100 for rent when so many citizens were opposed to it.

Mr. N. Leplante thought the town should pass a by-law regulating the matter of cattle yards by license. Such yards had everywhere been found a nuisance. He believed that the intention was to keep pigs in the yards under debate.

Mr. Robertson stated that Mr Kennedy had told him that the lot would be used as a feeding yard.

Several other gentlemen made remarks but Alderman Davidson's opinion that the Commissioners would reconsider and probably reverse their action seemed to reassure the gathering. However, the following resolution, moved by Mr. W. Evans and seconded by Mr. C. B. Robertson, was passed:

That it is the opinion of this representative meeting that the action of the Town Trust Commissioners in granting a lease of part of the town lot south of Rink-st. and west of George-st. for purpose of a cattle yard will militate against the interests of a large number of the ratepayers of the town and that it is the opinion of this meeting that the Commissioners should cancel the lease given, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Commissioners.

On motion the meeting then adjourned for a week to await the action of the Commissioners.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at James Lynch's Drug Store as their giving away to their many customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable remedy, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases are quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size 50c. and $1.00. Every bottle warranted.

Laverdure! Mr. Denne does not admire the business methods of the contractors and he thought the machine should not be given or rented to anyone without the Council giving authority. He telephoned Alderman Davidson and entered a solemn and vehement protest against the machine going over to the canal. Alderman Davidson, chairman of the Board of Works, blandly assured him that it was all right. This did not satisfy Alderman Denne and he tried to hunt up Mayor Davis but the Mayor had evidently mistaken himself for a policeman and could nowhere be found. Alderman Denne then sent for Alderman Hall and the two started down to where the machine had been but on the way down they saw the two teams hauling it across to Ashburnham safely loaded on the truck and it disappaered across the Hunter-st. bridge.

Alderman Davidson was seen about the matter. He stated that Messrs. Corry & Laverdure were "stuck" for machinery and unless they could get the use of the town's stone crusher they would have to discharge their men. They approached Alderman Davidson on the matter and he had seen a majority of the Council. With their consent he had granted the contractors the use of the machine for four days as a matter of necessity and convenience on the following conditions: The contractors to pay a fair rental and to return the machine in as good condition as they had obtained it, its conditions being satisfactory to Mr. George Munro, who should act as judge, The contractors would give a bond for the full value of the machine. He considered this nothing to make a disturbance over.

But stone crushers do not travel very fast and when it had got across the bridge steps were taken to stop its progress. Mr. Hay, superintendent of municipal works, acting on instructions from the Mayor and accompanied by other civic authorities, overtook those in charge of the machine at the foot of the hill at McAllister's mill. They would not give it up willingly but its stoppage was insisted upon. So the men unhitched and it was left standing on the road, where it was this afternoon, until finally removed to the market square.

As a result of the agitation aroused by the incident, Alderman Davidson has sent in his resignation to the Council.

A Council meeting was called for tonight but it was countermanded later.

Why This Morbid Taste?

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Why is it that at this period of so-called refinement resulting from high civilization a monstrosity, such as has been exhibited in one of our store windows during the week, attracts such attention and arouses such interest? Monstrosities of any kind are more revolting than elevating generally. How many of those who view the two-head-calf appreciate the grace and symmetry of a fine type in the normal domestic animal?

The Peace Conference Delegates Mapping Out Work.

An Amicable Spirit Shown by the Various Representatives Toward One Another—Three Committees to Be Appointed—Queen Wilhelmina and Her Mother to Be Welcomed in Imposing Style on Tuesday—Cable News.

The Hague, May 20.—Queen Wilhelmina and the Queen's mother will arrive here on Tuesday evening, and will be received in great state.

The chiefs of the different delegations to the peace conference met yesterday, under the presidency of the president of the conference, M. de Staal, the Russian ambassador to Great Britain, for the purpose of discussing the business to be transacted to-day.

The meeting, at which Sir Julian Pauncefote, head of the British delegation, and Mr. Andrew D. White, head of the United States delegation, were present, resulted in an agreement to appoint three committees to deal with the respective groups of questions proposed for discussion, namely, disarmament, laws of warfare and mediation and arbitration.

With a view of facilitating the appointment of the committees, it was agreed that each chief delegate should nominate those of his own delegation whom it might be desired to appoint to the respective committees, so that each nation should be represented upon all.

Probably the committees will meet next Tuesday or Wednesday to organize and to arrange their procedure.

The opinion of a majority of delegates seems to be that the general scheme to be presented to the conference to-day has been conceived in a broad and liberal spirit, and the result of yesterday's meeting of the delegation chiefs is regarded as demonstrating the good-will and conciliatoriness of all the delegates, as well as a common desire to facilitate the labors of the conference. Perfect harmony had prevailed thus far regarding all questions brought forward.

To-day's session and all subsequent sessions will be secret.

Old Liberal Principle Killed in the House by Its Friends.

THE REDISTRIDUTION BILL

Sprung on the Commoners on the Eve of a Holiday.

The Prime Minister, in Introducing the Measure, Makes Many Pretences of Honesty and Fairness in His Usual Sunny Way, But Sir Charles Tupper, in a Red-Hot Reply, Punctures the Bubble That Glistened So Beautifully as the Premier Blew It—Ontario the Province to Suffer Most.

Ottawa, May 20.—Contrary to general expectation, the redistribution bill was introduced yesterday, after a very animated discussion, lasting nearly three hours, and received its first reading. The bill is of the "sunny way" variety. It looks well and has an appearance of fairness about it which is attractive at first sight, but when examined closely and its "principles" looked into, it at once becomes evident that under the guise of "readjusting" one-third of the constituencies in Ontario are to be shaken up and sorted in such a manner that Sir Oliver Mowat's gerrymanders of Ontario will be fastened on that province for Federal as well as provincial purposes. Ontario is practically the only province affected.

THE REDISTRIBUTION BILL.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Introduces It—County Lines the Basis.

The Prime Minister, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in rising to introduce the redistribution bill, said: "My hon. friend and colleague, the Postmaster-General (Mr. Mulock), being unavoidably absent today, I have undertaken, with the view of expediting business and in order not to disappoint the very legitimate impatience of the public with regard to the measure which stands in his name, to present it to the House. I may say at once that the object we have in view in presenting this bill is not to make a total redistribution of the electoral districts under which the House of Commons is now constituted. We deem that it would not be expedient at this time to do that; but undo so far as we can the more glaring violations of a principle which we have always held and which has always been universally held by public opinion in this country to be a fundamental principle of representation in this country.

"We think it is a principle which will commend itself universally to public opinion that the basis of representation in this House should be the municipal county organization. It is in the recollection of all the members of this House that this principle was to a large extent interfered with by the Redistribution Act of 1882. That act was a violation of the principles which had prevailed up to that time, and maintained, not alone by the Liberal party, but by the Conservative party as well. There are many well-known reasons why the municipal county organization should be preserved, as the basis of representation, and I can't do better upon this point than to quote the language of Sir John A. Macdonald, when the first redistribution act after Confederation was introduced in 1872. Sir John A. Macdonald at that time went over the question very fully and gave in graphic language the reasons, to which there was no dissent expressed at that time, why the municipal county organization should be laid down as the basis of representation."

Sir John Macdonald's Opinion.

The language which he made use of on that occasion reads as follows:

It is desired, as much as possible, to keep the representation within the county so that each county that is a municipality of Ontario should be represented and if it becomes large enough that it should be divided into ridings. That principle is carried out in the suggestions I am about to make. That rule was broken in 1867 in three constituencies, namely, Bothwell, Cardwell and Monck, and I do not think on the whole that the experiment has proved a successful one. I do not think it was unsuccessful as far as the representatives of those new constituencies themselves were concerned, as they are well and ably represented by the gentlemen who now hold seats for the constituencies, and I hope that if I am returned again to the next Parliament I shall meet those honorable members. But it is obvious that there is a great advantage in having counties elect men whom they know. Our municipalities give an admirable opportunity to constituencies to select men for their deserts.

We all know the process which happily goes on in Western Canada. A young man in a county commences his public life by being elected by the neighbors, who know him, to the township council. If he shows himself possessed of administrative ability he is made reeve or deputy reeve of the township. He becomes a member of the county council, and as his experience increases and his character and ability becomes known, he is selected by his people as their representative in Parliament. It is, I think, a grand system that the people of Canada should have the opportunity of choosing for political promotion the men in whom they have most confidence and of whose ability they are fully assured. All that great advantage is lost by cutting off a portion of two several counties and adding them together for electoral purposes only. Those portions so cut off have no common interest, they do not meet together, and they have no common feeling except that once in five years they go to the polls in their own township to vote for a man who may be known in one section and not in another. This tends towards the introduction and development of the American system of caucuses, by which wire-pullers take adventurers for their political ability only, and not from any personal respect for them. So that, as much as possible, from any point of view, it is advisable that counties should refuse men whom they do not know, and when the representation is increased it should be by sub-dividing the counties into ridings.

Wisdom of the Remarks.

Continuing, Sir Wilfrid said: "Now, from the wisdom of these remarks nobody will dissent. It is true that the redistribution bill of 1882, which was introduced while Sir John A. Macdonald was in office, was not drawn upon these lines, but while the principle was departed from on that occasion, Sir John A. Macdonald did not, so far as my memory goes, express any views at all differing from those he had expressed on the previous occasion, I think the country at large will be prepared to come back to the adoption of those views. I may say at once that this is the guiding principle which we have adopted in proposing the modification which we intend to propose to the Redistribution Act. As I said a moment ago, we do not intend at this time to undo the old representation act; we intend to deal with it only so far as is necessary in order to do away with the most glaring violations of the principle which was laid down as a cardinal and guiding principle in 1872.

Another Principle.

"There is another principle which, we think, ought to prevail whenever a redistribution of constituencies is to be made. According to the Constitutional Act it becomes the duty of Parliament, after every new census, to make a redistribution. If it were simply an optional duty there would not be so much force in the contention which I intend to advance, but as it is a mandatory, an imperative duty imposed upon Parliament by the constitution itself, it became all the more important that we should adhere to the well-known principles hitherto laid down and accepted, when it becomes the duty of Parliament to interfere in any way with the representation of the House of Commons. The first principle that we lay down, as I said a moment ago, is that municipal county organization should be the basis of representation, and the consequent principle of this one is that county municipal organization should not be interfered with, and that boundary lines should not be interfered with.

If Small, Counties to Be Annexed.

"If the population of a county should become so small, according to the development of the population in other counties, as to no longer justify it to be represented by one man on the floor of the House of Commons, then we hold that county should not be separated piecemeal, but that it should be annexed to the neighboring county, as was done in several instances in this House in Cornwall and Stormont, Niagara and Lincoln, Three Rivers and St. Maurice, Chambly and Vercheres, Napierville and Laprairie, St. John and Iberville. In all of these cases the population of these counties had the privilege of sending one member to the House of Commons, but the population had become so small, relatively to the population of other counties, it was thought advisable to deprive them of the privilege that they had up to that time of sending each one member to the House of Commons.

Counties Were Combined.

"In these cases county lines were not interfered with, but these counties were combined together to form one single electoral district. We have thought that when such a case arises, this is a precedent which we have already closely adhered to. This is a case which I believe is not likely to arise very often—a case that is more likely to arise where the population of a county may become so large that it will be entitled to more than one representative. Under such circumstances, it is provided that a county may be divided into ridings, on the principle we want to lay down, and which we do act upon, which is, that whenever counties have to be divided into ridings, whenever a county which up to that time

TESTIMONIALS

Alliston, March 1st, 1898.

I have had one of your "Crematory Closets" in use now for several weeks and am glad to be able to say that I have found it entirely satisfactory in every respect. I have not been able to detect the slightest odor from it at any time and would not be without it. I am sure it must prove a great convenience to people in the country and in towns where water is not obtainable.

Yours respectfully, JAMES CONWAY.

Sheddon, February 28th, 1899.

I have used it for some time and find it perfectly odorless. It is a long felt want and I believe it will become very popular especially in rural districts, towns and villages where wells are so frequently contaminated by the ordinary closets. I am, yours, etc.,

SIGNIFICANT FACTS.

HON. Mr. Haggart made a statement in his speech on the debate on the Drummond County deal which should cause the people of Canada to think twice before they decide to support the Government in its anxiety to purchase this railway. Mr Haggart says that when he was Minister of Railways and Canals the Drummond County road was offered to him for $550,000, while he knew that it had also been offered to others for $400,000. Two years later, after the Grits had gained power and the friends of Mr Greenshields, the president of the road, were in charge of the treasury, Mr Blair proposed that the Dominion should pay $2,100,000 for the road. Fortunately the Senate killed this deal, but now Mr Blair wants the country to pay $1,600,000 for it. In the first place if the road was only valued at $550,000 when the Conservatives were in power how came the increase in value which made it worth a million and a half more two years later? Then if it was worth $2,100,000 last year, as Messrs Blair and Tarte claimed, what has caused the deterioration that has reduced its value to $1,600,000 this year? Do not these offers and these fluctuations indicate peculiar circumstances in connection with the transaction; was the Senate not justified in throwing out the deal and is present opposition to the new proposal not equally justifiable?

ALDERMAN Davidson should re-consider that resignation and settle any feeling that may have been aroused over the stone-crusher incident as a member of the Council.

PETERBOROUGH has an excellent musical organization in the 57th Battalion band, and Bandmaster Gliddon and his men are worthy of all the support the town and its citizens can give them.

THAT Drummond county railway deal looks worse on its second appearance than on its first. To be sure the price to be paid has been reduced, but this is itself evidence that the representations made last year by the champions of the deal were not well founded, and the fact that it was offered for one-third this year's figures indicates the possibility of still further reduction if the deal is given another body blow.

FROM the reports as to reassembling of the Quebec conference it appears that the Laurier idea of throwing all the eggs into the same hat has been abandoned as a failure, says the Montreal Gazette. The U S people will, no doubt, be quite willing to negotiate on questions on which they have something to gain and nothing to lose. One would like to know what are the assurances they have received that Canada is now willing to make further concessions, and in spite of the disappointment of the citizens of Quebec if there were no more junketings, there would be a sense of greater security if there were no danger of Sir Wilfrid Laurier making matters worse than they are already.

REP. BY POP.'S DAYS ARE DONE

is entitled to one member becomes entitled to two or three members, the division should take place by judicial decision and authority. This is the principle upon which we base the bill that we introduce to this House now.

Character of the Bill.

"After these preliminary observations as to the guiding principles upon which we have acted, I will now proceed to give to the House that character of the bill which we have introduced. I may say at first, keeping in view the main observations with which I started, that it is not our intention to have a general redistribution, but simply to undo certain wrongs that we think were done to the people, and certain of the more glaring violations which took place in regard to the principle we hold as sacred.

No Disturbance in These.

"It is not the intention to have any disturbance at present in the following constituencies: Ottawa, Carleton, Addington, Durham, Frontenac, Glengarry, Grenville, Halton, Hastings, Kingston, Lanark, Leeds, Lennox, Nipissing, Northumberland, Peterboro, Prince Edward, Renfrew, Russell, Stormont and Cornwall, Victoria and Waterloo. These remain undisturbed.

These Disappear.

"In the remarks which I quoted a moment ago. Sir John Macdonald said that county lines had been interfered with in three instances at Confederation —that is to say, in the cases of Cardwell, Monck and Bothwell. The House, it seems, agreeing with Sir John Macdonald, has already caused Monck to be redistributed. It is proposed on this occasion that Bothwell, Cardwell, West Ontario should disappear. It is proposed, also, that Middlesex, which now returns four members, shall only return three for what is now the four constituencies, which at the same time shall be replaced by giving representation to the County of Dufferin and the electoral district of Parry Sound, and two additional members for Kent, Ontario."

Three Members for Kent.

Mr. Bergeron—That will be three members for Kent?

The Prime Minister—Yes; that takes out part of Bothwell. The bill proposes to restore county lines to the following counties: Brant, Bruce, Elgin, Grey, Haldimand, Huron, Kent, Lambton, Lanark, Middlesex, Norfolk, Ontario, Oxford, Peel, Simcoe, Welland, Wellington, Wentworth and York.

"To give these representation, the details would have to be as follows, taking the changes which I have just indicated: The electoral district of the City of London shall consist of the City of London, and shall return one member. The electoral district of the City of Hamilton shall consist of the City of Hamilton, and shall return two members.

"The electoral district of the City of Toronto shall consist of the City of Toronto, and shall be divided into four electoral districts, each of which shall return one member.

"The Counties of Dufferin, Haldimand, Lincoln, Peel, Welland and Wentworth, and the territorial districts of Muskoka and the territorial district of Parry Sound, shall each be an electoral district, and shall each return one member.

"The Counties of Brant, Elgin, Lambton, Norfolk, Ontario, Oxford and Perth shall each be divided into two electoral districts, and will each return one member.

"The Counties of Kent, Huron, Bruce Grey, Middlesex, Simcoe, Wellington and York shall each be divided into three electoral districts; each of these districts shall return one member.

The Judicial Decision.

"In the three following sections, which we have inserted in the bill, are the provisions in regard to the judicial division of the counties into ridings:

Where, under the foregoing provisions, any county or city is to be divided into more than one electoral district, such divisions shall be made by a Board of Commissioners, consisting of at least three persons, being Judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature for Ontario, who, for the purpose, shall be appointed by letters patent under the great seal, and who shall divide the City of Toronto and each such county into the number of electoral districts by this act assigned to them, respectively.

The letters patent appointing the commissioners shall request the commissioners in making the divisions to consider the distribution of population according to the last Dominion census, the public convenience, and such divisions as appear to them best calculated to the substantial justice.

In case of the death or resignation or refusal of any one or more of such commissioners to act, a successor, or successors, shall in like manner be appointed.

The commissioners shall complete such divisions within a time to be limited by said letters patent, and shall report such divisions to the Secretary of State, making a separate report as to each electoral district so set apart by them, and shall set forth in such report the boundaries of the electoral districts to which such reports refer, and the municipalities comprised therein, and assign and appropriate designation to the electoral district in question, and upon receipt by the Secretary of State of the reports of the commission completing the divisions aforesaid the respective territories by such respective reports described as constituting the respective electoral districts into which the said city of Toronto and the respective counties shall have been divided, as aforesaid, shall, subject to the provisions of section 18 of this act, become and be electoral districts, as if the same had been so set apart and established as such by this act.

In Force at Dissolution.

"Let me say this, that section 18 is simply to provide that this bill shall not come into force so long as the present Parliament continues, but shall come into force only at the dissolution of this Parliament."

Sir Charles Tupper—The last portion?

The Prime Minister—The whole of this bill. This is section 18:

Nothing herein contained shall operate as to change the constitution of the electoral districts as they now exist until the dissolution of present Parliament.

Sir Charles Tupper—But the judicial arrangement applies to this bill.

The Prime Minister—Yes, it is a part of this bill. Each report shall be signed by the commissioners, or, in case of disagreement, by a majority of the commissioners, which shall be the report of the commission. Each separate report shall be published in The Canada Gazette forthwith after its receipt thereof by the Secretary of State. These are all the provisions in regard to this point.

Little Change in Quebec.

"In regard to the Province of Quebec, it is not proposed to make any alterations in the representation as it exists today, except in so far as is necessary to bring back the different municipalities which had been transferred in the Redistribution Act of 1882 from one county to another. Thus the parish of Lavaltrie, which for the purposes, municipal, judicial and otherwise, belongs to the County of Berthier, but which by the act of 1882 was transferred from Berthier to L'Assomption, will be restored to the County of Berthier. The same applies to the Indian village of Caughnawaga. The Indian village and reserve of Caughnawaga is transferred from the electoral district of Caughnawaga to the electoral district of Laprairie and Napierville."

Indians Have No Rights.

Mr. Bergeron—What about Caughnawaga; under the new Franchise Act the Indians have no right to vote?

The Prime Minister—They have no more right to vote, and I do not think it affects the case one way or another. But, in order to be consisent, we place Caughnawaga where it belongs. At present it is immaterial whether it is Chateauguay or Laprairie, or anywhere else, because the Indians have no right to vote.

"The parish of Lacolle, together with the islands situated in the River Richelieu, opposite thereto, is transferred from the electoral district of Missisquoi to the electoral district of St. Jean and Iberville. The parish of Lacolle, for all purposes, municipal and judicial, belongs to the County of St John, and ought to belong to it.

"The parishes of Notre Dame de Stanbridge and Ste. Anges de Stanbridge, together with the island situated in the River Richelieu, opposite thereto, are transferred from the electoral district of St. John and Iberville to the electoral district of Missisquoi.

"The parish of St. Pie is transferred from the electoral district of Rouville to the electoral district of Bagot.

"The parish of St. Marcel is transferred from the electoral district of Bagot to the electoral district of Richelieu.

"The parish of St. Eugene de Grantham, now in the electoral district of Bagot, is transferred to the electoral district of Drummond and Arthabasca. It belongs to Drummond County for all purposes judicial, municipal and otherwise.

"The parishes of St. Nazaire and St. Christine as municipally constituted shall be included in the electoral district of Bagot, and that electoral district as re-constituted shall consist of the town of Acton, the village of Upton, and the parishes of St. Andre d'Acton, St. Ephraim d'Upton, St. Helene, St. Hughes, St. Liboire, St. Pie, Ste. Rosalie, St. Simon, St. Theodore d'Acton, St. Dominique, St. Nazaire and St. Christine.

"The parishes of St. Guillaume d'Upton and St. Bonaventure d'Upton are transferred from the electoral district of Drummond and Arthabasca to the electoral district of Yamaska. That is done for all purposes, except for Federal electoral purposes. They belong to the County of Yamaska.

"The parishes of St. Eulalie and St. Samuel shall be in and form part of the electoral district of Nicolet. All that part of the township of Stanfold, too, with the 12 lots in the three first ranges of the said township which formed part of the parish of Notre Dame de Lourde, are transferred from the electoral district of Drummond and Arthabasca to the electoral district of Megantic. All this for the same reason.

Prince Edward Island.

"Now, coming to the Province of Prince Edward Island, sub-section 6 of section 2 of chapter 11 of the statutes of 1892, which refers to P.E.I., is repealed and the following substituted so as to provide there, as elsewhere, county lines.

"In the Province of P.E.I. there shall be three electoral districts, designated as follows:

"The electoral district of Prince, which shall consist of the County of Prince, and shall return two members.

"The electoral district of Queen's, which shall consist of the County of Queen's, and shall return two members.

"The electoral district of King's, which consists of the County of King's, and shall return one member.

Little Change in New Brunswick.

"With regard to the Province of New Brunswick, no changes are contemplated, with the exception of the City of St. John, which, as everybody knows, is in a peculiar condition. An elector in the City of St. John has two votes. He votes first for the City of St. John, and then he votes for a member for the City and County of St. John. It is proposed to do away with this anomaly and to have two electoral districts, one for the City of St. John and one for the County of St. John. Section 5 of the statutes of 1892 is hereby repealed and amended by striking out sub-section B and substituting the following:

The electoral district of the County of St. John shall consist of the County of St. John only.

Nothing herein contained shall operate so as to change the constitution of the electoral districts as they now exist until the dissolution of the present Parliament.

"These, Mr. Speaker, are the provisions of the bill which we intend to propose. I hope they will recommend themselves to all sides of this House and above all to the country, and I therefore move the first reading of this bill."

Mr. MacDonald (King's, P. E. I.)—Might I ask the leader of the Government if it is the intention to have two members for Prince, P.E.I., and two for Queen's, P.E.I., running together as formerly and one for King's, P.E.I.?

The Prime Minister—Yes.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.

The Old Conservative War Horse Rises to the Occasion and Punctures the "Fair" Bubble.

Sir Charles Tupper said it was quite impossible to deal at any length or minuteness with a bill introduced in this way, and which is presented for the first time to the consideration of the House. He had expected that his right hon. friend, in introducing this bill, would have drawn the attention of the House to the Constitutional Act providing for a decennial census, and have intimated why for the first time in the history of Canada the course outlined in that act should be departed from in regard to this measure. The Act of Confederation provides that a redistribution bill shall be passed at a particular time, and, as he understood that constitution, it not only makes no provision for a redistribution at any other time, but, so far as a law can do it, it suggests that the time, and the only time, for dealing with the change in the distribution of the seats of Canada shall be at a particular period, and only then. While the constitution does not expressly state that it cannot be done at any other time, the very fact that provision is distinctly made as to the time leaves the inference that it can only be done after a decennial census, an inference that has been respected by every Government of Canada and by every party in Canada from Confederation down to the present hour. There has been no redistribution bill introduced by any Government or by any party during the more than 30 years of life of this Confederation, and this House had a right to expect from his hon. friend that before he resumed his seat he would give some reason for this unusual and unprecedented and slightly unconstitutional proceeding of providing for a redistribution act at the present moment.

Is Sir Wilfrid Afraid?

Was his right hon. friend afraid to go back to the electorate who clothed him with power? He obtained power under very exceptional circumstances. His party obtained power without having obtained a majority of this country upon one single great question at issue between the two parties in this House. He regarded this measure as a confession from the right hon. gentleman that he was afraid to go back to the electors of Canada, from whom he, under very exceptional circumstances, obtained power.

The right hon. gentleman obtained power on the great issue that was put before the people of Canada on the occasion of the last general election in regard to what was called the coercion of Manitoba. Would his right hon. friend venture to say that the electorate of this country gave him a majority on that question? He knows that he cannot. Then, sir, take the question of free trade, which he had been agitating for 20 years in this House and out of it. The hon. gentleman will not dare to say that upon that question he obtained a majority of the electorate of Canada to support him or his views. Under these circumstances, we find, first, that the leader of the Government has adopted a change in the franchise of the country. What was that change? To deprive this Parliament of the power of controlling the electorate from establishing the franchises under which the members of this House of Commons should be elected. That was the first move. It was to adopt the most corrupt, the most indefensible, the most scandalous system of obtaining a majority, by local action.

Sir Charles then devoted some time to showing the corruption that obtained under local laws, instancing New Brunswick, West Huron, Brockville, but the things done therein were not enough and now the cry was "change the franchise."

An Unconstitutional Act.

Change the franchise. Put it in the hands of the local governments, who have so scandalously abused their power in the making up of the lists; that is not

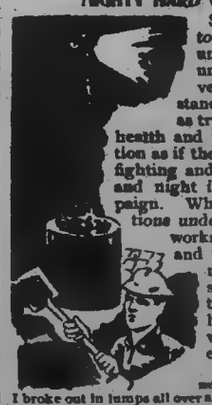
FIGHTY HARD WORK.



Some men have to do their work under all sorts of unusual and adverse circumstances that are just as trying upon their health and physical condition as if they were soldiers fighting and marching day and night in a hard campaign. When the conditions under which a man works are abnormal and unhealthy he needs to take special precautions to build himself up to withstand the extra strain.

"In 1894, I was working at night and I broke out in lumps all over and when these left the skin peeled off," says Mr. John A. Calloway, of 218 26th St., Columbus, Georgia, in a recent letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "I had catarrh for four years and also liver and kidney trouble; when it would commence troubling me I would have a slight aching a little below the chest. I used many kinds of medicine but received no benefit. My eyes were sunken and my face was pale; I had pimples on my face and there was brown spots on my face. Now these are all gone. I took six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two of Dr. Pierce's Pellets. They are the best medicines I ever used in my life, and I do believe that I am entirely well. I have a good appetite but before I commenced treatment I had no appetite at all. Now I am like a child—ready to eat at any time of day or night. Last year I weighed one hundred and thirty-four pounds and now I weigh one hundred and forty-five. Please accept my thanks. I am so glad I found the right kind of medicine."

"Golden Medical Discovery" is free from alcohol; it is pure medicine and nothing else. Unlike the so-called "tonics" and "extracts" which tend to create an appetite for stimulants, the "Discovery" creates only a healthy natural temperance appetite for good food which nourishes and strengthens. The medicine dealer who says he has something "just as good" knows that he falsifies. If he urges an inferior substitute it is to gain a few pennies greater profit. No matter how discouraged you may be, write to Dr. Pierce for advice which he will send you free and which if followed, is bound to do you good.

"The Thorn Comes Forth With Point Forward."

The thorn point of disease is an ache or pain. But the blood is the feeder of the whole body. Purify it with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Kidneys, liver and stomach will at once respond? No thorn in this point.

Severe Pains—"I had severe pains in my stomach, a form of neuralgia. My mother urged me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and it made me well and strong. I have also given it to my baby with satisfactory results. I am glad to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to others." MRS. JOHN LA PAGE, 240 Church St., Toronto, Ont.

Complete Exhaustion—"After treatment in hospital, I was weak, hardly able to walk. My blood was thin. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla until well and gained 20 lbs. It also benefited my wife." ASTHUR MILLS, Dresden, Ont.

SATURDAY, MAY 20, 1899.

REP. BY POP.'S DAYS ARE DONE

enough; supplement that by using public and private funds and every other means to corrupt the elector, and that is not enough; and now before the right hon. gentleman dares to go back and make his appeal to the electorate of Canada there is proposed an unconstitutional act, for which there is no authority within the four walls of the constitution of Canada.

Rep. by Pop. Thrown Over.

The constitution of Canada provides when and how and where such an act as this can be passed, and that is after the decennial census. Does the hon. gentleman mean to say that there is any principle in this bill which he has introduced? The great sovereign principle recognized by the constitution of Canada and in its administration down to the present is the principle of representation by population. Does the hon. gentleman dare say he has any regard for that in this bill? Why, what has happned? His hon. friend from West York told him that one important feature in that part of his bill relating to Ontario was the utter abandonment of the principle of representation by population. They take from East and West York 85,000 of a population and add them to Toronto, and keep Toronto down to four members, the same as now.

Why Quebec Goes Free.

What now do we find? The bill does not make any material change in the Province of Quebec. The hon. gentleman leaves Quebec pretty much as he found it. Why? Because Quebec gave him an overwhelming majority, but when he turned to Ontario he tore that to pieces. Why? Because Ontario did not give him a majority at all.

Under the methods established by hon. gentlemen, an honest election was now impossible in Canada, and he instanced as a proof of this contention the case of the County of Bagot, which, won in a bye-election by purchase, after six months' disfranchisement, would not stand by him in the general elections.

A Closing Challenge.

Sir Charles closed with these words:

I challenge him in the face of this House and I challenge them in the face of the country, to name one single act, one single public principle ever professed as the principle of that party, that he has not trampled underfoot since they obtained power. I challenge them to quote one single promise by means of which they obtained power to misgovern this country, that they have not violated. I have given that challenge before, and it remains unmet. No attempt has been made to show a single principle that they have professed, that they have not utterly violated, or a single pledge on which they obtained the confidence of the electorate of Canada, that they have not trampled under their feet.

Of course, we cannot take up this bill in its present shape. It will be printed and placed in our hands, but I undertake to say that the more closely it is examined the more probable will it be that I have not misunderstood the objects and the aims that the hon. gentlemen have in view, putting this measure before the House.

Sir Wilfrid's Reply.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in reply, said he was not shocked and horrified at anything the hon. gentleman said, scandalous as it was and always is. He said Sir Charles could not any longer discuss, only abuse, and the record showed that they had carried 30 bye-elections since 1896, but notwithstanding all the corruption alleged, they had never attempted to prove their reckless charges in the courts. He then took up the various points of the speech and concluded by saying that all the Government desires was a fair appeal to the people.

Read a First Time.

Messrs. Foster, McNeill, Clarke, Wallace, Clancy, Tisdale, Henderson, Montague, Dr. Sproule, Bennett, Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir Hibbert Tupper continued the debate, after which the bill was introduced and read a first time.

The House adjourned at 12.35 till Thursday next.

A JURY OF WOMEN

Who have tested the merits of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills return the verdict that for backache and kidney disorders there is no preparation in any way equal to this great discovery of Dr. A. W. Chase, America's greatest physician. This great kidney cure is sold by all dealers at 25 cents a box and has proved most effectual as a remedy for the many ills to which woman is subject.

Keeping Up Appearances.

A "licensed pawnbroker" who does a great deal of work in the west end of London lately gave to the writer particulars of a strange sort of pledging that has become common of late and that often defeats men of his kind.

Backing up his statement with actual names and dates, he said:

"A bailiff and I enter a showy flat, say, and my accustomed eye at once falls on a handsome or at least a pretentious piano. I say to myself that this piano will sell for what I require. I go to it, but find that it is locked. I ask for the key, and when this is reluctantly produced I find that there is in reality nothing but a case. All the inside of the instrument is gone. The fact is that people in difficulties who still want to keep up appearances can borrow money, while still apparently retaining their piano, by allowing the lenders to take away the main part, or inside, of the instrument. One man in the west end in particular does a considerable business by lending money on pianos in this way.

"I suppose that when visitors want to play on an instrument of this kind the host pleads that the key is lost. Anyhow I have in my own business had quite 50 examples of gutted pianos during the last two years, and I never mark a piano down in an inventory now till I have closely examined it."—London Answers.

A Neighing Cock.

Camden says the Thames was once called the Cockney, and therefore a cockney means simply one who lives on the banks of the Thames. Wedgewood says a cockney, or cockerney, is one pampered by city indulgence, in contradistinction to rustics hardened by outdoor work. There is, however, a legend, almost too good to be true—namely, that a Londoner who had never before slept out of sound of Bow Bells had occasion to go into the country and was detained all night.

He was much disturbed by the lowing of the cattle, the grunting of the pigs and other sounds of country life, which he could not understand, and in particular he was frightened by the crowing of the cock. In the morning, in response to the farmer's inquiries, he said the sound of the wild beasts had kept him awake. Just at that moment the cock crowed again, and the Londoner said: "That's the one! He's been neighing like that for hours!" Since then Londoners have been called cock-neighs, or cockneys.

Learning the Truth.

A school inspector was examining a class in grammar and trying to explain the relations of adjectives and nouns by a telling example.

"Now, for instance," said he, "what am I?"

That was an easy question, and all the children shouted, "A man!" and then looked around triumphantly, as much as to say, "Ask another."

"Yes. But what else?" said the inspector.

This was not so easy, but after a pause a boy ventured to suggest, "A little man."

"Yes, but there is something more than that."

This was a poser for the youngsters, but after a moment's puzzled silence an infant phenomenon almost leaped from his seat in his eagerness and cried to the inspector:

"Please, sir, I know—an ugly little man!"

Drummond Was on Top.

Professor Henry Drummond had a boyish spirit when a man, and at the age of 28 invented a game for some friends at a country house one rainy evening. He said: "They play it in America with bowie knives. Four men are locked in a dark room, each in a corner, and the survivor wins. We'll do without the knives; the door and the shutters shall be shut, each of us will stand in a corner, and the first who gets on another man's back will be the winner."

Dr. Smith was in the game, and he says it was the most exciting one he ever played. "Nobody stirred from his corner for 20 minutes. Then I heard a scuffle between two of the others, felt my way to fling myself on both of them, when Drummond pounced on me, and we all rolled in a heap, he, of course, on top, as he always was."

The English For Canaille.

During the Tichborne trial, where Mr. Justice Hawkins was opposed by Dr. Kenealy, in the course of a discussion whether equivalent terms could be found in English for French words, and vice versa, Mr. Hawkins was asked whether he thought the word canaille could be adequately rendered in our language. He answered without a moment's hesitation, 'Yes, 'Kenealy.'"—Green Bag.

Japan's Area.

The empire of Japan is composed of four large and 3,000 small islands, forming an arc of a large circle extending from the northeast within a few miles of Kamchatka, southwest about 2,000 miles, and, with Formosa nearly 3,000 miles from an arctic climate, to one of perpetual spring and everlasting summer.—Keystone.

Wrinkles.

Even very young women are seen with strongly marked wrinkles in the forehead which they have acquired through contracting the brows. A friend tells me that these wrinkles will disappear under the following treatment:

Bind the forehead at night with a compress of new linen soaked in a mixture of equal parts of alcohol and white of egg. Allow the compress to remain on all night and continue the treatment until the wrinkles have disappeared.

A Brain Twister For Robert.

A discouraged editor asked the following question: "If Bob Ingersoll insists that there is no hell, will he state what becomes of the man who takes the paper three or four years without paying for it and then tells the postmaster that he does not want it?"—Hawkinsville (Ga.) Dispatch.

FOR TWO NIGHTS.

The Victoria Stock Company at Bradburn's Opera House.

Commencing Wednesday, May 24th, the Victoria Stock Company will open a two night's engagement here, presenting the best recognized successes. The company is composed of artists of great ability and versatility and have received most eulogistic press criticism, stamping them as a clever and able organization. The company has just closed a successful four week's engagement in Ottawa. The press of that city were unstinted in their praise of the work done by them.

The Ottawa Citizen says:—"The Victoria Stock Company is one of the cleverest and strongest organizations seen in Ottawa for some time. The company is well balanced and give an artistic and pleasing production. That they do clever and conscientious work has been amply evidenced. The parties are carefully selected, each member being in most congenial roles. Having such well known and clever artists, the personnel of the company is of the best."

With such favorable mention from the press the Victoria Company come well recommended and doubtless a good programme will be given The great New York success "The Wife's Secret and "Hurly Burly" will be presented. Strong specialties will be introduced that are calculated to please the cultivated taste. The company, under the management of Mr. Jos. J. de Grasse, is exceptionally strong in caste, being composed of leading artists, including Miss Ida May Park, Miss Lillian Clayes, Mr Niel Twomey, Mr John Rose, Mr Wm Gerald, Mr Jos Dameny, Miss Endres, Miss Ollie Premaine and other well known artists. A well balanced company in high class plays.

TOWING THE LOGS INTO MICHIGAN

MR MCWILLIAMS FINDS THE YANKEES DEFYING THE LAW.

A Visit to the North in His Official Capacity Shows Disregard of the Law—What He Suggests.

Alderman J. B. McWilliams, superintendent of Crown Timber Agencies, has returned from a trip to the North Shore made in his official capacity. He visited all the streams running into Georgian Bay and Lake Huron and all the lumbering centres. He investigated matters in connection with the alleged improper and illegal shipment of logs to the United States.

On his way down Mr. McWilliams stopped at Toronto to report to the department. He states that the shipment of logs across to the American mills in the shape of rafts is more extensive than was believed. The American firms appear to be defying the law and rafting large quantities of logs across.

Mr. McWilliams suggested a remedy. What he proposed is that the customs officers at all the ports be sworn in as magistrates and that more magistrates be enlisted. At present the men having authority in the district are some distance apart. If there were more magistrates with power to appoint special constables and arrest the lawbreakers on the spot the trouble would be remedied. The men living in the district are all strongly in favor of the law forbidding export and they would willingly serve as special constables. The rafts travel slowly and if a magistrate were near at hand when one is started a posse could be got together quickly and the attempts to export would die out.

OPEN A MOUND.

A Trip Will be Held to One of the Mounds of Rice Lake.

Steps are being taken to make a further investigation of the famous mounds of Rice lake, and Mr Johnnson Paudash, of Hiawatha, was in town this morning regarding the matter. A mound in one of the islands of Rice lake hitherto untouched will be opened shortly. An excursion will be run down the river on the occasion. The day has been fixed.

At a meeting of the Museum committee of the Historical Society yesterday Chief Paudash, of Hiawatha, and his son, Johnson Paudash, were appointed honorary members of the Society. Mr Paudash brought a couple of relics to the museum this morning on which a good deal of study might be expended.

ALD. DAVIDSON STATES HIS CASE

HE GIVES HIS VERSION OF THE STONE CRUSHER TROUBLE

A Review of the Negotiations With Messrs Corry & Laverdure—Mr Davidson's Opinion of Picayune Economy in the Management of Affairs.

Pererborough, May 16, 1899.

To the Mayor and Council of the town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—I heredy resign my position as Alderman of the town of Peterborough,

Yours respectfully,
R. S. DAVIDSON

In yesterday's issue we gave an account of the disagreement among the Aldermen over the matter of renting the town's stone crusher to Messrs. Corry & Laverdure, canal contractors, for four days, and noted the fact of the resignation of Alderman Davidson, chairman of the Board of Works, in consequence of the manner in which the affair turned out. The above letter is Mr. Davidson's notice of resignation.

In a separate letter Mr. Davidson gives his reasons for his action. He describes how Messrs. Corry & Laverdure were in urgent need of a stone crusher as the banks of the canal at the Warsaw road were being washed away. When Mr. Corry had applied for it first Mr. Davidson had stated that it was impossible to let the contractors have it, but he had then received a message from the Harrisburg Machine Co. that the roller expert would be in town on Saturday (to-day). As the committee had agreed that the power should be taken from the road roller engine for the crushing of stone in the machine it was evident that the stone crusher could not be used as the power would be required for the roller. The roller expert was expected to remain in town 8 or 10 days. Mr. Corry again called on Mr. Davidson in regard to the peculiarly unfortunate position of the contractors. They could not get a machine from the Wm. Hamilton Co. or from Ottawa either by purchase or rent. Alderman Davidson instructed Mr. Corry to explain to the other aldermen. The only opposition he received from the members he interviewed was from Alderman Denne, though some aldermen were out of town and some could not be seen. Mrsrs. Corry & Laverdure exhausted every other means to procure a machine. "Now I say without prejudice," continues Mr. Davidson "that the firm of Corry & Laverdure have some claims on the consideration of the ratepayers of the town of Peterborough. Since they started business on the canal some two years ago, they have expended annually over $100,000, and I think that any reasonable man will admit that they have some reasonable claim on the town of Peterborough as they never imported a laborer or purchased anything that they could not get in Peterborough, and in looking over the matter as chairman of the Board of Works I have endeavored to conduct the affairs of that department as I would do my own, and I think it is a small piece of picayune economy not to grant such a reasonable request.

"I have the honor to be
Yours respectfully,
R. S. DAVIDSON."

The bond furnished by the contractors for the full value of the machine was also enclosed in Mr. Davidson's letter to the Council.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at James Lynch's Drug Store as their giving away to their many customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable remedy, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases are quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size 50c. and $1.00 Every bottle warranted.

PEOPLE PRESENT IN LARGE NUMBERS

CONCERT OF THE 57TH BATTALION BAND A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Excellence of the Band Again Demonstrated in a Convincing Manner—A Large and Appreciative Audience.

It is a gratifying fact to note that the people of the town are so enthusiastically appreciative of good music as they showed themselves to be at the concert of the 57th Battalion band in the market hall last evening. Bandmaster Gliddon and his men have given their time, energies and talent without stint to providing for the public entertainment a class of music in such a way combining the qualities of being elevating and inspiring and at the same time so entertaining that it is all that could be desired. The selections chosen for last evening, while all of a high standard, were nicely varied. The charm of rendition is above criticism. In every number both leader and men acquitted themselves with the greatest credit and the comments on the style in which the selections were given was highly flattering. It is a pleasure to note not only the large number in the audience, but their evident satisfaction as well, and the evening must have been highly encouraging to the musicians. The collection at the door netted over sixty dollars.

The programme was opened with a march, "Vanguard," composed by the talented bandmaster, Mr Gliddon. On this account it was heard with the greatest interest. It was a charming selection in every way, an ideal march of a light and spirited nature, full of vigor and life and replete with harmony. It was rendered with a careful regard to time and the effect was very pleasing. The second selection was Verdi's overture, "Nabucodonosor," a classical piece requiring considerable knowledge, skill and executive power. The rendition showed careful practice, all details being observed with scrupulous exactness. Volkstede's charming waltz, "Jolly Fellows," a descriptive piece, "caught on" with the audience. It was played with great sweetness and melody. The winning, soothing emotion of the soft parts was brought out with charming delicacy. The time was excellent. The musicians brought out the full spirit of the selection. The work of the reeds was delightful. The next number was one that was anticipated with much pleasure, and it means considerable to say that the expectations of the audience were fully realized. It was a cornet solo by Mr Gliddon. He gave a dainty polka, a liquid, rippling effect that was delightful. The accompaniment was charming. In response to the enthusiastic applause he gave "Alice, Where Art Thou?" a beautiful song, simple and sweet, that was highly pleasing. All his notes were pure, sweet and resonant. Then followed a number that was one of the best of the evening, both in the intrinsic value of the music and in the manner in which it was played, though it was not appreciated as it should have been. It was the well known overture from Mascagni's opera, "Cavalleria Rusticani," specially arranged for the reed instruments. It was most sweetly rendered and the men deserve all credit for their work. The descriptive fantasia of "The Night Alarm" was an interesting number. It is remarkably realistic. The gallop of the horses along the pavement to the scene of the fire was intensely vivid. The closing passages were musical and sweet. It is a fine number and had to be repeated before the audience was satisfied. The excellent programme was brought to a close with the grand, solemn and stately music of the "Bay State Commandery" march, a number fully up to the standard of the other pieces. Its sweep and power were very effective.

PITY THE WOMAN

Who's a Nervous Wreck—But Glory in a Remedy That Will Cure Her, as South American Nervine Did This One.

Mrs. James A. Publicover, Lunenburg, N.S., was a wreck from stomach troubles and nervous prostration. After she had tried many remedies, and was treated by best physicians, only to be disappointed in a cure, she was recommended to use South American Nervine. She did so, with the result that to-day, after years of suffering, she is a cured and happy woman and proclaims this great remedy saved her life. Sold by H. S. McDonald and Ormond & Walsh.

DOING DAMAGE.

The Fall of the Water in Stony Lake Very Perceptible.

A gentleman who resides on the shore of Stony lake was in town this morning and states that the water in the lake is now four feet lower than it was when at the highest a couple of weeks ago. The fall has been rapid and sudden and has resulted in considerable damage to property. Almost all the wharves and landings have been carried away, including that at Burleigh. A number of the cottages have also suffered in various ways. It is expected that a number of the cottage owners will go up to the lake next Tuesday and Wednesday to prepare their summer homes for the season.

St. John's Church Notes.

To-morrow being the great festival of Whitsunday, the services and music at St. John's church will be of a festival character.

The ballots issued last Sunday on the question of free pews may be handed in to the officers at the church door or put in the offertory plates. All members of the congregation are asked to specify what sum they will be prepared to contribute per Sunday in the event of the pews being declared free. It is evident that in that case largely increased subscriptions will be necessary.

DEATH OF REV. FATHER CALNAN.

He Died at His Home at Vernonville After a Somewhat Lengthy Illness.

Rev Father Calnan, who for a short time was a member of the cathedral staff, died Friday evening at the residence of his mother at Vernonville, Northumberland county. He had been in declining health for some time, so that death did not come unexpectedly. Rev Michael J Calnan was a native of Vernonville, having been born there on August 1st, 1867. He was therefore hardly thirty-two years of age when he died.

As a youth he studied at St Jerome's College, Berlin, and took his theological course at the Grand Seminary, Montreal. He was ordained in his native parish at Grafton on September 24th, 1895, by his lordship Bishop O'Connor. Some time ago his health showed signs of declining, and he was attached to the cathedral staff here for a time. In the fall of 1898 he was advised to try a change of climate, and went to Colorado, New Mexico and Southern California. He seemed to benefit by the change for a time, but it was not permanent, and he returned to die at his home. The deceased was a young man of excellent ability and by his death a life of much promise comes to an untimely end. As a student and as a priest he made many friends who will mourn his early demise.

The funeral will take place at Grafton on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

A Question.

How can we raise more corn to the acher? Why, of course by using Putnam's Corn Extractor. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor has given universal satisfaction, for it is sure, safe and painless. Like every article of real merit it has a host of imitators, and we would specially warn the public to guard against those dangerous substitutes offered for the genuine Putnam's Extractor. N. C. BEAUTIES OF THE KAWARTHA LAKES

BOOMING THE SUMMER RESORTS OF CENTRAL ONTARIO.

Attractions Unrivalled of the Bright Waters and Happy Lands—The Charms of the Section Expounded in Glowing Terms.

The Grand Trunk Railway Co. have issued a handsome illustrated pamphlet descriptive of the summer resorts of Peterborough and Victoria counties. The places we all know or should know so well are, however, introduced to us under a new name, a liquid, musical name as "The Kawartha Lakes," which the sheet proclaims as "one of the most beautiful summer resorts on the continent, a magnificent chain of waters nearly 75 miles in length, extending from Lakefield to Coboconk and composed of the following lakes—Katchawanooka, Clear, Stony, Burleigh, Lovesick, Deer, Buckhorn, Sandy, Chemong, Pigeon, Sturgeon, Cameron, Balsam." Good but none too good.

The Kawartha lakes! In the soft and musical language of the Mississaguas, the original possessors of these lakes, the words with the phrase that accompanied it mean "Bright waters and happy lands." In a well written article on the lakes the pamphlet says that in the varied scenery and environments to be found along this wondrous stretch of seventy-five miles, all tastes can be suited. The natural attractions are of the very highest and to these are added the many pleasures and conveniences that have become part of every well known summer resort. For a few weeks outing in search of rest and health the Kawartha lakes are the ideal. Six hundred feet above the level of Lake Ontario and three hundred from Georgian Bay, the prevailing winds from the northwest sweep over a limitless space uncontaminated by the hand of man. The pure air, laden with the soothing and healing balsamic vapors gathered from the pine and spruce clad hills, and charged with the vitalizing ozone and argon, renews the physical frame, restores the nervous system, invigorates the mental faculties and gives a new lease of bright, happy and cheerful life. Easy of acess, three hours from Toronto, eight hours travel from Rochester or Buffalo, profuse in its gifts and diverse in its attractions, having its "fashionable resorts" and its delightful facilities for "roughing it." Why wear away your precious life, solely to enable your wife to do the insurance company and enjoy her harvest honey moon at Kawartha with your joyous successor. Such are a few allurments that the pamphlet holds out and closes with "Why not throw business to the janitor for a month, cast care to the dogs, and when you return from the bright waters and happy lands, you will declare with all the vigor of a new life; The bridegroom may forget his bride
Was made his wedded wife yestren;
The monarch may forget the crown
That on his head an hour has been;
The mother may forget her child
That smiles so sweetly on her knee;
Kawartha, I will ne'er forget!
And all that thou hast done for me"

The sheet is illustrated with beautiful half tone cuts of views of Burleigh Falls, Burnt river, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Lakefield and Stony lake. An excellent map is also given showing the navigable waters between Lakefield and Cobocouk and railway connection with Peterborough.

Descriptive paragraphs are given of Lakefield, Young's Point, Burleigh Falls, Lovesick, Buckhorn, Chemong, Indian village, Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Rosedale and Cobocouk.

Success to the place of Bright waters and Happy lands.

Brevities.

—There will be a special meeting of the Town Council this evening.

—A fine group picture of the churches of Peterborough is on exhibition in the window of Mr R M Roy's gallery.

—The regular meeting of the W C T U will be held on Monday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock at Miss Robertson's, corner of Hunter and Reid-sts.

—Best cabinet photos $1.50 per doz. at Garnet Green's Charlotte-st. studio. Price no detriment to the finish. dtf —Dead fish on the shores of the Scugog river at Lindsay are causing a nuisance. The health inspector had twenty barrels picked up in a day within the town boundaries.

—The Children's Aid Society have for adoption a fine healthy boy three months old. Boy's clothing is urgently needed by the society.

—Some idiotic vandal on Thursday night destroyed a fine bed of tulips at the residence of Mr R T Hounsell. Every blossom was torn off. Such conduct is highly reprehensible.

—Rev D O Crossley will preach a special sermon to the Sons of England to-morrow evening in Charlotte-st church. The Society will attend in a body and will occupy the centre of the church.

—The attendants of All Saints' church suffer great annoyance from the street arabins that congregate around the corner and disturb the people both at worship and when other gatherings are in progress. Better street lighting would remedy the grievance.

—The illustrated supplement of the Globe to-day contains an article of considerable length on the 3rd Prince of Wales dragoons, with photographs of Lieut-Col Boulton (retired), Lieut-Col Rogers, Major Greenwood, Surgeon-Major Young, Capt Cockburn, Sgt-Major Goldie and group photos of the officers. Six of the photos are by Roy.

—McPherson & Young, the local agents for the Brantford Red Bird bicycles, have been so successful that so far they lead the list of Brantford agents in the competition instituted by the Goold company, some substantial emoluments going to the agents selling the largest number of Red Bird wheels. The local firm are at the top of the list with a capital lead.

388 GEORGE STREET

of the Reign of Terror.

We next strolled up the Champs Elysees which is very grand, not so much in natural beauty, for it shares the splendid monotony of the city, but in the stately architecture by which it is surrounded, the noble vista it presents, and the brilliant concourse by which it is thronged. It was more than brilliant on this particular night. The whole length was festooned with lights, and the trees, with which it is lined, bore a strange looking luminous fruit — innumerable orange-colored lanterns—which gleamed like apples of the Hesperides amid the boughs.

The Champs Elysees includes not only the small park adjoining the Place, about 759 yds. long by 400 broad, but also the whole of the avenue extending from the Place de la Concorde to the Arc de Triomphe 1 1-3 miles in length. This magnificent avenue is one of the most fashionable promenades in Paris, somewhat similar to the Row in Hyde Park, London. Between 3 and 7 o'clock are to be seen numerous carriages, riders, and pedestrians on their way to and from the Bois de Boulogne, the great park of Paris. There is a large number of cafes to be found here and various places of amusement. The cafes are beautifully situated amid the trees and brilliantly illuminated. A promenade concert is given but the music is never of a high class while the audience is of a mixed character. The alluring display of the words "entree libre" outside some of them is a ruse to catch the public, as each visitor is obliged to order refreshments at a price ranging from 1-5 francs according to the seat and reputation of the place.

The 14th was an ideal day; not a cloud in the sky was to be seen and the heat of the sun's rays was tempered by a lovely breeze. We took a suburban train, with seats on top like a 'bus, for Longchamp to see the review. Fifty thousand French troops were reviewed on this occasion. No finer spot on earth could be found for such a purpose. The grounds are magnificent and extensive. There was an immense crowd; it seemed as if all Paris was there. Some went by train, some drove and others wheeled out or even walked. The refreshment booths did an immense business. The poet was greatly disgusted with the vendors of bread. Paris has been noted for its bread since the 14th century. The loaves are quite different in shape to ours, some of them being two to three feet long and about twice the thickness of a bologna sausage. There is a good deal of crust but one soon gets fond of it. It was a novel sight to see pedlars going around with half a dozen sticks of bread under their arms looking like so much cordwood.

The late President Faure reviewed the troops. He drove from Paris and was accompanied by a brilliant assembly composed of the different foreign ambassadors and other public officials. The troops, both infantry, cavalry and artillery marched past in splendid style. I got a better view of it on my return to London in August at one of the music halls where it was given along with some other biograph pictures. The French soldiers are short in stature, Napoleon, it is said, having reduced their height by two inches by the loss of so many of his tallest men in his various wars, but they are great walkers and quick and active in all their movements. Longchamp is chiefly noted as a race course. Here the Grand Prix is run in June, and may be styled the French Derby. This race is worth 200,000 francs or $40,000. There are three circular race courses 1; 1 1-2, 1 3-4 miles and one straight course of 5 furlongs.

We returned to Paris in time for dinner and after a rest we started on another tour of inspection. The boulevards were the great centres of attraction. The tables were all occupied and the waiters were more than busy serving refreshments. Meanwhile the boulevardiers were entertained by a vast number of itinerant actors dressed in all sorts of costumes. First you would see a couple of tumblers who would perform some difficult feats in their line, pass around the hat and move on. Then along would come a band of singers who in turn would sing some patriotic songs take up a collection and pass on. Next you might listen to a string band playing the Marseillaise and the crowd would join in singing the chorus of that stirring anthem as only Frenchmen can. In fact there was every kind of entertainment imaginable. The crowd was exceptionally good natured and notwithstanding the immense quantity of wines and liqueurs which were being drunk, was very orderly. About 9 o'clock all traffic was stopped in the principal streets and the dancing commenced. The streets are mostly paved with asphalt and made a fair dancing floor. All the fiddlers in Paris must have been busy that night for thousands were tripping the light fantastic. The movements were by no means intricate, first a balance for a second or two and then a swing that was a swing, the men frequently taking their partners off their feet and swinging them in the air. We called at the Olympia to see what was going on there and found everybody seemingly having a good time. The excitement was still going on when we retired for the night which was a few hours after our usual time. Such was July 14th, 1898, the 109th anniversary of the fall of the Bastile.

To a tourist who has only a couple of weeks to spend in Paris, the services of a guide are indispensable. To know the days on which the different collections and objects of interest are open to visitors; to know what tips should be given, what sights are most worth seeing, and the best modes of travelling from one point to another require a good deal of time and study. The guides have made a special study of these matters and save the visitor both time and money. Most of them speak French, English, German and Spanish and are a fund of information.

We spent one day under the charge of a guide in visiting the Cite, the most ancient part of Paris, being an island in the river Seine. Caesar in his Bellum Gallicum is the first writer to make mention of the Parisii. He mentions their chief city, Lutetia, situated on the present island of La Cite. We proceeded to this place partly by tramcar and partly by boat. The Bateaux-Ommibus or small screw steamers which ply on the Seine afford a good view of the quays and banks of the river. The embankments of the river will satisfy the visitor's taste with their symmetrical solidity. The large floating establishments along the banks of the river are a novel sight. Some are used as bathing houses and others are used by the Parisian women for doing their laundry work. Just imagine two or three hundred women working side by side in the same establishment scrubbing dirty linen. What an El Dorado for a newspaper reporter! Compared to this a sewing circle or five o'clock tea would not be in it for a moment. The sewers of Paris form one of the most interesting sights of the city. They are shown to the public on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month. The visit in which ladies need have no hesitation in taking part lasts about 1 hour.

We first visited the old historic Cathedral of Notre Dame founded in 1163 and consecrated in 1182. The building has since been frequently altered. I was somewhat disappointed in its appearance after having read Victor Hugo's fine description of it in his celebrated novel Quasimodo or the Hunchback of Notre Dame. It is, moreover, now surrounded by lofty buildings which dwarf its dimensions and the adjacent soil has gradually been raised to the level of the pavement of the interior whereas in 1748 the church was approached by a flight of 13 steps.

The facade is the finest part of the Cathedral. The length of the church is 417 ft. and the width is 156 feet. The organ is one of the finest instruments in Europe with 6000 pipes, 10 octaves, 86 stops, 110 regiaters, 5 manuals and pedals with 22 pedal combinations. The view from the towers, which are 223 feet in height is one of the finest in the city and embraces the course of the Seine with its numerous bridges and the principal public edifices in the environs.

The Cathedral is rich in historical associations. During the revolution it was sadly desecrated. A decree was passed in 1793, devoting the venerable pile to destruction, but this was afterwards rescinded, and the sculptures only were mutilated. In the same year the church was converted into a "Temple of Reason" and the statue of the Virgin replaced by one of Liberty, while the patriotic hymns of the National Guard were heard instead of the usual sacred music. On a mound thrown up in the choir burned the "torch of truth" over which rose a "temple of philosophy" adorned with busts of Voltaire Rousseau and others. The temple contained the enthroned figure of Reason represented by Maillard the ballet dancer, who received in state the worship of her votaries. Damsels clothed in white, with torches in their hands, surrounded the temple, while the chapels were devoted to orgies of various kinds. After May 12th, 1794, the church was closed, but in 1802 it was reopened by Napoleon as a place of divine worship. In 1871 Notre Dame was again desecrated by the Communists and used as a military depot. When the insurgents were at last compelled to retreat before the victorious troops they set fire to the church, but fortunately little harm was done.

In the south tower hangs the great Bourdon de Notre Dame, one of the largest bells in existence, weighing 16 tons; the clapper alone weighs nearly half a ton.

At the south end of the Ile de la Cite stands the Morgue where the bodies of unknown persons who have perished in the river or otherwise, are exposed to view. They are placed on marble slabs, kept cool by a constant flow of water, and are exhibited in the clothes in which they were found. The process of refrigeration to which the bodies are subjected makes it possible to keep them here, if necessary for three months. The bodies brought here number about 800 annually, 1-7 being those of women. It was a sad sight to see people, whose friends were missing, come in, look at the bodies, shake their heads and pass out.

The Palais de Justice is also situated on this island, built on the site of the ancient palace of the kings of France and contains all the law courts. We entered one of the courts to listen to a French pleader. It was the same old story; too much absinthe the previous night and a breach of the peace for which his client got 30 days.

The most interesting portion of the Palais de Justice is the Sainte Chapelle, the second finest sacred edifice in Paris. This was the ancient palace chapel erected in 1248 for the reception of the sacred relics, now at Notre Dame, which St. Louis is said to have purchased from the King of Jerusalem for three million francs. The chapel is considered a perfect gem of Gothic architecture. The upper chapel is which the court attended divine service is very beautiful. Nearly the whole of the wall surface is occupied by 15 large windows, 49 ft. by 15 ft, with magnificent stained glass framed in beautiful tracery.

We also took a look in at the Cour de Cassation, mention of which court has been frequently made of late in connection with the Dreyful scandal.

We also visited the Conciergerie, a famous prison in the annals of France. Most of the political prisoners of the first revolution were confined here before their execution. Profound interest attaches to the small chamber or cell in which Marie Antoinette was imprisoned. Adjoining it is the cell in which Robespierre was confined.

There are two fine bridges which connect the island with the mainland, the Pont Neuf and the Pont au Change. The latter commands a fine view. Opposite lies the Cite with the Palais de Justice and the Tribunal de Commerce; higher up the river are the Hotel Dieu and Notre Dame; to the left the Hotel de Ville; down the river the Pont Neuf, the Louvre, etc.

Leaving the Ile de la Cite our guide took us through the Quartier Latin which is one of the sights of Paris. This district is the home of the thousands of students who flock to Paris from all quarters for instruction. The houses are quite mediaeval in their appearance and seemed to be swarming with a motley throng. An excellent place to study the characteristics of the Parisian student is afforded at the Bal Bullier, one of the numerous public dance halls which are to be met with in Paris and regarded as one of the specialties of that city. We visited the universities of Paris and were interested spectators of the vivisection of a dog.

We also paid a visit to the Pantheon which occupies the site of the tomb of Ste. Genevieve the patron saint of Paris. The present edifice was completed in 1790. In the following year the Convention resolved to convert it into a kind of memorial temple, which they named the "Pantheon," inscribing on it the words "Aux grands hommes la patrie reconnaissante.' It was restored to religious uses in 1806 but again made a temple in 1830. Once more consecrated in 1851 it was finally secularized in 1885 for the obsequies of Victor Hugo.

The edifice is of most imposing dimensions and its form is that of a Greek cross 370 ft, long and 276 ft. wide, surmounted by a dome 272 ft. in height, and over 75 ft. in diameter. The interior is decorated with paintings and other works of art of a national and historic character. Mirabeau was the first person who remains were deposited in the Pantheon and near him was placed Marat the most furious of the Jacobins; but their bodies were afterwards removed. Victor Hugo, 1885, and President Carnot, 1894, are buried here.

The Pantheon was the headquarters of the insurgents in 1848 and was also one of the chief strongholds of the Communists in 1871 and on both occasions the neighboring barricades were only stormed after a severe struggle. On the latter occasion the insurgents had placed gunpowder in the vaults for the purpose of blowing up the building, but were dislodged before much damage had been done.

As a rule the Parisian may be said to invite and deserve the confidence of travellers. Accustomed by long usage to their presence, he is skilful in catering to the wants, and recommends himself to them by his politeness and complaisance. In return the traveller should accustom himself to the inevitable "s'il vous plait" when ordering refreshments at a restaurant, or making any request. It is also customary to address persons even of humble station as Monsieur, Madame or Mademoiselle.

When a Frenchman meets an acquaintance on the street he always politely doffs his hat. I have frequently seen them, especially when seeing a friend off at the railway station, affectionately embracing and kissing each other. To a cool blooded Canadian it looks bad enough to see women going through the osculatory act in public, but for men—well 'nuff said.

Ed. Note.—Next week's letter will be "Paris continued and Versailles."

A POPULAR AFTER-DINNER RELISH.

A Long Felt Want Filled by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

While Curing Advanced Stages of Dyspepsia a Tablet Taken After Dinner is Accepted Gratefully by Even the Most Healthy Stomach.

We eat an awful lot of trash now-a-days—that is considering the use it is to our bodies when eaten.

Think what a mixture has been sent down our throats at the end of an average good dinner.

The stomach has to separate the grain from the chaff, the blood-building parts from the utterly useless.

And to its extreme vexation, no doubt, it finds after it has finished its work that the greater part of the material was utterly useless.

So the fact is that the stomach is greatly overworked.

Now whether it has broken-down yet or not Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will help it.

They assist in the digesting process. They help the stomach out with its work.

If you are troubled with the severe symptoms of Dyspepsia, viz., Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Foul Breath, Wind on the Stomach, Biliousness, Waterbrash, Heartburn, Catarrh of the Stomach, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will give your stomach a chance to take the time to cure itself.

That is the only way it can be done. If you starve yourself to rest your stomach you starve your stomach also, for it needs nourishment like the rest of you.

If your stomach is still game, but you know from experience to refrain from certain dainties, use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets after every meal and eat anything you like.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are fifty cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or will be sent on receipt of price, by The Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

"Ashes of Angels" Cake.

I once knew an estimable lady who in the absence of her cook undertook to make a certain kind of cake. She took "some" of one kind of ingredient, "a little" of another and "a small quantity" of something else. To her delight and surprise, the result was a cake of which neither she nor any one else had ever heard. It was an entirely new cake and an extremely delicious one. Proud of her achievement, the lady gave the cake the beautiful and poetic name of "ashes of angels," and on the very next occasion when the absence of her cook made it possible for her to venture into her kitchen she tried to repeat her success.

This event happened in the year 1883, and ever since that date the unfortunate lady has been vainly trying to reproduce her wonderful cake. She has never once succeeded, although she has made at least 200 different varieties of cake and pudding, each one of which has been more deadly than the other. She is still hoping that one of these days she may hit upon her "ashes of angels" again, but as that cake was purely the result of chance the prospect that she will be able to make it a second time is not bright.—W. L. Alden in Pearson's Magazine.

"HIS MONEY IN THE STREET."

Catarrh Remedies Cost Him Hundreds and no Cure—Two Bottles of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder Cured Him.

Fred H. Helb, jr., distiller, Railroad, York Co., Pa., on January 31st last wrote of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder like this: "I had catarrh of the head and stomach for two years, and had it in the worst form. I spent several hundred dollars in remedies and might as well have thrown my money in the street. I was recommended to try Dr. Agnew's Catharrhal Powder, and two bottles of it have already cured me. I am a well man, and wish its makers the greatest of success. Sold by H. S. McDonald and Ormond & Walsh.

"The Best Laid Plans."

"When I was a young fellow, I was a dreamer," said a benevolent citizen. "I thought that my greatest pleasure would be to give money to the poor and live a life of simple, unworldly devotion and gentleness. That was when I was about 20.

"At 25 I came into some money rather unexpectedly. The first thing I did was to give a dinner. I got tipsy—the first time in my life. I had a fight with a waiter and nearly punched his eye out. I was arrested and had to be bailed out by my lawyer. The waiter sued me for damages, and I was so angry with him and myself and the downfall of my great ideals that I refused to compromise as my lawyer advised. The waiter lost most of his savings in fees and expenses, and his family came wailing to ask me to pay his doctor's bills and help him get a position and they would drop the suit.

"I came to my senses and did more than that for them. My old ideas, modified and modernized, took hold of me again, and while I am a hard headed business man today most of my friends are poor people. But my first use of money shows how flimsy the pedestals of most ideals are and how foolish it is to say what we would do if we could."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

An Imperial ukase just issued directs that the Finnish Diet at Helsingfors must only meet every four years.

Dr. Edward A. Brandes, a well-known writer and politician, has been indicted at Copenhagen on the charge of publishing an immoral book, "Det Unge Blod."

Mr. W. T. R. Preston, Canadian immigration agent, is in Finland, and he writes that the Finns are finished in industry and intelligence and would do here.

William Rockefeller, William G. Rockefeller, H. H. Rogers and A. C. Burrage have been elected trustees of the Anaconda Copper Company. They represent the Standard Oil interests in that corporation.

Mr. Gilbert Boyd of Gravenhurst died suddenly while undergoing an operation for cancer of the jaw in Toronto on Friday. He was a lumberman, 50 years old, a man of great physique, and stood 6 feet 4 inches.

TWO TEMPERANCE LECTURES.

Men in Liquor Killed in New Brunswick and St. Thomas.

Fredericton, N.B., May 20.—At Green Hill, about 30 miles from Fredericton, yesterday morning at 5 o'clock, William McLean, a lumber boss for James Humble, was murdered, it is alleged, by Alfred Glover, a married man with a wife and family. Both men are said to have been under the influence of liquor, and McLean was stabbed to death.

Was a Heavy Drinker.

St. Thomas, Ont., May 20.—Albert Smith, teamster, well known in this city, fell downstairs in the Victoria Block in the West End some time during the night and was killed. He was a heavy drinker.

"A DREADED CURE"

Formerly Incurable, Bright's Disease Was the Stumbling Block of the Medical Fraternity.

Mr. R. F. Colwell had Bright's Disease and Tried many Remedies—But Only One Cured Him—Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Walkerville, May 19.—It is a singular fact, but it was not thoroughly understood here until elicited by discussion following the publication of Mr. Colwell's case, that before Dodd's Kidney Pills were put on the market there was no known cure for Bright's Disease of the kidneys. That such is a fact attaches a remarkable value to Dodd's Kidney Pills in the minds of Walkerville people nor is their opinion of this great medicine weakened by the knowledge that there is still no other remedy for either Bright's Disease or Diabetes.

Walkerville being so closely connected with Windsor, Mr. R. F. Colwell, the Jeweller, of No. 9 Quallette-st., in the latter city, is naturally well known here.

It will be remembered Mr. Colwell stated: "I have endured for two years the greatest torture from backache and pains in the loins. A puffiness appeared under my eyes, my limbs bloated and my urine was of a dark unnatural color, and bad odor. I tried many remedies but all failed to help me. When I ascertained that I had Bright's Disease I became thoroughly alarmed. I was told of the efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills in all kidney diseases and commenced to use them. After the first few doses, I began to improve. The pains left me, my sleep became sound, puffiness and bloating vanished, my urine resumed its normal condition, and my health gradually became all I could wish it to be. I used only a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, but they cleared my system thoroughly of that dreaded curse—Bright's Disease."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are equally sure in all other cases of Bright's Disease, and in Diabetes, Dropsy, Gout, Gravel, Stone in the Bladder, Rheumatism, Lumbago, and Diseases of women—in fact, in all trouble arising from disordered Kidneys.

Would Not Disturb Friendly Relations.

London, May 20.—In the House of Commons yesterday, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, gave the names and the identity of the men arrested at Johannesburg. All of them, excepting Tremlett and Frics, were formerly non-commissioned officers in the British army. He added that President Kruger had informed the British agent at Pretoria that there was no proof that the prisoners were British officers, and that in any case the incident would not be allowed to disturb the friendly relations existing. (Cheers.)

Epidemic of Cholera.

London, May 20.—It is announced in a special despatch from Allahabad, capital of the Northwest Provinces, that a serious epidemic of cholera has followed in the wake of the plague. At Kurrachee, the principal seaport town of Sinde, the despatch adds, there were 64 deaths yesterday from cholera.

Agree With Canada.

Sydney, N.S.W., May 20.—The Cabinet here, after considering the Pacific cable proposals, has disagreed with the Imperial proposals, and has agreed with the Canadian idea, that the cable should be jointly owned, and not subsidized. This decision has been telegraphed to the other colonial Governments.

Blood Thicker Than Water.

Montreal, May 20.—Mr. Tarte has given to his cousin, Mr. Robillard, a carpet dealer in this city, a fat contract for dredging the River Richelieu without tender. This fortunate cousin had a lucrative dredging contract last season near Berthier, and, as in the Richelieu case, no tender was asked.

Crookedness in Montreal.

Montreal, May 20.—Anthony MacKeand, 51 years of age, formerly bookkeeper for A. H. Wood & Co., cigar manufacturers, yesterday was charged in the Police Court with embezzling $500 of the firm's money. MacKeand pleaded guilty, and was remanded for sentence.

Wabash—And the funeral takes place tomorrow, of course?

Halsted—No; that's where the queer part comes in. The weapon failed to go off.

A WRONG IDEA OF... DYSPEPSIA

Throws all the Blame on the Stomach—The Real Seat of Trouble is the Intestines—The Permanent Cure is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is an old idea long since exploded that digestion is confined to the stomach. No modern scientist denies that by far the greater part of digestion and the more difficult part takes place in the intestines. This explains why dyspepsia is never really cured by preparations which merely aid stomach digestion and act only on the stomach.

This fact also explains why Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have been so remarkably successful as a cure for the worst forms of dyspepsia and indigestion.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and give new tone and vigor to the intestines, and make them able to perform their work of digesting the substances on which the stomach has no effect.

Stomach treatment may do well enough for slight indigestion, but if you have chronic indigestion or dyspepsia of a serious nature you can profit by the experience of scores of thousands who have been permanently cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

What is Scott's Emulsion?

It is the best cod-liver oil, partly digested, and combined with the hypophosphites and glycerine. What will it do? It will make the poor blood of the anæmic rich and red.

It will give nervous energy to the overworked brain and nerves. It will add flesh to the thin form of a child, wasted from fat-starvation.

It is everywhere acknowledged as The Standard of the World.

A TRIP TO THE ETERNAL CITY

(Written for the "Review.")

LETTER NO. SIX.

PARIS.

We left London en route for Paris by the London, Chatham and Dover railway. The second class fare is £1. 19s. 8d., or about $9.75 in Canadian money. Third class tickets, which are about $3 cheaper, are sold only for the night service. The trip is made in 9 hours, including the sea passage of 1 1-2 hours.

We had a pleasant ride to Dover, passing through several small towns. At Clapham, in South London, there is a junction through which 1,200 trains pass daily. At Herne Hill we caught a glimpse of the fastest bicycle track in England. A small army of porters awaited our arrival on the piers at Dover and in a remarkably short time transferred the luggage from the train to the channel boat. The speed and ease with which they shouldered even the largest trunks on their brawny backs was surprising.

As we steamed away from the sea-girt isle we had a splendid view of the south-eastern coast composed of precipitous chalk cliffs two to three hundred feet in height. The trip across the English channel is often very unpleasant. When rough, the sea is very choppy and many who have crossed the ocean without being sea-sick have the conceit taken out of them in this short passage. We were fortunate, however, in having a very smooth and delightful voyage. What a history the channel has had from the time of Caesar's expedition across it in B. C. 55, down to the present! What memorable sea-fights, what magnificent naval reviews, what sad shipwrecks have taken place in its waters from the sinking of the White Ship to the loss of the Mohegan and the Stella! Many a brave man has found a watery grave in the treacherous English channel. We soon caught sight of Calais, the last English possession in France, the loss of which so preyed upon the mind of Queen Mary that she was wont to say that when she died Calais would be found written on her heart. It is a well fortified town of about 60,000 inhabitants. It derives its chief importance from its fine harbor, accessible at all states of the tide, and its traffic with England, to which it is the nearest port on the French coast. About 250,000 travellers are said to pass through it annually. We had luncheon at the Gare Maritime, where we found the train for Paris waiting. The great array of wine bottles on the table was an evidence of the fact that we were no longer in beer-drinking England but on the vine-clad hills of France. Here we had to forget our pounds, shillings and pence and reckon our accounts in francs and centimes. The French monetary system is extremely convenient. The only bank-notes current in France are issued by the Banque de France; the largest is for 5,000 francs, equal in value to $1,000, and the smallest for 50 francs, equal in value to $10. The French gold coins range from 100 to 5 francs, or $20 to $1. The silver coins are 5, 2, 1, 1-2 and 1-5 of a franc, equal to $1, 40, 20, 10 and 4 cents respectively; and the bronze coins are 10, 5, 2 and 1 centime, equal in value to 2, 1, 2-5 and 1-5 of a cent respectively. There are 100 centimes in a franc and the latter is worth 20 cents Thus 5 centimes is equal to our cent and 5 francs to our dollar The English sovereign is worth 25 francs.

We had to have our luggage examined in the Salle de Bagages. Our bicycles were passed free of duty as we were members of the Cyclists' Touring Club of England. Otherwise we should have had to deposit the amount of the duty which would have been returned to us on leaving France.

The mail trains (trains rapides) generally convey first class passengers only, and the express trains (trains express) first and second class only. The carriages are inferior to those in England and Switzerland. The trains are not always provided with smoking compartments (fumeurs), but in the others smoking is allowed unless any one of the passengers objects, which rarely occurs, unless you are smoking a French cigar, which is usually rank. The second class fare is 2 2-5 cents a mile, and the third class 1 3-5 cents. A tax of 10 per cent. is added to each railway ticket costing more than 10 francs ($2).

Nothing of importance transpired during our trip from Calais to Paris. The scenery in north-eastern France is not to be compared with English rural scenery. the farms looked more fertile the farther south we went. In the fields which bore traces of careful tillage we saw a great number of the frugal French peasants and their wives at work. Some of the towns through which we passed looked rather ancient looking, but the modern taste for improvement which has been so strongly developed and so magnificently gratified in Paris, has also manifested itself in the provincial towns. We spent our time brushing up our French grammar and the poet's vocabulary was soon enriched with a variety of French expressions of which table d' hote, a la carte, biftek aux pommes bien cuit, debits de Vins, and Garcon l' addition s'il vous plait, were most frequently used. It is amusing in conversation. They not only use to see a group of Frenchmen engaged their tongues but their arms are constantly in motion and in fact every part of the body is in action. Arriving in the city we secured comfortable accommodation at the Hotel Anglo Americain just opposite the Gare St. Lazare and not far from the Madeleine.

Before paying Paris a visit one should acquaint himself with French history, from the reign of Louis XIV, down to the end of the Franco-Prussian war The numerous columns, arches, statues, squares and important buildings are all rich in historical associations and cannot fully be appreciated without this knowledge. Carlyle's French Revolution should at least be studied.

The history of Paris is the history of France and few cities, if any, have had such a chequered career. The enormous improvements which were inaugurated and completed under Louis XIV, Napoleon I, and Napoleon III, made Paris a great and beautiful city. Great destruction, however, was wrought under the reign of anarchy that prevailed during and following the forever memorable sieges of 1870 and 1871. In September, of 1870, the Germans completely invested the city. Open revolt broke out that served to render deplorable and hopeless the condition of the populace. The fighting was furious; every inch of ground was contested, but the redoubts and fortifications were captured one after another and in December a bombardment of the city began, followed by awful destruction. The people had been reduced to the direst extremities, for being shut off from all communication from the outside world, starvation became at length the greatest foe in their midst. The crash of ball and scream of shell; the falling of buildings, and groans of the wounded were sounds that were incessant; but the French held out to the very last extremity, until human resistance was palsied by hunger and bloodshed; until it was madness to longer oppose the plagues of leaden hail and starvation. The Germans entered the city in March 1871. Their departure was almost immediately followed by a second siege, by a commune which consisted chiefly of the National Guard. A reign of terror was inaugurated that reddened the streets of Paris. The fury of fire was added to the madness of murder. The communists shot priests, magistrates, and other prominent personages. These horrible excesses only whetted their appetite for destruction, and with malignant purpose they procured casks of petroleum and set in flames the Palais of Justice, Hotel de Ville, the Tuileries, the Council of State, Palace of the Legion of Honor, blocks of fine buildings along the Rue de Rivoli and other structures of little less importance. Preparations were made to blow up the Pantheon and the Cathedral of Notre Dame, but these were saved by the crowning victory of the regular troops in May near the Pere Lachaise cemetery.

The blows received by Paris in these two years were severe enough to destroy the dignity and prospects of any other city and for a time it was believed that she could never recover. The government retired to Versailles where the Presidential elections are still held and Paris ceased to be the capital of culture and magnificence. But gloomy predictions were not to be verified; her recuperative powers were shown to be as amazing as her former progress and aspirations. Paris went forward again with unexampled rapidity. As if to show the world her vitality and renewed ambitions Paris held an international exposition in 1878 which eclipsed in magnitude all previous shows of the kind. Again she transcended all previous efforts at international exhibitions in 1884 and still more glorious was her World's Fair of 1889 which left the Eiffel tower as a memorial.

To-day Paris is the most sumptuous city of the earth, the grandest centre of art, literature, architecture, and all the various branches of civilization in the world; a city where the artist, the scholar, the merchant, and the votary of pleasure find the most abundant scope for their pursuits. Paris is not only the political metropolis of France but also the centre of the artistic scientific, commercial and industrial life of the nation. Almost every branch of French industry is represented there, from the fine-art handicrafts to the construction of powerful machinery, but Paris is especially noted for its "articles de luxe" of all kinds.

"From her monuments, architecture derives inspiration; in her galleries, art is enshrined; by her libraries the world's literature is immortalized; and out of her palatial reservoirs of opera pours a flood of music that encompasses the earth with undying song. In this marvelous city the genius of mankind has its apotheosis in palace, museum, statue, parks; here the combined arts that embellish and exalt civilization are glorified by painter's brush, the sculptor's chisel, the designer's pencil, and the composer's score. Here progress pauses to pay respect, and aspiration offers a wreath of laurel," "Tapestried court and dismal mausoleum; lofty tower and grewsome dungeons; the newer life astir on the remains of feudalism; freedom sitting on the corse of slavery; joy at play on the grave of grief; and ambition soaring aloft with wide-stretched wings of peace, are antitheses which meet the Paris visitor, and lend enchantment to a varied scene that nowhere else may be seen."

The splendor of Paris is seen to best advantage at night. The wide streets which radiate from numerous points, so as to be commanded by cannon, are brilliant with light, myriads of electric lamps glowing like mimic suns. The cafes are resplendent within, with plate glass mirrors, handsome chandeliers and tasteful decorations, and without the gay boulevards with their wide sidewalks are almost entirely covered with little round tables at which sit a bright joyous crowd sipping absinthe, the Frenchman's green fairy, drinking wine, smoking cigarettes or cigars—pipes are not fashionable—reading the evening papers and discussing the latest political or social news. Every place is full of life and gaiety. The vendors of evening papers make the air resound with their cries of Le Soir, Le Temps, Le Journal des Debats, and above their cries may be heard the loud tooting of the tramway horns.

At night too the shops, the ladies' paradise but husbands' purgatory, are seen at their best, flashing with jewellery or glowing with costly fabrics.

The public squares, of which there are many, are likewise full of life and movement and rich in color, adorned with noble trees, flashing fountains, and snowy statuary and filled with brilliant equipages and promenaders and everywhere the ubiquitous gensd' armes.

The great national holiday of France is the 14th of July, the anniversary of the fall of the Bastile, the overthrow of French monarchy, and the establishment of the first French Republic. We happened to be in Paris during this part of July and witnessed a very successful anniversary of that historic date. For days previous to the 14th, the principal buildings had been decorated with the tricolour, arranged in various designs—in sheaves, in festoons, in endless lines of bannered splendor—and the French have exquisite taste in such directions. On the evening of the 13th whilst strolling down the boulevards, I again met Mr. Dickson Hall, who had been purchasing some of the latest Parisian novelties for the fall trade and was now at liberty for a few days to take in the sights. The meeting of a friend from home in a foreign country is a pleasure which has to be experienced to be appreciated. The four of us proceeded to the Place de la Concorde the most beautiful and extensive open space in the city and one of the finest in the world. It commands a beautiful view; to the north at the end of the Rue Royale may be seen the beautiful Madeleine; to the south, across the Seine, spanned here by the Pont de la Concorde the upper part of which is built of the stone of the Bastile, is situated the Palais de la Chambre des Deputes, the meeting place of the French House of Commons; to the west is the beautiful Champs Elysees with the stately Arc de Triomphe de l' Etoile at the end of it; and to the east lie the beautiful gardens of the Tuileries and the Louvre with its priceless art treasures. The square is lighted at night from twenty bronze rostral columns on the surrounding balustrades. The Obelisk which rises in the centre was brought from Egypt in 1831. It is 76 feet in height and is formed of a single block of reddish granite and weighs 240 tons. It is 6 feet higher than Cleopatra's Needle in London but 28 feet shorter than the obelisk before St. Peter's at Rome. This obelisk was built by Ramses II., who reigned in the 14th century before Christ and set up before a temple in Thebes. Each of the four sides is inscribed with three vertical rows of hieroglyphics. There are likewise two beautiful fountains in the square and upon the pavilions placed around the Place rise 8 stone figures representing the chief towns of France. The Strassburg is usually hung with crape and mourning garlands, in reference to the lost Alsace. An intense historic interest is attached to this place by the tragic memories with which it is haunted. Here the guillotine began its bloody work with the execution of Louis XVI. Then in swift succession followed the judicial murders of his ill-fated and lovely queen Marie Antoinette, his sister Madame Elizabeth and Phillipe Egalite, Duke of Orleans; and here too the arch-conspirator, Robespierre, with many of his companions in crime, met a stern retribution. 2,800 persons in all here became the victims of that tremendous social earthquake which overthrew both throne and altar in the dust, and shook all Europe with its throes. And here were renewed, in the wild orgies of the Commune, the darkest tragedies

THE PEACE PROGRAM.

The Eight Points of Count Muravieff's Circular Delivered to the Committees —The Order of Importance.

The Hague, May 22.—The committees will meet for the first time to-morrow. The eight points enumerated in Count Muravieff's circular for their consideration have been distributed among the committees. They are as follows:

The disarmament committee consider: First, the limitation of expenditures; second, the prohibition of new firearms; third, the limitation of the use of explosives; fourth, prohibition of the use of submarine boats.

The committee on laws of warfare will discuss: First, the application of the Geneva convention to naval warfare; second, the neutralization of vessels in an engagement while engaged in saving shipwrecked men, during and after naval engagements; third, the revision of the declaration of Brussels in 1874, on the notifications and customs of war.

The committee on arbitration and mediation will deal with the eighth question of Count Muravieff's circular. The British members of the arbitration committee are Messrs. Pauncefote and Howard.

It was learned during Saturday that M. de Staal placed the question of mediation and arbitration in the forefront during his speech. The question of the laws of war, rendering war as humane as possible by the extension of the regulations already existing, was then touched upon by the president, and he relegated the question of the reduction of armaments to the third place.

The conference decided on Saturday that all delegates, including the technical representatives, are to participate in the sittings and join in the business. The date of the next sitting has not yet been fixed. It depends upon the progress which will be made by the committees. M. de Staal announced that the Government of the Netherlands would give an artistic fete on June 16 in honor of the conference.

THORNY ALASKAN QUESTION.

Newspapers in London Express Regret at Its Acuteness.

Modus Vivendi Again Urged to Prevent Collisions Between Troops in the Northwest—General Shafter Placed in Full Charge as Regards the U. S. Troops in Alaska—New Troops Taking the Place of the Old.

London, May 22.—A despatch from Washington, to the effect that the resumption of the Anglo-American joint high commission's sessions depends on a settlement of the Alaskan boundary dispute, has been prominently published in this city. It was added that the matter has been discussed in the most conciliatory spirit on both sides.

The newspapers here express regret at the fact that the Alaskan dispute has grown more acute at a time when the relations between the two countries are so cordial, and the news that the conference will probably be resumed in the fall has given satisfaction.

The First Step Needed.

The Globe, commenting on the sending of American troops to Alaska, says: "Pending the meeting of the conference, the first step to be taken after the preliminaries are settled will be to arrange a modus vivendi, and no time must be lost in doing this if the situation is not to be lamentably complicated by a conflict which will make the final settlement more difficult than ever."

Shafter Has Full Power.

Washington, May 22.—The War Department has turned over to General Shafter complete direction of all military affairs in Alaska. The only general instructions sent to him have been to relieve the soldiers stationed in Alaska by fresh troops, it being deemed unwise to attempt to retain men in that climate for more than a year at a time. Therefore, two companies of the 14th Infantry, now divided up among Dyea, Skaguay and Wrangel Island, are ordered to be withdrawn and sent to the Philippines. The same order is given to a detachment of the 3rd Artillery and the 18th Infantry, now stationed at St. Michael's, near the month of the Yukon.

British Authorities Watching.

The movement of troops involved in making these changes has attracted the attention of the British authorities, who are naturally sensitive as to the presence of American troops within that part of the territory, the title to which is in dispute.

Col. P. H. Ray is the officer charged with executing the details of movements in Alaska, and he will be advised on his arrival at San Francisco of the diplomatic conditions which are to govern him.

JOURNAL SAYS IT IS TRUE.

Agreement to Arbitrate Only Needs the President's Signature.

New York, May 22.—The Washington correspondent of The Journal says: "Ambassador Choate and Lord Salisbury have reached the agreement that the Alaskan boundary question shall be settled by arbitration. This decision has been cabled to the State Department, practically approved by it, and the President's approval, expected on Monday, is all that is required to send this question on a fair road to permanent adjudication.

"The question has been acute during the last few days, and Lord Salisbury is understood to have informed the State Department in effect that Canada's attitude was so antagonistic to a settlement by the Mother Country and the United States that a binding agreement could be expected only in some other way. It is understood that Lord Salisbury suggested the scheme of arbitration as the rational method out of the trouble.

"The plan for selection of arbitrators will presumably be the same as that in the British-Venezuelan boundary controversy. The personnel of the board will be announced when further details have been arranged."

O. C. FISH IS FREE.

Grand Jury Threw Out the Indictment Against Emsdale Man.

Parry Sound, Ont., May 22.—The spring Assizes here were concluded on Saturday before Mr. Justice Ferguson. The case against O. C. Fish, accused of stealing $6,000 from his brother, an Emsdale merchant, was thrown out by the grand jury. Fish had been arrested in Dubuque, Iowa, waived extradition proceedings, and was brought back to Canada by Detective Murray. The only other case on the docket was one against Joseph Cornfield for criminal assault. The indictment was amended to that of common assault; prisoner found guilty and sentenced to six months.

THE FATAL FROG AGAIN.

How Mr. F. Turnbull, a Harrisburg Farmer, Met an Awful Death.

Brantford, May 22.—F. Turnbull, a well-known farmer, living near Harrisburg, was run down and killed by a train near his home on Saturday. The driver saw the unfortunate man and immediately reversed his engine, but it was too late.

No. 385 GEORGE STREET

DAWSON CITY FLAME-SWEPT

Entire Business Centre of the Yukon Town Wiped Out.

It Occurred on April 21—News of the Great Conflagration Has Just Reached Victoria by Steamer Tees—Loss Will Be Four Millions—Bank of British North America in Ruins—Everything Burned Like Dry Tinder.

Victoria, B.C., May 22.—An extra of The Skaguay Alaskan was received by the Tees at midnight, containing the following brief report, wired from Bennett to Skaguay just previous to the sailing of the steamer:

"Another disastrous fire visited Dawson City, this time fairly wiping out the entire business centre of the town, creating losses that will aggregate $4,000,000, with not a dollar's worth of insurance on any of the great losses."

How the News Comes.

The news was telegraphed over wires from Bennett yesterday afternoon by the special correspondent of The Daily Alaskan, who received it from a man named Tokales who had just reached Bennett from a long and perilous trip out of Dawson over broken trails, open rivers and dangerous lakes.

Occurred on April 21.

Mr. Tokales reports that the fire occurred on April 21, in the very heart of the business centre of the city, commencing near the Opera House, on the waterfront, and spreading with unusual rapidity, driven by a strong wind, destroying everything in its way on that street, down to and including Donahue & Smith's establishment and taking in all of the waterfront buildings abreast of the same block. In other words, the fire crossed the street, burned through and spread over to Second street, covering the principal business portion of Dawson, leaving it all in ashes, with the firemen helpless and powerless to do anything. The fire consumed everything from Timmins' Royal Cafe down to and opposite Fairview Hotel.

The fire was the most disastrous that has ever visited Dawson. Every building burned like tinder, due to the fact that they have been standing for nearly two years and the logs are as dry as powder. The fire spread with such great rapidity that the citizens appeared panic-stricken and unable to save anything in the way of furniture, goods and clothing, so that the losses, when footed up, promises to be even greater than at first estimated.

Firms Burned Out.

Among the most prominent firms burned out were: The Royal Cafe, Donohue & Smith, McLellan & McFeely, Parsons' Produce Company, Aurora Saloon, Bodega Saloon, Madden House, Hotel Victoria, Macdonald Block, Bank of British North America, and scores of smaller firms and business houses. This fire came at a time when the mills and dealers in building materials had exhausted their winter's supply and were waiting the opening of navigation to replenish their stocks.

The results are that there is a famine in all kinds of building material and furniture, such as sashes, doors, locks, hinges, etc. The few articles still remaining outside of the burned district have quadrupled in prices. Doors are selling for $35 each, door locks $8 each, and everything else in proportion. The town is paralyzed because nothing can be done until the opening of navigation, which will not be for several weeks. The first boat going down with building material will reap a rich harvest.

VANCOUVER FIRMS LOSERS.

Bank of British North America Suffers to the Extent of $5,000.

Vancouver, B.C., May 22.—The Bank of British North America was one of the chief sufferes in the great fire which destroyed the business centre of Dawson City. William Godfrey, manager here, says the loss to the bank is about $5,000. Vancouver firms are among the losers. Parsons' Produce Company and McLellan & McFeeley had only recently stocked their stores, and they fear their loss will be large.

L. S. Humes, who brought special despatches to the bank from Dawson, left the Klondike on April 28. He will return Wednesday. He says that at one time the fire threatened to destroy every building

TESTIMONIALS

Alliston, March 1st, 1898.

I have had one of your "Crematory Closets" in use now for several weeks and am glad to be able to say that I have found it entirely satisfactory in every respect. I have not been able to detect the slightest odor from it at any time and would not be without it. I am sure it must prove a great convenience to people in the country and in towns where water is not obtainable.

Yours respectfully, JAMES CONWAY.

Sheddon, February 29th, 1898.

I have used it for some time and find it perfectly odorless. It is a long felt want and I believe it will become very popular especially in rural districts, towns and villages where wells are so frequently contaminated by the ordinary closets. I am, yours, etc.,

The Daily Review.

MONDAY, MAY 22, 1899.

THAT redistribution bill is evidence of the fear the Laurier-Tarte combination have of Ontario in an appeal to the country.

IF Ontario does not secure its share of anything else, the Government made sure it would get a full measure of the redistribution bill.

THAT stone crusher is a successful crusher of more than field boulders. It made a very good job in crushing the peace, harmony and usual serenity of our Town Council.

IN order to clothe an iniquitous and partisan measure in some sort of respectable clothes the Government has made a pretence at referring the redistribution of the constituencies to the judges, but this is only a make-shift, for, be it remembered, the Government has said which ridings are to be operated on and the carving of the judges cannot be made in the impartial manner it would if the whole redistribution was referred to them to be conducted on a fair and proper basis.

LIBERAL leaders made representation by population one of their strongest planks in their party platform since confederation, but now they have cast that plank to the winds and have manipulated the representation in Ontario in their redistribution bill with no regard to population except its political complexion. Thus one more of the boasted Liberal principles is strangled and cast into the outer darkness when the tightening of the hold on office is the one object to be attained.

THE Peterboroughs are left untouched in the redistribution bill. Yet the Examiner held up the two Peterboroughs as examples of the evils of the boundaries under Conservative rule which were certain to be remedied. Our contemporary, if it is not entirely lost to partisanship, will recognize that while leaving the Peterboroughs alone the Liberal Government has created new boundaries which as glaring instances of redistribution for party purposes simply leave the Peterboroughs in the shade. Yet the Examiner will probably defend the new redistribution.

WHEN another census is taken in 1901 there must be a redistribution of the constituencies in order to readjust the representation according to the progress or retrogression of one province or one part of a province as compared with another. The present measure is therefore unconstitutional in spirit, and if the precedent is established a Tory Government might give Canada another redistribution upon gaining power in two or three years. Thus great injustice might be worked by these frequent redistributions in a spirit of partisanship. For this reason alone the present measure should be killed. There is no excuse for such a bill when the census and the proper time for a redistribution on the figures thus gained is only two years distant.

TWO RAILWAY CASUALTIES.

Lindsay and St. Thomas Residents the Victims of the Accidents.

Lindsay, Ont., May 29.—A special doubleheader freight train of 35 cars and van, Conductor Lithgow, eastward bound from Midland, ran over a cow three miles west of here at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, resulting in the derailment of both engines and some 20 cars. Fireman Dudley, who was on the seat, was instantly killed, and Brakeman Harry Zealand badly scalded, although hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Charles Harpen Killed.

St. Thomas, May 22.—Charles Harpen, a brakeman on the Michigan Central Railway, residing in this city, met with a tragic death at Ridgetown early yesterday morning by falling under the wheels of his train. Both legs were severed from the body, killing him instantly. The deceased was a middle-aged man, and leaves a widow and two children.

GREAT BLAZE AT TOBOLSK.

Half the City Has Been Wiped Out—Millions Lost.

Moscow, May 22.—One-half of the city of Tobolsk capital of the Siberian Government of the same name, has been wiped out by fire. The loss will run into the millions. Tobolsk, which is a town of 21,000 inhabitants, was formerly an administrative center for Siberian exiles.

New and Fatal Disease.

Windsor, May 22.—Three young children of Levi Wright who lives near Amherstburg, have died suddenly from a disease that completely baffled the attending physician. The children first complained of an itching sensation in the soles of their feet. This was followed by convulsions, and the children died a few hours after being taken ill.

IT CAN'T BE DONE.

No One Can Remain Well, No Chronic Disease Can be Cured Unless the Stomach is First Made Strong and Vigorous.

This is plain because every organ in the body depends on the Stomach for its nourishment. Nerve, bone, sinew, blood are made from the food which the stomach converts to our use.

How useless to treat disease with this, that and the other remedy and neglect the most important of all, the stomach.

The earliest symptoms of indigestion are sour risings, bad taste in the mouth, gas in stomach and bowels, palpitation, all-gone feeling, faintness, headaches, constipation; later comes loss of flesh, consumption, liver and heart troubles, kidney diseases, nervous prostration, all of which are the indirect result of poor nutrition.

Any person suffering from indigestion should make it a practice to take after each meal one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, allowing it to dissolve in the mouth and thus mingle with the saliva and enter the stomach in the most natural way. These Tablets are highly recommended by Dr. Jennison because they are composed of the natural digestive acids and fruit essences which assist the stomach in digesting all wholesome food before it has time to ferment and sour.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists, full sized packages at 50 cents. They are also excellent for invalids and children. A book on stomach diseases and thousands of testimonials of genuine cures sent free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Michigan.

in the city. A strong wind from the south swept across the Yukon River and fanned the flames so vigorously that waterfront buildings and those behind were burned with appalling rapidity. Luckily the wind shifted to the northeast and thus the conflagration was not so terrible as first appearances indicated. This is Dawson's third serious baptism of fire.

INTERVIEWED IN TORONTO.

Mr. Doyle Says That Between 2,000 and 3,000 Are Homeless.

Toronto, May 22.—Mr. John J. Doyle of Dawson City is at the Walker House. He came to Toronto to call on his sisters, who are attending Loretto Abbey. Mr. Doyle was surprised when told last night of the great fire at Dawson. He left Dawson on March 27 and has spent some time in Ottawa. Mr. Doyle said that between 2,000 and 3,000 persons must have been left homeless by the blaze.

"I feel sorry for a good many of them," he said, "because they had been hanging on over the winter expecting to make a harvest after the clean-up. Now, they are wiped out. I was at Dawson during the two previous fires and the people there lose their heads on such an occasion. Many of the people on the waterfront had just got into shape again after the last fire.

"From the despatch, I should judge that the burned district was about a quarter of a mile long," continued Mr. Doyle. "Jim McIsaace, who owned the Victoria House, sold a fraction on Hunker Creek for $16,000 and put all that money in the hotel. Now I see he has lost all in this last fire."

Mr. Doyle, who formerly lived in Perth, Ont., went to Dawson first in the spring of '97, and he has made four trips over the White Pass and intends to return to the Yukon in two weeks.

THE SS. PARIS ON THE ROCKS

Sailed From Southampton on Saturday With 380 Passengers.

Struck on the Manacles, Near the Mohegan Wreck, at 1 a.m. on Sunday—Sea Was Calm and All Passengers Were Safely Transferred to Tugs and Taken to Falmouth—Will Be a Total Wreck.

Falmouth, Eng., May 22.—The American Line steamer Paris, Captain Watkins, from Southampton and Cherbourg for New York, struck on an outlying ridge of the Manacles early yesterday morning at a point half a mile from where the wrecked Atlantic Transport Liner Mohegan lies. The Paris, which sailed from Southampton Saturday, called at Cherbourg and picked up 50 passengers. She left Cherbourg at 6 o'clock Saturday evening. Soon after 1 o'clock yesterday morning at high tide and in a dense fog she ran ashore.

From the first there was no danger. Lifeboats and tugs were soon literally swarming around the vessel to render assistance. A majority of the passengers, who numbered 380, were brought to Falmouth, where they obtained lodgings for the night.

Ship on the Rocks.

The first intimation of the vessel's striking the rocks was a slight grating sound, which was followed by a second and more pronounced shock. The lookout shouted that there was something looming up ahead, but before there was time to reverse the engines the ship had gone on the rocks, 200 yards from shore. Assistance was summoned by means of rockets, and the coast guards promptly telephoned to the lifeboat station for boats.

All Passengers Transferred.

All the passengers were transferred to the tug Dragon, but beyond the clothes they wore they took nothing with them. They were landed at Falmouth shortly after 7 o'clock, the local agents of the American Line meeting them and providing them with every care and quartering them at the various hotels and the Sailor's Home.

When the Paris struck the tide was within an hour of the flood, and this proved insufficient to raise her off the rocks.

Warning Was Too Late.

It is said that a Falmouth pilot boat showed a warning signal to the Paris, telling the captain that he would put the vessel on top of the Mohegan if he did not alter the course of the ship. The warning, however, came too late, and the Paris struck on a ridge to the westward of the Manacles.

The scene of the wreck is about five miles from Falmouth. It is stated that those in charge of the Paris were so perfectly confident that they were pursuing the proper course that the vessel was steaming 18 or 19 knots an hour when they struck.

Last night the Paris was lying in much the same position as when she struck, her bow being about 150 yards from the shore, and her stern about 200.

Probably a Total Wreck.

Plymouth, May 22.—The Admiralty has sent several fast Government vessels from Davenport to assist the Paris, which, it is reported, will probably be a total wreck. Among the vessels sent to the assistance of the stranded steamer is a gunboat, and Admiral Sir Edmund Robert Fremantle, commander-in-chief at Plymouth, has ordered a number of torpedo boat destroyers to hold themselves in readiness to proceed to the scene of the wreck at a moment's notice.

TWO AMERICANS WOUNDED.

The Expedition Up the Rio Grande Had No Pleasure Trip.

Manila, May 22.—The expedition up the Rio Grande River met with resistance at the outskirts of San Luis on Saturday, where several hundred Filipinos were entrenched on the banks of the stream. The rebels retreated beyond Candaba, and the gunboats steamed ahead, all the way training their Gatling guns upon the banks and dropping shells wherever uniforms appeared on the shore. The gunboats dispersed the insurgents before San Luis.

After they had passed, sharpshooters from trees across the river, a hundred yards distant, harassed the 17th Infantry, which was marching by fours along the narrow wooded road, from which the troops were unable to see the enemy. The members of one battalion laid on their faces in the road for a quarter of an hour, trying to locate the riflemen and return their fire. Two Americans were wounded.

Filipinos Called on Otis.

Manila, May 22.—The Filipino commissioners called on Major-General Otis on Saturday afternoon and arranged to meet the members of the American commission to-day, when they expect their colleagues will have arrived.

THE QUEEN'S QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

Will Receive the Congratulations of Her Family at Windsor Castle.

London, May 22.—The approaching ceremonies at Windsor will be most interesting. Upon the occasion of Her Maesty's birthday next Wednesday morning the Queen will receive the congratulations of her family and will then be serenaded in the grand quadrangle of the castle by a choir of 250 voices, to which the Queen will listen from the oak room overlooking the quadrangle. At noon the Scots Fusiliers Guards will march past the Queen on the east lawn and fire a feu de joie. A thanksgiving service in St. George's Chapel will follow. The Queen will then drive through Windsor, passing under a magnificent floral arch erected on Castle Hill and in the evening "Lohengrin" will be given by the Opera Company in the Waterloo Chamber.

Will He Score It?

It is rumored that the Queen, in connection with her birthday, will again offer the Marquis of Salisbury a dukedom, which he refused at the time of Her Majesty's Jubilee.

Ex-Empress Eugenie Not Dead.

London, May 22.—The Sunday Times yesterday morning announced the death of ex-Empress Eugenie. This statement receives no credence, and nothing is known of it in Paris. It is supposed that the rumor had its origin in the fact that the ex-Empress was reported on Saturday to be critically ill at Naples.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Galt defeated the $75,000 sewer bylaw but carried the $2,500 one for extra school accommodation.

The Countess Esterhazy, in a suit for divorce against her husband, asks for a marriage settlement of 250,000 francs.

A French sailor at Toulon named Le Bleuch has been sentenced to death for menacing a lieutenant with a bayonet.

The schooner W. Y. Emery was released from the Kingston shoal on Saturday afternoon by the Donnelly Wrecking Company. The damage to the schooner will amount to about $300.

The Montreal finance committee has decided to float the $3,000,000 loan in that city instead of doing so in London or Paris. The Bank of Montreal will do the work of placing the loan.

The annual spring church parade to Massey Hall, Toronto, took place on Sunday. About 2,000 of Toronto's citizen soldiery attended. The streets were lined with people during the march.

George Lyle, Dudley McLaughlin and William Johns, convicted of highway robbery and assault with intent to kill upon Nelson Cunningham, a Detroit saloonkeeper, were each sentenced to Jackson Prison for 20 years on Saturday.

Because large business firms at Niagara Falls, N.Y., pay their men in Canadian money, which is deposited in the banks, the Niagara Falls bankers are considering the question of refusing to take Canadian money at all, as they cannot pay it out again.

Deputy Sheriff J. E. Hasar of Little Valley, N.Y., arrived at Belleville with a warrant for the extradition of Marcus R. Lazier, but Sheriff Hope refused to give up his prisoner on the ground that notice has been given of appeal to the Supreme Court. The officer left for home on Saturday.

In a few days an ostrich farm will be established within a mile or so of Toronto. Negotiations are now under way for the purchase of a property, and the ostriches, nine in number, have been shipped from San Francisco, and will arrive in Toronto about June 1. William T. Lundy is the owner.

Busy burglars broke into the L. E. & D. R. Railway station at McGregor Junction on Saturday, but secured only 90 cents. Proceeding to Harrow, seven miles away, they got some watches left for repair, and at Richardson's hardware store, where they blew up the safe, they got $15 in money.

Over 1,000 More Galicians.

Halifax, N.S., May 22.—The Hamburg-American steamer Phoenicia arrived here yesterday afternoon from Hamburg, and this morning will land 1,308 Galician immigrants, who are bound to the north-west, 489 of whom are between the ages of 1 and 14 years and 119 less than a year old. The only notable incidents of the passage were two births and one death.

Notes From Ottawa.

Ottawa, May 22.—The Canadian Electric Company, with chief place of business at Sault Ste. Marie and a capital stock of $1,000,000, seeks Federal incorporation.

A proclamation appears in Saturday's Canada Gazette providing for voting in the County of Brome on the Canada Temperance Act on June 20.

No ingenuity of barbarism—no devilish invention of the masters of torture during the time of the Spanish inquisition ever devised an agony so intense, so persistent, so long enduring, so nerve-harrowing as that which is suffered day after day by the women whose distinctly feminine organism is deranged or diseased. There are three most trying times in every woman's life; 1st—when girlhood blossoms into womanhood; 2d—when motherhood is achieved; 3d—when the capacity for motherhood ceases (the change of life.)

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was devised to make these three periods safe and painless by restoring to vigorous health the organs involved. It soothes, heals, nourishes. It gives Nature just the help it needs. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

Me-too-medicines are preparations without standing or success. They are the substitutes sold as "just as good." Having no record of their own, when Dr. Pierce's cures are referred to they cry me-too, me-too, like the cuckoo in a Swiss clock. Don't accept me-too medicines for "Favorite Prescription."

Mrs. M. Barnes, of Balls Ferry, Shasta Co., Cal., writes: "My physician said I was suffering from the effects of 'change of life.' I had heart disease, and female trouble and rheumatism. My head was so dizzy I could hardly stand up. When I began Dr. Pierce's medicines I improved right along. I took seven or eight bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' a teaspoonful three times a day, and the 'Pleasant Pellets' at night. I feel as well as I ever did. I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's medicines to suffering women. I think that they are the best medicines in the world."

For Over Fifty Years

An Old and Well-Tried Remedy—Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Is pleasant to the taste. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.

An Impertinent Tenor.

Brignoli once agreed to sing a solo at a church in New York city. He came in late, and after divesting himself of many coverings, tumbling over music racks and exasperating the choir by trying his voice, he came to the conclusion that he was ready. By this time, however, the sermon had commenced, but Brignoli, unabashed, leaned over the choir railings and tried to attract the attention of the preacher by shaking his head and gesticulating with his hands. At last he called out in a voice which was audible for some distance: "Me ready for to sing! Stoppa to preach! Stoppa to preach!"

And the clergyman actually cut the sermon in order to accommodate the impatient tenor, whose voice now rang out with such fervor as to thrill the worshipers and justify the sacrifice.—National Magazine.

He Knew Her Name.

A Scotch minister was once catechising his young parishioners before the congregation, when he put the usual first question to a girl whose father kept a public house.

"What is your name?" queried the minister. But there was no reply. The question was repeated, and then, to the amusement of the congregation, the girl answered:

"Nane o' your fun, Mr. Minister. Ye ken my name weel enough. D'ye no say, when ye come to oor house on a night, 'Bet, bring me some ale?' "

Local color is manifested even in methods of committing suicide. A favorite method among the Africans near Nyassa lake is to lie down and wait for a hungry alligator.

Glorious News

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters have cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. For sale by James Lynch, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough; every bottle guaranteed.

Upward Lightning.

When objects on the earth are struck by lightning, the electricity in the clouds is attracted by that of the earth and rushes to meet it, or the electricity in the earth leaps up to join that of the clouds. Although it is probable that the lightning more often descends because of the more numerous points of escape in the clouds, yet it is clear that very frequently the lightning which strikes buildings and trees originates in the earth. For instance, water has been flung upward and stones have been thrown into the air. Floors in houses have been thrust upward toward the roof, and roofs have been lifted off and carried many yards.

Natural Resentment.

Flossy—I don't care, I think Jack Townley is real mean!

Annette—Why, Flossy?

Flossy—He wrote to me from Florida saying he had shot an alligator seven feet long and said when he shot another he would have a pair of slippers made for me.—Harlem Life.

Belgian workmen are fond of cock crowing competitions. The other day one well trained bird crowed no less than 483 times in the course of an hour.

He Fooled the Surgeons.

All doctors told Renick Hamilton, of West Jefferson, O., after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest Pile cure on earth, and the best Salve cure in the world. 25 cents a box. For sale by James Lynch, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough.

EATING HUMAN FOOD.

HOW AFRICAN CANNIBALS DEVOUR THEIR FELLOW MEN.

Different Methods of Preparing and Cooking Those Enemies Whom They Kill in War and Those Whom They Massacre by Stealth.

Mr. P. A. McCann, who spent seven years among the cannibal Mpongwes of Africa, tells some grewsome stories of their man eating methods.

He gives also a description of a most remarkable lake, which, although only about 35 miles from Kumassi, has only been visited by one or two white men. It is called Bosomshwi, meaning "god water," and is held sacred by the Ashantees. "When my guide told me of the wonders of this lake," said Mr. McCann, "I resolved to visit it and get some pictures. In this I was very successful. It is 19 miles in diameter, but its depth no one knows. The Ashanti king every year drowned 100 of his slaves in the lake as a sacrifice to the water god. The bodies were never cast up again, and I think they must have been eaten by the fish.

"In the breeding season shoals of dead fish are thrown up and collected by the natives. There are 35 villages and towns on the shores of the lake. No canoe is allowed on it, and the Ashantees keep it sacred from any kind of pollution. There are logs or poles on it, and the natives sit astride of these and paddle with their hands. I believe I am the only white man who ever went on the lake, but it nearly cost me my life. No one would take me—in fact, every attempt was made to prevent me, but I arose at dawn one morning, and, with a few logs constructed as a raft, I was out on the water before any one knew. When I came in again, however, there was great excitement.

"The chiefs had collected, and I was threatened with all manner of pains and penalties. I knew that my only chance was 'bluff,' so in indignant tones I told my interpreter that the slightest interference with me would bring down the soldiers and destroy the whole of the place. This had a wonderful effect. They begged me not to say a word to the soldiers, and the leading chief brought me as a present a fine sheep. My inquiries about the lake led me to conclude that it is really a volcanic crater, and as such would be the largest known. Rumblings of earthquakes were still often heard, and this the natives believed was the god of the water giving expression to his anger.

"The crater must have been thousands of feet deep, and the tropical rains of years have filled it. The natives use the water for drinking and all purposes, but no washing or any kind of pollution is permitted in the lake itself. In the midday the sun is so hot that great evaporation takes place—in fact, there is a thick mist on the lake all day, so that you can see but a short distance over the water.

"The Mpongwes, cannibals of the most pronounced type, thickly inhabit the banks and forest regions of the Gaboon and Elobey rivers. Although they kill game for food, they much prefer human meat to any other. When questioned about the practice, they speak freely about it without any embarrassment. Human flesh, they say, has a rich flavor about it which is entirely absent in any other kind of meat. They eat all enemies they kill or capture in war. The latter are tortured before being put to death.

"In fighting with an enemy who has pressed them hard and caused them much loss the bodies are eaten very soon after capture and when the heat of war is upon them. In this case the bodies are strung up to horizontal bars supported by two uprights seven feet high, and, after disemboweling, the muscles of the upper arms and those at the calves of the legs are cut away in slices and generally grilled and eaten by the warriors. Sundry contortions and gesticulations are then performed by the fetishmen around the bodies, and after this ceremony the remainder of the corpses are cut to pieces, boiled in pots and then eaten along with boiled green plantains.

"The bodies of enemies killed by stealth they generally treat differently, for, not being excited by hard fighting or losses, they deliberate more over the pleasure the eating will afford them and go more leisurely about the preparation of the meat. First of all they place the bodies to soak in a shallow brook of running water and leave them in this for about ten days, at the end of which period the bodies become so decomposed that the outer skin peels off on the least pull. They are now taken out of the water and prepared for cooking.

"For skinning the face and head peculiar two pronged forks are used. These are inserted into the nostrils, and a steady and prolonged pull brings away the skin of the face and scalp. The rest of the body being skinned, the flesh is then cut up and cooked in plaintain leaves. The method of doing this is as follows: Several leaves of the plaintain tree are cut at the base of their shafts from the trunk of the tree, and the midriff of the leaf, which is thick and full of sap and so prevents the leaf from bending easily, is dextrously pared down with a single cut of a knife.

"The leaf is then held over a fire and under the influence of the heat softens and becomes as flexible as cloth. All the leaves are treated like this and are afterward put one on top of the other and then gathered up so as to form a basinlike receptacle. A quantity of human meat, cut into small pieces, is then placed in this, some dika fat made from the fatty kernels of the seeds of the Mangifera gabonensis is added, after which the leaves are gathered together at the top and tied round with the fibrous strips cut from the midriff when preparing the leaves. The bundle is then placed over a slow fire for seven or eight hours, and the flavor of the meat thus cooked, according to Mpongwe connoisseurs, surpasses everything in the world's bill of fare."—London News.

He Was Well Licked.

A very subdued looking boy of about 18 years, with a long scratch on his nose and an air of general dejection, came to his teacher in one of the Boston public schools and handed her a note before taking his seat and becoming deeply absorbed in his book. The note read as follows:

Miss B.—Plese excuse James for not being thare yesterday. He played troosant, but i gess you don't need to lick him for it, as the boy he played troosant with an him fell out, an the boy licked him, an a man they passed caught him an licked him. Then his pa licked him, an I had to give him another for passing me for telling his pa, so you need not lick him until next time. I gess he thinks he better keep in school hereafter.

Then He Was Fired.

Editor (to aspiring writer)—You should write so that the most ignorant can understand what you mean.

Aspirant—Well, what part of my paragraph don't you understand?

The Decorative Possibilities in Vines

Vines indeed may cover a multitude of sins—foundations, bare walls, unsightly board fences, often covered with signs and unpainted sheds; vines may serve as screens and give privacy to the yard; vines may give a shady nook in the little corner that has so often worried us to care for; but, above all, vines may make our houses homes indeed, adding grace and beauty to even the stateliest mansion. There is such an endless variety of vines and most of them are so easily cultivated that they appeal to the veriest novice or the busiest housewife. In planting you may have all of one kind or choose many varieties. For quick effects over balcony, fence or screen the morning glory, moon flower, nasturtium, Cobea scandens and cypress vine give most pleasing effects. For slower and more permanent results are the lvies, woodbines, honeysuckles and their kind.—E. L. Shuey in Woman's Home Companion.

Holmes Hamer.

John Holmes, whose reputation for wit was not as wide as that of his celebrated elder brother, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, was yet known among his intimates as a man of ready repartee and characteristic humor.

Mr. Holmes never married, but lived by himself in a little house in Cambridge, and once a friend rallied him on his lonely life.

"You ought to marry, John," said he, "and have a larger house."

"Why, yes," replied Mr. Holmes with a quiet smile; "if I should take a better half, I would have to improve my quarters."—Youth's Companion.

Not a Faith Cure.

Faith never worked a miracle in the case of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. It is the wonderful curative properties of the remedy that does the work. Mr. S. O. Taylor, Charlecote, Ont., suffered with rheumatism in the back (Lumbago) for four years. Five bottles of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure completely cured him. He has been free from pain since. This preparation is used internally. One bottle contains ten days' treatment, 50 cents a bottle. For sale at all drug stores.

Archery In a City's Streets.

The military students of Tung-Chou are a conspicuous nuisance. They have a way of using one of the main streets in the city as a convenient spot for practicing archery, and we have been repeatedly obliged to edge up to the extreme edge of the footpath to avoid possible eccentric flights of arrows.

Characteristically it never occurs to them to suspend operations for others' safety or convenience, and minor accidents must not be uncommon.

A lad was brought to the hospital the other day who had been struck by an arrow just below the eye as he was edging along the highway. He was not badly hurt and probably regarded his injury as incidental to the ordinary risks of travel on city streets.—North China Herald.

Brides and Wet Weather.

A Breton bride rather likes to have a wet wedding; it is held to signify that all her tears are now shed and that she will therefore have a happy married life. I know of no similar belief in the British isles.

The Ersa of Simbirsk call the day before the wedding the weeping day, and the bride and her girl friends weep all they can, with the idea, it would seem, of getting the mourning of life over so that only joy may remain.

The Badagas of the Neilgherries attain the same end by sousing the bride with water. Some Greek tribes have a similar belief in the virtue of a drenching bringing good fortune.

Took the Same.

Lawyer—You say that you were in the saloon at the time of the assault referred to in the complaint?

Witness—I was, sir.

Lawyer—Did you take cognizance of the barkeeper at the time?

Witness—I don't know what he called it, but I took what the rest did.—Boston Courier

Is my Blood Pure.

This is a question of vast importance to all who wish to be well. If your blood is impure you cannot expect good health, unless you begin taking Hood's Sarsaparilla at once. This great medicine makes the blood pure and puts the system in good health, cures spring humors and that tired feeling.

Hood's Pills cure nausea, sick headache, biliousness and all liver ills. Price 25 cents.

ITCHING PILES.

False modesty causes many people to endure in silence the greatest misery imaginable from itching piles. One application of Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment will soothe and ease the itching, one box will completely cure the worst case of blind, itching, bleeding or protruding piles. You have no risk to run, for Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is guaranteed to cure piles.

A Bellicose Youth.

The boy is still father to the man. A certain prominent political hustler, who, like the British tar in "Pinafore," is ever ready with his fists, showed his pugilistic taste at an early age.

The first day he went to school the family were, of course, anxious to know his impression of the new occupation.

"Well, Sammy," said his father, "what did you learn on your first day at school?"

Straightening up and assuming a bellicose attitude, Sam replied, "Father, I learned I can lick every boy in my class."

A few days later his love of pugilism and frequent battles led to his expulsion. He came home that day and surprised his good mother with the remark, "Well, mother, thank the Lord, I have been turned out!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Do Not Believe It.

Do not believe that Nerviline will cure neuralgia almost instantly. If your teeth ache console yourself with the reflection that pain can't last for ever. Don't use Nerviline; it might stop the pain. Rheumatism is often difficult to cure. Keep on rubbing the old fashioned liniments as a matter of respect to your grandfather's aunt. Nerviline is a new discovery; that in itself ought to condemn it. Therefore cling to the old; suffer pain; avoid the use of Nerviline, the most powerful, and certain pain remedy in the world.

THE VETERANS COMING.

The Army and Navy Veterans, of Toronto, Will Celebrate Here.

On Saturday word was received that the invitation extended by the Mayor to the Army and Navy Veterans, of Toronto, to celebrate the anniversary of Queen Victoria's coronation had been accepted, and this organization, composed of veterans of Her Majesty's service, will spend a day in Peterborough. They will bring with them their band of forty pieces, a fine musical organization. The proposal to bring the Veterans to Peterborough was first made and placed on the move by Mr Lem Felcher, who interested himself in the affair and who will entertain the Veterans' band while they are here.

Sergt. Gray and Drum Major Bourne, of the Veterans, will be down in a few days to arrange matters for the visit.

G. T. R. TRACKMEN GO OUT ON STRIKE

THEY DEMAND BETTER WAGES FROM THE COMPANY.

The Strike is Said to be General All Along the Lines of the System—Twenty Men in Peterborough are Out With the General Movement.

The Grand Trunk railway management has a strike on its hands at present, the track men having quit work this morning. The strike is reported to be general from Portland to Sarnia, and will include about seven thousand men, foremen and trackmen or section men. This action on the part of the men has been threatened for some time and a grievance committee has been in Montreal to present their case to the management, but, the men assert, this committee received scant encouragement and the order to strike was accordingly issued.

The strike affects about twenty men men in Peterborough. Here there are four gangs, one working on the Grand Junction towards Belleville, one towards Lindsay, one towards Port Hope and one towards Lakefield. There is also an extra gang. These sections cover a distance of five miles out of town. One of the local foremen had a talk with the Review this morning, and stated their grievances.

They state that their wages are quite inadequate for the work they have to do and the long hours they have to serve. For instance, the foremen are paid $1.50 per day, and the men $1, from which is deducted from 2 to 3 cts. for insurance, making their pay 98 cts. They are often compelled to work, they say, from 15 to 17 hours per day, and no overtime allowed. They complain that one of their foremen was dismissed because he would not admit that he was satisfied with his position and salary. They contrast their pay with that given by the C.P.R. for a similar class of labor, to the disadvantage of the Grand Trunk. The C.P.R. for a ten hours' day, pays the foremen $1.75, and the men from $1.15 to $1.25. The Boston and Maine road pays foremen $2, and men $1.50, where the G.T.R. pays $1.60 and $1.20. The men say that the C.P.R. has raised the trackmen's pay when times were good, the Grand Trunk never gave them any increase in good times, while on Thanksgiving day, Christmas, and other holidays the company laid them off and deducted their pay.

The Peterborough men went to their tool house this morning as usual, but in accordance with the organized arrangement they did not go to work, but the foremen locked the tool house and gave the keys to the station agent. This was done they say all along the lines running out of here.

The men are hopeful of an early and satisfactory settlement..

Mr. Sandy said that the trouble had caused no interuption or difficulty on the road, and none was anticipated.

MANY BLESSINGS OF BROTHERHOOD

THE ANNUAL CHURCH PARADE OF THE SONS OF ENGLAND.

An Excellent Address by Rev Mr Crossley at the Charlotte-st. Church—The Principles of Benevolent Union—Insurance For the Next World Recommended.

The annual church service of Lansdown Lodge Sons of England, was held last evening at Charlotte-st. Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Crossley delivering the address. The brethren assembled at their hall, Hunter-st., about 6.30 o'clock in large number and, headed by their band, paraded down George-st. and west on Charlotte-st. to the church. Here the centre seats were reserved for them. A large number of the Daughters of England also attended. The church was crowded. The sermon was heard with much attention and the whole service was of a character both appropriate and interesting.

Rev. Mr. Crossley welcomed the Society cordially in opening his address, both for himself as pastor and on behalf of the trustees of the church. He took his text from St. Matthew xxv, 40, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me." These words of Christ show, said Rev. Mr. Crossley, how men may do acts of kindness to Him down through all these ages and that all these good works will be recognized. Two mighty forces work in the world to-day. One separates men, the other draws them together. The one arouses hate and hardness; the other breeds kindness and love. What are these? The one is selfishness; the other is charity. The effect of selfishness is always to make men smaller and dry them up. Charity makes men large and beautiful. The smallest and meanest man in the world is the thoroughly selfish man. The only time he blesses the world is when he dies.

Of men like these it is that Job says their memory shall perish from the earth. Yet of the charitable Christ says they shall be held in everlasting remembrance.

In the history of the world it is noticed that men cluster around certain principles. Indeed principles are what all societies are founded on. The Church is founded on fixed principles and is the greatest charitable organization in the world to-day. The Church teaches doctrines that should make every man a philanthropist. Philosophy looks on the misery of the world and says "this is the natural condition of things. Christianity looks out and says "Man is fallen. He is sick and wretched." And Christianity runs to the rescue. All men are interested in each other. Almost at the beginning

TOWN COUNCIL HAS A MEETING

SOUTH WARD RESIDENTS AGAIN BRING THEIR TROUBLE UP.

A Deputation Waits on Ald. Davidson—The Kennedy Cattle Yard—The Council Will Endeavor to Get Possession of the Lot.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Saturday evening. There were present Mayor Davis and Aldermen Best, Corkery, Denne, Langford, McWilliams, Neill and Sawers. The meeting was prolonged but the business transacted was slight.

The meeting was called for the purpose of advertising for a new election, if such should be necessary, owing to Ald. Davidson's notice of resignation. It was decided that a special committee should interview Ald. Davidson asking him to withdraw his resignation. The Mayor and Aldermen Best, Langford and McWilliams were appointed and after their return it was decided not to advertise, the conclusion being that Mr. Davidson was at least considering the matter.

A deputation of residents of the south ward was introduced by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun. They wanted the Council to take some steps to prevent the fulfilment of the agreement between Mr. Kennedy and the Town Commissioners. They had nothing definite to propose, simply asking the Council to assist them in some way. The situation was talked over. All the Aldermen assured the deputation that they were opposed to the cattle yards. Alderman McWilliams complained that Mr. Stevenson, the chairman of the Town Commissioners, was acting in a very peculiar manner in the affair. He had, the the speaker believed, promised to call a meeting of the Commissioners for Monday (to-day) and was to have the notices out by three o'clock on Saturday in order that the meeting might be legal. This had not deen done.

It was moved by Alderman McWilliams, seconded by Alderman Neill, that the Commissioners be requested to terminate the lease to Mr. Kennedy, if a valid one has been given, and if they do not comply with this request that they be requested to meet the Council on Monday evening, also that the chairman of the Commissioners be requested to notify Mr. Kennedy to discontinue work on the lot.—Carried.

It was moved by Ald. Langford, seconded by Ald. Neill, that the Council apply to the Commissioners for a lease of the lot now in their possession.—Carried.

An acount of A. Thompson for $26.50 was ordered to be paid.

The question of getting the steam road roller to work was discussed, it being pointed out that the expert from the foundry was in town. A number of streets suitable for a test for picking and rolling were suggested. It was finally decided that the machine be started on Hunter-st. between Water-st. and the bridge. It is also probable that work will be done on George-st. at once though it will not be of a thoroughly permanent character.

A suggestion was made by Alderman Denne that the companies owning poles on the streets where granolithic work is to be done be notified to move the poles out. This was carried.

Brevities.

—Quite a number of wheelmen took a spin out to Chemong yesterday.

—The local G T R service was not interfered with by the wreck at Lindsay.

—Mrs Garvin will give an address at the Epworth League meeting at Charlotte-st church this evening.

—Best cabinet photos $1.50 per doz. at Garnet Green's Charlotte-st. studio. Price no detriment to the finish. dtf

—The first meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board for the season will be held to-morrow morning at 10 30 o'clock.

—Mr Abel Hendren with a gang of men was at Stony lake this week erecting a summer cottage for Mr Allan, of Rochester.

—A game of baseball was played at the exhibition grounds on Saturday afternoon between two teams from the electric works.

—The Norwood High School footballers were entertained at the Y M C A on Saturday evening and left for home on the midnight express.

—Alexander S Keen, Harwood, and Frank Johnson have been appointed overseers for the south side of Rice Lake in the county of Northumberland.

—A number of dog tag cases were heard at the Police Court this morning. All the offenders were given tags on paying the tax and 85 cents costs.

—A 'pugilistic collision took place in a yard on Aylmer-st on Saturday evening. P.C. Adams was sent down to the scene, but the scrappers had escaped.

—Rev. Wm J Keilty, Rector of St Joseph's, Douro, has invited Mr Jas Kendry, M.P., to attend the picnic in Douro on June 22nd, and deliver an address.

—The caterpillars are again beginning to prove themselves a great nuisance. The precautions taken by the Council seem to have been not entirely effectual.

—The District meeting of the Methodist church will be held in the George-st church on Tuesday and Wednesday, with the ministerial sessions to morrow and the general sessions on Wednesday.

—The funeral of the late Mr Samuel Ferguson took place this morning to St. Peter's cathedral and the Roman Catholic cemetery. The deceased's fellow employees at the Auburn Woollen mills marched in a body in the procession.

—The following clergymen were present on Friday at the funeral of the late John O'Brien:—Rev Fathers O'Connell, William Kellty, Michael O'Brien, (son of the deceased), Peter Maguire, Michael Fitzpatrick and Joseph O'Sullivan.

—On Monday morning last Mr F J Moore, of the firm of J F Lillicrap & Co., Lakefield, was engaged in sawing a board at the planing mill when his left hand slipped and came in contact with the saw, his thumb being nearly severed at the first joint.

—Anniversary services in connection with Zion Sunday school, Cavan, will be held on Sunday and Monday, May 28th and 29th. On Sunday Rev C E Cragg, former pastor of the church, will preach at 10.30 and 7 o'clock. On Monday the annual tea will be held.

—Saturday evening the managers of the Dominion and Traders banks at Orillia received telegrams to have two of the staff sleep in each bank until further notice. This was on account of the Bowmanville robbery. The Peterborough bankers are not doing guard duty at nights yet, as with the town's two policemen and a nightwatchman on duty all night it would be rather difficult for robbers to work the Bowmanville game here.

It pays to advertise in the Review.

A Dazzling Array.

The hotel clerk told the following story: Charles L. Davis, the actor, otherwise known as "Alvin Joslin," was in the lobby of the St. Charles, in New Orleans, when a man from Chicago stepped in front of him and looked over his head in search of an acquaintance that he supposed was in the hotel lobby. Davis, mistaking the Chicago man's purpose, remarked: "Ah! I see you admire my diamonds. This one"—indicating the stone on his shirt bosom—"cost me $3,000. These"—showing his cuff buttons—"cost me $2,500 each, and my wife has a trunkful up in our room."

The Chicago man did not say much, but that evening, by arrangement with the head waiter, Davis was placed at supper alone at a table where there were several vacant chairs. Presently several men, all commercial travelers, entered the dining room, and each one had a large cut glass fruit dish fastened on his breast, while glass prisms hung pendent from each coat and vest button.

Soberly marching to Davis' table, the seven men took the vacant seats, and the Chicago man entertained the actor with: "Ah, I see you admire our diamonds. This one"—pointing to the fruit dish—"cost me $3,000,000. These"—indicating the prisms—"cost $250,000 each, and we have three carloads like them at the depot waiting to be side tracked." Davis not only changed his table, but went to another hotel. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

He Was Clean.

The advantage of a trained nurse is that she knows not only what to do, but what not to do, since unnecessary attentions merely exhaust the patient. The point is illustrated by the following story from an old Cape newspaper of the time of the Znln war, when kindly but uninstructed ladies rushed off in embarrassing numbers to give their services at the military hospitals.

"What can I do for you, my poor fellow?" asked one of the gentle nurses of a sufferer.

"Nothing, thank you, miss."

"Not anything?" said the charming visitor persuasively.

"I don't think so," murmured the wounded man wearily.

"At least," she said mildly but firmly, "I can wash your face." She fetched the necessary materials and scoured Mr. Atkins' rueful countenance. "There!" she announced. "Now you will feel nice and clean."

"I ought to, miss," said the soldier, with a faint smile. "You're the ninth lady who's washed my face this morning!"

Lovable Little Pigs.

While the raising of swine is not exactly a poetical occupation, it is said to be a paying one and one that would be practicable for a woman to engage in.

"One of the most thoroughgoing, capable business women of the day,' says The Practical Farmer, "is a breeder of fine swine, and she has won a reputation that is enviable. She has made thousands of dollars from the business and is proud of and enjoys her work. Poultry and swine breeding as a part of the farm wife's business ventures forms both a happy and profitable combination. Even the word 'happy,' she says, is well placed, for it is a happy work caring for and owning handsome sows and pretty, thrifty pigs, fine shotes and marketable hogs. Little pigs, she asserts, are as lovable as baby chicks, and through actual ownership one takes pride and comfort in watching them grow and looking to the comforts and needs of the entire swine herd."

Promotion.

"No, it advances me one number." —Chicago Record.

A Fatal Wedding

By BERTHA M. CLAY.

Author of "On Her Wedding Morn," "Which Loved Him Best," Story of a Wedding Ring," "Between Two Loves," Etc.

She remembered that when the carriages were ordered at last, he had brought her cloak and helped to wrap it round her white shoulders; that he held out his hand to bid her good-night, and kept hers in his warm clasp; that, just as she was going, he asked her for the rose that she had worn all the evening, and that when she gave it to him, he kissed it with a passion that almost crushed the flower.

"This has been the happiest day of my life," he whispered, as she went down the hall steps.

Then she seemed to go out into utter cold and darkness. Sir Rupert gently and gravely placed her in the carriage. Irene and Violet talked about the picnic and the dance, and then lay back to dream.

The fair, foolish child, with beating heart, dreaming of every word he had said at the brook-side, of every whisper during the dance, and wondering what it was that had filled her life with such sweet yet unutterable pain

They were all very gentle to her. The squire was sitting up for them, and he took Sybil in his arms, wondering what had flushed her face with such new and tender beauty.

"Has it been a happy day?" he asked, and Sybil laid her golden head upon his shoulder.

"Too happy to speak of," she said, and sighed from the very fullness of her content.

He thought she was too tired to talk or laugh, and bade her good-night with words that fell like a benediction upon her.

And then in Irene's gentle face he saw a shade of care. When their darling had left them, and the sound of her footsteps had died away, Miss Jocelyn said:

"I am sorry we went, papa, Captain Ayrton was there, and he seemed to admire Sybil so much."

"I dare say," replied the squire, rubbing his hands; "if I were a young man I should admire her myself. There is no one like her, Irene."

"No," said Miss Jocelyn; "but, papa, I do not like Captain Ayrton. He is very handsome and brilliant; he has most winning, graceful manners. I do not trust him."

"What has that to do with Sybil?" cried the squire. "You women are always full of ideas. No one wants to trust him—Sybil least of all. All her trust is in Sir Rupert."

"I hope so," said Irene, dubiously.

"Why, of course it is," cried the squire again. "Now, Irene, my dear, be sensible, as you always are. Do not put foolish ideas into the child's mind. If the young man calls, let him see me. Pay him all attention necessary when he does call; and see, do not mention his name to Sybil, or you will put foolish ideas into her mind."

CHAPTER VII.

"THE FACE OF A MAN WHO HAS NO HEART."

Sybil Jocelyn laid her golden head to rest that night without any shadow of her fast-coming fate upon her. She was simply and unutterably happy. The rippling of the brook, the soft, sweet dance music, Captain Ayrton's whispered words, all filled her heart with music that lulled her to sleep; and the elder sister, going in an hour afterward to see if the darling of the house was at rest, found her sleeping soundly; the rose-leaf lips parted with a happy smile; and Irene Jocelyn, with the gravity of a woman who had hoped, suffered, and lost, knelt by Sybil and prayed Heaven to keep their child from harm.

It was the morning sun that woke her, shining full, warm, and bright into her room. Even as her eyes opened, there came a vivid rush of happiness and a new sense of joy.

In one moment she remembered it all, and her first thought was that she should see him to-day. He was sure to call.

He did call when the squire had gone out, and Sybil sat alone with Violet. He had brought messages from Lady Marche. They were to arrange some tableaux if Miss Ruthers and Miss Sybil Jocelyn would consent to help.

And Violet soon afterward left them, to seek for a book of old English costumes. Then Captain Ayrton went up to Sybil, and asked if she had pardoned his boldness in asking for the flower.

"I shall keep it as long as I live," he said. "Oh, Miss Jocelyn! what memories the scent of a rose-leaf will bring to me."

She was too unused to life to distinguish tinsel from gold. Her beautiful, flower-like face crimsoned—then grew pale.

"You are not angry with me?" said Captain Ayrton, gently; and he bent his handsome head as he spoke, trying to see if love or anger were in her eyes.

Just at that moment Sir Rupert entered the room. Ah, me! the pain that smote that brave heart when he saw in Sybil's face a look that he had never brought there.

Women are so quick. In one moment Sybil scented the danger, and rose with true courage to meet him. Sir Rupert was too true a gentleman ever to speak an ungraceful or an uncourteous word; but there were both fire and sarcasm in the glance that fell upon the handsome captain.

"We are deep in a consultation," said Sybil. "Lady Marche wants us to help her to get up some tableaux. Violet has gone to look for a book of costumes. Will it not be charming, Sir Rupert?"

She looked so like the child Sybil he had learned to love that all anger died away from Sir Rupert's face.

"Very charming—if you take part in them," he replied, and then Sybil clapped her hands gleefully.

"Ah! then you are willing," she said. "I am so pleased! Papa is sure to ask what you think. You will advocate our going, and I shall not know how to thank you."

She had taken him completely by surprise. He had no thought of helping her in such a request; but she was so dear to him he could not grieve her, he could not cloud the brightness of her hopes.

"You always have your own way, Sybil," he said, laughingly. "Where did you learn the art of persuasion?"

"Surely," said Captain Ayrton, "this is not a case where persuasion is required. All young ladies like tableaux."

"The young ladies of Glynn differ from most others," said Sir Rupert, severely. "They have not been much into that gay world you, Captain Ayrton, know so well."

Then he went over to the piano and began to look at the music lying there.

"Has Sir Rupert any right to direct your actions?" asked the captain, in a whisper.

"Any right!" echoed Sybil, not in the least understanding the meaning of this question. "No—why should he?"

Then a faint remembrance of the right he wished to have flashed across her, and her face grew crimson as a red rose. Captain Ayrton was vain enough to take that little act of consciousness to himself.

"Will you sing, Sybil—if you are not too tired?" asked Sir Rupert, from the piano.

"Do, I pray you, Miss Jocelyn," said Captain Ayrton; "I long to hear you. Lady Marche has said so much of your singing."

"What style of music do you prefer?" asked Sybil, leaving her question to chance, for she looked at neither.

"Serious and classical," said Sir Rupert.

"Lively and gay," said Captain Ayrton, at the same moment.

There, like a child, she stood for half a moment, embarrassed which to please.

"I beg your pardon," said Captain Ayrton to Sir Rupert. "Pray do not let my taste interefere with the gratification of yours. I have a great love for all that is bright and brilliant—music included; and life becomes so grave a matter as we grow older. I like to be happy and gay while I can."

"So do I," chimed in Sybil.

There was a plaintive little love-song of Mendelssohn's lying near her, a song that told of happy love; the words were light and cheerful, but the music had in it an undercurrent of sadness and passion. Without thinking of whom she would please, the young girl went to the piano and began to sing it.

The voice was clear and sweet, rich and full of harmony—so pure and tender that it touched both gentlemen more than they cared to own.

Even the vain, cold heart that rarely felt for others was moved by it. Something appealed to his better nature to go away and leave the beautiful, innocent child to those who loved her—to save her from the mockery of his love—to shield her from the ruin he would bring upon her.

"It is too late," he said to himself. The die was cast. He would win Sybil Jocelyn if he could."

He thanked her when the song was ended, and took his leave. As the door closed behind him, Sir Rupert Dacre went up to Sybil. His heart yearned over the girl; he longed to warn her, yet fearing to speak, lest he should arouse the spirit of opposition in her. His grave, anxious eyes startled her. Her woman's keen instinct told her the thought and fears running through his mind.

"You do not like Captain Ayrton," she said, resolving to force the subject. "You spoke very courteously to him; but I know your face, Rupert, and every line in it."

"You are right; I do not like him," he replied, gravely. "Nature makes few mistakes, Sybil, and she has written his character in his face."

"It is a very handsome one"—opening wide her lovely, innocent eyes.

"Handsome, vain, false and cold," he said; "the face of a man who has no heart—to whom a woman would cry for help and a child for pity, both in vain."

"How unjust you are!" she cried. Was it possible any one could say this of the fair-haired soldier who had sat with her by the brook, teaching her love's first, sweetest lesson? "You are unjust. I thought only women were jealous," she said. "Captain Ayrton has never spoken against you."

"You seemed to wish for my opinion, and I have given it," he replied. "We need not disagree over him, Sybil. He will not be here long, and when you are older you will be wiser."

"I am quite wise enough," she said, with a gay laugh; but it soon died away on her lips, for his words had turned her heart cold.

Would the time come when she should see Lyster Ayrton no more? All the sunshine of her life would go out with him. Her fair young face grew strangely sad and troubled.

Sir Rupert thought, in the blind strength of his love, that she was sorry for having vexed him.

"You are wise and charming," he answered, with a laugh; "but wiser women than you, Sybil, have been blinded by a gay uniform, a handsome, face and a very pleasing voice. The world is full of dangerous lore, and you have learned none of it yet."

"Do you mean," she said, "that all soldiers are not heroes—are not like the knights in the old chronicles?"

He laughed aloud.

"My dear child," he said, "the men in real life are not like the men in books. I saw you reading 'Guy Livingstone' the other day—do you imagine there is such a man?"

"Yes," she replied.

A MINING DISASTER.

Four Men Killed in the War Eagle Mine at Rossland, B.C.

Rossland, B.C., May 22.—At 12.30 on Saturday morning a terrible accident occurred in the main shaft of the War Eagle mine, whereby four men lost their lives. At the hour stated Mike Crook, W. F. Schofield, H. A. Honeyford, James O. Palmer and Thomas A. Neville entered the skip at the 250-foot level. The engineer in charge, Robert Hall, started the machinery, but the seat holding the main bolt on the starting lever in some way not yet ascertained worked off and the bolt fell out, throwing Hall on his back. Control was thus lost of the hoist and it dashed down to the foot of the shaft, 350 feet.

Smashed Beyond Recognition.

When the rescuing party climbed down they found Honeyford, Palmer and Neville quite dead, and smashed almost beyond recognition. Crook and Schofield, the latter very badly and the former only slightly hurt, were taken out of the mine by the Iron Mask tunnel, and conveyed to the Sisters' Hospital. Schofield died at 1 o'clock from his injuries. Mike Crook, however, will be able to leave the hospital in a day or two. Superintendent Hastings said that the five men were among the pick of the mine and were all fine fellows and good workers

Schofield was an Oakville man and an old Upper Canada College boy; Crook an international Scotland-England football player; Honeyford was an active member of the Salvation Army in Rossland. Palmer and Neville came here from New Brunswick. All the men were unmarried. Schofield was sent here recently by T. G. Blackstock and put to work.

An Investigation to Be Held.

The Provincial Government wired Coroner Boers to hold an inquest and instructed John Kirkup to watch the case for them. The inquest was opened at 8.30 p.m. on Saturday, but, after viewing the bodies and inspecting the machinery at the mine, the jury adjourned until 2 o'clock on Monday. Inspector MacGregor is now on his way here, and a thorough investigation will be held. Seven men have lost their lives in Rossland camp within a month.

FRENCH SHORE FISHERIES.

Lowest Number of Men at Work This Year Ever Known.

St. John's, Nfld., May 22.—The French have been operating only six lobster factories and four codfishing stations on the Newfoundland treaty shores thus far this season, as against 18 lobster factories and 11 codfishing stations operated last year. The men employed now do not number 400, and this is the lowest number of Frenchmen visiting and working along the coast on record. These conditions are the best illustration of the comparatively valueless character of the whole territory to the French.

Drove Off the Detectives.

Montreal, May 22.—Detective Joseph Killert, chief, and ten of his men, returned at 10 o'clock on Saturday evening from Valleyfield, where they went to execute warrants for the arrest of Captain George Marks of the big lake schooner Helvetia, at present at Valleyfield, at the head of the Beauharnois Canal, his son George, and his wife, Jenny Mitchell. All hail from Cleveland, O. The trouble arose in this way: Capt. Marks was appointed by the Atlantic Transport Company, and looked to them for his wages and the settlement of his expense account. Until his claim is satisfied he refuses to leave his ship, and his son, his wife, his crew and the people of Valleyfield stand by him. The owners of the vessel, a Cleveland firm, sent Captain William Parker and another crew down to Valleyfield to take the vessel over, but Marks refused to allow them on board. The detectives from this city fared similarly, and the chief, in order to avoid bloodshed, withdrew his men.

Worst Crook in America.

Detroit, Mich., May 22.—Little Dick, alias Frank Holden, alias Richard Harris, alias Frank Willis, legitimate occupation surveyor, criminal occupation burglar, the sharpest, shrewdest burglar in America, according to Chief of Detectives McDonnell and Superintendent of Police Martin, was arrested on Saturday by Detectives Lally, Connolly and Brooks on suspicion. With him were taken thousands of dollars' worth of diamonds, gold watches, chains, opals and diamond-set jewelry of every description. He went out and the detectives waited in his room until he came back, when they trapped him by shutting the door. He offered the officers more than they could get in their lifetime if they would free him. He was then taken to the jail. A telegram from El Paso, Texas, stated that the goods found on Harris were probably stolen from that place.

A Selkirk Hardship.

West Selkirk, Man., May 22.—This town is somewhat agitated in consequence of orders issued at noon yesterday by the Dominion Fish Company here, dismissing all the men immediately engaged in the work of fishing, an action which means a loss to the town of about $200 a week, and in the season represents to Lake Winnipeg and Selkirk districts sums aggregating $100,000. The dismissal of men is on account of the non-issuance of the usual fishery license to the company. In former years it was issued in April. It is stated that representations will at once be made to Ottawa.

THE QUEEN'S PLATE.

Hendrie of Hamilton's Butter Scotch Breaks Seagram's Succession.

Toronto, May 22.—On Saturday that great racing and social function of the year, the Queen's Plate race, was run, and at this, the 19th annual meet of the Ontario Jockey Club, the succession was broken. Mr. Seagram's colors, eight times winners of the Plate in succession, were lowered by Mr. Hendrie's filly Butter Scotch. The time was 2.15¼, which was splendid for the track. The 12,000 crowd cheered itself hoarse on the victory. The probable value of the race is $1,600, 50 guineas the gift of Her Majesty, the first horse to receive the guineas, the stakes and $700 added by the club; second $200 and the club $100. The course is one and a quarter miles. The record:

1. Butter Scotch, Mr. William Hendrie's bf. 3, by Imp. Derwentwater—Sugar Plum 101 (Mason).
2. Dalmoor, Mr. J. E. Seagram's b.h., 5, by Louis XIII.—Lady Dalmeney, 126 (Williams).
3. Toddy Ladle, Mr. William Hendrie's ch f., 3, by Imp. Derwentwater—Scotch Reel 101 (Tames).

Also ran—Mr. J. E. Seagram's Curfew Bell, 3, 101; Mr. J. E. Seagram's Terrata 3, 101; Capt. Forrester's Dalliance, 5, 123 Mr. N. Dyment's Hellcourt, 3, 101; Mr. J. E. Seagram's Sardonyx, 4, 119; D. Screamed ... WITH.. Agony

From the Terrible Itching, Burning Tortures of ...

Eczema on the Scalp

Some of the cures effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment are more like miracles than anything else. The case recorded here was one of the worst ever brought to the attention of Toronto's best physicians, and when doctors gave up all hope of recovery Dr. Chase's Ointment was successful in producing a perfect cure.

Mr. James Scott, 136 Wright Ave., Toronto, states: "My boy Tom, aged ten, was for nearly three years afflicted with a bad form of Eczema of the scalp, which was very unsightly and resisted all kinds of remedies and doctor's treatment. His head was in a terrible state. We had to keep him from school, and at times his head would bleed, and the child would scream with agony. For two and a half years we battled with it in vain, but at last found a cure in Dr. Chase's Ointment. About five boxes were used. The original sores dried up, leaving the skin in its normal condition. To say it is a pleasure to testify to the wonderful merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment is putting it very mildly."

THE FOOTBALL SEASON STARTS

NORWOOD HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATS THE Y M C A TEAM.

A Close and Keenly Contested Match—Score 3 Goals to 2—General Sports.

The Association football teams of the Norwood High school and the Peterborough Y M C A met at the Nicholls' park on Saturday evening at 5 30 o'clock and an interesting match resulted. There was quite a gathering of spectators, including a number from Norwood.

The teams were about equally strong. The Y M C A boys put up snappy work and everything went their way at first. But the visitors played a sure and steady game and appeared to have an advantage from greater practice. The play was remarkably even all through. Both teams were strong at the back and half back lines. McPherson, McLeod, Simpson and Campbell were the stars for the Y M C A team.

The local players scored the first two goals, but at half time Norwood had evened up, the game standing 2—2. Norwood took another in the second half, thus winning the match by 3 goals to 2. The scoring was done for Peterborough by Campbell and for Norwood by Rutherford and Mathieson. Pettigrew, of Norwood, was knocked out in the last half and Doughty, of the Y M C A team, went off to even up. The teams were :—

Norwood High School—Goal, Pettigrew; backs, B Fife, C McLaughlin; half backs, D O'Brien, J Weir, D Moore; forwards, B Hampter, M O'Leary, Devitt, F Rutherford, C Mathieson.

Y M C A—Goal, Dyke; backs, B Simpson, A Noble; half backs, E Hall, A McPherson, H Goldey; forwards, P Campbell, J Snelgrove, F Walden, J McLeod, P Doughty.

Referee—Hal. Burnham.

TO BE FOREARMED.

Ald. McWilliams' Recommendation as to Magistrates was But Precautionary.

Alderman McWilliams states that he was misunderstood in the conversation out of which arose the item published in Saturday's Review about his visit to the North Shore and the towing of logs into Michigan, and we hasten to set the matter right. He states that he recommended the appointment of more magistrates in order that, if necessary, action might be taken to stop the export of logs, but that as yet no logs have been taken across nor are they in position to be taken across the bay if the owners so intended as the logs are not down to the bay as yet. He also recommends that the customs officials and those in charge of the river be sworn in as magistrates. The error was unintentional and is gladly set right.

WILL REPORT THE CASE.

The Brave Act of Little Eddie Wall May Be Rewarded.

The heroism of ten-year-old Eddie Wall in endeavoring to save his brother from drowning in the Otonabee a few days ago, to which the Review drew attention, has provoked much comment. The brave act has received the attention of the Royal Humane Society and on Saturday Mr. J. H. Burnham received a letter from the president asking for particulars of the affair and pointing out that the medals of the society were given not only for rescues but for all heroic attempts and the society would be glad to recognize the act of the brave boy officially if in their opinion the circumstances were found sufficient to warrant it.

This Week's Attraction.

and the castes well suited to the personnel of the company. Wednesday night that great success "The Wife's Secret," will be presented, and Thursday night "The Bachelor's Divorce." A special Queen's Birthday matinee will be given, that great New York success "Hurly Burly," being the attraction. With a strong company of clever artists in the greatest recognized successes, coming well recommended, the opera house should be crowded for high class plays ably produced ought to appeal to the Peterborough theatre-goers.

That Little Episode.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Alderman Davidson did a very unwise thing in the opinion of most people when he acted as "friend in need" to people outside of the town with the town's property. That the contractors spend money here is a mere matter of business with them. It is no favor to us. It was also against the rule expressly adopted by the Council and recently acted upon in the case of the Dickson company. It would be well for Ald. Davidson to explain his inconsistency. We all know that town property should not be used for outside purposes.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hemnick & Co., of Shelby, N.C. For sale by James Lynch, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough, at 50 cents and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

An Attempt to Rob the Till.

A boy by the name of Kearns tried to rob Mr Jas Long's till on Saturday night. When Mr Long's back was turned he came in and in drawing the till out he dropped it on the floor. Being detected he ran, but was caught near W H Wrighton's store. He gave another name. He was handed over to the police. A special session of the Police Court was held on Saturday evening and he was charged with attempted theft. He was remanded.

MRNY BLESSINGS OF BROTHERHOOD

of the world God said "Where is thy brother?" And men have remembered the question since. Christ set man a noble example of charity.

All benevolent societies take their principles from some words found in the Book of God. Brotherhood has been grasped as the strongest tie to gather men together in the world. None of the societies represent all of the principles of Christianity, but each represent some single principle. Templars, Orangemen, Masons, etc., take different principles. The Sons of England is among those distinctly beneficial in character with life insurance added. It is founded on well defined principles, which are seen to be good and worthy. These are to bring Englishmen together for mutual dependence and support and the maintainance of British connection; the raising of funds for rendering assistance to members, insuring the lives of members; granting relief to members in distress, and divers other benefits and helps. During the past year this Society has distributed in sick benefits $24,000; for medical attendance $15,000, for funeral expenses of members $10,000, for beneficiaries or death claims $27,000.

We can from this imagine what a blessing this society is, what an amount of comfort it has dispensed. We are morally bound to give honor where honor is due and tribute where tribute is due. The men who organized the society must have done so largely for the purpose of those acts endorsed by Christ on earth. That the acts of the society are humane and worthy none can deny. Unorganized charity is too slow. People die sometimes before they can be reached. But organized charity means mutual protection against want. It means food and clothing and education for the families of deceased members. It means homes for the widows. Above all it comes as a matter of right and not like the dribble of unwilling charity. These societies bring help and comfort to those who need it. They bring shelter and home to those left alone.

This society is not a religious one. While what takes place in the lodge tends to bring the better parts of men out and it is founded on the law of God the society is benovelent without dealing with the world to come. But Rev. Mr. Crossley believes in life insurance for both the worlds. Christ is the physician and promises benefits for the next world. There is such a thing as being wise for time and foolish for eternity. May it not be so with those present, said the speaker. Spiritual wants arise as well as physicial ones. By uniting with Christ may be obtained the best of both worlds. Godliness is well in all things. In trying to make this life easier and happier for their fellow men those present should not forget the spiritual welfare of themselves and fellows and thus form a part of that great society, the "Sons of God" as well as the Sons of England.

God Save the Queen was sung at the end of the service and the members were marshalled into line and were played up to their hall to the time of lively march. The parade was witnessed by many.

The anthem for the service was "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem," Mr. A. L. Davis taking the solo. During the offertory a male quartette "Launch Away" was sung (by request) by Messrs. Davis, Steers, Moore and Skitch, with duet by Messrs. Davis and Steers. The anthem at the morning service at the Charlotte-st. church was "As pants the hart for cooling streams," with solo by Miss Pedler in sweet soprano voice.

A LAMP EXPLODED

And the Blaze Damaged Furniture and Destroyed Some Cash.

The fire brigade was called out on Saturday night about 9.30 o'clock for a blaze at the residence of Mr Jos Kidd, in the Aldridge terrace, corner of Stewart and Simcoe-sts. The fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp on the dining room table. The table and carpet were damaged by the blaze that resulted, and the smoke also did some damage. The services of the brigade were not required. There was an insurance to cover the loss on the furniture, but Mr Kidd loses about $170 in cash. He had this amount in an envelope in his coat pocket and had thrown his coat on the table while he went upstairs for a moment. He had just got upstairs when the explosion occurred, and after the blaze was extinguished he found that the upper portion of his coat with the money was destroyed.

Others Might Be Likewise.

The action of the township of Smith in putting a man on the road between Peterborough and Lakefield to rake off all the loose stones will be greatly appreciated by all who travel this leading highway. The frost of last winter had forced the stones to the surface, and the man with a rake did effective work in making the roadway more easy for travel before the spring road work was commenced. This action of the Smith Council could well be followed by other Councils who have other leading roads under their care.

OBITUARY.

Very Sudden Death of Mrs Wm Mc Donnell.

Her many friends and acquaintances were greatly shocked yesterday morning when it became known that Mrs Wm McDonnell was dead, death having come suddenly from heart trouble. The deceased lady on Saturday was around as usual and retired on Saturday night in apparently good health. Early Sunday morning she was heard groaning, and on her son entering her room she was found unconscious. Medical aid was summoned, but relief was impossible and she expired without regaining consciouness. Heart trouble, with which she was known to be affected, was the cause of death. Mrs McDonnell, who was forty-nine years of age, was a member of one of Peterborough's oldest families, being a daughter of the late Thos Fortye and a sister of Messrs Thos and R H Fortye. She was married to the late Wm McDonnell, barrister, of Lindsay who preceded her to the grave several years ago. One son, Willie, is left to mourn the loss of an affectionate mother. Her sudden demise has caused the deepest regret among her friends, who will all extend the sincerest sympathy to the sorrowing relatives.

At St. John's church yesterday morning the Rector, Rev J C Davidson, made a feeling reference to the sudden death of Mrs McDonnell, who had been an active worker in the congregation and who was well known to all members and would be greatly missed.

The funeral will take place in Lindsay, interment being made in the McDonnell burying plot with her late husband. The remains will be taken to Lindsay on the 8 05 train to-morrow morning.

THE LATE WILLIAM LOUGH.

The demise of Mr Wm Lough occurred Saturday evening about the hour of seven o'clock at the family residence, 473 Water-st. Mr Lough was seventy-eight years of age and was a well known and highly respected citizen of the district. He was born in Monaghan county, Ireland, and came to Canada with his parents about 1823. The family settled in Cavan and Mr Lough resided there until about seven years ago, when he retired and came to town. He was a member of St. John's church and a staunch Conservative in politics.

The deceased leaves six children, Frederick, living in Iowa; Mrs Anderson, of Chicago, and four unmarried daughters, two of whom reside in town. All the daughters were with their father in his last illness.

At St. John's church yesterday the Rector made reference to the appropriately peaceful death after a peaceful life of Mr Lough, who was one of the pioneer churchmen of this part of the country, having done much to build up the church in Cavan for years. He was a man of sterling and lofty character and an ornament to the church he served so faithfully and well.

The funeral takes place to St. John's cemetery, Cavan, to-morrow afternoon.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

Items of Interest Gathered From the Different Congregations

ST. PAUL'S.

Rev Dr. Torrance preached a powerful sermon in Advocacy of Christian Unity at St. Paul's church last evening. The anthem at the morning service was "Yea tho I Walk" and that of the evening "Seek ye the Lord" with solo by Miss Annie Hall and obligato by Mr. H. McKeown. The singing was excellent.

ST. PETER'S.

At the Masses at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday Ven. Archdeacon Casey made sympathetic reference to the death of the late Rev Father Calnan and the prayers of the congregation were asked.

GEORGE-ST.

There was a large congregation at the George-st. church yesterday at both services, Rev. Mr. Shorey preaching. The musical portions of the services were exceedingly fine. At the morning service the anthem "I will Praise Him" (Bierly) was excellently rendered, the obligato solos, soprano and tenor, being most acceptably taken by Miss C. Belleghem and Mr. H. Goldey. During the offertory the solo "Song of the Mist" was very expressively rendered by Miss L. Pascoe. The music in the evening was a very pleasing feature of the service. Mr. G. W. Mulligan sang "Fear Not Ye O Israel" (Buck) before the opening, and he was heard in excellent voice. The anthem was "Hallelujah, He is Risen," by Simper. This was very effectively rendered. "Rejoice Jerusalem and Sing," was a solo by Miss Clara Belleghem, and her singing was of the most pleasing character. A duet, "He Knows" during the offertory by Miss Belleghem, contralto, and Mr. Walden, baritone, was an exceedingly sweet number, rendered with excellent harmony and effective interpretation.

An appeal was made by Rev. Mr. Shorey at the services yesterday for contributions to the St. James's church relief fund. The special offertory will be taken next Sunday.

Owing to Wednesday being a holiday, the weekly prayer service will be held on Tuesday evening.

A High Position.

At the decennial meeting of the Actuarial Society in New York Saturday, Mr. Thos. B. McAuley, actuary and secretary of the Sun Life Co., of Canada, was elected president. This is a high honor for a Canadian to attain as the greatest actuaries on the continent form this association.

Arrested Under the Charlton Act.

St. Thomas, Ont., May 23.—William Faulds, a piano tuner, was arrested yesterday on two charges under the Charlton Act. Faulds is a married man, and has lived in the city for a number of years. Faulds was a prominent member of the Latter Day Saints' Church. The accused will appear before Police Magistrate Davidson this morning.

Finlanders for Newfoundland.

St. John's, Nfld., May 23.—It now seems likely that Newfoundland will soon receive a colony of Finlanders. Applications have been received by the Colonial Government bearing on the subject, asking what steps are necessary to take, and how far the Newfoundland authorities would assist.

Harrow Burglary Suspects.

Windsor, Ont., May 23.—William and David Bellair and Oliver Vanslet, ex-convicts, are in Sandwich jail. They were arrested on suspicion of having been implicated in the Harrow burglaries, and will be arraigned on Friday before Magistrate Bartlett.

TWO GALICIANS MUST HANG

Government Gives an Order to Go on With Execution.

Hangman Radcliffe Has Arrived at Winnipeg and Took a Look at the Murderers—This Torontonian Kept His Identity a Secret While Travelling West—Gusczak and Czuby to Die on Friday Next.

Winnipeg, May 23.—An Ottawa despatch says: "An order-in-council has been passed allowing the law to take its course in the case of the two Galician murderers, Wasyl Gusczak and Simon Czuby at Winnipeg, who killed Wasyl Bojeczko and his four children. They will be hanged on Friday next, the 26th inst."

There stepped off the train among passengers from the east yesterday a short, thick-set man with rather florid complexion and heavy red moustache, wearing a dark suit and light felt hat. He no sooner touched the platform than he quietly mixed with crowds and disappeared before attracting any attention. The man was Radcliffe, the hangman, who is to be the instrument to speed the condemned Galician murderers to eternity on Friday. Coming up on the train Radcliffe was very careful to shield his identity, and requested all trainmen who found out who he was to keep his name quiet. He talked with a reporter after being here a short time and interviewed Sheriff Inkster, also taking a look at the murderers.

THE O. J. C. RACES.

Three Favorites Come in on the Second Day at Toronto.

Toronto, May 23.—Three favorites, three second choices and Harvey, at 6 to 1, won the races on the O.J.C.'s second day at Woodbine Park. The morning rain affected the track but little, and by 2 o'clock in the afternoon the going was good. Indeed, Harvey's 5½ furlongs in 1.09¼ is the fastest at the distance for Toronto. The record:

First race, 5½ furlongs; purse $50; 3-year-olds and up; the Don Purse; time 109¼; betting 6 to 1—W. Hendrie's Harvey 1, Rey Salazar 2, Bon Ino 3.

Second race, 4½ furlongs; for purse $500; 2-year-olds; selling; time .58; betting 9 to 5—Sheehan & Weir's Ira Fordham 1, Owensboro 2, Alpaca 3.

Third race, 1¾ miles; $1,000 added; Stanley Produce Stakes; 3-year-olds; time 2.15¾; betting 8 to 5—W. Hendrie's Toddy Ladle 1, Terralta 2, Curfew Bell 3.

Fourth race, 1 1-16 miles; purse $600; Minto Handicap; time 1.51; betting even—Seagram's Satirist 1, Duke Middleburg 2, Maritana 3.

Fifth race, 1¼ miles; purse $350; Hunters' Flat Race; time 2.22; betting 3 to 10—L. Reinhardt's Romancer 1, Dutch Henry 2, Dalliance 3.

Sixth race, 1 mile; purse $300; 3-year-olds and upwards; selling; time 1.46; betting 8½ to 1—J. S. Wadsworth's Lady Disdain 1, Abingdon 2, Nearest 3.

Seventh race, 1 mile; purse $300; 3-year-olds and upwards; selling; time 1.46; betting 11 to 5—Carruthers & Shields' Guilder 1, Ollie Dixon 2, Nicholas 3.

THE SENATE.

Oldest Legislator in the World in Active Work Makes a Speech.

Ottawa, May 23.—The Senate met yesterday and disposed of the business before it. Hon. David Wark, aged 95, probably the oldest legislator in the world in active vigorous work, spoke in favor of an expediting of business by the Commons, so that the Senate might have something to do. He thought more measures might originate in the Senate. Hon. David Mills, in replying, complimented the aged Senator on his clear statement, and showed how the absence at Washington of Ministers was responsible for the unavoidable delay.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell moved for full returns of original papers in connection with the Drummond County Railway purchase. Hon. David Mills had no objection to the motion, which was passed.

Several bills from the Commons were advanced a stage, and the Senate adjourned till Thursday evening.

TORNADO KILLED PEOPLE.

Two Counties of Texas Visited by a Disastrous Storm on Sunday.

Houston, Texas, May 23.—One of the worst tornadoes that has ever visited Texas passed over Titus and Brath Counties on Sunday. Homes and church buildings were wrecked in several localities. At Mount Pleasant the storm struck a church just as services were closing. A bolt of lightning and the wind descended upon the house simultaneously, wrecking it and scattering the debris in all directions. William Kaufmann was instantly killed and some 15 persons were injured, some fatally. Three are in a dying condition.

Two churches were unroofed and badly damaged, one man was killed and three were injured near Dublin.

Automobile on a Long Trip.

Cleveland, O., May 23.—An automobile started from Cleveland for New York yesterday in an attempt to break the horseless carriage time record between the two cities. The route selected is about 900 miles in length.

G.T. TRACKMEN ARE ON STRIKE

One Report Says 1,800 and Another 9,000 Men Have Quit.

Mr. Hays Is Considering the Requests of the Men—What the Men Are Demanding—They Say They Do Not Want to Make Trouble, But Are After Justice—All Trains Running and Management Confident.

Montreal, May 23.—It was almost a surprise yesterday when a strike of the trackmen of the Grand Trunk Railway was ordered. The men say they do not want to put the company to trouble, but they want the same pay as the men working for the Canadian Pacific Company. General Superintendent McGuigan had left for St. Louis, Mo., but he will probably return.

Mr. Hays, the general manager, said yesterday that the only remark he had to make in connection with the case of the trackmen was that he had seen the representatives of the men, and was considering the questions at issue.

What the Men Ask.

The following is the schedule the company are asked to adopt:

1. Increase of 25 cents per day on present pay.
2. Promotion by seniority, where merit and qualifications are equal.
3. Additional pay at the rate of half as much again for overtime and Sunday work.
4. A man to each two miles of track or fraction of main line track, not including foreman.
5. An eight-hour day on Saturday, from 7 to 12 a.m., and 1 to 4 a.m.
6. Reasonable leave of absence to attend monthly and annual meetings and a pass to annual convention.
7. That no trackmen be discriminated against for belonging to the Order of Railway Trackmen, and leave of absence to be given to serve on the executive committee, but only when applied for by the chairman of the executive committee.

It is claimed that some 1,800 men are out, but the company claims that all trains are running on time.

A General Strike Ordered.

The committee representing the 1,800 trackmen in the employment of the Grand Trunk, and which is at present located at the St. James' Hotel, ordered a general strike yesterday over the whole system.

The chairman of the executive committee and the secretary of the latter said yesterday that they did not want to make trouble, but they did want justice, and the only way, it seemed, in which they would have a chance to get it was in taking the serious step of ordering a strike.

Question of Outside Men.

"Can the Grand Trunk employ outside men?"

"Well, that has been their argument, but how would outside men do the work? Would the public be safe? Would the engineers like the idea of running on a system neglected by the regular trackmen, whose duty it is to see to their respective sections of road twice every day—there being three men to every five miles of road—too few, in our opinion?"

"Do you expect the men can hold out?"

"Well, the men are poor, but surely they will have the sympathy of the public; they wanted a living wage, and they are treated with neglect."

"Does the committee realize the responsibility resting upon it in ordering a strike?"

"It does. A strike seemed the only thing left to us. Our representations were derided, our schedule flung aside, and there was only one thing to do."

A Surprise in Toronto.

Toronto, May 23.—In this city the strike came as a big surprise to the local officials, who were not expecting such a move. The announcement was not altogether expected by the men themselves, although it was known that something would be done this week. The committee have been in Montreal for the past three days endeavoring to arrive at an amicable arrangement with General Manager Hays, but never were the prospects bright for a speedy settlement.

Prior to meeting Mr. Hays, the committee some time ago conferred with General Superintendent McGuigan, but that official, as the men say, only "jollied" them along. When it was seen that no requests would be recognized by Mr.

CREMATORY CLOSETS.

I have been appointed Sole Agent for the Odorless Crematory Closet manufactured by the Crematry Closet and General Heating Co., of Hamilton.

This Closet has found a place in many of the best homes in the province, and all who have used it cannot speak too highly of its merits. Medical men speak of it from a sanitary point of view, claiming that, if health is any consideration, no home should be without one. Here are some of the

TESTIMONIALS

Alliston, March 1st, 1898.

I have had one of your "Crematory Closets" in use now for several weeks and am glad to be able to say that I have found it entirely satisfactory in every respect. I have not been able to detect the slightest odor from it at any time and would not be without it. I am sure it must prove a great convenience to people in the country and in towns where water is not obtainable.

Yours respectfully, JAMES CONWAY.

Shedden, February 28th, 1898.

I have used it for some time and find it perfectly odorless. It is a long felt want and I believe it will become very popular especially in rural districts, towns and villages where wells are so frequently contaminated by the ordinary closets. I am, yours, etc.,

WORK ON THE NEW BRIDGES.

From Corry & Laverdure re stone crusher.—Received.

From a number of ratepayers asking for a sewer on Downie-st.—Board of Works.

From the town solicitor stating that when his salary was fixed it was understood that it was not to include work done for the commissioners, though a resolution has since been passed to that effect and stating that he would like to have it reconsidered.—Received.

From G. S. Matthews complaining that his property would be damaged by the proposed manner of building a bridge on Dalhousie-st.—Received.

From Provincial Board of Health re stock yards.—Received.

Mr. Geo. S. Matthews was present and stated his complaint re Dalhousie-st. bridge as the plans are now drawn. He stated that the raising of the height of the roadway and then raising the pavement still higher would injure the property of the residents. He asked that the grade be not raised and also that the bridge be made to the full width of the street on the north side.

Mayor Davis also stated that he did not believe in the policy of sacrificing property in order to have good grades. Alderman Hall and Langford were in favor of having good grades where permanent improvements were intended, and thus make the property conform. The town engineer stated that the grade could be altered somewhat, if necessary, from what the plans show. The matter was left to the Board of Works.

HOSE PURCHASED.

Alderman Langford, chairman, read the following report of the Fire, Water and Light committee:

Your Fire, Water and Light committee beg leave to report and recommend that the contract for the purchase of three hundred feet of hose from the Gutta Percha and Rubber Manufacturing company be executed by the Mayor and Clerk on behalf of the town under the corporate seal.

The report was adopted.

BOARD OF WORKS.

Alderman Langford, in the absence of the chairman, read the following report of the Board of Works:

Your Board of Works beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your Board appointed Mr. F. Bartlett inspector for the balance of Mr. James Bogue's sewer contract and recommend that he be paid $2.50 per day while so employed, on the certificate of the engineer.

2. Your committee recommend that as soon as the stone is crushed the corporation proceed with the construction of a granolithic sidewalk on Hunter-st. from Reid-st. to Belmont-ave., on the south side of Hunter-st.

3. Your Board instructed the engineer to advertise for tenders for the remaining granolithic sidewalks of which notice has been given, the town to supply the broken granite at a price per yard to be fixed by the engineer and made known in the advertisement.

The report was adopted on motion of Ald. Langford, seconded by Ald. Corkery.

TAX BILLS.

The Mayor suggested an improvement in the method of sending out the tax bills. At present three separate bills are sent out—those for general tax, frontage tax for sewers, and frontage tax for pavements. It would be much more convenient if they could be combined and this would save clerical work. The matter was refereed to the Finance Committee.

FIRE LIMITS.

A by-law to amend the building by-law was introduced and passed. It extended the fire limits to Dublin-st. on the north. It also prohibits the storing of cases, barrels, paper and inflammable material in town.

A NEW MEMBER.

Ald. Hall thought as Ald. Davidson was not likely to attend for some time, and as it would be well to have another member on anyway, he would move that the chairman of the Finance committee, Ald. Denne, be appointed on the Board of Works, Ald. Neill seconded the motion and it was decided carried.

Ald. Neill stated that he had signed for a certain sewer affecting his property on condition that the cost would be the usual cost for sewers. Now he gets what he considers an exhorbitant bill and claims that the matter was misrepresented to him by the Board of Works. He thinks the contract made with Mr. Bogue unfair to him. No action was taken.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

Tenders were received in detail for the substructures for the bridges to be built on Dalhousie and Sherbrooke-sts. The figures totalled up as follows for the work on the two bridges: H. Evans, $1,707.20; R. Sheehy, $1,752.00; G. W. Ranney, $1852.00; J. E. Hayes, $1909.20; C. Wynn, $1,914.00; James Bogue, $1,987.20; Martin & Rose, $2,316.00; T. E. Wade, $2,677.00.

It was moved by Ald. Best, seconded by Alderman Sawers, that Mr. Evans' tender at $1,707.20 be accepted.—Carried.

It was moved by Ald. Neill, seconded by Ald. Denne, that Mr. Thos. McFadden be appointed inspector on the work at $2.50 per day.—Carried.

The application of Mr. Edwards re salary was discussed at some length. It seemed to be the general opinion that in view of the coming arbitration re the ground rent of the buildings on the market block some concession should be made the solicitor. Action was deferred.

FLOWER SERVICE.

The Annual Flower Service was Held at St. Luke's.

The annual flower service was held in St. Luke's Sunday night. The church was crowded, many being turned away from the doors. At 7 o'clock the children carrying flowers entered the church from the vestry and, escorted by Mrs Wm Scott, marched down the north aisle and up the south singing the hymn, "Oh Gather the Flowers Together." Upon reaching the chancel steps the Rev H Symonds received the flowers on a silver tray, which was soon piled up with beautiful bouquets, as well as the chancel steps.

The service was throughout a children's service. The address was from the text, "He hath made everything beautiful in its time," at the close of which Mrs Morris, who was in splendid voice, sang "Consider the Lilies of the Field." After the benediction the hymn, "Now the Day is Over" was sung, during which the children marched out of the church. The flowers were distributed yesterday in the hospitals in town and amongst the sick, and a large box was despatched to the sick children's hospital in Toronto by the early train yesterday morning.

At the morning service Mr Symonds preached on "Christian Unity."

POLICE COURT.

Two of the Men Arrested Last Week Get Terms in Gaol.

At the Police Court this morning the three men, Wm Brooks, Jas Dean and Wm Riley, arrested last week, and who were suspected by some of being implicated in the Bowmanville bank robbery, were brought before the Magistrate. Brooks was charged with being drunk and disorderly. He was fined $5 and costs and discharged. Dean and Riley were charged with vagrancy and both were sentenced to one month in gaol at hard labor. Both put up good defences and tried hard to get off. Riley claimed his story was true except as to the name of the street in Ottawa, and he deceived the police in this in order that his parents might not know of his arrest. He said he came down from Toronto with Brooks the day before their arrest. Dean said he came down from Toronto the Thursday before his arrest to work on a gravel train, and, meeting the other two men, all got drunk. He had $10 when he came to town and bought clothes and meals here. He acknowledged having served time as a vagrant here before, but as he had $4 sewed up in his clothes when he went to the gaol last week he did not see how he could be a vagrant. "One month at hard labor," was the Magistrate's reply.

CLASSICS LOST TO US.

Not One Work of Menander or Varro Remains to the Present Day.

What with barbarism, religious intolerance and indifference, little could have remained to us of the literatures of Greece and Rome but for their almost inexhaustible wealth.

Of Sappho we possess only an ode or two and quoted fragments. Her works were burned in the eleventh century, by order of the great Hildebrand. Addison says, by way of consolation, that they were "filled with such bewildering tenderness and rapture, it might have been dangerous to give them a reading."

Of 106 comedies of Greek domestic life, the work of Menander, a writer whose field was never occupied by anybody else and whose purity of style Plutarch declares to have been surpassed by Homer alone, not even what may be called a fragment remains. Stray lines are quoted here and there. Twenty-four of the plays are known to have existed until the seventeenth century, when they were erased from their rolls to make space for the works of an ecclesiastical writer.

Of the 976 dramas of the great Greek tragedians, Æschylus, Sophocles and Euripides, only 32 are possessed by the world today.

The brilliant Livy, to whom Macaulay, among moderns, is often likened, wrote 140 volumes or rolls of his "Annals" of Rome. Of these only 35 remain to us.

Of the 30 historical volumes of Tacitus we have four.

Of Pliny the Elder, the sole great naturalist of the Roman race, but one work has escaped destruction.

Varro, a Latin biographer, placed by common consent beside the otherwise incomparable Plutarch, is totally lost to us.

Of Cæsar's orations, for which his contemporary fame was as great as for his generalship or statesmanship, not one has been preserved.—Demorest's Magazine.

The Girl of to=day will be the woman of to-morrow. She does not know it, perhaps her mother does not fully understand it, but between the "to-day" when she is a girl and the "to-morrow" when she will be a woman, her life's happiness and health are in the balance. If she is to be a full-breasted, strong, healthy woman, she must develope rightly now. She is at a crisis. She needs more strength, more blood to tide it over.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People is the only medicine that will give her the strength and make new, rich blood. Thousands of healthy, happy girls and young women have been made so by the timely use of this medicine—but you must get the genuine. Substitutes will not cure.

A YOUNG GIRL'S HEALTH.

Mr. F. H. Hibbard, of Sawyerville, Que., says: "My daughter Lena kept gradually failing in health for nearly two years. She was studying hard at school and this may have been the origin of the trouble. She lost flesh, was very pale, subject to headaches, and had a poor appetite. We became very much alarmed and doctored for some time, but with little or no benefit. Finally we read the testimonial of a young girl whose symptoms were similar, who was cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This decided us to give them a trial in my daughter's case, and the result was beyond our most sanguine expectations. Before more than a few boxes were used Lena was rapidly looking better and gained sixteen pounds in weight. She is now as healthy as any girl in Sawyerville, and I am quite willing this statement should be published, that our experience may prove an equal blessing to some other similar sufferer."

There are numerous pink colored imitations against which the public is cautioned. The genuine are only sold in boxes with wrapper resembling the engraving on the left, but printed in RED ink. If your dealer does not have the genuine, send direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and they will be mailed post-paid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

R. M. Hay of Paisley, first president of the Centre Riding of Bruce Reform Association, died on Monday.

Nothing of importance has developed, as far as the despatches show, regarding the peace conference at The Hague.

A block of buildings at Manhattan avenue and Eagle street, Greenpoint, Brooklyn, burned early on Monday, causing $300,000 loss.

The grand stand of the Harlem race track at Chicago, and a lot of stables, were burned on Monday morning. All the horses were got out. The loss is $100,000. Incendiarism is suspected.

'Crowbar Jack" McLean, who escaped from Toronto Police Headquarters on July 12, 1897, has at last been located. He has just been sentenced to a four-year term at Columbus, O., for burglary.

T. C. Patteson's (Toronto) flock of Shropshire sheep at Eastbrook, near Woodstock, was almost totally destroyed by dogs on Saturday night or Sunday morning. The flock was established in 1880.

Empire Day was celebrated at Montreal on Monday by a fine concert, participated in by a thousand school children, and last evening Hon. George E. Foster delivered a patriotic address to 6,000 people.

Englewood, a Chicago suburb, had a real bull fight Sunday, and the Matadors, two boys, Willie Reinig and George Jessup, narrowly escaped with their lives. Both were tossed by the bull, which belonged to Reinig's father.

The historic Oxford Hotel building in Philadelphia was burned on Monday, along with the stables. Policeman Robman was injured while rescuing horses, 58 of which were in the stables, and all of which were saved. No insurance.

Toronto's city treasurer on Monday brought in his budget. Three million two hundred thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight dollars of the controllable expenditure has to be provided for by taxation, which will require 20 mills in the dollar, three more than last year.

In an interview at Montreal Sir William Van Horne had a good word to say for the Mormons who had settled in the Canadian Northwest, and he says many more will come in during the present year. They are intelligent and well-educated, and do not practice polygamy.

The Lord's Day Alliance has entered an appeal at Osgoode Hall in the case of the Queen v. Reid. Robert Reid was an employe at the Grand Trunk Railway elevator at Midland, and was convicted by the local magistrate of having violated the provisions of the Lord's Day Act by working on Sunday. On appeal to the Divisional Court, the conviction was quashed on the ground that Reid was an employe obeying orders, and that the work was necessary to save the grain.

Coroner Aikins opened an inquest in Toronto on Monday night on the body of Lizzie Hartford, who died at her home, 133 Spadina avenue, on Saturday night. Dr. Little said the symptoms were those of strychnine poisoning, but he could not state what really was the cause of death. Dr. John Caven made the post-mortem examination with Dr. Little in the afternoon. Dr. Caven read the report, which stated that death was due to cerebral meningitis. Verdict was given in accordance therewith.

An Unfortunate Participle.

A recent discussion at a dinner table, whether "gotten" or "got" were the preferable participle, received a practical solution, at least for the telegraphic service, from an experience related of a college professor who preferred "gotten." He had telegraphed to his wife "Have gotten tickets for the theater tonight. Meet me there."

The telegraph operator rendered this into "Have got ten tickets," etc.

Mrs. Professor was delighted with the opportunity of entertaining her friends and accordingly made up a party of eight besides herself, whose greetings to the professor at the rendezvous were probably more cordial than his feeling until matters were explained. He now makes an exception to his customary use of "gotten."

A Swift Bird.

The Mexican road runner has only two short legs, but he can beat a horse, a hound or an electric carriage and give them a handicap start.

Speed is not his only recommendation. He eats as he runs, or rather as the things run away from him. Snakes are the principal part of his diet, big and little. His crop is as elastic as his legs are swift, and when he wants to prepare for a long journey he coils up a rattler or two inside of his neck and sets out across the Mexican desert with a swiftness that makes it look like a bunch of dust on a record breaking tour around the world.

His Figures.

Father—Ah, my son, it pleases me to see that you are taking an interest in politics. Every good citizen should interest himself in politics. That is an imposing lot of figures you have there. What do they represent—the vote for the different candidates by wards?

Son—No, father, these are not political figures. They represent the averages made by the members of our baseball team in their practice games.

THE HOLIDAY.

Local Attractions for the Anniversary of the Queen's Birthday.

Queen's weather is promised for to-morrow and will be welcomed with pleasure after the disagreeable stuff furnished during the past couple of weeks. Though there will be no general celebration in town, the day will not be without attractions and the loyal citizens can find plenty of entertainment. The first thing of the day, and what promises to be one of the best, will be the baseball match at the P A A A grounds, in which the new fledged Peterboroughs will meet the speedy Delawares, of Toronto. Ten o'clock, the hour at which the game starts, should see a a big crowd present.

The Ashburnham home of the devotees of sport will see the Peterborough and Hastings lacrosse clubs lined up at three o'clock for a grand match. There is a big excursion coming up from Hastings and it has gone out that they are bringing a pot of money with them.

The annual Roman Catholic picnic at Lakefield always draws many from town on the 24th and will look for the usual crowd to-morrow.

Jubilee Point will have its first excursion of the season to-morrow, being run via steamer Eclipse and barge. A special excursion will also be run to Stony lake from Lakefield on the arrival of the morning train from town.

The Victoria Stock Co. has the boards at the opera house and will give entertainments afternoon and evening.

WORK ON THE NEW BRIDGES

CONTRACT FOR SUBSTRUCTURE AWARDED TO MR HARRY EVANS.

A Large Number of Tenders for the Substructure of Dalhousie and Sherbrooke-st. Bridges—Alderman Denne Added to the Board of Works—General Business.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held last evening. The chief business was to open the tenders for concrete abutments for the bridges on Sherbrooke and Dalhousie-sts., to be built this summer.

There were present Mayor Davis and Aldermen Best, Corkery, Denne Hall, Langford, McWilliams, Neill and Sawers. No action was taken regarding the resignation of Alderman Davidson.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson, chairman of the Town Trust Commissioners, was present for a time and while making no formal statement he signified that the desires of the Council regarding the Kennedy stock yards would be complied with.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were received:

From town solicitor enclosing copies of by-laws re building and junk shops. —Received.

From the secretary of the Town Trust Commissioners in reply to the resolution of the Council asking for a lease of the town lots now in possession of the commissioners, stating that they were unable to see their way to do so.—Received.

From county treasurer giving statement of moneys expended on the locks and Pigeon Creek bridges. —Finance

From the secretary of the Army and Navy veterans accepting the invitation of the town to hold the annual celebration here.—Referred to a special committee of the Mayor, Alderman Langford, Col. Bell and Col. H. C. Rogers.

From a number of ratepayers on Wescott-st. asking for an electric light and for improvements on roadbed.—Fire, Water and Light Committee and Board of Works.

From A. B. Smith asking for position as engineer in the employ of the town. —Board of Works.

From Alderman Davidson resigning his position as alderman.—Received.

THAT FLOTILLA.

Arrival of the Fearless Navigator From Fraserville at His Destination.

A gentleman called at this office a couple of days ago to divulge the manner of the arrival of the commercial flotilla, the departure of which from the Peterborough locks was noted on a late occasion. He states that the bold buccaneer from Fraserville, having left the locks with his cheese-vat craft and his barrel of petroleum in tow about 4.30 o'clock, hove in sight of the lighthouse at Whitfield's Landing, about three miles from Fraserville and the closest point on the stream, about ten o'clock, and, jumping on shore, gave thanks in the fashion set by Columbus in the Columbian stamps. But he found that he had only come to the real work, for the ground was treacherous and it took him till 12.30 to land his cargo. He then began to trundle the articles, piece by piece, in a wheelbarrow over to his emporium at Fraserville. He tapped the coal oil barrel on the spot and got it over in cans in the wheelbarrow. He is satisfied with his experiment. He regards himself as the pioneer navigator on the rolling Otonabee and has a local engineer at work taking soundings for a wharf at Whitfield's.

MR H P KENNEDY

Talks About His South End Yard and Explains His Position.

Mr H P Kennedy, talking to the Review this morning, said he to-day had received the lease of the south ward lot duly signed by the Commissioners. He said that he did not want the people to misunderstand his position. He did not desire to injure any person or any person's property, but as long as the town allowed others the same privileges inside the corporation he felt he was entitled to them. The weighing on the market square and the C P R and G T R shipping yards were just as much a nuisance as his yards would be This lot was not to be used as a feeding yard at all, but simply for facility in sorting and shipping. There would be no buildings, simply a fence. "I am ready and willing to move any place the town says, providing the shipping yards and others are made to move too," said Mr Kennedy.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

Mr John Cummings, a Peterborough Boy, Killed in Washington Territory.

The sad news was received by his relatives here this morning of the death through an accident of Mr. John Cummings, son of Mrs. Wm. Cummings, of town, and a Peterborough boy who is well known here. The news of the sad occurrence came by mail but did not give details, simply stating that he was killed in a mill by being caught in a belt. Mr. R. B. McKee also received a letter this morning from his brother, who is President of the Pacific and Northwest Packing Co., of Seattle, in which reference was made to Mr. Cumming's death. He stated that the accident occurred in a saw mill at Snohomish, W. T., where the deceased was evidently employed. Papers are being forwarded with particulars of the accident.

The deceased, who was a comparatively young man, left here something over two years ago. When here he was employed with his brother-in-law, Mr. Alex. Elliott. He was a jovial, wholehearted young man, who had many friends. The news of his sudden death was a sad shock to his relatives here. He leaves two young children, besides his mother and sisters.

FIRST CHEESE SALE OF THE SEASON

PETERBOROUGH CHEESE BOARD HOLDS ITS FIRST SALE.

There Were 2,199 Boxes Boarded and the Board Was Pretty Well Cleared—The Bidding was Fairly Active—The Instructor Present.

The opening sale of the Peterborough Cheese Board for the season was held in the Council Chamber this morning, when there was a large attendance of buyers and salesmen. Mr. Drummond, President, presided, and 2199 boxes of cheese were boarded. The buyers present were Messrs. Cluxton, Fitzgerald, Wrighton, Whitten, Rollins, Kerr, Moore, Cook and Squire.

The President in opening the proceedings refered to the pleasure it gave him to see so many of the old salesmen and buyers present. He spoke of the absent ones, and said they had also two new factories on the Board this year—Oak Leaf, of Dummer, represented by Mr. Murphy, and Villiers, of Otonabee, boarded by Mr. Blezard. He hoped their relations in the future would be as pleasant as in the past. He then brought up the question of an instructor, referring to what he had done in this regard, explaining that the Executive had passed their word to pay $200 towards an instructor for the season. Lindsay had done the same also. The Dairyman's Association had appointed Mr. Ward as instructor and as he was present he was introduced.

Mr. Ward in a few remarks said he had been in some twenty-four factories in the district and had found things satisfactory. They had good men in this section. He thought there should be a mutual understanding between them all, and every one work for the good of the section.

The sales was then proceeded with, the following being the factories boarded:—

Factory.	Boxes.

Total	2,199

Mr. Whitten opened the bidding with an offer of 8 1-4c. for selections, which Mr. Fitzgerald raised to 8 3-8c. Mr. Whitten made it a sixteenth better, which Mr. Rollins raised to 8 1-2, and Mr. Fitzgerald made it 8 5-8c. Mr. Whitten went 8 3-4c., Mr. Rollins raised to 8 7-8c. and Maple Leaf, Missing Link, Warminster, North Smith, Oakdale, Myrtle, Daisy D., Pine Grove and Stony Lake sold. Mr. Whitten offered 8 3-4c. for further selections, and Westwood, Ormonde, Shearer, Keene, Indian River, Melrose Abbey, Villiers and Fleetwood accepted. Mr. Fitzgerald then bid 8 5-8c. for further selections, Trewern, Bensfort, Otonabee Union and Young's Point accepted, but Central Smith, Warsaw, Peterborough, Union, Fraserville, Cavanville and North Dummer refused. Mr. Cook offered 8 1-2c. for further selections, but this was refused. Mr. Cook then made a bid of 8 5-8c. but this was refused. Mr. Fitzgerald renewed his offer of 8 5-8c. and Lang, Fraserville, Peterborough, Warsaw, Lakeview and Central Smith sold. Mr. Whitten got Cavanville at 8 3-4c. Mr. Fitzgerald offered 8 5-8c. for Lakefield, which was boarded late, but this was refused.

The Board then adjourned until the 7th of June, the factories unsold being allowed to sell off the Board.

—This is "Empire Day" in the schools, when the children will have their loyalty and patriotism refreshed and strengthened.

—Six new members were admitted to the Salvation Army last Sunday evening and took the usual obligations. Among them was Alderman John Sawers.

—A couple of charges of allowing cows to run at large were heard at the police court this morning but were dismissed.

—The High County Constable made a raid on the P. A. A. A. grounds on Sunday, where a gang of boys and young men were playing cards. They took flight and escaped.

—The funeral of the late Mrs. Wm. McDonnell took place to Lindsay this morning. A short service was held at the residence last evening, conducted by Rev. J. C. Davidson.

—The funeral of the late Mr. Wm. Lough took place to St. John's cemetery, Cavan, this afternoon. The services at the house was conducted by Rural Dean Loucks, of Picton. At the service at the grave there were present in addition Ven. Archdeacon Allen and his son, Rural Dean Allen.

—Before a big crowd this morning the engineer in charge of the steam road roller got up steam in the engine and ran the big machine off the car in the C. P. R. yards. A support of timbers had been built up to the car and the machine was taken off without the slightest difficulty. A few parts have to be arranged and the machine will be brought up town as soon as this is done.

HURRY AND LOOKING BACKWARD.

Two Common Habits That Take the Sweetness Out of Life.

If we were to eliminate the two things, hurry and looking backward, from our lives, what a different world it would be! Have you ever thought how hurry takes the sweetness out of life? The task which would be thoroughly enjoyable were it pursued with moderation and a "sweet reasonableness" becomes irksome and is robbed of all its delight and inspiration by our feverish haste and impatience.

It is a trite saying, but worthy of all acceptation, that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well. But how can we do anything well when our minds are projecting themselves beyond the work in hand to manifold other duties and we are always thinking that this should be commenced, or that finished, or the other in progress? Why should we "feel guilty," as the expression is, when we are doing any work that ought to be done? Let us first settle the particular duty of a particular time and then give ourselves up to the full enjoyment and well doing of it. "All work should give joy in the doing," says some one, and indeed it is so, and when it does is it not one of the strongest proofs that life is being rightly lived?

Now as to looking backward. If the energy and concentration of thought that are expended on this one thing were put into the present, what wonders could be accomplished! But the powers of our minds are enfeebled, our hopes dimmed, our energy dissipated and relaxed by our unavailing regrets over what cannot be helped and is past, and so we rob the present.

Consider the events that have seemed the direst calamities. Have they not, in many cases, proved the greatest blessings? And yet what misgivings they called forth! What a dreary vale they made of the "now!" Do we believe, even while we say the words, that all things work together for good to them that love the Lord—for them that are true and faithful? If so, why longer throw away the joy of the glorious present, precious heritage from God for the husks of the past? Stern discipline must be ours in this life—else why indeed are we here?—but, profiting by our mistakes and errors, let us not brood over them. Rather let us grasp the present and, with faith and hope for the future,

Look forward and not back;
Look upward and not down;
Look outward and not in.
—Our Young People.

DOUBTS AS TO THE DATE.

Difference of Opinion as to When Ohio Became a State.

There is some doubt as to the exact date upon which Ohio became a state. Ohio never was a separate "territory," being a part of the northwest territory. In 1801 the people living in the portion of the northwest territory now embraced in the state of Ohio called a convention to frame a state constitution for the district which had set up a claim to statehood under the provisions of the fifth article of the ordinance of 1787. That convention met in Chillicothe on Nov. 1, 1802, and on Nov. 29 completed its work. The constitution thus framed was not submitted to the people, but was declared ratified by the convention itself.

On Feb. 17, 1803, the United States congress passed an act admitting Ohio into the Union as a state, said act becoming operative upon the assembling of the first state legislature at Chillicothe. The first state legislature met at Chillicothe at 10 a. m. Tuesday, March 1, 1803, and both houses immediately organized.

Thus there are three dates about which opinions may differ as to the exact initial period of Ohio statehood. They are Nov. 29, 1802, when the constitution was perfected and ratified; Feb. 17, 1803, when congress passed the act admitting Ohio, and March 1, 1803, when the legislature assembled and organized. The latter date appears to have the greatest claim in view of the language of the act of congress and the organization of the legislature. The two houses of the legislature met in joint session at 11 a. m., March 3, 1803, to open and declare the result of the ballot for governor. Edward Tiffin was declared elected, receiving 4,564 votes. There were no ballots cast against him. At 1 o'clock p. m. the same day Governor Tiffin was sworn in at a joint session of the two houses of legislature by Judge Meigs.

A Fatal Wedding

By BERTHA M. CLAY.

Author of "On Her Wedding Morn," "Which Loved Him Best," Story of a Wedding Ring," "Between Two Loves," Etc.

"You told me last week," he continued, "that you had cried over the 'Heir of Redcliffe.' Do you think the hero the ordinary type of man? You always cite King Arthur as your favorite in the grand world of poetry—do you think there are any King Arthurs now?"

"I thought so," she said. Then, after a pause, added: "Yes, you, yourself, Rupert, are not unlike him."

His countenance flushed with pleasure at her words.

"I thought," she continued, almost piteously, "that the men in books were pictures from real life."

"In some books they are," he replied. "Thackeray's men are all real enough; faults, failings, virtues and vices, all mingle. Disraeli's men are too much on the stilts, they seldom come down to common every-day life. Bulwer's men are grand, but rather too ideal."

"Then what is true?" she asked, in a mystified tone.

"Do not let me lessen your faith in the ideal and noble; do not let me teach you that the world is all bad, men all degenerated; that would be false," he said. "There are great heroes and great saints—there are noble, grand, true men, living now, as there always have been. I only wish to guard you, Sybil, against idealizing every one you meet with. You make heroes of all men, and heroines of all women; that is wrong—false. You must learn to know people as they are, and not as you believe them to be."

Yet even as he spoke, he hated his own words. Why should he destroy her girlish, romantic faith—why should he teach her the bare, cold reality, when her own picture fancies were warmer, truer, and brighter? Only to save her, he said to himself—to save her from idealizing Lyster Ayrton.

If Sybil could see him as he was, Rupert Dacre knew she would not even like him. Seen through the warm haze of a young girl's fancy, he was a very grand hero, no doubt. Better destroy the haze than let it blind her.

No day passed without bringing Lyster Ayrton over to Glynn. He made himself so thoroughly agreeable, no one suspected the part he was playing. He assumed a different character with each different person. With the squire he was a gay, cynical man of the world, the last to be suspected of a design upon a lady's heart. With Sir Rupert he was a trifle more cynical; to Miss Ruthers he showed great devotion; to Irene Jocelyn he affected high notions of honor and common sense. Not one among them suspected he was a wolf assuming different disguises for the purpose of stealing their one ewe-lamb.

To Sybil he was a passionate, devoted lover. She smiled to herself at the excuses he made for coming; sometimes books, sometimes music, flowers, drawings; always a tangible, sensible excuse, that veiled his real purpose. Before the squire, or any member of the family, he was deferential and courteous to Sybil, nothing more; in their absence, he was all passion and devotion, causing the girl's heart to ache sorely, for she could not understand the change in his manner.

They were all blinded, or they must have seen the deadly peril that threatened her. The glamour of love was upon her, and it made her so wondrously happy. From "morn to dewy eve" she was like a bright, blithe, singing-bird—drawing all hearts and all eyes—kinder than she had ever been—kinder, above all, to Sir Rupert; her own heart overflowed with happiness, and she scattered it lavishly all round her.

They thought she was happier because she was learning, at last, to love Rupert Dacre, and he shared the belief. She never looked tired or wearied now, or longed for change as she had been wont to do. She appeared most perfectly content.

The squire was so well pleased that, when Lady Marche invited Sybil and Miss Ruthers to spend three days at Ling, he made no demur. Sir Rupert was going—Irene refused to leave him—and he saw no reason for depriving his darling of a pleasure she anticipated so eagerly.

Ling was often called Liberty Hall; people professed to enjoy themselves there more than at any other place. Lady Marche, they said, understood perfectly the art of entertaining; Squire Jocelyn went little into the world, or he would have heard many strange stories of flirtations begun there with various endings—some happy—others the reverse.

At Ling, every one pleased themselves in what hours they kept. Lady Marche never made plans for them—they suited themselves.

The house was quite a modern building, with large, lofty, splendidly furnished rooms, full of light, fresh air, fragrance, sunshine and flowers; a house full of pretty little nooks and quaint corners that took one by surprise. It contained, besides, a large billiard-room, a smoking-room that might have rivaled a Turkish divan, a lofty ball-room, and a large apartment, set aside by common consent for a theatre; and it was here that Lady Marche had decided upon having the tableaux.

They had all been arranged, and Sir Rupert had grown interested in them. He persuaded the squire to go over for that one evening to Ling.

Sybil and Miss Ruthers drove over in the pleasant noon of a clear summer's day, Violet wondering how it would all end, Sybil full of excitement and pleasure. The fair, willful child forgot everything save that she was going for three whole days to be with him, under the same roof, at the same table. She did not know she loved him—she only felt unutterably happy. Sir Rupert looked at her bright face, and thought earth had never seen anything so fair.

CHAPTER VIII.

"HIS LIFE IN HER HANDS."

The first day and evening were spent in finally arranging and rehearsing the tableaux. They were very effective. The first was the well-known picture of Amy Robsart in her bower-room at Cumnor House, with the Earl of Leicester by her side.

Sybil Jocelyn made a superb Amy; the costume suited her to perfection. Sir Rupert was the gallant earl; and Amy, in the most bewitching of attitudes, sat at his feet, looking up into his face.

"That will do excellently," said Lady Marche, who had a complete mania for tableaux. "There is just one fault, Miss Jocelyn. Your pose is magnificent, but you do not give the right expression. Amy worshipped Lord Dudley, and you must contrive to look as if you worshiped Sir Rupert."

"Will it be so difficult, Sybil?" he whispered. "Oh, darling! think, as you look at me, how I love you."

"I have not the capability of worshipping," said Sybil to Lady Marche.

"You must learn," she said briefly. "Here, Captain Ayrton, you are master of ceremonies. While I drill Sir Rupert, give Miss Jocelyn a lesson."

He came straight across the room to her.

"Will it be difficult, Miss Jocelyn?" he asked. "Will you turn your face to the light?"

She did so. Lady Marche had gone with Sir Rupert to the table, where sketches of different costumes lay.

"Sybil," he whispered, "look at me."

She raised her eyes and read the love that shone in his. For one moment her whole face seemed transfigured; the whole love that had so unconsciously grown in her heart shone there; then a crimson flush seemed to burn her cheeks and brow.

"There is nothing for me to teach," he said, gently; and she turned away from him—turned away never to meet his gaze unconsciously again. That one lingering, passionate glance had broken up forever the calm of Sybil Jocely's life.

She had no time for thought Lady Marche was calling for the third picture. She was to be Rowena, and Violet Ruthers Rebecca. The dark, glowing, southern beauty of one contrasted so charmingly with the fair Saxon loveliness of the other.

In after years, Sybil often wondered if some malicious fate had taken these tableaux into hand. On the evening appointed for them, when the large room was crowded with guests, and the squire sat among them, Sir Rupert Dacre, in trying to arrange the curtain so as to fall more gracefully, missed his footing, fell from the ladder, and sprained his left arm. It was very painful, but not dangerous; instead of appearing on the stage, he was obliged to rest, with his arm in a sling. And this happened only half an hour before the time for commencing.

"What shall we do?" cried Lady Marche. "There never was anything so unfortunate. Amy Robsart would have been one of the prettiest pictures we have. Now we must give it up, I suppose."

"There is no need," said Captain Ayrton, quietly, "if you will allow me to be a substitute. I am not so good-looking as Sir Rupert, but I will do my best."

"You are very kind," said Lady Marche, gratefully; "but there will be no time for a rehearsal with Miss Jocelyn."

"And no need," he replied, with a quiet smile; "she knows her part."

Sybil was standing alone in the little ante-room. She had been talking to the squire, and did not kow of Sir Rupert's accident, when Lyster Ayrton went to her, and told her of the proposed change. She was dressed as Amy, and he thought Dudley might have been pardoned any sin, if the original Amy had been only one half as lovely.

"I can not!" said Sybil, shrinking from him. "I can not, Captain Lyster. I could not go on the stage with you!"

"You would have gone on with Sir Rupert," he said, reproachfully, although his heart was beating high with triumph.

Without a Rival!

Paine's Celery Compound as a Blood Purifier and Health Giver Ranks First in Every Civilized Land.

Professional men, members of parliament, bankers, business men, mechanics and our farmers, after happy results and experiences with Paine's Celery Compound, emphatically assert the great medicine has no rival.

As a blood purifier, disease banisher and health giver, it has won the admiration and praise of those in position and affluence, and people in humbler circumstances have largely added to its extended reputation.

The vast army of sick and weakly people restored to health and vigor by Paine's Celery Compound have done more for the present world-wide sale of the great health-builder than all the press notices ever published.

Under such happy auspices the proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound with full and honest confidence urge the use of this noblest and best of medicines at this present season.

The work of purifying the blood, cleansing the system, regulating the nerves, is an imperative one, and should not be delayed a moment, if ailing people would have perfect health.

Men and women distressed by headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism and liver and kidney complaints, cannot afford to treat their troubles with indifference. Serious and fatal results follow delays. This is the time for the taking on of new strength and true vitality, and Paine's Celery Compound will never disappoint the sick and afflicted.

The old motto of Paine's Celery Compound "Makes sick people well," is as true to-day as it was years ago.

PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT.

U. S. Commission Submits Draft to the Filipino Commission.

Kind of Government United States Is Prepared to Establish—Details Show a Governor-General, a Cabinet and Advisory Council—Americans Point Out Their Liberality—Filipinos Admit It to Be Better Than Spain's.

Manila, May 23.—The United States Philippine commission has submitted to the Filipino commissioners a draft of the form of government the President is prepared to establish. The following written proposition has been submitted to the Filipinos: "While the final decision as to the form of government is in the hands of Congress, the President, under his military powers, pending the action of Congress, stands ready to offer the following form of government:

The Proposals in Detail.

"A Governor-General to be appointed by the President, a Cabinet to be appointed by the Governor-General, all the judges to be appointed by the President, the heads of departments and judges to be either Americans or Filipinos or both, and also a general advisory council, its members to be chosen by the people by a form of suffrage to be hereafter carefully determined upon. The President earnestly desires that bloodshed cease and that the people of the Philippines, at an early date, enjoy the largest measure of self-government compatible with peace and order."

The United States commission prepared the scheme and the President cabled his approval of the form of the document.

Filipinos Propose Nothing.

The Filipinos have made no definite proposition except for a cessation of hostilities until they can present the question of peace to the people. Prof. Schurman told the Filipinos they had no means of gathering the people together, as the Americans control most of the ports. He also reminded them that a liberal form of government was offered them, and pointed out that it was better than the conditions existing under Spanish rule.

Gozaga, president of the Filipino commission, replied that nothing could be worse than Spanish rule, and admitted that the form of government proposed was liberal.

The civilian members of the Filipino commission have declined to co-operate with the other members of that commission, as the former consider Aguinaldo's latest demand to be preposterous, after Major-General Otis' refusal of an armistice, referring to his wish for time in order to consult the Filipino Congress. After a conference to-day with the United States commissioners the Filipino commissioners will lunch with Prof. Schurman, and will afterwards visit the vessels composing the American fleet.

Military Operations Continue.

In spite of the presence of the Filipino commissioners in Manila, the military operations continue with unabated rigor. No troops are left in the northern provinces. They were all drafted south after the outbreak of war. The villages on the west coast are almost deserted. It is added that the only Filipino troops now left are 7,000 men, under General Luna at Tarlac, and about 4,000 under General Pio del Pilar. Even these are demoralized and short of arms and supplies. Many of their rifles are disabled, and the Filipinos are unable to repair them, owing to the lack of mechanics and materials for so doing.

Spanish Garrison in Danger.

A coasting steamer which has arrived here reports that the Spanish garrison at Zamboanga, Island of Mindanao, is holding the rebels in much the same manner as the Americans held them while they were in the vicinity of Manila. Every night the Spaniards are subjected to an ineffectual fusilade, and if they are not soon relieved they will be reduced to the condition of the Spanish garrison at Iloilo just previous to the evacuation of that place.

Disintegration the Story Now.

Washington, May 23.—The War Department has received the following cablegram from General Otis: "Conditions as follows: In Bulacan Province troops maintained at Quinga, Balinag, San Miguel; Lawton proceeding down Rio Grande River from San Isidro; has driven enemy westward from San Antonio, Carlao and Arayat, where he was joined yesterday by Kobbe's column; will reach Santa Anna and Candaba to-day. MacArthur still at San Fernando and will occupy cities south and westward; insurgent forces disintegrating daily. Luna's forces at Tarlac much diminished; has destroyed several miles railway in his front; number of officers of rank have deserted Luna, and few have entered Manila for protection; in Pampanga and Bulacan inhabitants returning to homes, only fear insurgent troops; south of Manila insurgent disintegration progressing, though large force still maintained; conditions improving daily; send battalion troops and gunboat to Negros to-morrow to allay excitement in southern portion of island and west coast Cebu. Have denied request of Aguinaldo commissioners for armistice. (Signed) Otis."

Boer Officials Put It Up.

London, May 23.—The Johannesburg correspondent of The Morning Post, in a despatch dealing with the recent arrest of former alleged British officers on a charge of conspiracy to promote a rising, says he is now convinced that the conspiracy was primarily one of Boer officials, of which Police Commissioner Schutte was the prime mover. Schutte, who evidently used President Kruger's son as a tool, has been forced to resign, but will appeal to the Volksraad for reinstatement.

Napanee Jail Again Broken.

Napanee, Ont., May 23.—A second case of jail-breaking occurred here Saturday night. Chief Adams had arrested and confined a suspicious character in the look-up. Hearing of some things having been stolen down town, the chief went to the coop early Sunday morning to search his prisoner. On entering, he discovered that his bird had flown.

Swallowed a Lead Pencil.

Kingston, Ont., May 23.—A young son of Mr. Cornell, Portsmouth, swallowed a piece of a lead pencil and had to be removed to the hospital, where he was relieved. He was nearly suffocated by the lodgement of the pencil in his throat. The pencil had a nickel top and an eraser.

Glorious News.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters have cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. For sale by James Lynch, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough; every bottle guaranteed.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago Wheat Futures Rose a Cent and a Half Higher—British Markets Closed—The Latest Prices.

Liverpool, May 23.—Yesterday being a Whitsuntide holiday, the British grain and produce exchanges were closed.

Chicago, May 23.—Wheat futures advanced about a cent and a half yesterday, and closed at about the topmost figures for the session. The rise was on St. Louis and commission house buying, on further reports of crop damage in the west, and drought in parts of Russia and Roumania.

VISIBLE SUPPLY.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has decreased 500,000 bushels; that of corn has decreased 2,162,000 bushels, and that of oats has increased 900,000 bushels. The visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States, together with that afloat to Europe, is 65,548,000 bushels, against 66,908,000 bushels a week ago, and 65,405,000 bushels a year ago.

THIN GIRLS GET PLUMP

while using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

There comes a critical time in the life of every woman when the bud of girlhood is unfolding into the full blown flower of womanhood. Mothers at this time should carefully guard their daughters' health, for this is a time when many a girl falls victim to insidious diseases which make life a misery.

Loss of flesh, headaches, pains in back and side, nervousness, irritability, dull eyes and a pale, sallow complexion, these are the symptoms that warn you to use Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

The blood is impoverished and the nerves require nutrition. Nature must have assistance and there is no better way to help nature than by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. It is a food for blood and nerves, and creates rich, red blood, solid flesh and new nerve tissue. The color will return to the cheek, the brightness to the eye, and increase in weight will tell of solid advance in health.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c. a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hemnick & Co., of Shelby, N.C. For sale by James Lynch, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough, at 50 cents and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

For the Queen's Birthday.

The best New York successes will be produced at the opera house here by the Victoria Stock Company, commencing to-morrow. The versatility of this company is great, which is sure to recommend it to the theatre-going public. To-morrow night "The Wife's Secret" will be produced and Thursday night "The Bachelor's Divorce." These are clever and artistic pieces and the company have won great praise for the able and pleasing manner in which they produced them. To-morrow, Queen's Birthday, there will be a special matinee, "Hurly-Burly" being the attraction. This is truly a great comedy, in which the famous character of Major Wellington De Boots figures. Strong specialties are introduced that will delight the most fastidious. Miss Ida May Peck, the leading lady of the company, is widely known as an actress of great power. Matinee prices 10 and 15 cents; evening 15, 25 and 35c.

The Commissioners' Meeting.

The commissioners of the Town Trust met yesterday afternoon. No action was taken regarding the lease of Mr H P Kennedy other than that it was ordered to be signed, the commissioners considering that the resolutions on their books and the steps taken by Mr Kennedy under these resolutions bound them to take this action.

WATER TIGHT BULKHEADS.

They Are Not the Safeguards They Are Supposed to Be.

It is a common belief among all who have occasion to take a sea voyage that their safety on the water is provided for by the careful shipowners in large measure by the water tight compartments with which all the best passenger steamships and all large battleships are fitted.

If you have never been on a ship and seen how these are arranged, you will form a wrong opinion about them at once. It will likely occur to you that the boat is built with these bulkheads as permanent spaces. But this is not true. A passenger steamer, for instance, is built in sections, and each of these on the several decks are used as cabins, saloons, etc., and are connected by heavy iron doors. It is the closing of these doors which completes the bulkhead.

Now, it is obvious that the bulkhead cannot be any stronger than its door, just as a chain is no stronger than its weakest link, and it is all too true that as at present constructed these doors are dangerous and inefficient.

They have been the direct and known cause of the loss of many lives and many good ships, and, if the truth could be known, doubtless many a ship on the list of the missing and unaccounted for could be chargeable to faulty bulkheads.

There are over 350 water tight doors and hatches on a first class battleship and about 300 valves and grates connected with ventilating, draining and flooding the hull and involving the safety of the ship. It will be seen, therefore, that the systematic control and operation of these devices are of no mean importance. It takes 110 men to look after these details alone in response to a collision alarm, and it has never been satisfactorily demonstrated yet that this number are equal to the emergency.

The greatest danger that is to be met with at sea is that of collision, and against this the bulkhead is the chief and only protection. Yet, notwithstanding this, if put to the test, it is doubtless the most vulnerable part of the ship.

RHEA IS DEAD.

The Beautiful Actress, Celebrated Throughout the World, Is Gone.

Buffalo, May 23.—Friends of Mlle. Rhea, the well-known actress, were shocked yesterday to receive invitations to attend her funeral, which was to take place in Montmorency, France, on Friday, May 19 last. It was known that Mlle. Rhea had been very ill, but no word had reached her friends in this city of her death. It was not stated on what day the actress died, the notice merely giving the information that she had passed away at her home in Montmorency in her 55th year.

THE STORMY PETREL.

It Coos to Its Eggs and Hatches Them With Song.

The stormy petrels nest just above the Atlantic surge on the islets near Iona and the Hebrides. There above the rock on certain islands in a black, buttery soil, in which they burrow like winged mice, each one will lay one white egg.

As this desertion of the regions of light and air by birds is something outside the natural course of their lives, it leads to various odd and unexpected social complications and domestic problems.

Among the latter is a serious one, the difficulty of keeping the underground house clean or moderately cool. It is usually very hot. Sand martins, for instance, do not attempt to ventilate their burrows as rabbits and rats do, neither do kingfishers nor the stormy petrels when they make their own burrows and do not creep into chinks between piles of stones or rocks. Evidence of the high temperature of this "hot chamber" where the young petrels are hatched is seen in a very pretty popular belief in the outer Hebrides.

The people say that they hatch their eggs not by sitting on them, but by sitting near them, at a distance of six inches, between them and the opening of the burrow. Then the petrels turn their heads toward the eggs and "coo" at them day and night and so "hatch them with their song." This, which sounds like a fable of the east Atlantic islands, has really a basis in fact. Mr. Davenport Graham says that the account is "very correct. Though I never heard the cooing noise by day, I often did in the evening. It is rather a purring noise. When its nest is opened up, the bird is usually found cowering a few inches away from its egg." This hot and stuffy atmosphere may aid the hatching of the eggs, but there is no doubt that it brings into being other and very undesirable forms of life. The nests and burrows of sand martins are full of most unpleasant insects, and those of the kingfisher are nearly as bad.

He Got the Change.

"I had a novel experience with a street beggar," said a citizen. "I was standing at the corner of Broadway and Vesey street at a late hour waiting for a cable car. A young man asked me for 10 cents. I usually turn away from these people, but in this case, I do not know why, I said to the beggar: 'I have only a quarter of a dollar. If you will take it and get it changed, I will give you 10 cents. I will trust you.' He must have seen that I was no 'farmer.' No farmer I ever heard of would take such a chance.

"He took the piece, scampered across the triangle in front of the postoffice and over to an all night eating house. I saw him come out and watched him go into the postoffice. Inside of ten minutes he was back. 'There you are, sir,' he said, "two dimes, one 2 cent postage stamp and three pennies. They wouldn't gimme the change, sir, in the hash joint, and I thought maybe you might have some use for the stamp.' Never mind what he made by it. Maybe he is an exception."—New York Sun.

Will you put down the cannon and lay by the sword
And seek in an amiable way
By example to lead the barbarian horde
With no thought of mutual fray?
Do you promise a time when all warfare shall cease,
To prove that they speak not aright
Who say that there's only one chance to have peace,
And that's to keep ready to fight?

'Tis too much to ask. Guard each variant mood
Which hasty humanity knows;
Let none of you venture a syllable rude
To jostle a neighbor's repose.
Discourse of the weather and say "How-de-do?"
In a manner discreetly polite,
And perhaps, if good fortune your footsteps pursue,
You'll get home without starting a fight.

Man Killed by Trolley.

Montreal, May 24.—(Special.)—The one accident of the Queen's Birthday chronicled so far, was the sad case of a man named Joseph Wilson, sewing machine agent, who, while crossing St. Catherine-street, near McGill College-avenue, was run down by a trolley and killed.

The body of young Russell, who disappeared two weeks ago, was found in the river to-day.

Little Wilbert Was Drowned.

Burlington, Ont., May 24.—A sad drowning accident occurred here last night, when Wilbert, the 19 month's old son of Robert Tuck of the lakeshore lost his life. The little fellow was playing around the house and fell into the cistern. He was about 10 minutes in the water, but was beyond all aid when taken out. His parents are heartbroken.

AN OVATION TO SIR CHARLES

The Conservative Demonstration a Grand Success.

A Challenge to the Liberals to Show One Good Act of Theirs That Had Not Been Stolen From the Conservatives—Sir Wilfrid Laurier Criticised—Why Sir Charles Hangs On—Banquet Was a Rouser.

Sherbrooke, Que., May 24.—(Special.)—The reception to Sir Charles Tupper at Sherbrooke was a grand ovation. When his special train pulled into the depot an immense crowd greeted him with ringing cheers. Mr. H. R. Fraser, Mayor of Sherbrooke, read an address, to which the chieftain briefly replied.

Opera House Crowded.

At 2 p.m. the Rink Opera House was crowded to the doors with electors from all parts of the eastern townships. Every town, village and hamlet was represented, and the enthusiasm was unbounded. On the platform surrounding Sir Charles were Hon. Messrs. Ives, Baker, Chapais, Hackett, Leblanc, Beaubien, and Messrs. Pope, Moore, Cochrane, Mills, Bergeron, Casgrain, M.P.'s; Bedard, Chicoyne and McDonald, M.L.A.'s, and others. Hon. W. B. Ives opened the meeting by an excellent speech. He was followed in French by Hon. Thomas Chapais, one of the most eloquent sons of French Canada.

An Ovation to Sir Charles.

When Sir Charles rose to speak he was unable to proceed for some minutes, so prolonged was the applause. Again and again the cheers broke out, and hats and handkerchiefs were enthusiastically waved. Sir Charles was in splendid form, and spoke with a fire and vigor which belied his years. He said the reception accorded him was one worthy of a prince of the blood royal. He reviewed the history of the Conservative policy and its beneficial effect upon the Dominion. He challenged the Liberal party to show one good act of theirs which had not been stolen from the Conservatives, and was a continuation of their policy.

Criticism of Sir Wilfrid.

In witty terms he criticised each of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's important speeches, and showed how he had given the lie to the Canadian people by each of his subsequent acts. He spoke of the attitude of Sir Wilfrid when he received the Cobden medal, and how his trade policy since that time had proved that he had received it under false pretences. Referring to the degree of LL.D. conferred upon Sir Wilfrid by the University of Cambridge, Sir Charles said he had been curious to learn the reasons for the honor being conferred. The presenting orator had said Sir Wilfrid spoke eloquently in two languages. Sir Charles stated his adversary could do even more—he could speak eloquently in two languages on both sides of every question, as party exigencies demanded.

Why Sir Charles Hangs on.

The speaker touchingly referred to his advanced years, and how, as he had nothing personally to gain, it was only the sense of duty to his party and his country which kept him in the political arena—that he would gladly see the burden borne upon younger shoulders. Sir Charles then referred to the address which had been presented to him at the depot. He said he felt much embarrassed to reply to it. In order to do so he would have to pronounce the pronoun "I," the use of which had been made a crime by his Liberal opponents, whose leader, Sir Wilfrid, had long since donned the belt of the champion egotist. He declared that 44 years ago, on the 22nd day of May, 1855, he was first elected for his native County of Cumberland, Nova Scotia, and since that time he had simply served his country to the best of his ability. He claimed credit for nothing more. When Sir Charles concluded by a rousing peroration, he was loudly cheered. The meeting closed with cheers for the Queen, Sir Charles, and the Conservative party.

The Banquet Was a Rouser.

The banquet to Sir Charles Tupper in the evening was one of the largest ever given in the Province of Quebec. Seven hundred guests were in attendance. The drill hall, where it was held, was beautifully decorated with flags, bunting and colored electric lights. Mr. R. H. Pope, president of the Liberal-Conservative Association, presided, having on his right Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. L. O. Taillon, J. G. H. Bergeron, H. Mills, Hon. T. C. Casgrain, M.P., and on his left Hon. W. B. Ives, G. B. Baker, Cochrane, Bell, Hackett, Moore, Chapais and Bedard, M.P.'s. Mr. Pope made an admirable chairman and proposed the formal toasts and that of the guest of the evening. Sir Charles replied briefly, as it was his fourth speech that day. Other addresses were made by Hon. W. B. Ives, Hon. L. O. Taillon, Hon. G. B. Baker, Messrs. Cochrane, Mills, Hackett and others, all of which were well received. During the evening the scenes from the Rytown Coons were thrown by limelight on a screen, and the choruses were sung by a quartet, with instrumental accompaniments.

JACK ROACH CAUGHT AT LAST

Final Suspect of the Napanee Bank Robbery Run Down.

Both Pare and Holden Brought This Former Kingstonian Into Their Stories of the Now Famous Burglary—Caught In Boston and Known In Toronto—Has Been Positively Identified.

Toronto, May 25.—Ever since the arrest and confession of Pare, the Napanee bank robber, in July, 1898, the police of the continent have been on the lookout for one John T. Roach, said by Pare and his coadjutor Holden, to have been intimately connected with the famous robbery.

Caught at Boston.

News has reached the city of the arrest of the long-sought-for John, as will be seen by the following despatch:

Boston, Mass., May 24.—John T. Roach of Montreal, alleged by the police to be a professional pickpocket and all round crook, has been arrested here on the charge of being implicated in the robbery of the Dominion Bank, Napanee, Ont., Aug. 28, 1897, when $32,000 in cash and notes was taken. Roach is fifth and last on the list of suspected Napanee robbers.

Known in Toronto.

Roach is not unknown to the city police. He was arrested in Toronto, May 14, 1898, at D'Alton McCarthy's funeral, in company with a pal called Fenton. They were charged with picking pockets. After Roach's release he went to Fort Erie.

He is 21 years old, stands 5 feet 8½ inches high, has brown hair, blue eyes and a fair complexion. It is said he has a decided squint in one of his eyes.

His home is in Kingston, where he was once employed as a clerk.

His Part in the Story.

In regard to the Napanee bank robbery he comes early into the story. Holden in his testimony declared that Roach was with him when the unsuccessful attempt to crack the Dominion Bank safe was made in the early winter of 1897. A hole was bored in the side of the safe and an effort was made to punch off the bolts, but in vain.

The vault was entered, according to Holden's story, by the combination lock being left on the day lock by a man in the bank.

On returning from Napanee to Belleville the rig was smashed and the Indian Hill's house visited.

Pare related some interesting facts about Roach when he gave his confession in August, 1898. Pare said he was going from Cleveland to Montreal in the spring of 1897, when he received a letter from John Roach of Toronto. It caused him to go to Belleville to look for Roach. He didn't find him. Then he went to Montreal and met Roach, who was a friend of Pare's sister, Mrs. Saucier. Holden made up a unique trio.

The Montreal Meeting.

The Napanee robbery was discussed. Roach told of the first attempt and how it had failed. Another scheme, the hold-up one, was suggested by him, and all three decided to go in for it.

The three went up to Belleville, met Mackie, and spent the next few weeks in the vicinity of Napanee, camping out in the woods.

All details for carrying out the hold-up were laid as Pare explained. The first ruse was to have a card game in the bank. The game was so long being arranged that the plotters grew tired. Then the bicycle plan was thought of. This dropped through also. These were all the product of Roach's brain. With failure, Pare became bossy and wanted to try his hand at engineering the game. This was agreed to. Roach showed him around Napanee.

"Roach told me he knew the bank man," was a statement made by Pare in his confession. And when the hold-up game failed he suggested blackmailing the bank man and threatening to disclose the bored hole in the safe as evidence of guilt.

But Roach was like Cicero, never supporting a scheme not of his own initiating. Hence, he and the others quarrelled. He got sore and left on July 20 for Montreal, leaving the others in the woods. He declared there was nothing in the job and he was losing money. In a week he was back in Napanee.

Roach Was Nervy.

Of his return, Pare says:

We asked him: What are you going to do? Have you any money?

He replied: My money is my own.

What did you come for? we asked.

I am interested in this matter, was his reply.

Then I said: If you don't stay you may declare yourself out of the game.

He said: I am going to stay. Nobody can drive me out of the job.

Roach went away that night and that was the last I saw of him till the job was done.

During the trial in August last, Pare was shown a photo of Roach and recognised it.

Roach's Alleged Share.

The division of the spoils after the robbery gave Roach but $1100. But $100 of this he owed Mackie for board, and another $100 was deducted as a fine.

Pare Pare said. "Fenton told me he had

TESTIMONIALS

Alliston, March 1st, 1898.

I have had one of your "Crematory Closets" in use now for several weeks and am glad to be able to say that I have found it entirely satisfactory in every respect. I have not been able to detect the slightest odor from it at any time and would not be without it. I am sure it must prove a great convenience to people in the country and in towns where water is not obtainable.

Yours respectfully, JAMES CONWAY.

Sheddon, February 23th, 1898.

I have used it for some time and find it perfectly odorless. It is a long felt want and I believe it will become very popular especially in rural districts, towns and villages where wells are so frequently contaminated by the ordinary closets. I am, yours, etc., received a letter from Jack Roach to him $3000 for his share if successful. We agreed to fine Roach $100 for sending that letter, and deducted it. Roach really got $900 as he was to pay Mackie $100 for board."

One hundred dollars of the money was sent to Roach on Sept. 1 by Pare, to his mother's house in a letter.

Was One of the Trio.

At the trials in August and November, several witnesses recognised Roach's photo as that of one of the men that hung around Napanee during the summer of 1897, in company with Pare and Holden.

Miss French declared: "This looks like the man Mrs. Mackie called Jack."

In the Crown's case Roach is linked with Pare, Holden and Mackie as a conspirator to rob the bank.

Positively Identified.

Boston, May 24.—Detective Suthergil of Montreal, who had reached here to-day, positively identified Roach as the man wanted at Napanee, though the prisoner denied all knowledge of the affair. He said he would make the Canadian Government forward extradition papers.

Riding a Snake.

Though it was a dangerous undertaking for the African explorers to travel through the land of the pygmies, there must have been a huge interest in observing the ways of these little imps, who were generally struck spellbound at the sight of the white men. Mr. Lloyd, writing in Chambers' Journal, says he was 20 days walking through the great forest inhabited by the pygmies, a forest so dark that in many places it was impossible to read even at noonday. The pygmies were fairly intelligent and peacefully disposed, although their arrows were tipped with deadly poison. They had a frightened appearance and covered their faces, like shy children, when spoken to. The forest was alive with elephants, leopards, wild pigs, buffaloes and antelopes. After leaving the forest Mr. Lloyd came to one place where he took the opportunity of screwing together the bicycle which he had brought with him. A spin on the machine brought out thousands of men, women and children from their villages, and they danced and yelled with delight at seeing, as they expressed it, a European riding a snake.

Roasting Meats.

One of the small but essential points in the roasting of meats often neglected or not understood by the average kitchen priestess is that hot fat, rather than hot water, should be used to baste them. Start the fat of the roast with a little butter or good drippings and then depend upon the juices to continue the process. It should be remembered, too, that all roast meats need a hot oven to start with. Afterward the heat should be tempered.

The Boulevardier In His World.

It is often said and repeated that for the real boulevardier Paris is the whole world. Countries situated beyond the fortifications are foreign lands that only superior force could make him visit. This is true of the Frenchman in general. Moving terrifies him; the idea of a voyage is fearful to him.—Paris Figaro.

Do Not Believe It.

Do not believe that Nerviline will cure neuralgia almost instantly. If your teeth ache console yourself with the reflection that pain can't last for ever. Don't use Nerviline; it might stop the pain. Rheumatism is often difficult to cure. Keep on rubbing the old fashioned liniments as a matter of respect to your grandfather's aunt. Nerviline is a new discovery; that in itself ought to condemn it. Therefore cling to the old; suffer pain; avoid the use of Nerviline, the most powerful, and certain pain remedy in the world.

THE BIRTHDAY OF THE QUEEN

Eton Choral Societies In Full Force Greet Her Majesty.

The Scene Was Picturesque on the Grand Quadrangle of Windsor Castle During the Festivities in the Morning Hours—Throughout All the Provinces the Day Was Celebrated in Canada, and the United States Also—Congratulatory Messages.

London, May 24.—Torrents of rain to-day ushered in Queen Victoria's 80th birthday.

At Windsor, where a general holiday is being observed, the town was decorated with flags, and the church bells were rung at 7 o'clock in the morning. The weather cleared at about 11 o'clock, and a serenade by the Windsor and Eton Choral Societies was given in the Grand Quadrangle of Windsor Castle. The sun then shone brilliantly. The serenade was listened to by the Queen and the members of the Royal family, including the children of the Duke and Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, Prince and Princess Christian and Princess Henry of Battenburg. Sir Walter Parratt, the Master of the Queen's Music and private organist to the Queen, wearing his official robes, conducted the serenade from the steps of the Queen's private entrance to the palace, just below the oak room, where the Queen was breakfasting.

Eton College Cadets.

The Eton College Volunteer Cadets marched into the castle grounds, headed by a band of music, and took up a position in the rear of the choir. Behind the cadets were drawn up the rest of the Eton boys and military knights of Windsor. The Mayor and corporation of Windsor, in their full robes of office, and the borough magistrates were also present.

The scene was extremely picturesque. They all sang the National Anthem, and then the choir gave the program, comprising the late Bishop of Wakefield's Jubilee hymn, a four-part song, and two specially written madrigals to the Queen. Finally, the Eton boys gave three lusty cheers in honor of Her Majesty, and the Duke of Connaught came to one of the windows and thanked those present in behalf of the Queen, who herself, looking to be in excellent health, came forward and bowed repeatedly.

The Mayor Was Knighted.

Sir Walter Parratt and the Mayor of Windsor were then introduced to the Queen and handed her a beautiful floral harp. Her Majesty afterwards knighted the Mayor, J. T. Soundry. Although the official birthday celebrations in London were postponed till June 3, all public buildings, many business houses and a great many private residences are decorated. In fact, more flags were flying than at any time since the Queen's Jubilee.

A great congregation assembled in St. Paul's Cathedral this morning, where thanksgiving services were held, and huge crowds of people were unable to obtain admittance. They grouped themselves in the spaces about the building. The Lord Mayor of London, Sir John Voce Moore; the sheriffs, the aldermen, sword and mace-bearers, and all the other functionaries, in their robes of state, attended. The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Frederick Temple, D.D., officiated and preached the sermon, after which a Te Deum was sung.

Throughout the Provinces.

Birthday celebrations occurred throughout the provinces, the ships in the different ports were "dressed" for the occasion and the warships were covered with bunting.

At Portsmouth there were reviews of the regular troops, volunteers and naval brigades, and the same ceremonies occurred at the various arsenals and garrison towns.

A telegram from Simla, the summer capital of British India, says that impressive Queen's Birthday services there were attended by the Viceroy of India, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, and the Indian and military officials, in full dress. Royal salutes were fired. Lord and Lady Curzon will hold a State dinner and levee to-night. Despatches from the Continent report the printing of eulogistic articles on the Queen's reign in the European press.

Queen Plants a Sapling.

During the afternoon the Queen planted an oak sapling on the east lawn of Windsor Castle. She drove along Kenneth drive to the spot, and was assisted in the planting by the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. All the members of the Royal Family witnessed the ceremony.

Her Majesty then continued her drive in the direction of Frogmore. The military knights of Windsor presented an address to the Queen at noon in the corridor of the castle, and received the warm thanks of Her Majesty.

A pretty incident was the presentation to the Queen this morning by each of her grand and great-grandchildren now at the castle of a tiny bouquet of flowers. These descendants of Her Majesty, who was deeply touched, also kissed her.

McKinley to Victoria.

Washington, D.C., May 24.—The President has addressed the following message to Queen Victoria, on the occasion of the anniversary of her birthday:

Executive Mansion, Washington, May 24.

To Her Majesty the Queen, Windsor Castle, England:

Madame,—It gives me great pleasure to convey on this happy anniversary the expression of the sentiments of regard and affection which the American people cherish towards Your Majesty, and to add the assurance of my own cordial respect and esteem.

May God grant Your Majesty and to the countries under your government many years of happiness and prosperity.

William McKinley.

Francis Joseph's Congratulations.

Vienna, May 24.—Emperor Francis Joseph, wearing a uniform of the King's Dragoon Guards, the British cavalry regiment of which he is honorary colonel, called at the British Embassy here to-day in order to personally offer his congratulations upon the occasion of Queen Victoria's 80th birthday.

Honors in Germany.

Berlin, May 24.—A banquet will be given in the Jasper Hall of the new palace at Potsdam this evening in honor of Queen Victoria's birthday. The Emperor and Empress of Germany, the Crown Prince Frederick William, Prince Eitel Frederick, second son of Their Majesties, and their suites, all of the Princes now in Berlin, the Court dignitaries, the officials of the British Embassy, the Imperial Chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Baron Von Buelow, and the leading military officers will be present.

Hotel Cecil Banquet.

London, May 24.—The birthday banquet, given at the Hotel Cecil to-night, was attended by many members of the American Society in London. Lord Rosebery, who presided, referred to the American guests as representing a commonwealth of States once part of the British Empire, but now nearer than any country excepting the colonies. Col. Taylor of the society, in responding for the Americans, paid a tribute to the Queen, and read cablegrams that had been exchanged with the citizens of Tampa, Fla. His speech brought out a further response from Lord Rosebery, after which the orchestra played "Hail Columbia" amid a lively demonstration.

Message From the Pope.

London, May 24.—Her Majesty received a telegram of congratulation from Pope Leo XIII.

Even Kruger Observed the Day.

Pretoria, Transvaal, May 24.—The Volksraad, or Parliament, adjourned at noon to-day, in honor of the birthday of Queen Victoria.

A Reception in Paris.

Paris, May 24.—Sir Edmund J. Monson and Lady Monson this evening gave a grand reception at the British Embassy. There were 1500 guests present, including the Infanta Eulalie, aunt of the King of Spain; Grand Duke Michael, brother of the Czar of Russia; the Cabinet Ministers, the diplomatic corps, and most of the members of the Bourbon and Bonaparte families. It was a brilliant gathering, and was representative of the highest society of the French capital. The music for the occasion was furnished by the band of the Republican Guards, sent by Gen. Zurlinden, Military Governor of Paris, which was meant as a compliment to Queen Victoria on the anniversary of her birthday.

A New York Celebration.

New York, May 24.—Seventy persons tonight sat down to the fourth annual dinner of the British Schools and Universities Club, given at the Brevoort House in honor of Queen Victoria's eightieth birthday. The banquet room was draped with the British and American colors, and the tables were decorated with flowers. The club is composed of residents of the city who have attended British universities and such schools as Eton and Harrow. Rear-Admiral Sampson was the guest of honor. At the head of the table were an immense British Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes, and between these a portrait of Victoria in her coronation robes. American and British flags were also arranged at the opposite end of the banquet hall.

Union Jack In Buffalo.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 24.—British flags were much in evidence in Buffalo to-day. The visit of the Hamilton, Ont., Army Veterans and the desire to honor Queen Victoria brought out a display of bunting in the down-town district that was almost equal to that of the 4th of July. The Union Jack was to be seen everywhere.

A Presbyterian Message.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 24.—The Presbyterian Assembly to-day sent a congratulatory cable gram to Queen Victoria on her eightieth birthday. This message was cabled:

"The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in America tenders congratulations on the eightieth anniversary of your birthday, and rejoices in the divine guidance which has blessed your life and prosperous reign."

The Celebration at Tampa.

Port Tampa, Fla., May 24.—The 80th birthday of Queen Victoria was celebrated at Port Tampa to-day. Two hundred marines from the Intrepid and Pearl, the two British cruisers sent to take part in the celebration, landed at 8 o'clock in the morning and were escorted up the long dock by the Tampa division of the Florida Naval Reserve, the Englishmen playing the American national airs and the Americans responding with the British Anthem.

The most dramatic incident of the day was the unveiling of a portrait of Queen Victoria. The portrait, draped in the flags of the two countries, stood upon a small balcony of the inn, and before it stood a crowd of expectant watchers. At noon precisely in the capital at Albany, N.Y., Governor Roosevelt touched an electric button, the covering fell from the face and two marines, English and American, standing at either side of the portrait, clasped each other's hands. The people cheered enthusiastically and off in the harbor were heard the heavy guns of the warships firing the Queen's salute.

ALL OVER CANADA.

Some of the Methods by Which Local Communities Testified Their Loyalty.

Delightful weather was vouchsafed for Queen's Birthday in Canada this year. In Toronto the celebration of the day was privately effected by the people, or else they helped others celebrate. Woodstock had baseball and bicycle races. A 20-mile bicycle road race and baseball were the principal amusements in Brantford. Madoc had the Toronto Tampa cadets, baseball and drilling contests. Six hundred U. S. soldiers visited Kingston, the corps known as the 3rd New York Battalion. A military review and harness races were other attractions. Georgetown had races and other sports. Ottawa lacrosse games, suspension of business and games. Barrie indulged in cricket, baseball and other sports. St. Catharines had a grand military day, and Galt games and baseball. Baseball and lacrosse were the features of the day at Peterboro.

Military Day In Montreal.

Montreal, May 24.—(Special.)—The feature of the Queen's birthday celebration in Montreal was a grand military review and field day. The local corps were augmented by the Eighth Royal Rifles of Quebec and the Second Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto. The proceedings were also taken part in by the Grand Army of the Republic Veterans, Vermont Post, located in Montreal. The whole of the troops mustered about 4000, formed in review order under the command of Major-General Hutton, and were inspected by His Excellency the Governor-General, who was accompanied by his staff. The display was one of the finest of its kind ever seen in Montreal.

MR. FOSTER IN NEW YORK.

An Honored Guest at the Canadian Club, He Talked Sturdily for the Dominion of Canada.

New York, May 24.—More than 100 members and invited guests attended the third annual dinner of the Canadian Society of New York, which was given to-night in the banquet hall of the Hotel Manhattan. At the guests' table, which was presided over by Rev. Dr. Edward H. Kraus,, pastor of St. Matthew's Church, and president of the society, seated as guests of honor were the Hon. George E. Foster, ex-Minister of Finance, Ottawa; Hon. Percy Sanderson, British Consul at this port; Hon. J. Franklin Fort, Newark, N. J.; Hon. Hiram H. Steele, Brooklyn; Rev. E. Walpole Warren, Rev. Dr. McConnell and Dr. W. M. Polk.

The toast, "Canada," was responded to by Hon. George E. Foster, Hon. J. Franklin Fort spoke to the toast "The land we live in." The toast "Our guests" was responded to by Rev. W. S. Rainsford, Rev. E. Walpole Warren and Dr. W. M. Polk spoke to the toast "Kindred societies."

What Mr. Foster Said.

Hon. George E. Foster in responding to the toast "Canada, the Land of the Maple," said in part: "Canada has changed for the better since you left there 20, 25 or 30 years ago, commercially and otherwise. Now it is not a Confederation on paper, it is a Confederation in reality.

"In Canada to-day there is strong national feeling, stronger than it ever was before. We believe we were put there to stay and with God's help we will stay there, too—for we do not intend to be absorbed into the United States, and we do not know whether any one wants us or not; we intend to stay there and work out our own salvation. Absorption with the United States would mean severance from the Empire, and that is not popular. The destiny of the British Empire is not disintegration, but consolidation. [Cheers.] We in Canada have as much interest in the Empire as the people who live in the heart of London or Edinburgh. It is like the vision of mother and daughter, not parting but living under the same roof tree. While I am thus speaking I have not forgotten that we are here on the 80th anniversary of the birth, and nearly the 62nd of the reign of our Queen [Cheers]. She is the Queen dearly loved by British subjects the world over.

The Expansion Idea.

Speaking on expansion the speaker in referring to the United States said: "If you feel that you are strong enough it is your duty to extend your territory when occasion demands it, and not count the cost, for England never stopped to count the cost. With England and the United States united, the peace of the world would be assured. The two flags ought to float together. We are Anglo-Saxons in blood and bone, and so they say we are children of the blood. If ever the hand of the mischief-maker would be raised to make war between these two great nations the universal conscience would deprecate it most seriously."

The speaker thanked the society for the honor conferred upon him in asking him to be present and speak to what he termed "the exiled fellow countrymen." At the close of Mr. Foster's address the assemblage arose, and after indulging in tumultuous cheering, sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

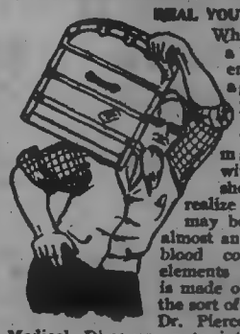
REAL YOUTH.



When you see a man of enough to be a grandfather pick up a heavy trunk and march off with it on his shoulder you realize that a man may be young almost any age if his blood contains the elements that your is made of. That the sort of youth that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery puts into a man's veins. It gives him digestive power; turns his food into good nourishing blood; it enables the liver to keep the blood pure and free from bilious poison. It fills him with muscular strength and vitality. It makes him in the true sense young again, and keeps him so.

"I am pretty well now, for a man of six three years," says Mr. John Larson of Ashl Grant Co., Minn. "I had been very badly tro led for many years with dyspepsia, also na catarrh, and got so bad and weak that I co not work.

"I could hardly eat anything without vom ing; had a pain in the stomach and a burni sensation coming into the throat. I took Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleas Pellets,' and can truly say these medicines h helped me wonderfully. I commenced taki them in the fall and used them all winter, took fifteen bottles of the 'Discovery' and of the 'Pellets' according to directions, must say that both are good honest medicines

"I improved right along from the very be ning. I just stopped taking medicine in latter part of May and then felt as well as e in my life. I can eat all kinds of food and doesn't cause me any pain in my stomach n as it always did before I took Dr. Pierce's m icines. I can cheerfully say to the public they need not hesitate in taking Dr. Pier Golden Medical Discovery for dyspepsia will eradicate and cure the disease if anyth will."

If you are in poor health write to R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. It cost you nothing whatever for his adv although he is at the very head of profession in the treatment of obsti chronic diseases.

PITH AND POINT.

It's as hard to hide indifference as it is to conceal love.

Money talks, but, unlike men, it never gives itself away.

One seldom has the price of the man who is really worth buying.

Every time you forgive a man you lower him in his own estimation.

Hope is a pleasing acquaintance, but one you can seldom depend upon.

Still water may run deep, but some men who talk but little think still less.

The shadow of the family tree accounts for a good many shady reputations.

Time may be money, but it's hard for a man to make his creditors believe it.

A PAIR OF BULLIES.

AND HOW THEY WERE WELL SETTLED BY A TENDERFOOT.

The Blue Eyed Dude Took Their Insults Until They Went Just One Step Too Far, and Then Came the Tragic Climax and Retribution.

"The bad men down my way haven't been fooling with tenderfeet much of late years," said George Craig, an Arizona man. "Tenderfeet have a way of coming to life once in awhile, and the wolf eaters have found this out. I remember the case of a tenderfoot who arrived at himself in Phenix back in 1887. He was a towhead, with white eyebrows, a peachy skin and a slight lisp, but he made good. He had struck Arizona straight from a mining school somewhere back east. He hadn't made the 'mining engineer' proposition stick, and within a month after he landed in Arizona he found himself broke in Phenix. So he got a $5 a day job pounding the piano in the back room of Joe Hardesty's Palais saloon. He was a pretty fair piano sharp and earned his wages. His name was Algernon Montclair, and he looked the name, with his girly skin, big blue eyes and mild, inquiring expression. The boys got to guying him a good deal, calling him 'mamma's angel child' and that sort of thing, and they tried pretty hard to get a rise out of the key puncher, but he stood for the whole thing and never stopped playing when they were guying him the hardest. Joe Hardesty called the gang down once in awhile for ridiculing the piano player, but when Joe wasn't around they poured it into the tenderfoot pretty hard. His two chief tormentors were Buck Freeman, a genuinely bad man, and Chop Suey Pollock, a bad proposition from San Francisco. Both were killers with records. They had both been warned to cease their picking on the tenderfoot piano player by Joe Hardesty, who was pretty quick with a gun himself, but one Sunday the pair, who were thick friends for some reason or other, went down to the Palais. They knew that Hardesty was out of town, and they wanted to have some fun with the piano whacker. The tenderfoot was thrumming away, when Freeman and Pollock lurched into the back room of the saloon.

"'Hey, sis!' said Freeman to the tenderfoot as soon as he got into the room. 'You thump that thing purty well, don't you? But there's one thing I never seen you do, an that's play the piano an waltz at one an the same time. Never teached you to do that, did they? You ever seen him do it, Chop?' he asked his pal, turning to Pollock.

"'Not any,' said Pollock, 'but it sounds as if it ought to work pretty good.'

"'I don't know how it 'ud work,' said Freeman, 'because I never seen it did, but I got a powerful hankerin to see it. Sis, s'pose you heave us one of them doublin up stunts I'm a-talkin about. I've hearn you do the key-punchin end of it; now I want some ballay with it. Go ahead!"

"'I don't danth,' replied the tenderfoot.

"'Oh, yeth, you do!' chimed in Pollock, imitating the tenderfoot's lisp. 'You can danth all right. You got to danth.'

"'I thay, you fellowth,' began the piano playing tenderfoot, 'I'm not feeling well tonight, and thith ith no time to'—

"'Danth!' shouted both Freeman and Pollock together, suddenly pulling their guns, and both of the bullies planted balls within an inch of the tenderfoot's heels, the bullets boring through the soft pine floor.

"Algernon Montclair struck up 'On the Beautiful Blue' on the piano, at the same time shuffling his feet about clumsily in time with the music. His gyrations tickled the two devils behind him to the limit. They roared out directions, and when the tenderfoot's movements seemed to slacken from weariness they put another pair of bullets through the floor close to his feet, and he went on with renewed energy. There were a number of men in the front part of the saloon who didn't like the thing a little bit, but they kept out of it from motives of prudence. The tenderfoot played the waltz through and danced to it twice before his tormentors grew weary of the fun and let up on him by walking up to the piano and bringing their paws down on the keys together. They had put away their guns.

"'That'll do you, sis,' said Freeman. 'I knowed you could danth, an you've proved it. You danth like you were born to it. Your mother must have been a ballay danther, or else'—

"Freeman was walking toward the front room with Pollock as he said this.

"'I thay, you,' called Tenderfoot Algernon Montclair after him in a quiet tone of voice, and Freeman turned around to see what the key puncher wanted. As he did so he saw the tenderfoot standing with his back to the piano and a gun in each hand. There were two almost simultaneous reports, and both of Buck Freeman's arms were broken close to the shoulders. Chop Suey was quick on the trigger, and he had his two guns out before the tenderfoot's pair belched forth a couple more flashes, then Pollock's twin guns fell to the floor like so much junk. Both of his arms were broken too.

"'You dirty dogth,' said the tenderfoot to the two helpless bullies as they stood and looked at him savagely with their shattered arms at their sides, and then he walked over to them and spat in their faces one after the other. Freeman gave a sudden reach out with his right boot as if to trip the tenderfoot, his idea probably being to get the piano player down and stamp the life out of him, but the tenderfoot, whose mild blue eyes were now blazing, was too quick. He hopped back out of reach like a boxer, and with his right hand gun he bored a hole fair and plump through Buck Freeman's forehead. Pollock begged for his life like a cur, and the tenderfoot, after looking him over doubtfully for a full minute, gave it to him. The piano player surrendered himself to the night marshal and was locked up overnight in the calaboose. A coroner's jury was got together at 10 o'clock the next morning, and inside of exactly eight minutes the verdict was reached that 'Buck Freeman had met a justifiable death at the hands of a tenderfoot, who is hereby acquitted.' The jury having been dissolved, the members of it repaired to a room and formulated resolutions of thanks to the tenderfoot for having wiped two hard citizens out of the town's population. When Joe Hardesty came back the next day and heard how his piano thumper had lined up to meet an occasion, he gave Algernon Montclair $200 and a ticket up to the Colorado mining country, where the tenderfoot wanted to go.

"Tenderfeet haven't been toyed with much down here in Phenix since that thing happened."

The only artisan buried in Westminster Abbey is George Graham, the instrument maker, who invented an improved clockwork in the year 1700.

The Ashes of Love.

The women are telling of an Atchison man who treated his wife with indifference and cruelty in their early married life. They say he is now down on his knees blowing into the dead ashes of her love trying to revive a spark of affection for him. How women love to picture a man in such an attitude! It is probably the dream of every neglected wife that some day her husband will try to warm his hands like a frozen Cupid at the fires of her love, and will find only dead ashes there. There are enough dead ashes in the average woman's dreams to macadamize a road people gathered in the grounds. Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick arrived from Peterborough driving with Messrs. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., J. W. Fitzgerald and D. O'Connell. Among the clergy on the grounds and who appeared later on the platform with the speakers, were Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Rev. Fathers Maguire, Hastings; Brethren, Emily; Fitzpatrick, Lakefield; Jos. Sullivan and F. Sullivan of the cathedral. The programme consisting of a football match, sports and speeches made up the afternoon's amusement, while an orchestra furnished music for the dancing platform which was well patronized. During the afternoon it was noticed that Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick, and the other visitors and clergy were interested in a friendly competition in kicking the football, not a contest for goals but for long distance kicking. While no one who is acquainted with the genial and fatherly Ven. Archdeacon would refer to him as a "kicker" yet he was the champion kicker when it came to handling a football.

SOLICITOR-GENERAL WAS AT LAKEFIELD

It was well on in the afternoon before the speaking commenced. The speeches were all short and very suitable to the occasion, all making reference to the popularity of Rev. Father Fitzpatrick and congratulating him and his people on the success of the picnic.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., officiated as chairman, having on the platform with him Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick, the clergy and Messrs. J. W. Fitzgerald and D. O'Connell.

Mr. Stratton in opening the proceedings spoke of the pleasure it gave him to be present on the present and other such occassions, congratulated Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, made a reference to the day they were celebrating and to Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick. He then introduced Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald.

Mr. Fitzgerald was brief. He also expressed his pleasure at being present and endorsed all Mr. Stratton had said. He spoke of the loyalty of Irishmen in Canada. They were loyal and there was no reason why they should not be. Referring to the Queen he said he hoped she would live long enough to put her signature to the Home Rule bill for Ireland.

Mr. Daniel O'Connell was next introduced, after his name had drawn out some references to the noted Irishman who bore the same name. He paid a tribute to the worth of Rev. Father Fitzpatrick and made a pleasant reference to the loyalty of Irishmen and to the reasons there were for that loyalty.

Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick was the next speaker. He was not lengthy in his remarks and was rather happy in his style and illustrations. He began by explaining that he had not come to make a speech but was among them to make their acquaintance, to meet his fellow country men and his namesake Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, his friendship with whom he hoped would increase as the years went by, and who he was pleased to meet as a distinguished brother of the same race and the distinguished bearer of the same name. It was good for them in the east with their slow going methods to come among those in this country with their more advanced ways. It was good for those of the same common origin to come together and know each other. He spoke of the breadth of mind of the French Canadian people of his province, and made an eloquent reference to Ireland and Irishmen, calling upon them ever to be loyal to the land from which they sprang. He also made earnest reference to their ancient faith which had come down unchanged to them through the ages. He also called upon them to be loyal to Canada, and assist in making a united people who would be one in building up the great future of the nation. He wanted in this building of the nation to see on every stone the mark of an Irish chisel.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey and Rev. Father Maguire also added their congratulations. The latter was very happy in his remarks. Rev. Father Fitzpatrick was the last speaker called on, and he expressed the gratification it gave him to have Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick present. They could all thank him for coming such a distance to be there and for heading the contribution list with $50. The rev. gentleman thanked all who had assisted in making the event a success.

A pretty feature of the speaking was the presentation by three little tots of bouquets to the speakers as they concluded their speeches. Mr. Stratton received his from little Katheleen Conroy while Geraldine Rudkins did the honors for Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick. The little girls each received the usual reward from the gentleman honored.

The football match in the afternoon resulted in a victory for the Warsaw team by two goals to none. Warsaw was meeting the Shamrocks, a combination team from the two parishes. The teams were:

A programme of sports was run off by Messrs. W. White and Jas. Quinlan and gave the younger element much excitement. The prize winners were:

A MAN'S SOUL LIES IN HIS STOMACH.

The Reason Why we Have so Many Cynics.

If Every Pessimist were to Cure his Dyspepsia by the Use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the World Would be so Much the Happier.

Why do some men look at everything in a cheerful light? No matter what happens they always see the bright side of it. Such men are always happy and they cheer up everybody near them.

Look at Jones there, laughing and slapping his pale-faced friend on the back.

"How are you old man!" he almost shouts. "Glad to see you. Great weather we're having; wet but great weather for the farmers. Makes a man feel brand new."

Jones looks as if he felt brand new, but his friend doesn't.

"I think it's miserable weather," says he.

"Oh, no. It's fine; just what we need at this time of the year," says Jones.

"I don't see it," says his friend. "Wet, sloppy, dirty under foot and dark over head. It gives a man the blues, spoils his appetite. Makes him feel like jumping off the end of the dock."

"Oh, pshaw, man, brace up", says Jones. "Your stomach is out of order —that's what's the matter with you."

"I know it is," says his friend.

"I used to be a chump like you," says Jones; "always down in the mouth, couldn't enjoy a good square meal and couldn't digest it afterwards. But I swore off all that."

"What did you do?" asked his pale-faced friend with interest.

"I took Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets," said Jones.

"Did they cure you?" asked his friend.

"Look at me," said Jones.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale at all druggists at fifty cents a box.

A factory making all kinds of shoes cannot have as many shapes, sizes and widths of lasts, as there are forms and sizes of feet, because it requires so many for each kind made, that there wouldn't be room in the factory for them all, nor money in the bank to pay for them.

In the Slater Shoe Factory, where only one specialty is made, there are fourteen shapes in 7 sizes, 6 half sizes and 5 widths (in other factories there are only two or three shapes in one width). WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptial Events Celebrated on the Queen's Birthday Holiday.

A pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Chas McCall, Douro, a short distance from town, last evening at 7.30 o'clock. The contracting parties were Miss Hattie McCall, daughter of Mr. McCall, and Mr. Frank Curtis, of Douro. The bridesmaid was Miss Lillie McCall, sister of the bride, while Mr. D H Curtis, brother of the groom, was best man. Rev. Mr. Shorey, of George-st church, officiated. Bride and bridesmaid were charmingly attired for the occasion. There was a large gathering of friends and relatives and after many congratulations to the happy pair a pleasant evening was spent by all. The presents were very handsome.

DEGEER-JONES.

Rev. Mr. Shorey had a wedding at the parsonage yesterday afternoon shortly after two o'clock. The parties were Mr. Arold Degeer and Miss Mary Jones. Both young people are residents of Markham township.

The mine is looking far better now than it ever did. The south vein is opening up extremely rich in sylvanite and free gold ore. Assays made of different samples went $780.00. The ledge has since opened out to 7 ft. 6 in., and is gone down strong and rich. The upper tunnel is getting into a richer ore. 1d-1w

At the Opera House.

The Victoria Stock Company gave two entertainments at the opera house yesterday afternoon and evening. The audience for the matinee was not large, but the house was fairly well filled at night. The company is composed of excellent theatrical talent and their comedies were put on with skill and spirit. All the actors took their roles very capably. The company finishes its engagement with a performance this evening.

METHODISTS MEET.

Important Business on the Closing Day of the Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Methodist churches of Peterborough district, which opened at George-st. church on Tuesday, was continued yesterday, sessions being held morning and evening. Rev. Mr. Shorey presided and there was a full attendance of clergymen and lay delegates. Rev. N. D. Drew was appointed secretary by ballot.

At the morning session it was decided to hold the next annual meeting at the Charlotte-st. church here.

Rev. A. W. Mallet having sent in his resignation and having been out of the work for the past few years the resignation was accepted.

Reference was made to the death during the year of Rev. D. G. Harrison, one of the members of the conference, and a committee was apointed to prepare an obituary.

On motion it was recommended that Messrs. C. E. Cragg, J. W. Coon and J. N. Clarry be sent to college with full aid.

The matter of securing more preaching for Salem church, Otonabee, was introduced by Rev J. E. Moore, who explained the situation fully. The matter was recommended to the Stationing committee for favorable consideration.

A member from South Cavan church was introduced by Rev. J. N. Clarry asking that an ordained single man be stationed there for a year. A resolution making provision for this was carried.

The report of the afternoon session is held over till to-morrow.

AT JUBILEE.

The First Picnic of the Season Very Successful.

The first excursion of the season to Jubilee Point was held yesterday under the auspices of Auburn Sunday school and proved a most pleasant affair. About one hundred and fifty went down for the outing per steamer Eclipse and barge and after a pleasant sail arrived at Jubilee at noon. The point was beautiful in its spring verdure Dinner was served and a programme of sports was run off, the chief feature being a football match, ladies vs. gents. The fair sex proved good kickers and won by 3 goals to 2. The return trip was started about five o'clock and the boat with its happy crowd reached town about nine. It was an ideal day for an outing and the sail up the river was delightful.

SOLICITOR GENERAL WAS AT LAKEFIELD

HE ATTENDED THE ANNUAL PICNIC, WHICH WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

Rev Father Fitzpatrick's Efforts Were Crowned With Success—Speeches by Hon Mr Fitzpatrick and Others—Lacrosse and Football Matches—Sports.

The National Holiday was celebrated in Lakefield by a great gathering of people who attended the annual picnic of the parishes of Lakefield and Young's Point presided over by the energetic and popular Rev. Father Fitzpatrick. The grand weather tended to make the attendance large, while the programme which had been advertised and the presence of Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, Solicitor General of Canada, and the personal popularity of the reverend gentleman who had the event in charge also ensured the presence of many outside the parishes and of different denominations. Peterborough sent large delegations on the special trains which were run, while many others drove or wheeled out to take in the event. The picnic was a great success in point of attendance, in the amusement and enjoyment furnished, in the finances realized and in the management generally, and Rev. Father Fitzpatrick is to be congratulated and may well feel gratified at the results. He was assisted by many gentlemen and ladies, the latter especially doing things in right royal style in furnishing the supper.

The picnic was held on the agricultural grounds in the village, while the tables were laid in the building adjoining. In the morning a lacrosse match between a junior Peterborough team, the Young Shamrocks, and a team from Campbellford furnished some good sport. The Peterboroughs won the contest by a score of 3 goals to 1. The scoring for the Peterborough boys was done by D. White in half a minute, M. Galvin in 15 minutes and W. O'Brien. The teams were:—

Young Shamrocks—G. Gilman, goal; W. Judge, point; W. Smith, cover point; J. Welsh, W. O'Brien and J. Milligan, defence; Jos. Milligan, centre; J. Dolan, D. White and H. Gilman, home field; H. Sullivna, outside home; M. Galvin, inside home; D. Symonds field captain.

Campbellford.—W. Barnett, goal; M. McCann, point; R. Maynard, cover point; E. Doxsee, N. Beattie and J. Welsh, defence; T. Lannan, centre; C. Brady, E. Dunk and W. Whitty, home; L. McGrath, outside home; A. Casey, inside home; E. Keating, field captain. Referee—M. Vandervoort.

In the afternoon a great crowd of

UP THE LAKES.

Some Cottagers Spend the Day at Stony Lake—The Water.

The steamer Majestic made a special trip yesterday up the lakes from Lakefield, carrying a large number of cottagers who were going up for the day. The Majestic is in charge of the old crew of last year and is running faster than ever, as shown on Wednesday, after her spring overhaul. The steamer has been busy towing and will be so engaged for a week, but will be withdrawn and thoroughly re-painted all over in time for the opening of the season on the 15th of June. A Kingston man on board on Wednesday said he marvelled at the dexterity with which the boat was handled around and at the islands. He was told to take a trip some dark night and then he would get a fair idea of the grip of things that the pilot has acquired. Those who go frequently to the lakes and use the Majestic talk of the ability of the pilot every time.

To get an 8 ft. navigation on the locks from Lakefield north the water would require to be held at the height it now is. Some land is flooded, but as this part of the shore is useless, because flooded intermittently, it might just as well be permanently under water. There is no question but that the river and lake shore presents a better appearance than when the water is low.

If you have had the grip take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It will brace you up, purify your blood, and overcome all bad effects of the disease.

THE HOME TEAMS WON BOTH GAMES

DEFEATED THEIR OPPONENTS IN BASEBALL AND LACROSSE.

How the Holiday was Spent—Big Crowds at the Athletic Games at the P A A A Grounds and Interesting Games Witnessed.

The Queen's birthday holiday was celebrated quietly in town. There was no special demonstration and as no great excursions were run out there were many people left in town to be entertained. It was but to be expected, therefore, that the baseball and lacrosse matches would be largely attended and such proved to be the case. Both attractions were first-class and visitors to the grounds found the exhibitions a pleasant way of spending the day.

Peterborough's newly organized baseball team won its spurs in a manner on which they deserve to be complimented. Their opponents were the Delawares, of Toronto, who stood well up in the city league last year. The match started about ten o'clock with a good attendance, a fair number of ladies being present. Seven innings were played and at the close the result stood Peterborough 28; Delawares 11. The home team was a winner from the start. The boys not only showed more life and vim than their opponents but they played more scientific ball. The team is an excellent one and deserves generous public support. The battery, Dan McCabe and Chris Graham, was far superior to the Toronto men. McCabe pitched in splendid style and his old admirers were glad to see him in such good form. Graham behind the bat put up a brilliant game all through and won much praise. The the infield work was excellent. Paxman, at first base, played a fast and sure game, making not a single error, and Parnell at short stop, and Sheridan on third base also distinguished themselves.

On the whole the game was not fast and was not as snappy as the spectators might have wished but this was due to the superiority of the home team. Their big score of 28 to 11 about shows the comparative merits of the teams. The Peterboroughs batted the Toronto pitcher all over the field and kept a continual chain of men running the bases. McCabe batted especially strong, putting one long one over the fence for a home run. Peterborough took the lead with four runs in their first innings and had the victory certain at all times. Their next appearance against a stronger team will be interesting.

Neat score cards were distributed free at the gate and were found very convenient by the spectators for recording the progress of the match and for identifying the players. The idea was a capital one.

The score was as follows:—

PETERBOROUGH.

THE LACROSSE MATCH.

One of the largest crowds that has been seen on the P A A A grounds for some time assembled in the afternoon for the lacrosse match between Peterborough and Hastings. There was as much interest, apparently, as if it was a final for a league championship.

The Hastings team was accompanied to town by a large number of supporters, who whooped all kinds of encouragement to their team from the grandstand. They were as enthusiastic as if it was a Queen's Plate race. They took the match a little too seriously and some of them were inclined to find fault unnecessarily. But they meant no harm.

The game started at three o'clock and when it was over a few minutes before five the score stood Peterboroughs 5, Hastings 2. The match was an excellent one in every way and the score shows that the locals had no light lunch in the villagers. At one time the score stood 3-2 with Hastings playing at a fast gait but after they fell back and the result could be no longer in doubt. The play was even all through the game. Hastings has a strong team. Taken in all the men exceeded in size and weight those of the home twelve and they understand the science of the game. They play with lots of vigor. They ran like reindeer. Hastings is entered entered in the junior series of the C L A,

—It is claimed by those versed in fish habits that the crop of maskinonge has received a serious set-back. Owing to the excessive high water, and consequent access up the small creeks and bays to the marsh land the maskinonge have deposited the spawn where, by the water receding it has been left high and dry and killed.

—Cyclists riding to Lakefield should avoid the road on the Douro side. Above Sawyer's creek the raising of the level of river by the finishing of the dam and locks at this point has raised the level of the river so that the old road is completely flooded, at points. A new road is being built, but so far is not in good shape for either vehicles or cyclists. The G. T. R. track is paralleled for some distance on either side, while the driving road alongside has been smothered out of sight.

—Talk of a wood famine. There are thousands of cords of drift wood on the shores of the islands at Stony lake. This spring immense quantities seem to have been deposited along shore. There is fully a hundred cords of fine logs piled up on Mr. R. Nell's island, kindly left there by the ice and receding water. Other islands have received more than a generous share. Presently some genius will devise a floating saw mill and tow the business about the lakes cutting up what he may find. Almost everyone would be heartily glad to be rid of the logs, as now the only way to get short of them is to start the wood off on a trip to the next adjacent island.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

If We Didn't Have To—

Some sage person has discovered
And has told in verses neat
What a lot of cash 'twould save us
If we didn't have to eat.

Let me add unto this wisdom,
Though the thought may make you creep,
We could hoard up gold in bedclothes
If we didn't have to sleep.

Furthermore, 'tis borne upon me
With a force I cannot balk
That we'd save a lot on leather
If we didn't have to walk.

So of all the bills that vex us
Just the biggest one, I guess,
Would be spared for safe investment
If we didn't have to dress.

Come to think the whole thing over,
Free concurrence you will give
That vast wealth would line our pockets
If we didn't have to live.

The Reason.

Other faces may be fairer
Than your face, sweetheart of mine;
Other eyes may be more lovely
Than those true blue eyes of thine,
Other girls may be more graceful,
Sweet Rosina, than thou art,
But I care not, oh, my darling—
You are mistress of my heart!

Other girls may have more learning
Than thou hast, oh, love of mine!
Others, too, may have complexions
That are lovelier than thine,
But I care not for their graces;
All my love goes out to thee,
Since you're always telling what a
Wonder you consider me.

A Fatal Wedding

By BERTHA M. CLAY.

Author of "Dr. Her Wedding Morn," "Which Loved Him Best," Story of a Wedding Ring," "Between Two Loves," Etc.

"That is different," she said, hurriedly. "He—he does not look at me as you do."

"He does not love you one half so dearly!" was the passionate whisper. "Do not refuse; I shall think you hate me if you do."

When the curtain drew up on that picture there was a murmur of admiration and surprise. People declared they had never seen anything one-half so beautiful as the tender, rapt expression of Amy's face. Her "whole soul was in her eyes; love passing words seemed to tremble round her parted lips." The audience seemed never tired of gazing. Then the curtain fell, and as it fell Lyster Ayrton whispered to her:

"I would be content to die if my last look might fall upon your face."

The evening was one long triumph, and Lady Marche was delighted; the guests were charmed; all the tableaux were excellent, but Amy Robsart was the favorite; and Lady Marche insisted upon Sybil's going to supper in Amy's dress.

She looked so lovely in the picturesque costume of rich white satin and blue velvet, her fair face flushed with such beauty, that people never wearied of looking at her. Many of those who saw her that night never forgot her, but kept that picture of her in their minds.

It was an evening of unalloyed happiness—of brilliant successes; the first and the last of the kind that Sybil Jocelyn ever passed. She had no time to analyze her own sensations; no time to think of the whispered words that had made her life so sweet—its sweetness was almost pain. She laid them aside in her heart, to think over them alone.

That night when Lady Marche's guests had left her, and those remaining in the house were all assembled in the drawing-room, Captain Ayrton went over to Sybil. She sat in the lighted recess of a large window, looking over some exquisite engravings of Laugh's.

"Miss Jocelyn," he said, gently—"Sybil, I must speak to you, and must tell you what is in my heart. When will you give me an opportunity?"

She looked up at him with startled eyes.

He saw that she tried to speak, but could not.

"You will hear me, Sybil," he said. "Your hands are very small and white and dainty. I am going to place my life in them. You will not destroy it?"

When he left her she looked down at her hands; they were slender and beautiful, with rose-leaf flush in the palm, with soft, dainty fingers, covered with richly jeweled rings.

"His life in her hands!"—all that was romance. That was something like poetry. He a tall, strong, handsome soldier—she only a girl—yet his life was in her hands.

She did not own even to herself all that it meant. She dare not. The golden light, she believed straight from Heaven, had fallen over her, dazzled and blinded. She was as one who has discovered a priceless treasure, yet hides it for a time.

For Lyster Ayrton had quite made up his mind. The girl's fresh, brilliant beauty charmed him. He loved her quite as much as he was capable of loving any human being. She was so perfectly charming in her rich, winning gayety, her pure, artless innocence, that he really preferred her to any one he had ever met. Yet all this would have been nothing but for the important fact that she was Squire Jocelyn's heiress. Of the two estates, one must be hers. Of the squire's income—fifteen thousand per annum—half at least must be hers. That was the charm which riveted him. But for her heiress-ship, he would have wooed her just the same. He would have won her love, her heart, and then left her, as he had left others before her.

"No, go where he would," said Lyster Ayrton, "he should find no richer prize; and the best part of it was the prize seemed very ready to drop into his outstretched hands."

Could she have seen him in that moment, the odious look of satisfied vanity on his fair face, the cunning and greed in his eyes, Squire Jocelyn's daughter would have courted death rather than have married him.

Lyster Ayrton knew there would be a battle to fight. Before now, men not too particular in their habits of life had forbidden him to cross the threshold of their door, having wife, sister or daughter to guard; so it was not likely the squire would give up his darling without a great struggle.

"If he gets making inquiries about me," said the gallant captain, as he lighted his cigar, "there will be a deuce of a row."

Still he knew that if she were on his side it would be all right. While the pure, loving, lovely child lay dreaming fair, foolish dreams, believing the hero she had made for herself to be little short of perfection, he was walking up and down the broad garden path, enjoying his cigar, and wondering how soon after his marriage he could contrive to run over to Paris for a week or two.

"I shall be wearied to death of love and innocence," he said, with a cynical smile, "in less than a month. I may get on pretty well if I can manage a visit to Paris or Baden three or four times in the year."

And Sybil, dreaming near him, believed that heaven itself had blessed her in giving her a hero to love.

CHAPTER IX.

"NOT AT HOME TO CAPTAIN AYRTON."

The opportunity Captain Ayrton asked for did not come. Sir Rupert heard so much of the great beauty of the "Amy Robsart" tableaux that he was anxious and uneasy—not for her, "the stainless lily he longed to wear in his bosom and call his own;" but remarks were made in his hearing that he did not like. People laughed and spoke of Captain Ayrton as though he were irresistible. He resolved that while Sybil remained at Ling she should not be seen with the handsome young soldier again.

All that long day Sir Rupert remained near her, and in the dusk of the evening the ladies were to return to Glynn. In vain Captain Ayrton begged permission to ride with them, knowing, of all other times, the sweet autumn night was most fitting for telling a love story. Sir Rupert said coldly that, as he was going to Glynn, there was no need of any other escort. Nor could he find one moment in which to whisper any of the sweet, persuasive words he had always found efficacious.

He was obliged to part from her without having told his story, and in his secret heart he cursed Rupert Daore for his constant, careful watch.

He did one thing; he contrived to get possession of Sybil's pretty jeweled pencil-case under some idle pretext, and he kept it, knowing that would give him an excuse for going over to Glynn the next day to see her.

She was not disappointed. At that part of her life, Sybil Jocelyn never realised an hour or a day that passed. Nothing around her seemed real. She never saw but one thing, and that was Lyster Ayrton's fair, handsome face. She only heard one thing, and that was the sound of his clear, rich voice. Both were with her all day and all night; she wanted nothing more; she would have been content to sit alone all day thinking of him. When others spoke to her, the voices seemed to come from afar. The girl's soul was quiet, in deep, unutterable content.

The squire had much to say of the tableaux. They had been very grand, something quite unusual—quite out of his way. He had enjoyed seeing his darling dressed like a beautiful picture; but he was not quite sure whether such things were right or not. He talked, he argued pro and con, he solicited opinions from Irene, from Violet, and Sir Rupert; and all the time Sybil sat on a little stool at his feet, her hair lying in a golden shower on his knee—her thoughts with the fair-browed soldier at Ling.

He, so quick to see any change, did not notice the unusual silence. He thought she was very attentive to all he said, never dreaming that Sybil had not heard one word.

He could think no wrong, for the face she raised to him, when she wished him "Good-night," was bright and happy; the sweet lips that kissed him so tenderly were warm and loving. Was he to know that his child's heart had gone from him, and was to rest in his love never—never more?

There seemed to her little difference between night and day; all night she was with him in her dreams, in the day she spoke to him. She knew no night save the time of his absence; the very fever and unrest of love was upon her—longing that nothing satisfied, wishes that nothing fulfilled; joy that in its very intensity was pain; pain that in its sweetness was joy.

Again, the next day; still the opportunity came not, Captain Lyster Ayrton called, and found the squire at home. He stayed to luncheon, hoping she would go out among the flowers, where he could follow her.

But it so happened that during that lunch the squire's eyes were opened. He saw Captain Ayrton looking at his daughter in a way he did not approve; with an expression of tender persuasion and speaking love in his eyes that had no business there. Did the man presume to think of his beautiful Sybil—Sybil, who would be Sir Rupert's wife?

Then suddenly it flashed across him that three weeks ago he had sneered at his guest for being a male flirt, a professed lady-killer. The pleasant social qualities had made the squire forget all he had heard to his prejudice; he had forgotten it, believing it could not be true. But now, with that look upon his face, what could the man be doing? Would he dare to flirt with his peerless Sybil, Sir Rupert Daore's wife that was to be? No, the stout old squire could not believe it; the thing was incredible. The man was a puppy and a fool; but none the less did the squire swear to himself that Lyster Ayrton should never sit at his table, and "make eyes," as he phrased it, at his daughter again.

He saw another thing which quite decided him. He bade his guest a cold good-morning, carefully refraining from any invitations for the future, then went away over to the writing-table and sat down to write a letter.

Then Captain Lyster took the little pencil-case from his pocket, and restored it to Sybil. He thought himself very clever—he believed himself unseen—and he kissed the little jeweled toy before she took it. But the squire saw him. He made no remark. Captain Ayrton quitted the room; he finished the letter as though nothing had disturbed him, then rose and turned to Sybil. She did not see him; she stood just where Lyster Ayrton had left her—a sweet, dreamy smile on her face, and that in her look which made Squire Jocelyn start as though he had received a mortal wound.

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

Edward Elliott to Hang on August 17 For Murdering William Murray—Deed Committed at Beaverton.

Whitby, May 24.—Edward Elliott, the 16-year-old lad from Beaverton, who was charged with the murder of old William Murray, at Beaverton, on Nov. 12 last, was found guilty here on Tuesday night, and Judge MacMahon sentenced him to be hanged on Aug. 17. The murdered man was a retired farmer, and was very old. He lived all alone in a little house in Beaverton, and had means. An old Scotchman, John McHaltie, did his chores, and was going to Murray's house on the day of the tragedy, when he met the Elliott boy, who asked where he was going. He said he was going to Mr. Murray's, and the lad said he would go along too, for he wanted to borrow Mr. Murray's pistol.

At the house Elliott asked the old man for his pistol, saying he wanted to shoot ducks. Murray replied that he had lent his pistol to someone else a long time ago, and McHaltie said, "Come, Elliott, let us go," but the lad said he was going to wait awhile. He had in his hands an iron bar about 2½ feet long, which was a portion of an agricultural machine.

McHaltie left, and that was the last he saw of Murray. Three days afterwards he, as well as his two neighbors, named Keely and Dunsheath, became alarmed because there was no smoke coming from the chimney of the old man's house, and they could not get in. Dunsheath broke open the door and found Murray lying near the stove, with his head broken in, his hair stuck to the floor by clots of blood. The matter was reported to the authorities at once, and Elliott and McHaltie were arrested. McHaltie was discharged, and a coroner's jury fixed the murder upon the lad, who was said to have made a confession. The lad told the whereabouts of the keys of the old man's house, and it is supposed he killed Murray with the iron bar which he had in his hands when McHaltie left on the fatal Friday. Elliott's extreme youth may save him from the hangman.

FILIPINOS ARE TENACIOUS.

They Went Back to a District From Which They Had Been Driven.

Manila, May 25.—Two companies of the Third Infantry and two companies of the 22nd Infantry, forming Gen. Lawton's rear guard, returning from San Miguel to Balinag, yesterday, escorting a signal party, which was picking up wire laid with Gen. Lawton's expedition, found that the insurgents had re-occupied the country and hard fighting followed from daylight until the Americans camped at night. But the troops completed their work, though harassed by the enemy. One American was killed and 14 were wounded. The troops captured 90 prisoners and 30 rifles.

Five Men Were Drowned.

It developed yesterday that five men, instead of one man, were drowned by the sinking of a raft, loaded with soldiers of the 14th Regiment, at Pasig Ferry on Tuesday. Twenty insurgents were killed and 40 wounded in the engagement with Major Bell's reconnoitering party in the vicinity of Santa Arita yesterday.

Lawton's Fighter.

General Lawton, with most of his troops, has arrived at Malolos. His remarkable expedition marched 190 miles in 20 days and had 21 fights, captured 28 towns, destroyed 3,000 bushels of rice and only lost six men killed and 31 wounded. On the other hand, Gen. Lawton estimates that his troops killed 400 insurgents and wounded double that number. Gen. Lawton, after 30 days of successful campaigning, is resting with 6,000 men at Candaba.

The United States commissioners and many American officers celebrated Queen Victoria's birthday yesterday on board the British first class cruiser Powerful.

Sherman's Denunciation.

New York, May 25.—A Pittsburg special to The World says: John Sherman, ex-Secretary of State, was in Pittsburg yesterday, on his way to Mansfield, O., where he will spend the summer. He was vigorous in denunciation of the Administration and its conduct of the war against the Filipinos.

He said: "The war that is being waged against the Filipinos is as cruel as it is unnecessary. We promised them independence, and instead gave them merciless and devastating strife. It is too bad that we ever got into this trouble with those people."

G. T. R. TRACKMEN'S STRIKE.

The Men Say They Are Holding Out From Portland to Sarnia.

Montreal, May 24.—This news is good from Portland to Sarnia at 5 p.m.:

"We are holding out until the company settles with our committee.

"No notice is being taken of the threat of dismissal or the paying off. If they pay, it gives them some more pocket money. Our cast-iron instructions not to interfere with track or trains is being perfectly observed. Our striking trackmen are showing their sterling character by sobriety and non-interference with traffic.

"Statements from Portland that eight scabs were taken on at South Paris are untrue. Public sympathy at all points is too intense for any scabs to show up.

"Union meetings of engineers, conductors, firemen and brakemen are being held, and resolutions forwarded to General Superintendent McGuigan, telling him to settle or they will have to take action for their own safety.

"We are willing to resume work the moment the company does us justice, and are willing to lay our case before any three disinterested parties who know what work is worth.—William Pole, chairman Executive Committee; Joseph Harris, secretary."

London Street Cars Still Tied Up.

London, Ont., May 24.—The strike situation on the Street Railway remains unchanged. The company announced in the morning papers that the cars would start running at 6 o'clock this evening, but no attempt was made to run at that hour, and none ran later.

Gorge Railway Sold.

Lockport, N.Y., May 25.—The Gorge Railway, running from Niagara Falls to Lewiston, was sold by Sheriff Kinney at the Court House to Herbert P. Bissell of Buffalo for $6,134, subject to a mortgage of $1,000 000 held by the Knickerbocker Trust Company.

Glorious News.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters have cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. For sale by James Lynch, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough; every bottle guaranteed.

The Danger of PILES

Too frequently overlooked, Dr. Chase's Ointment a Prompt and Positive Cure.

The suffering caused by the intense itching and burning sensations of piles is only one of the horrors of this disease, for there is always great danger of piles developing into fistula, one of the most disgusting diseases imaginable.

Even the great danger and expense of an operation are preferable to running the risk of contracting this most loathsome of diseases.

But there is no necessity for a surgical operation for piles. Dr. Chase's Ointment is guaranteed to cure any case of piles, no matter of how long standing, or how aggravated the case may be, so long as piles have not become fistula.

It is only by rare chance that internal treatment will cure piles. But it matters not from what cause they arise, Dr. Chase's Ointment will at once stop the itching and burning, and soon effect a perfect cure.

You can use Dr. Chase's Ointment with fullest assurance that what has cured scores of thousands of cases of piles will cure you. For sale by all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE HOME TEAMS WON BOTH GAMES.

and if they do not win the championship a lot of people are very poor guessers. Their goal minder and point man both play splendid games and their whole defence was good. They are strong checkers. Their home at times play a threatening combination and put up a fair exhibition generally. Wilcox, McNicholl and Quigley were in the game at all times and did excellent work.

The home team was something of an experiment. Hollingshead, McClellan, Hughes and Crossley were all new men on the team. The showing made by the team was excellent for the little practice they have had and the twelve promises to be strong. Brown played the star game on the defence and was well assisted by Glover. The two McCabes and Hollingshead did the chief work for the home field and kept the visitors' defence on the rush. Hollingshead showed himself clever in shooting on goal. McDonough also put up a capital game. Hughes is a promising player. The combination work was good and all the boys deserve credit for the way in which they did what was expected of them.

Play started with a rush and kept on the rush right to the finish. It was a constant series of rushes and passes up and down the field. The first game came to Peterborough after a few minutes skirmishing, Jack McCabe putting the rubber through. Hollingshead scored number two after some excellent combination playing. But the visitors fought every inch of the ground and when the local defence was drawn out and a good opening secured the ball was shot through the Peterborough goal. The applause was great, Score now stood 2-1. Hollingshead shot another through and Hastings took the fifth. Play became very exciting and both sides became a little rough. The visitors developed a fine combination and endeavored to tie the score. But they had to be satisfied with the two goals they had now obtained. The home players made many attacks on the Hastings posts and before time was called sent two shots into the net, making the score 5-2.

The players were :—Peterborough—Dobbin, Meis, Brown, Hughes, Glover, McDonough, McClellan, Jack McCabe, Jim McCabe, Crossley, Hollingshead, Lipsett. Hastings—Wilcox, Merrison, Clapper, Quigley, Stevenson, Scriver A, Scriver E, Dodd F, McNicholl, Doonan, Dodd H. Wilson. Field Captains—Bagley and Lynch. Referee—W E Loch. Goal Judges—M Halpin and T O'Reilly.

AT LINDSAY.

The junior Peterboroughs, accompanied by a few supporters, went up to Lindsay, where they encountered the first team of that city. It being Peterborough's winning day they took the match by 5 goals to 1, which is highly creditable. They arrived home on the nine o'clock train.

At Norwood.

Peterborough boys carried off the honors in the bicycle races that formed part of the demonstration at Norwood. Milburn and Mosier, of town won the chief events as follows :—

Mile novice, W. Milburn, 1 ; F. Mosier 2.

Mile open, F. Mosier, 1 ; W. Milburn, 2.

Half mile, boys, R. Pearce. Norwood, 1 ; R. Smith, town, 2.

There were eight or nine entries in each event, Milburn and Mosier won on Cleveland racers.

At Sterling.

The 'Sons of England band went down and assisted at a grand demonstration at Sterling, where a big crowd held a successful celebration. They arrived home about nine in the evening and played up the street from the station to their hall. The band was eighteen strong.

Camera Club.

Y. M. C. A. Camera Club meets this evening at 8 o'clock. Mr Geo Whiten will give a demonstration on developing. Any member can have a plate developed after stating the conditions under which it was exposed.

WAS EMPIRE DAY IN THE SCHOOLS

AND THE NATIONAL COLORS AND PATRIOTIC SONGS AND SENTIMENTS

Held Full Sway Among the Children—Some of the Programmes That Were Rendered in the Classes in Observing the Day.

The red, white and blue and Union Jacks were in evidence in the schools of the town on Tuesday, and the strains of patriotic airs were to be heard coming from the class rooms or assembly halls. It was "Empire day," and the children listened to suitable addresses telling of Britain's greatness and of her empire. The children themselves also took part in song and recitation in the day's proceedings. No public demonstration was attempted this year, but such may be arranged next year.

In the South Central school the fourth class had an excellent programme. It included such patriotic songs as "The Maple Leaf," "The Land of the Maple," "The Red, White and Blue," and "Raise the Flag," sung by the children in chorus. Then there were readings by Lexa Deane, "Our Lady of the Snows," B Adam, "Canada's Hymn of the Empire," Pearl Emmerson, extract from Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech, "The Privileges of British Subjects," by Pearl Lundy, "This Canada of Ours," Agnes Hornefield, extract from Principal Grant's speech, "Canada as a Link in the Empire," and May Adams, Kipling's "Recessional." Essays were read by Maud Miller on "The British Empire," by Helen Davidson on "Battle of Quebec," by Nettie Dawe on "The Growth of the British Empire," and by Harry Green on "The Battle of Queenston Heights." A musical number, a guitar solo, was given by Viera Hunter. Rev W L Armitage also gave a suitable address which was attentively listened to.

In the senior and junior third classes of the South Central a joint programme was given. Miss Perrin, who was in the chair, explained the object of Empire Day, and after a pleasant greeting introduced Rev Mr Armitage, who spoke in a very interesting manner of "India's Empress, England's Queen, and her influence for God and the Right." Rev Mr Armitage understands the happy art of gaining the sympathies of children and arousing their interest.

Mr J Hampden Burnham then gave an address on "Canada and her relations to the British Empire," Mr Burnham delighted his young audience and was most enthusiastically applauded. As a delicate token of their gratitude the girls presented Mr Burnham with a small bouquet of flowers, while the boys' offering was a box of bon-bons.

The programme included the following :—Chorus, "The Maple Leaf" ; chorus, "The Land of the Maple" ; recitation, "Mrs Rabbit's School," by Charlie Barrie ; instrumental solo, by Alfred Hodgson ; reading, "The Voice Behind the Plough," by Miss Lola Ostrom ; duet, "Red, White and Blue," by Misses Ida Parrington and Nellie Glass ; song, "My Own Canadian Home," by Miss Edith Williams ; recitation, "England," by Miss Mamie Montgomery ; song, "He Died for his Country," by Miss Lena Mowry ; "Contribution, by "The Teachers." National Anthem.

At the Central school the four senior classes assembled together, when an excellent programme was rendered. In the other classes similar programmes were conducted. The joint programme included suitable reading or recitations by Cecil Arnott, Ella Matheson, Bella Lane, Charlie Gray, Richard Dawson, Robt McQuay, Lottie Kennedy, Wilfrid Fitzgerald, Roscoe Keadry, Edith Crossley, Harold McCrea, Melville Mitchell, Clarence Smith, Harry Eyres, Charlie Eyres, Eva Nesbitt, Robt Duncan and Ira Donnell. Solos were sung by Vincie Hall, Lulu Scott and Geraldine King, while Norman Scott gave a mouth organ solo, and G Roy, K Graham and G King contributed a song.

In Ashburnham.

At the Ashburnham Public school the afternoon was devoted to a celebration of the day and proved very interesting and instructive. The following programme was carried out :—Chorus, "The Maple Leaf" ; reading from Shakespeare, Alice Scott ; address on the "British Empire," Rev H Symonds, M A ; reading, from Charles Sangster, Maggie Record ; selection from Tennyson, Hazel Straine ; drill on the "British Empire" map of the world ; reading from Tennyson's "May Queen," Rosie Bennett ; "Empire Day," Miss F Coveney ; selection from Scott's works, Madeline Stone ; reading from Dickens, Eva Wylie ; Milton, "On His Own Blindness," Edna Rogers ; from Carlyle, Bella Long ; historical drill, "Canada and Our Queen," by Mr M W Matchett ; Moore, "Canadian Boat Song," Flossie Scott ; Burns, recitation, Alice Scott. God Save the Queen.

The thanks of the school are due and tendered to Rev Mr Symonds for his kindness in assisting. His address was enjoyed very much.

No doubt this first celebration of Empire day will ever be remembered by those taking part in it, and May 23rd, 1899, will long be a green spot in their memories.

Many of the friends of the pupils of the Ashburnham kindergarten were present on Tuesday, May 23rd, at their celebration of "Empire Day."

The children were first photographed in the room at work and afterwards in a group outside, after which they marched down Mark-st, to Elizabeth-st., back to Robinson-st. and then back to their rooms at the school. As they marched they presented a pretty sight, singing patriotic songs and waving their Union Jacks. On their return they sang lustily "God Save the Queen."

The Late John Stewart.

At a meeting of the session of the Centreville Presbyterian Church on the 21st inst., the following motion was adopted :—

"The session of the Centreville Presbyterian Church desire to place on record their deep sense of loss in the removal by death of Mr. John Stewart, who has served the congregation in the capacity of elder since Dec. 28th, 1884. During these years, as well as during the years that preceded his ordination and induction to the eldership, he proved himself a faithful and energetic servant of our congregation and a devoted follower of the Lord Jesus Christ. His regular and punctual attendance upon church services, his interest in all that tended to the good of our congregation and the practical piety of his daily life, have been to us a source of much blessing and shall still influence us for good.

We are grateful to God for the work His spirit has wrought through the life of our departed brother, and our prayer is that He may minister comfort to the bereaved family and give us other helpers as willing and as efficient as the one He has removed.

On behalf of the session,

J. M. McINTOSH,
Moderator.

The Sunbeam's Excursion to the Lakes Largely Patronized.

The steamer Sunbeam carried a large excursion of the C O F, Lakefield, up the lakes on a trip to Burleigh Falls, Mt. Julian and around the lake. The steamer made fast time and the excursionists enjoyed the day immensely. The proprietors, Messrs. White and Grylls have put the steamer in capital shape for the season's excursions, and have already gained the good opinion of the travelling public by their unfailing courtesy and the obliging way in which the boat is run.

Union Meeting at St. Andrew's.

At St. Andrew's on Monday evening the Christian Endeavor and weekly prayer meetings were held. The attendance was large. A paper on the topic, "The Gift of Power," Acts i, 1-8, was prepared by miss Bathgate, but was read by Mr B Anderson as she was unable to attend. Some points brought out were : (1) If the Christian does not overcome the world he will be overcome to some extent by the world ; (2) the way to overcome is only by the power of God ; (3) influence without the spirit of God is useless ; (4) the power which Peter received made him fearless of anything. Before leaving the meeting open Mr Potter read a short extract on the topic. He referred to our inability to obtain power ourselves. Before we can obtain it we must believe in (1) God's power to give it ; (2) His willingness to give it ; (3) His willingness to give it now, and to obtain it we must continually wait on God in prayer and study. After Mr Potter concluded several read verses much to the point and therefore were very helpful. Members of the Lookout and Missionary committee were appointed. Mr Potter closed with prayer.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night ; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Luts." Thus writes W. C. Hemnick & Co., of Shelby, N.C. For sale by James Lynch, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough, at 50 cents and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

REVIVALS IN PIONEER DAYS.

The Preacher's Frequent Armful of Women's Corset Busks.

"Revival work," said the professor, "isn't what it was in the old time. The life is different, and religious experience is different. I have not heard a man or woman shout in church for 40 years, and yet I can remember when a service or meeting was not counted much of a meeting if some good sister did not shout. This word meant spontaneous outcry, in a state of excitement and happiness too great for utterance in common words, and which found expression in hysterical shouts and joyful exclamations. A great preacher would stir a crowd to conviction, an exhorter would make an impassioned appeal, some emotional woman would be asked to pray, and soon the shouting would begin.

"The good woman, kneeling on the floor and with head bowed, would begin in a voice almost inaudible, but as she proceeded her voice would become louder and stronger, her figure would become erect, until finally in the very ecstasy of excitement she would cry aloud in her rejoicing. Her shouts would be greeted by exclamations of 'Amen!' and 'Glory to God!' and then there would be handclasking, singing and a chorus of ecstatic exclamations. Before such a wild wave of excitement had expended its force dozens and scores would be at the mourners' bench, surrounded by the rejoicing church members.

"I have heard my father relate most wonderful experiences in northern Ohio, where, in the old time, it was the rule for church congregations to be greatly moved. It was the custom then for women to wear busks, or corset boards, instead of stays or corsets. These busks were made of pliable hickory, but they compelled a woman to sit very straight and imposed some limitations on free movements. My father said that frequently after a meeting in which there had been excitement and shouting he had gathered up an armful of corset boards which the women in their frenzy had drawn from their dresses and thrown under their seats and forgotten."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Who Stole the Timber?

Toronto, May 23.—A man named Shinnick, who is a Parry Sound settler, has complained to the Crown Lands Department that he had a farm fairly well cleared last fall, when he left with the intention of returning to build a house with the pine that was then standing on a portion of the property. When he went back this spring he found that the district had been entirely stripped of timber. Shinnick says he has walked all the way from the north country to see if the wrong cannot be righted.

A Miraculous Escape.

Woodbridge, Ont., May 23.—An accident, which might have proved fatal, happened to Mr. John Tanner, teamster for Wallace Bros. While Mr. Tanner was driving toward the railway crossing, just as last evening's train from Toronto was approaching, the horses became unmanageable, and while crossing the track the northbound train struck the wagon, throwing Mr. Tanner, the horses and wagon into the ditch. Mr. Tanner and the horses escaped without injury. The wagon was slightly damaged.

DOUBLE HANGING POSTPONED.

The Death Warrant Had Not Reached Winnipeg Thursday Night.

Winnipeg, May 26.—Gusczak and Czuby, the Galician murderers, will not be executed this morning as expected. The death warrant did not arrive from Ottawa, and at 5 o'clock yesterday the Chief Justice instructed Sheriff Inkster to postpone the hanging for 24 hours, so that if the warrant arrives to-day, they will be hanged on Saturday morning. The Chief Justice, it appears, has power to do this. Very often men have been hanged without the arrival of the warrant, but no chance will be taken here.

Gusczak Is Happy.

As the time the Galician prisoners have to live narrows now to a few hours, the prisoners only accentuate the characteristics they have exhibited during the last few weeks. Gusczak is calm, resigned and even happy. He says he is prepared to die. He has put himself in a position to receive all the rites of the church. Two brothers, Fathers Albert and William Kulavi, will remain with him all to-day in prayer. If the warrant arrives, at 5 o'clock on Saturday morning they will administer the last sacrament. Those looking after his spiritual condition say he is fully prepared to die.

Czuby Is Quite the Reverse.

Czuby, on the other hand, grows more violent as the end approaches. He refuses to prepare for death or talk to anyone on religious subjects. He declares he is not guilty, and is not going to die. His two sons visited him yesterday, and, while the prisoner is very affectionate, it is understood that he refused to be advised by them to prepare for death. Czuby will be strapped in a chair if he continues in his present frame of mind.

There will be no conversation or statement on the scaffold, and the drop will fall as soon as everything is ready. Gusczak's body will be taken charge of by the priests of St. Mary's and Czuby's will be buried in a place outside the walls designated by the authorities.

London Street Cars Running.

London, Ont., May 26.—The Street Car Company began yesterday to run their cars with non-union men. The tie-up lasted two days and a half. It was at 9.30 that the first car left the barns. Nine others were sent out at short intervals in the course of the next hour, and thereafter every line in the city was regularly traversed. There was no demonstration. The strikers held a meeting last night.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SWEPT BY FLAMES.

Indiantown, the Dock Section, Wiped Out of Existence.

About 200 Houses Burned—More Than a Thousand People Made Homeless—Mostly Working People—Nearly All the Buildings of Wood—The Loss Estimated at Half a Million Dollars, With Insurance About $300,000.

St. John, N.B., May 26.—The greatest fire in the history of St. John, with the exception of the terrible conflagration of 1877, which completely wiped out the city, occurred yesterday afternoon. It broke out shortly after 1 o'clock in a house owned by John Porter on Bridge street, Indiantown, adjoining the hardware house of Nase & Son. The warehouse soon caught and both were blazing fiercely when the alarm had summoned the fire department. A strong wind from the north spread the fire with astonishing rapidity. All the available apparatus in the city was hurried to the scene, but it was inadequate to cope with the raging demon, which soon had possession of whole blocks of buildings.

The district, with hardly an exception, contained wooden buildings.

Flames for Nine Hours.

For nine hours the flames held sway, and when at 1 o'clock the fire had burned itself out, Indiantown was no more. Fifteen blocks and parts of blocks of buildings had been swept away and 200 buildings had gone up in smoke. Half a million dollars' worth of damage had been done, and more than 1,000 people were rendered homeless. The district was inhabited principally by the families of laboring men. The estimate of $500,000 is made by skilled valuators.

As the news spread through the town business almost came to a standstill. The Street Railway Company was forced to stop running its cars and thousands of people hurried to the scene on foot.

All Wooden Buildings.

Many families of moderate means lived in the large tenements and small wooden buildings along Bridge street, and the scene on the waterfront was a pathetic one. As the fire worked its way down each side of the street, men, women and children hurried out of the houses, each bearing armfuls of household effects. These were deposited in the streets, on the wharves, or on board boats. The fire ate on and on, house after house smouldered, burst in flames, blazed furiously and crumbled to a mass of red embers.

A Pathetic Scene.

The wind blew the flames away from the water's edge, but as the embers accumulated intense heat was generated and soon fire attacked the household effects piled on the piers. Then the ferryhouse and the Star Line warehouse burst into flames, followed by the river steamer May Queen's warehouse, 200 feet away. These were entirely burned, but the fire got no further in this direction. Bridge street, however, which runs parallel with the water, was burned on both sides from end to end. Only three houses remain. There were three blocks of buildings between the north side of Main street and the open country. These were all of dry wood, and as the flames devoured them people fled with whatever they could save to the rocks, hills, or beyond into the wet, marshy valley.

A Weird Scene.

Last night the scene was a weird one, several acres of ground were aglow with burning embers. Shelter has been provided for those who were burned out, but many grief-stricken people are wandering among the ruins. It is estimated that $300,000 will be forthcoming from the insurance companies.

Old Lady Died From Shock.

Mrs. Arnold Mowry of Adelaide street, an old lady of the north end, died from shock and excitement during the fire.

How Jack Roach May Escape Extradition.

Toronto, May 26.—There may be some difficulty regarding the extradition of Jack Roach from Boston. At the Attorney-General's Department no one has anything to say about the matter, but it is a question whether, in the absence of Pare and Holden, any declaration can be given as evidence on which Roach may be extradited, and unless Pare and Holden can be found it seems that there would be very little use in bringing Roach back.

Child Drowned at Windsor.

Windsor, Ont., May 26.—Wednesday evening Marguerite, the 5-year-old child of John Calvert, fell into the river at the foot of Ferry street and was drowned. The father had given the child and her 8-year-old brother some fireworks, and the next he heard of them was the boy running into the store saying that his sister had fallen into the water.

Conductor Lost Both Legs.

Ottawa, May 26.—Mr. John Reid, conductor on the C.P.R., had both legs cut off yesterday morning about 8 o'clock at St. Martin's Junction, on the Labelle Division, by falling underneath a freight train. Mr. Reid ran trains out of Ottawa before being transferred to Montreal. His home is in Schrieber.

WILL UPHOLD ADMIRAL KAUTZ

The Triple Samoan Commission at Work at Apia.

Mataafa Sent Letter of Welcome to the Commissioners, in Which He Said He Hoped They Would Settle the Trouble—His Followers May Disperse, But Will Not Recognize Malietoa—Mataafa Takes Credit.

Apia, Samoa, May 17, via Auckland, N.Z., May 26.—The Samoan commission arrived here on May 18. Its first sitting took place May 16. The commissioners were engaged all that morning in conferring with the Chief Justice, Mr. William L. Chambers. Nothing was disclosed regarding the deliberations, but it is reported that they will uphold the action of Admiral Kautz, the American naval commander.

Mataafa sent the commissioners a letter of welcome and expressed the hope that they would satisfactorily end the troubles in Samoa. It is understood Mataafa will obey the unanimous order of the commission, though it is doubtful whether he will order his followers to disarm, unless the Malietoans are first disarmed.

Will Not Recognize Malietoa.

The Mataafans will probably disperse to their homes if ordered to do so, but they will never recognize Malietoa as King, and, doubtless, there will be further trouble in the future if the kingship is maintained.

The Germans are preparing compensation claims. It is understood one German firm claims $60,000, and that other German subjects claim $90,000. The British consul, Mr. E. B. S. Maxse, invited them to put in their claims, and it is understood the commission will adjudicate them.

Mataafa Blames the Chiefs.

Replying to questions submitted to him, Mataafa said that the head chiefs, and not he, began the war, adding that they did so because they were angered at power being taken from them by violence, and also because they were made angry by the Chief Justice's unjust decisions. Mataafa claimed he had upheld the treaty, and said his orders throughout were not to fire upon the Europeans, and that but for this order the whole party of bluejackets could several times have been shot down by large bodies of natives concealed in the bushes.

The Armistice Not Disturbed.

Berlin, May 26.—A despatch received here from Apia, Samoa, says the armistice was not disturbed on the arrival there of the Samoan commission and that letters were being exchanged with the view of disbanding the rival forces.

STATUE OF THE QUEEN.

Proposal to Erect One at Tampa—Her Majesty's Health.

London, May 26.—At the Hotel Cecil banquet Wednesday night telegrams were exchanged with the banqueters at Port Tampa, Fla. A message signed by Col. Thomas Wright was received. The message proposed the erection of a statue to Her Majesty, the monument to be erected in the United States. The Americans at the banquet replied cordially, endorsing the proposed honor to the Queen.

Her Majesty is said to have stood the fatigue of her birthday admirably. During the performance of "Lohengrin" at Windsor Castle the Queen and the royal family occupied a dais behind which were arranged tiers of seats for the household. The proscenium was surrounded with the royal coat-of-arms, and the hangings were in crimson and gold.

Speed of Auto-Cars.

London, May 26.—The Paris correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "In the race between motor cars and motor cycles from Bordeaux to Paris, a distance of 333 miles, M. Charron won in Duke, a petroleum auto-car, covering the distance in 11 hours 43 minutes and 11 seconds, beating the previous record by 3 hours 35 minutes and 11 seconds.

Snubbed by a French Cad.

London, May 26.—The Paris correspondent of The Morning Post says: "M. Mathieu Dreyfus appeared yesterday at the Palace of Justice to inquire whether the report of M. Ballot de Beaupre had been handed in, but the magistrate refused to grant him an audience, whereupon he left the building."

THE ODORLESS

CREMATORY CLOSETS.

I have been appointed Sole Agent for the Odorless Crematory Closet manufactured by the Crematry Closet and General Heating Co., of Hamilton.

This Closet has found a place in many of the best homes in the province, and all who have used it cannot speak too highly of its merits. Medical men speak of it from a sanitary point of view, claiming that, if health is any consideration, no home should be without one. Here are some of the

TESTIMONIALS

Alliston, March 1st, 1898.

I have had one of your "Crematory Closets" in use now for several weeks and am glad to be able to say that I have found it entirely satisfactory in every respect. I have not been able to detect the slightest odor from it at any time and would not be without it. I am sure it must prove a great convenience to people in the country and in towns where water is not obtainable.

Yours respectfully, JAMES CONWAY.

Shedden, February 28th, 1898.

I have used it for some time and find it perfectly odorless. It is a long felt want and I believe it will become very popular especially in rural districts, towns and villages where wells are so frequently contaminated by the ordinary closets. I am, yours, etc.,

THE REVIEW

RAILWAY RUMBLES.

Twenty-seven English railways out of 33 reporting have earned more during the fiscal year to date than in the same period of 1898. Of these 27 companies 9 had increased their mileage, but none had added more than 66 miles to its entire system.

According to Prussian law, the railways are liable for damages where their gates are not "dog tight." The owner of a valuable dog recently recovered damages from the system of state lines because the dog ran under the gates and was killed by an express train.

"LABORERS' UNION BAND."

A Georgia Organization to Drive the Negro Out of the Country.

Griffin, Ga., May 26.—The flogging of three colored operatives of the Kincaid mills on Monday night by whitecaps has led to sensational developments. It now transpires that there has been a club formed here, known as the "Laborers' Union Band," for the purpose of driving the negro out of the country. Troops may be ordered out.

Good Roads Bylaw Killed.

Hamilton, May 26.—The bylaw for the issuing of 20-year debentures to the amount of $150,000 for the purpose of putting down good roads throughout the city was voted on yesterday and defeated. Out of over 4,000 voters, less than one-half voted. The result was as follows: For 828, against 939; majority against the bylaw 111. Had the bylaw carried, it was the intention to lay tar-macadam roads, and from 10 to 12 miles of roadway could have been laid with the $150,000 during the next two years.

Insane Woman's Deed.

Saratoga, N.Y., May 26.—At Fort Edward last night Mrs. Caroline Breen, during a temporary fit of insanity, saturated her clothing with kerosene and ignited it. She died in horrible agony.

Yon Yonson Is Free.

North Bay, Ont., May 26.—In the murder trial of Yon Yonson, the jury, after being out for six hours, brought in a verdict of not guilty and the prisoner was therefore acquitted, although the judge charged against him.

TESTIMONY

I, GEO. W. HILL, of the city of Windsor in the County of Essex do solemnly declare that I have been troubled with Rheumatism for years and treated by four of the leading Doctors of this City, but received no relief. I was recommended by a friend to try Dr. Marchaux's No. 44, and after six weeks treatment I am able to be out again and follow my occupation as contractor and carpenter. Previous to taking your medicine I was totally disabled. I have lived here for 10 years and my friends are surprised to see me out again. Wishing you success,

I remain, Yours Truly,
GEO. W. HILL.

The Temperance Lodge Passes a Resolution on the Plebiscite.

Correspondence of the Review.

Zion Lodge, No 96, I O G T, of Hall's Glen, North Dummer, passed the following resolution on May 19, 1899

Whereas the Government introduced the Plebiscite Bill into parliament as a Government measure, and as it was accepted by Parliament, and was passed without a party division, and as the Liberal Party pledged itself to carry out the will of the people as expressed in the Plebiscite, and

Whereas the electors of the East Riding of Peterborough: (where the majority for Prohibition was 1062); were led to believe that the Government and Parliament of Canada which ordered the Plebiscite, intended to be governed in their legislative actions by the will of the people as expressed at the polls; therefore

Resolved that this lodge earnestly and respectfully requests our representative to urge upon the Government a reconsideration of the position taken with regard to its pledges; and upon Parliament through him a faithful out-carrying of the expressed will of the people, by the enactment of Prohibition for all sections of this Dominion that by the vote of September 20, 1898, asked for it.

Do Not Believe It.

Do not believe that Nerviline will cure neuralgia almost instantly. If your teeth ache console yourself with the reflection that pain can't last for ever. Don't use Nerivline; it might stop the pain. Rheumatism is often difficult to cure. Keep on rubbing the old fashioned liniments as a matter of respect to your grandfather's aunt. Nerviline is a new discovery; that in itself ought to condemn it. Therefore cling to the old; suffer pain; avoid the use of Nerviline, the most powerful, and certain pain remedy in the world.

CAN THEY UNSEAT DRYDEN?

Lawyers and a Host of Witnesses on Hand at Whitby.

Testimony About That Meeting in Brougham — Mysterious Strangers—Three Men Who Got Money Now Absent From the Country and Cannot Be Found—That $100 Bill Affair—Was Given Mr. Richardson to Pay Postage.

Whitby, May 26.—The trial of the South Ontario election protest against the return of Hon. John Dryden opened here yesterday morning before Justices Osler and Rose. Wallace Nesbitt, Q.C., W. D. McPherson and R. E. Gagen appeared for the petitioner, and Hon. S. H. Blake, Q.C., and C. J. Holman for the respondent.

There are over 250 witnesses, and these, with politicians from all over the riding, filled the court room to overflowing. Sheriff Paxton was first called, but Judge Rose said he had been notified that the sheriff was too ill to attend court.

Col. Farewell, clerk of the peace, produced the voters' list for No. 6 Reach township.

Mr. McPherson asked for the return of the writ, so as to show that the village of Cherrywood was also without returns.

The First Witness.

Mr. George Parker of Dunbarton, who was chairman of a meeting held in Brougham in September, just before the nominating convention at Whitby, could remember very little about who were present and what was done except to elect officers and appoint a committee for each polling sub-division.

Mr. R. R. Mowbray of Pickering was examined at great length as to who were active in Pickering. He admitted meeting Mr. Titus, and also, elsewhere, Mr. Alex. Smith.

The afternoon's session was taken up with the examination of but two witnesses, with the exception of a few words by Sheriff Paxton with regard to the reason why there were no returns from Prince Albert. That, the sheriff said, was because the deputy returning officer had sent no returns in to him.

The Brougham Meeting.

Mr. William Gormely's examination occupied most of the afternoon and was conducted by Mr. McPherson. He was elected secretary of the Reform Association for Pickering township at the Brougham meeting in September last.

Most of the time was taken up with a tedious examination of the witness as to who were present at the Brougham meeting, and afterwards meetings held in W. V. Richardson's office in Pickering village. Especial attention was given to identifying Titus of Toronto, Hewitt of Brantford, and a mysterious stranger, supposed to be Captain Snelway of Sault Ste. Marie, with the work in Pickering. A photograph of the latter was produced and partly recognized by the witness, as also by Mr. Richardson, who followed.

Three Men Who Are Absent Now.

The going away of Frod Shepard, Sam Stewart and William Morrish, and Gormely's admission that he had given two of them $1 each and had sent Morrish $3, was the most serious evidence adduced, for these three are charged with corrupt practices. These three are away out of the country and cannot be found. Gormely admitted giving them the address of the respondent's solicitors in Toronto, and even that he personally accompanied Morrish there. After seeing their solicitors the three disappeared and the petitioners have been so far unable to serve them with subpoenas, although Morrish is said to be hiding in Toronto

The $100-Bill Incident.

Mr. W. V. Richardson is a conveyancer and life insurance agent in Pickering village, where his office was the place of meeting of the committees for three of the township polling sub-divisions. Mr. Nesbitt conducted the examination of this witness. Hewitt of Brantford introduced himself to Mr. Richardson and said he came to help elect Mr. Dryden, or, as he put it, to see that the Conservatives did not buy up all the votes. He admitted drawing $100 from the bank on election day, but positively denied using any of it for election purposes. His explanation of the $100-bill incident was that on the Saturday afternoon before the election Sheriff Paxton's son brought him the agency papers for Pickering township, and handed him a bill to pay the postage thereon, which bill he found was for $100. He told the bearer of the message that the money was from Mr Smith, the organizer, and that he would see Mr. Smith Monday and give him the change. On Sunday afternoon Mr. Paxton came for the bill, which he said Mr. Smith had given him in mistake for a $1. Witness gave back the $100 to Paxton.

The court adjourned at 7 o'clock till this morning at 8.30.

The G.T.R. Trackmen's Strike.

Toronto, May 26.—The only thing new here in relation to the G.T.R. trackmen's strike is that circulars have been issued for a mass meeting of all the strikers within 20 miles of this city at 2 p.m. to-day. Word has been received here from Montreal that the United Counties Railway trackmen are also out on strike.

Gaspesia's Salvage $12,500.

St. John's, Nfld., May 26.—The Vice-Admiralty Court here has handed down a decision awarding the sum of $12,500 to the sealing steamer Kite as salvage for rescuing the Canadian Liner Gaspesia from the ice floes in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, amid which she was imprisoned for 66 days.

Henry Prevost Drowned.

Kingston, Ont., May 26.—The discovery has been made that Henry Prevost, farm laborer, married and aged 26, was drowned while going up Loughboro Lake from Sydenham Village last Saturday night. The canoe was found bottom up in the lake.

IT CAN'T BE DONE.

No One Can Remain Well, No Chronic Disease can be Cured Unless the Stomach is First Made Strong and Vigorous.

This is plain because every organ in the body depends on the stomach for its nourishment. Nerve, bone, sinew, blood are made from the food which the stomach converts to our use.

How useless to treat disease with this, that and the other remedy and neglect the most important of all, the stomach.

The earliest symptoms of indigestion are sour risings, bad taste in the mouth, gas in stomach and bowels, palpitation, all-gone feeling, faintness, headaches, constipation; later comes loss of flesh, consumption, liver and heart troubles, kidney diseases, nervous prostration, all of which are the indirect results of poor nutrition.

Any person suffering from indigestion should make it a practice to take after each meal one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, allowing it to dissolve in the mouth and thus mingle with the saliva and enter the stomach in the most natural way. These Tablets are highly recommended by Dr. Jennison because they are composed of the natural digestive acids and fruit essences which assist the stomach in digesting all wholesome food before it has time to ferment and sour.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists, full sized packages at 50 cents. They are also excellent for invalids and children. A book on stomach diseases and thousands of testimonials of genuine cures sent free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Michigan.

DOMINION HOUSE.

Members' Questions—No Report From Ogilvie — Resumption of the Drummond County Railway Debate.

Ottawa, May 26.—Out of the 42 questions on the order paper, 30 were answered, amongst them the following:

Questions and Answers.

Hon. Mr. Fielding, in reply to Mr. Foster, gave a statement of the financial relations of the Dominion and the Ontario Governments, but stated that it could not be accurate until the arbitrators had made their awards.

Hon. Dr. Borden, in reply to several questions relating to the militia, put for Mr. John Ross Robertson, who was not present, said in general terms that all regulations were submitted to the Minister for approval, and that he was not aware of any intention on the part of the Government to change the regulations at present.

Mr. Sifton informed Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper that no report had yet been received from Mr. Ogilvie, but promised that when it was, a copy would be brought down.

Mr. Sifton, in reply to a question asked for Mr. Clarke, said the number of immigrants who had arrived in Canada during the calendar year 1898 was 31,702, but there were no means of telling how many of those had actually settled in the country. The number of homesteads taken up was 4,847.

Mr. Blair, in answer to a question put for Mr. Foster, said that no promise had been made, officially or otherwise, by the Government or any member thereof to purchase the Canada Eastern Railway of New Brunswick.

In reply to Mr. Clarke, Mr. Blair said 16 palace and sleeping cars were ordered by the Government for the Intercolonial Railway between Jan. 1, 1898, and April 1, 1899. The orders were given to the Crossen Car Company for eight of these cars, and the Wagner Palace Car Company for the other eight cars. Tenders had been called for all but five of these cars.

Mr. Costigan to Make a Statement.

Hon. John Costigan, on the orders of the day being called, said that he had intended making a statement, but, as the leader of the Opposition, who might care to hear it, was not present, he would postpone it until to-day.

Drummond County Railway.

Mr. Borden (Halifax) resumed the debate on the Drummond County Railway resolution, and, after briefly summarizing his remarks of last Thursday night, took up the question from a Halifax standpoint.

Mr. McIsaac followed, speaking in favor of the purchase of the Drummond County road. He thought the bargain a good one, and complimented Mr. Blair on having made it.

Mr. Powell said the bargain was extravagant, in spite of the the improvement which had been made on account of the action of the Senate two sessions ago.

Dr. Russell followed at considerable length in support of the purchase, and in criticism of the course pursued by the late Government with respect to the Intercolonial, speaking until nearly midnight, when he moved the adjournment of the debate, which was agreed to.

The House adjourned at 11.58.

Public Accounts Committee.

The public accounts committee met yesterday and passed orders for the attendance of witnesses in the Manitoba election frauds case, including among them the Premier.

CONVALESCENT MEMBERS.

Mr. Tarte in the House—Mr. W. F. Maclean in Ottawa.

Ottawa, May 26.—Hon. Mr. Tarte was in his place yesterday for the first time since his recent indisposition, and received a hearty round of applause on rising to reply to a question pertaining to his department. He is somewhat better, but by no means well, and will leave for England and Paris as soon as his supplementary estimates have been approved by council.

Mr. Maclean in Town.

Mr. W. F. Maclean paid a flying visit to the capital yesterday, but could not remain long enough to take his seat in the House. The few friends who were lucky enough to meet him during the few hours he was here were pleased to find him looking so well and recovering so rapidly from the effects of his accident.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Grand Trunk Railway system earnings 15 to 21 May, 1899, $469,238; 1898, $449,488; increase $19,755.

The traffic earnings of the C.P.R. from May 14 to May 21, 1899, reached $529,000, against $511,000 for 1898.

The death is announced of Mr. Frank Kennedy, manager of the Montreal branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Justin McCarthy denies that he is to retire from public life, as was announced by The Cork Examiner on Thursday.

In Toronto, on Thursday, there died of paralysis the beloved wife of Hon. J. C. Aikins, ex-Lieut.-Governor of Manitoba.

The Philippine delegates who were asking for an armistice have been escorted out from the American lines at Manila, having been unsuccessful in their mission.

The Ontario Government is sending to corporations affected by the new revenue law a form of declaration to be filled in, to show how much the company should be taxed.

An Eglinton man has a new method of getting rid of tent caterpillars. Load a gun with powder only, muzzle close, pull the trigger and the work is done. Said to be better than the coal oil method.

The attempt made on Thursday morning to float the steamship Paris failed. It is argued by scientific men that the vessel was drawn out of her course by magnetic rocks, which are said to abound in the locality.

The French Minister of the Colonies, M. Guillain, has announced that Grand Bassam (a French town of Africa, Upper Guinea, on the Gold Coast) has been evacuated owing to the ravages of yellow fever, and that it will probably cease to be the capital of the French Ivory Coast.

Emilio Castelar, who was considered to be one of the most eloquent orators of the day, is dead at Madrid. He was born in 1832. In 1866 he took a leading part in the revolutionary movement which was put down by Serrano, who was forced to leave the country. When the revolution broke out in September, 1868, he returned to his native country and was one of the most energetic leaders of the Republican movement.

More Money for Dewey Day.

Albany, N.Y., May 26.—The Legislature has appropriated $75,000 to celebrate the home-coming of Admiral Dewey. This is additional to the $150,000 appropriated by New York City. The State fund will be expended in turning out the National Guard and carrying them to New York.

"Go: You Are Free!"

If you were in prison and a good spirit suddenly opened the door and said "Go: You are free!" you wouldn't stop to ask whether the key that opened the door was the regulation pattern or not. If it opened the door, that is enough. Thousands of women who are sick and suffering might speedily be made strong and well again if it was not for an unreasonable prejudice against any but so-called "regulation" methods.

"Three years ago I was almost gone with womb trouble," says Mrs. Jennie J. Jackson, of Fergusson's Wharf, Isle of Wight Co., Va., in a letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "I tried many different medicines and got no better until I tried Dr. Pierce's medicines. The first bottle gave me ease. I have taken six bottles and I feel as well as ever in my life.

"My doctor did not have any faith in 'patent medicines' but he says 'something has done you good.' I know if I had not taken Dr. Pierce's medicine I could not have lived long as I was nothing but a skeleton. I was so thin in flesh that it hurt me to lie down. Now I am well, and can work hard all day and do as much walking as I ever did, and sleep well all night. I can never be thankful enough for the good Dr. Pierce's medicines did me."

Dr. Pierce is a regular graduated and educated physician. He has had a more practical life-long experience with all forms of women's diseases than any other doctor in this country. His "Favorite Prescription" for female complaints is the most marvelously effective remedy for this purpose in the world.

Suffering women need not hesitate to write to him. All letters are held sacredly confidential and free advice will be sent by mail in plain sealed envelope.

Constipation is a little illness that if neglected builds a big one. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

A MOURNING NATION.

FINNISH LIBERTIES THREATENED BY THE CZAR OF RUSSIA.

Constitutional Rights Being Taken From the Finns—The Most Autocratic Edict of the Decade—Why the Finlanders Object to Its Spirit and Its Harsh Provisions—An Educated People.

While, with one hand, addressing the nations of the world in grandiloquent sentences about the brotherhood of man and the need of universal peace, Czar Nicholas, autocrat of Russia, with the other signed an edict whose object is to deprive the Finns of the rights of self-government and of privileges which have been theirs ever since 1809, when the Grand Duchy of Finland became a part of the Russian Empire, during the reign of Alexander I.

Before dwelling upon the injustice of the ukase in question, it might be well to learn something about the country and people whom it affects. Finland constitutes the extreme northwest corner of the Russian Empire. North of it lies Russian Lapland; east the Governments of Archangel and Olonetz; south Lake Ladoga and the Government of St. Petersburg, and west Sweden and the Gulf of Bothnia. It has a total area of 136,000 square miles, and a population of about 2,600,000. The country consists principally of a tableland from 400 to 600 feet above the level of the sea, interspersed with hills of modest elevation. In the north, however, the Manselka Mountains have an average height of between 3,000 and 4,000 feet. The coasts, particularly on the south, are surrounded by a vast number of rocky islets, separated from the mainland and each other by intricate channels, rendering the shores of the country easy of defense in case of hostile attacks. But the chief natural feature of Finland is its myriads of lakes which spread like a network over a large proportion of its surface.

The climate is rigorous, the winter in the southern portions usually lasting from six to seven months and in the northern provinces from eight to nine months. Dense fogs are frequent. In the north the sun is absent during December and January; but during the short summer, when that luminary is almost perpetually above the horizon, the heat is often unendurable. Crops in all sections are exposed to the double danger of being destroyed by sudden frosts and by the ravages of insect pests. Mining gives employment to a large percentage of the population, the principal minerals being iron, copper, sulphur and marble. The most important products, however, are timber, deals, potash, pitch, tar and rosin, which are exported to every corner of the globe. Next to agriculture, stock raising and fishing form the most important occupations of the inhabitants.

The history of the Finns is a long and checkered one. Originally they were wild pagans, living under their own independent kings until the 12th century, about the middle of which the country was conquered by the Swedes, who introduced Christianity. The Province of Wyborg was conquered and annexed to Russia by Peter the Great in 1721; the remainder of the country became part of the Russian realm in 1809. Ever since that time the Russian Government has endeavored, by conciliating the Finnish party, and promoting objects of national importance, to attach the bulk of the population to its interests; as is shown by the following decree issued by Alexander I., in 1809, and which has been observed by all of his successors up to the present time:

"Providence having placed us in possession of the Grand Duchy of Finland, we have desired by the present act to confirm and ratify the religion and the fundamental laws of the land, as well as the privileges and rights which each class in the said Grand Duchy in particular, and all the inhabitants in general, be their position high or low, have hitherto enjoyed according to the constitution. We promise to maintain all these benefits and laws firm and unshaken in their full force."
